B of M Officials Visit At Killam

KILLAM — An opportunity was afforded Mr. Thomas Svenson, recent appointee as Manager of the Killam Branch of the Bank of Montreal, and his staff, to meet business customers of the Killam area recently, when Mr. J. E. Jones, General Manager of the Bank of Montreal for Alberta, visited the Killam Branch and the Town. Along with Mr. Jones were R.L. Crouweller, Manager of the Bank Premises Dept., and E. C. Pals, Manager of the Staff Department, all of Calgary.

Mr. Jones was on his first official visit to rural branches in Alberta, to get acquainted with staffs and to meet the business customers of the Bank.

In company with Town officials, the visiting group was shown the highlights of the town, after which the group along with other district citizen enjoyed a noon luncheon. This was preceded by a social hour at Mr. Svenson's home.

Mayor Hilker brought greetings from the Town, and mentioned a few of the more important assets which make Killam one of the more progressive towns in Alberta.

Mr. Jones spoke briefly, expressing his pleasure in meeting the people of the community, and introduced Mr. Crouweller and Mr. Pals to the gathering.

Flagstaff Receives $105,379 Road Grant From Province

A regular meeting of the Council of the Municipal District of Flagstaff was held with all Councillors present.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and reviewed, and the financial statement for the month presented by the Sec.-Treas.

After a short session the meeting adjourned, to convene as the Flagstaff Farm Purchase Advisory Committee, to hear the application of Rodney John May of Daysland, to purchase the S.W. of 8-46-13 containing 160 acres for the price of $8000. This application was approved.

The regular meeting re-convened, and the gravel foreman met with Council to inform them that due to having a new front end loader operator it would be necessary to have a gravel checker, and that he had engaged Bud Horinek for this job. He also stated that he had made arrangements to instal culverts and requested council to inform him of any culvert installation they wished looked after.

Councillors Fordice and Morgan reported on the drainage ditch problem on the N.W. 3-42-16, and that a new culvert had been installed to allow greater runoff. It was agreed that the two should keep a watch on the situation for further action.

The District Engineer was present to meet with Council, and received the roadwork program for 1965. He also reviewed the road allowance program on those Council had requested be closed. He was [illegible] to give approval to some of the requests.

Mr. Rott was present to discuss gravel crushing operations, and informed council that operations had been delayed due to wet weather. It was agreed that from 20 to 25 thousand yards of gravel should be stock piled at 4 [illegible] this during 1965.

Forms 27 of Schedule A were submitted by each councillor covering the 1965 road program, and the total of $238,000 was approved.

Reeve Matthews was authorized to sign the article of agreement covering the rebuilding of district highway No. 29EM, North of Daysland under the Resources Road Grant, calling for an expenditure of

The group above is part of a number of people who gathered at the Killam Co-op Hall to see how judging of the animals compared to the grade of meat obtained after butchering, and are shown examining some of the meat.

Good Crowd - Chill Wind At Tourney

KILLAM — Last Monday the Killam Senior Ball Club sponsored the first baseball tournament held at their new ball park on the southwest side of town.

Attendence wasn't as high as expected due mostly to the chilly wind that blew most of the day, but the fairly large crowd that was on hand witnessed some fine baseball.

The first game of the day saw Killam and Strome battle it out with the home team winning by a score of 8 to 7.

Viking was over Lougheed 2 to 0 in the second game and Sedgewick defeated Forestburg 14 to 9 in the third draw.

In the semi-finals Killam got the bye and Viking played Sedgewick with the Oilers winning 3 to 2 in a hard fought game.

Killam met Sedgewick in the final game of the day with the Oilers again coming out winners, this time by a score of 12 to 3.

In a fast ball game between Central High girls and the Killam girls the Centralites were the winners.

We understand that everyone will be given another chance to use the new ball park at a big sports day to be held in July.

SUMMER MIGRATION TO NORWAY

EDMONTON — Every year as soon as the weather warms up the local Norwegian population becomes restless and the summer migration to Norway gets underway.

Last Sunday afternoon a plane load left the Edmonton International Airport and a number of local people were on board.

Mr. Carl Christenson and Mr. Ole Moan from Sedgewick. Mr. John Birchill of Lougheed and Mrs. Ole Ness and two daughters also of Lougheed. Mr. and Mrs. Hope of Edmonton (nee Mikkelson of Sedgewick).

These are just the few that we have heard about to date, many more will be making the trip too before the summers end.

FLAGSTAFF LODGE

Due to the unexpected absence of the president, Mrs. Upshall kindly filled in as chairman, and went directly into the business meeting. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and accepted, as was the treasurer's report, showing a favorable balance of $131.98.

As horse shoe is a favorite sport of the menfolk, but a bit too strenuous for some it was decided to purchase a croquet set, for their summer fun.

More ideas and plans were discussed for the Fall Bazaar the Matron and guests of the Lodge will have to [illegible] to purchase a Shelcraft wool rug for the ladies summer work project.

Meeting was adjurned and Mrs. W. Hallum served a most delicious lunch to the ten ladies present.

A. P. Crop Report

LOCAL — Wheat seeding is completed, and Coarse Grains are generally 90 to 100 percent seeded except in the Central and Northeastern sections of this area, where up to 25 percent of the Oats and Barley remains to be seeded. Moisture supplies have been well maintained by showers in the central and western sections, and heavy rains in the eastern portion.

Trophy Won By Daysland Lions

DAYSLAND — District 27 of Lions International held their 38th annual convention in Edmonton, June 8th to 12th.

The Second-Vice President of Lions International, Mr. Edward Lindsay of Lawrenceburg, Tennessee was the guest speaker at the Governors Banquet, Friday evening held at the McDonald Hotel. He told the thousand convention delegates present that all persons must cooperate if they are going to meet todays challenge. The incentive to work together must come from each individual.

Twelve contestants were in the Klondike Lil contest. Five semi finalists were chosen one from each district on Thursday evening, with the other seven being the ladies in waiting. Saturday night Klondike Lil was chosen. She was Mrs. Vilda Ohler of Carmangay, Alta. of Dist. C. Of the seven ladies in waiting was Mrs. Dolores Dolanz, representing the Daysland Lions Club of District B.

The Daysland Lions Club won the trophy in District B for the visitation mileage contest with a total of 43,000 miles.

The following Lions and their wives were present at the convention, Dr. and Mrs. Reist, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Lee, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Elvinsen, Mr. and Mrs. Les Dolanz, Mr. and Mrs. E. Pettersen, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Renneberg and Brian Helmig.

Mr. Ed Hay of Edmonton will be the District Governor for the coming year in District B.

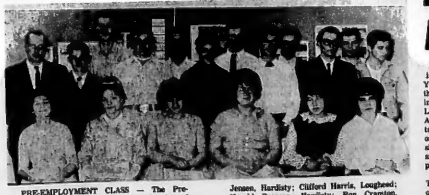
Daysland 4-H Beef Club Holds Last Meeting Of Season

DAYSLAND — The Daysland 4H Beef Club held their last regular meeting of the season, in the school on June the 9th.

They held their achievement Day at the Daysland Auction Mart, May 31st with fifteen members showing calfs. The following awards were won by: Champion — Gordon Gaudet. Reserve Champion — Grant Heitzer. Showmanship — Grant Riesner. Grooming — Grant Heitzer.

The following day the inter-club sale was held in Killam. The sale was most successful and the Daysland Club members wish to thank the buyers who helped make it a success.

The Daysland 4H members and their families made plans to go on their annual picnic at the lake again this year in July.



PRE-EMPLOYMENT CLASS — The Pre-Employment Class is shown on the day of their graduation at the Achievement Day held at Central High. Barry Gascoyne New Head - Young Socreds

SEDGEWICK—The annual meeting of the Sedgwick-Coronation Young Social Crediters was held in the Legion Hall on Saturday evening, June 19. President Daniel Lewis was in charge of the meeting. Annual reports were given by the treasurer, stating a bank balance of $42.98, and the President's report showed a membership of twenty-six with a very successful year reported.

A personal letter from Robert Thompson was read commending our group on the very efficient and well planned "Robert Thompson" night.

It was decided to hold a "Book Sale" in Killam on a Saturday night in September with the date to be set later.

Congratulations were extended to Neil Lunty who recently received 10/10 points in English class at school when he spoke on "Social Credit".

A commitie consisting of Neil, Ralph and Ray was nominated to be in charge of the float for the July 1st parade.

A vote of thanks was extended to the Editors of Community Press for their co-operation during the past and a job well done.

A motion was made that the "Do You Know" column in the local press commence again in the fall.

The campaign speeches by Daniel Lewis and Barry Gascoyne and their campaign managers Ralph Sorenson and Ray Pottage were brief and well presented. This resulted in an election with Barry Gascoyne emerging as the new President, and the executive as follows: Vice-President — Douglas Munro; Press Reporter — Gertrude Lewis; Lunch Convenor — Jean Sorenson.

The Secretary and Treasurer were later appointed as Barbara Pottage and Neil Lunty.

The bi-light of the evening was a challenging address by our guest Lee Anderson, of Medicine Hat, who is President of the Alberta Young Social Crediters. Mr. Anderson spared no punches as he spoke on such topics as Education — Membership — Social Co-ordination — Finance — Press & Public — in Social Credit.

Lunch was served.

WILLIAM RAWLUK'S 25TH ANNIVERSARY

LOUGHEED — Mr. and Mrs. William Rawluk celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on June 13th. A supper for the immediate family and close friends was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Rawluk. Marshall Burns proposed a toast to the happy couple.

Later that evening an Open House was held in the Kinsella Hall, where a short program of skits by the Royal Purple, songs by Conrad Ingvaldson, a poem by Mrs. Marshall Burns and a Mock Wedding by the family, was enjoyed. Lloyd Cameron was M.C.

Centering the head table was a three-tiered wedding cake baked by their daughter Marjorie and decorated by Betty Oakes and Yvonne Rawluk. Mr. and Mrs. H. Rawluk, Mr. and Mrs. A. Carter and Mr. and Mrs. M. Burns were seated at the head table with the honored couple. They were presented with several gifts by friends and the evening. Lunch brought [illegible]

Out of town guests included daughters Pat of St. Catherines and Sheila of Jasper; Mr. and Mrs. H. Rawluk of Vancouver and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cullum of Three Hills.

INTERMURAL TROPHY — Pat Galletly and Don Forster are shown receiving the Intermural Trophy which was presented at the Central High Achievement Day. The trophy is presented annually to the winners in intermural competition at Central High.

Who Is Your Neighbor?

Those who are familiar enough with the writings of the Bible, and can recall the phrase, "Who Is Your Neighbor" must, in view of some of the things that go on in the world, begin to have doubts as to just who qualifies today as a neighbor. In its broadest sense the Biblical intent of the term covers a wide field, and is certainly not confined to the people who live next door. Just the same people in this modern day are justified to a large degree in displaying caution regarding those whom they are willing to gather into the family circle of neighbors. In fact it would appear that there is an underlying danger in putting trust in, or playing the Good Samaritin to those who have not been long time acquaintances in whom reliance may be placed.

The utter cupidity of human beings today has almost destroyed the old-time faith that one neighbor could place in another; the trust that a kind act will not be returned with an unkind one. This aspect of the situation is most apparent in large centres where one may go through an entire day without a smile or nod from a city full of strangers. There is a well-founded fear and distrust, brought about by man's inhumanitl to man.

Ideally, of course, one person should not have to harbor distrust in another, but the necessity for such exists and we just have to live with it. But there is really no need to go to the other extreme and be the gullible creatures that many take us for.

Whenever we read of some pilgrim de-training in a city and getting "taken in" by a bad Samaritan, we question the intelligence of such people. Why anyone would invite disater by accepting an invitation up to a hotel room, for instance, for a friendly drink or a card game, from an absolute stranger, is beyond comprehension. The usual result is assault and robbery, an event which never would have taken place if just a little common sense had been displayed.

Who is your neighbor? Good judgement dictates staying pretty close to the next door, for there is an old saying which goes: You hurt me once, shame on you; you hurt me twice, shame on me.

A kind act is still the essence of human charity, but caution must be displayed in how the good act is administered.

What Is Farmers' Day?

When the idea of Farmers' Day first originated there was some emphasis put on the occasion. Various towns used it as a day for staging sports days, picnics, and social events in honor of those who engage in the noble art of tilling the soil. The F.U.A. used to an active participant in the day and did much to sponsor the occasion on their own behalf. Today the whole thing seems to have sunk into — ill repute and in many centres the day passes by without any recognition whatever. Some do still take advantage of the day for week-end up beaulevous, but for the most part such people either go fishing or hoe the garden.

So far as we have been able to learn there is no official day set aside as a statutory holiday in recognition of agriculture, and until something along this line is done, the whole idea may just as well be abandoned. It seems rather senseless for some centres to close business places while others remain open. In fact it would almost appear that the ones least interested in the whole thing are the farmers themselves. They are too busy trying to eke out a suitable living, what with the famous price squeeze, quotas, and high taxes, to be bothered with a picnic. They get all the outdoor life they want.

Canada The Last Frontier?

On a television program the other night we watched an interview going on with an Amrican, who in the course of the questioning made the remark that Canada is viewed as the last frontier for the pioneer on the North American Continent. It almost appeared as though this man was predicting that Americans with the spirit of adventure were thinking of Canada as new frontiers to be tamed and settled. This along with the recent disclosures of tremendous strides made by Russia in the far north, brought the realization that enthusiasm for new challenges and opportunities is the most important single characteristic the Canadian economy will need over the next few years. In spite of all the technological advances, Canada's economic survival will depend on the ability of her people to excel in doing the human job. A people who are willing to work, are adaptable, flexible, and mobile, will not have to fear security in Canada's changing economy, for people who can and will contribute the best of their energies and skills in the best of their energies and skills in the context of change, ensure their own security and advancement.

Tax And Revenue Problems!

The number of tax commissions at work in Canada today would indicate that a concerted effort is afoot to try and solve the outstanding tax and revenue problems. Everyone realizes that changes and improvements in the tax system are a necessity today, but the number of commissions working on the various aspects of the situation, should they come up with answers at the same time, will only confuse the issues still further. We suggest they all hold fire, get together, and come up with an overall picture after due digestion and assessment. In this way we stand a far better chance to come up with a system that may serve us well.

While these groups are at it, they might well look into the situation, in all its aspects, where the business man and employer is presently compelled by law to spend half his time looking after the government's revenue problems. It seems to be stacking the load pretty high to require an employer, not only to be soaked good and proper in the general tax set-up, but also to be required to keep books for the government. What with income tax deductions, workmen's compensation, unemployment insurance, sales tax deductions, records for the labor relations board, and all the rest of the red tape, a man's time almost belongs to government, and by the time he's through looking after it, he's too exhausted to do his own work. In fact he's too tired to even answer the letters he gets from the various bureaus bawling him out and threatening him with action because he neglected some of their chores. What we really need is a commission to look after the individual. Wouldn't that louse things up good.

★ MACDUFF REPORT

A Man's Ambition

OTTAWA — Maurice Sauve is the Liberal member of Parliament for Hull in Mackinnon. He is Forestatry Minister in the Pearson cabinet.

He is also a man, it seems, who wants very badly to be Prime Minister of Canada some day.

He may well succeed, especially if he can curb his impatience and direct his enormous energies towards making friends, rather than enemies.

It may seem strange that this young man of 41, only a few years on the political scene, should even be considered as a future Prime Ministerial candidate. This is part of the Sauve mystery. His combination of energy, arrogance and intelligence has attracted a great deal of attention. He is recognized, even by the opposition, as a man who could go places.

Sauve is not a man to create indifference. He inspires sparks around him. What makes Maurice run has become at least as frequent a coffee break as "what makes Sammy Davis run?"

People are either for Sauve, or against him. He is admired and detested, lauded and resented, courted and feared. There is a strange potential in him. He will never be a minor actor on the political stage. He will either go to the top, or quit.

Sauve literally came out of nowhere. He is no economist, a graduate of the University of Montreal, a Ph. d. who studied at the London School of Economics and the University of Paris.

He was little known when he won election to the House of Commons in 1962. At that time he was given, or took a great deal of credit for the 1963 victory of Quebec Premier Lesage over the old Duplessis machine.

When the Liberals won the election in 1963, Prime Minister Pearson offered Sauve a parliamentary secretaryship. He refused. He wanted a cabinet post or nothing.

For a year he had to be content with nothing. But he was not denied for long. In February 1964, he was brought into the cabinet as Minister of Forestry, taking over responsibility also for several agricultural programs of particular importance to eastern Canada.

He has been an exceedingly busy man since then. His vision is not limited by his departmental responsibilities, which he apparently performs easily and effectively.

Sauve aims at large objectives. His steady purpose has been to reform the Liberal party in Quebec, to articulate a new Canadian federal structure based on federal-provincial co-operation, and to formulate a social and economic policy within that structure which will raise standards of living and eliminate poverty.

His views on these matters are close to Mr. Pearson's and to those of the Prime Minister's bay advisors. His methods are not so universally acceptable. Sauve is accused of towering personal ambition. He is said to lust for power. He is blamed for scheming against possible competitors in his own party, for nursing a spirit of revenge, for covert acts aimed at eliminating enemies.

"He is a machine politician," grumbled one Quebec Liberal. "He wants to kick out the old guard and bring in a new guard which would soon become an old guard itself. We don't want any guard at all. We just want a democratic organization."

Said another: "If most of the Quebec caucus members are hostile to Sauve, that's a point in his favour."

Sauve's personal standing has risen and fallen mainly on the question of the Quebec leadership of the federal Liberals.

The mantle of leader worn by Justice Minister Favreau has become somewhat frayed. One by one other Quebec Ministers have counted themselves out of contention.

Only Lucien Cardin, now public works minister, and Sauve remain as possible contenders. For the moment, Favreau is the Quebec leader, and Sauve's stock is low. Quebec Liberals react sagely to what they feel is Sauve's ambition, and attempts to destroy opponents.

In the meantime Cardin is rising to a position of more importance, but Sauve remains confident. Favreau, whose cautiousness is diminished, will eventually go. Sauve may make it then. He has the ear of the Prime Minister. He retains the confidence of many of the new provincial Liberals in Quebec.

Sauve has more energy, more ambition, and quite possibly, more talent than all the other Quebec ministers combined. He is considered a reformer, he has many good friends outside the party, and he is working hard.

At the moment he has almost no popular base in his own party. But that could change. He is a willing speechmaker anywhere in Canada. fluent in both languages. He is capable, confident, even arrogant in the House where he says no more than is absolutely necessary. Mr. Sauve's future lies largely on himself. How far can a man go without a popular base? How far can a politician go without trusting anyone? How long can a party man last who believes that he must knife his colleagues before they knife him?

Sauve is an intelligent and ambitious man. He must be asking himself these questions. The answers he comes up with may very well determine whether or not he will ever become Prime Minister of Canada.

A Sentimental Ending

This is a time of year when a school teacher has mixed emotions. One of the strongest — let us be honest — is relief. An end of term nears, the overwhelming certainty that you are going to have a stroke, or start running straight up the wall, or burst into tears in front of the class, begins to fade.

But there are other feelings involved, and the combination of emotions results in a bitter-sweet contradiction: you're glad it's over, but you hate to see it end.

This is stronger, I think, for the teacher of a class which is graduating. Whether it's from public school or high school, that last class is a bit of a crusher, sentimentally.

Some of these kids you have taught for four years. They are almost like members of your family: irritating and lovable: friendly and distance pretty and homely: real people, not statistics.

Here is Janet, the girl who was such a gawk in Grade 10. She was angular and awkward: she always had a cold; she wore braces on her teeth; she

Canadians Travellers

An astonishing amount of travelling is now being done by Canadians both at home and abroad, according to the Bank of Montreal in its business Review for May just issued.

The B of M notes that, in interval travel alone, Canadians travelled almost 55 billion passenger miles in 1963, the last year for which estimates are available.

In recent years, many factors have combined to remove progressively the barriers against travel in this country, including technological change, transportation improvements, a massive road building program and price and income changes.

The removal of these barriers is especially important in a country such as this, the bank notes. Quite apart from the obvious recreational benefits to travel, the opportunity to see the vast expanses of this country and to meet fellow countrymen from other regions cannot help having beneficial effects on the development as a nation.

Increased Spending

The B of M noted that an overwhelming, and increasing proportion of the total of transportation by Canadians is generated by the costs of owning and operating cars.

Comparing the proportions over the period 1926-63, the bank shows that, of $1.1 billion spent on transportation in 1949, 34 percent was for buying cars and 24 percent for operating them, while 27 percent represented fares on public transport. By the end of the period, total spending had trebled, with car ownership costing 38 percent, absorbing about 27 percent and public transport fares less than 14 p.c.

Low population density and great geographical area have always operated to make travellers out of Canadians, but nowadays with the higher incomes and the greater means of transportation they cover distances that would have been unthinkable a couple of generations ago, the bank states.

Don't forget the Chamber of Commerce family get-back supper in the Community Hall on June 30th.

Need Permit To Cut Highway Grass

Gordon E. Taylor, Minister of Highways has announced that persons desiring to cut hay on the right-of-way of main or secondary highways must apply for a permit to do so to the District Engineer.

The following regulations apply to all permits issued: (1) A person must receive a permit from the District Engineer of the Department of Highways before cutting any hay on the right-of-way of highways or secondary highways in the Province; (2) Anyone cutting hay under permit must cut all of the right-of-way from the shoulder of the highway to the fence line in the area under permit, unless this is not reasonably possible; (3) After receiving a permit, hay must be cut prior to July 31st, or the permit becomes invalid; (4) No permit holder will have the right to sub-let or sell the right to cut hay under a permit; (5) No fee is charged for the permit; (6) The permit holder must carry out buying operations in a safe and orderly fashion; (7) Cutting of hay on the right-of-way is prohibited on Sundays.

The District Engineer will endeavor to accommodate land owners adjacent to the area in question but such persons must make application to the Engineer prior to June 15. After this date, the Engineer will be required to deal with the applications in the order that they are received. June 2 1965.

Expenditures of the National Research Council in the year ending March 31, 1965, were $23.6 million on research, 84.8 million on buildings and equipment, $2.2 million on assisting research in industry, $38.4 million on administration and general.

The consumer price index rose by two per cent in the year up to April, 1965; lodgings stood at — food 133.4; housing 140.3; clothing 131.3; transportation 140.9; health and personal care 176.1; recreation and reading 133.5; tobacco and alcohol 131.8.

Lougheed WI Hears Convention Report

LOUGHEED —The regular meeting of the Lougheed W. I. was held at the school with eight members and two visitors present. Mrs. M. Skaberg, president, welcomed the guests and Mrs. G. Coates acted as Sec. in the absence of Mrs. Pope.

A donation of $10.00 is being sent to the Salvation Army.

The guest speaker, Mrs. Whitten of Sedgewick, gave an interesting account of the W. I. Convention in Edmonton. Of special interest to the group was the report from the Handicraft Exhibits. Mrs. H. Probst won first prize for her Housedress; Mrs. G. W. Probst first for Crocheted Edging in the class for members over 70; and Mrs. Molly Farney, hough second for Embroidered Pillow; second for Apron.

The roll call was answered by the showing of wedding pictures.

Next meeting will be at the summer home of Mrs. McClure at Hardisty Lake. Date announced later.

Hospital Auxiliary Meets At Strome

(Mrs. Marie Butler)

STROME — Mrs. Annie Heisler was hostess when members of the Strome Hospital Auxiliary met on Thursday June 10th at the Legion Hall for a delicious pot-luck supper, with their husbands and friends as guests.

A brief business meeting followed the supper, with a variety of articles handed in for the display case at the hospital. One new member was enrolled. A card of thanks was received from the Sisters at Killam, for help received at Hospital Day.

Copies for a "Make Believe" Tea as a fund-raising project, were given out to the members. 1:45 p.m. was the time set for the ladies to meet at Roy's Rissi Service on June 30th and to drive to Killam for the Arts and Crafts Tea and Sale at the hospital.

Since the president Mrs. Mathilda Feddema will be moving from the district, she tendered her resignation and will be replaced by Mrs. Melvin Froehler for the balance of the term. Cotton rags being collected for sale to the M. D. office at Sedgewick, are to be left with Mrs. M. Kroetch by June 30th.

As members will not reconvene again until fall, tentative plans for the annual Hallowe'en Masquerade to be held October 29th, were discussed. Arrangements will be completed at the October meeting.

Attendance prize was won by Mrs. Margaret Fyten. Mrs. Katie May will be hostess for the next meeting on October 14th. It will be hostess for the next meeting on October 14th.

Doorway to all your banking

Did you ever stop to consider all the things a chartered bank can do for you? Your local branch is much more than a convenient place to make a deposit, cash a cheque or see about a loan — each branch, large or small, offers a full banking service. And only here is it possible for you to do all your banking under one roof. A branch bank is, in effect, a service centre and everyone on the staff is there to help you, to look after all your banking courteously and speedily.

THE CHARTERED BANKS SERVING YOUR COMMUNITY

Through 5,650 branches, all across Canada, the chartered banks bring full-range banking within the reach of everyone.

CONFIRMATION SERVICES AT LUTHERAN CHURCH

SEDGEWICK — Confirmation Services were conducted by Rev. Christopherssen at Trinity Lutheran Church north of Lougheed Sunday the 13th for the following young people: Elsie Larson, Bonnie Salter of Lougheed, Elaine Meland, Linda Eriksson of rural Sedgewick and Gordon Myrehaug and Clifford Carlson of Sedgewick.

On Sunday, June 6th nine young people were confirmed at Bethania Lutheran Church north of Sedgewick, namely, Marilyn and Margaret Christensen, Joan Schmuts, Muriel Osbuck, Brian Nordstrom, Merlin Arntzen and Darrel Mickelson of rural Sedgewick, Terry Olson of Sedgewick and Gregory Graf of Killam.

Earlier this spring Helen Jacobsen, Sheila Hoffman and Doug Ian Morken were confirmed at Bethania and Joann Gulbraa and Lavina Larsen were confirmed at Sharon Lutheran southeast of Irma. After each confirmation service a traditional dinner honoring the Confirmants was served by the ladies of the respective congregations. Congratulations and best wishes of friends and the community to all these young people.

Bof T Ladies Night Planned For Fall

SEDGEWICK — The last meeting of the Sedgewick Board of Trade before the usual summer recess, was held June 11th in the banquet room of Sedgewick Cafe. There were 18 members present.

Following the reading of the minutes, the following topics came up for discussion. Saturday Night store closing for the months of July and August; publicity for the local 4-H Club, and the present situation of the Natural Gas project.

It was decided that the next meeting of the Board of Trade would be held on the usual night in Sept., following the summer recess. Also plans would be made for the annual Ladies' and wives banquet night, which will be held on the October meeting night.

A letter was read from the Sedgewick 4-H Beef Club, thanking the Board of Trade for the trophy donated to the Club.

Mr. Don Swanson was introduced to the members present, by Mr. C. Beairsto. Mr. Swanson is the new proprietor of the Hotel at Sedgewick.

The July 1st Sports Day was mentioned, and those present who had assignments for the day, were told of their duties.

Ideas were advanced for improving the image of the Board of Trade locally, and for giving the body more publicity, with more of its activities being brought to public attention.

LOUGHEED 4-H HOMEMAKERS

LOUGHEED — The Lougheed Homemakers finished off their year with a wiener roast at the Battle River Campsite on the evening of June 12. The Homemakers and a number of guests really enjoyed themselves even if it was pouring rain. Most of them took in the Saturday night show in Hardisty to round off the evening.

NEW STAMP TO HONOR SIR WILFRED GRENFELL

A special postage stamp to honor the centenary of the birth of Sir Wilfred Grenfell, author and medical missionary to Newfoundland and Labrador, will be issued by the Canada Post Office on June 9th, it was announced today by the Hon. Rene Tremblay, Postmaster General.

Mr. Tremblay said that the special stamp would be in addition to the regular philatelic programme already undertaken by the Post Office for 1965.

Sir Wilfred, who was born at Parkgate, England, in 1865, brought a hospital ship to Labrador in 1892 and devoted the rest of his life to the welfare of its inhabitants. He founded hospitals, nursing stations, orphanages, co-operative stores and industrial and agricultural centres. In 1912, he opened the King George V Seamen's Institute in St. John's. He was a prodigious author, writing more than 20 books, mostly about Newfoundland and Labrador. His work has been continued by the International Grenfell Association which operates health and welfare stations at a score of places in Northern Newfoundland and Labrador.

The stamp, of the five cent denomination, will be printed in green and will show Sir Wilfred at the helm of a ship navigating the ice infested waters off the rugged Newfoundland coast. It has been designed by the Canadian Bank Note Company Limited based on photographs obtained from the International Grenfell Association.

GRASS FIRE ROUSES SEDGEWICK DEPT.

SEDGEWICK — A grass fire on Saturday morning brought Sedgewick's Volunteer Fire Department out in full force. The siren started ringing about 10:30 and the fire truck was on the scene in a matter of minutes, to quickly extinguish the flames.

A large area of grass and bush covered land located behind the J. Walsh and G. Acheson homes, had caught on fire from an unknown source, and driven by a stiff breeze quickly spread. The fact that the grass and trees were green didn't hinder the flames, as they fed on the older growth on the ground.

The only actual damage was to a wooden picket fence, which was burned in several places.

Hardisy UCW Buys New Window Shades

HARDISTY — The June meeting of the Hardisty U.C.W. opened with devotional led by Mrs. F. Candlish, on the theme of "Hope".

President, Mrs. A. Redman, reported that the carpet committee hope to finalize plans soon. New window shades will be purchased and installed in the Church also.

Two hundred and eighty pounds of used clothing was shipped to the Depot in Vancouver last month, to be used in Overseas Relief. The group regret that Secretary, Mrs. Peggy Miller, will be leaving the town this summer. Mrs. Barbara Hayes was elected as Secretary for the balance of the year. A gift was presented to Mrs. Miller during the social hour from her friends of the U.C.W.

Mrs. B Hempel gave an interesting and informative talk on Mission Education, showing the need for the expering of our Christianity along with the material products of the Western World. The group agreed to take a look at the proposed Union of the Anglican and United Churches, and learn as much as possible by study and panel discussion.

Refreshments were served by Mrs Vanderwark and Mrs. Candlish and a social hour enjoyed. The next meeting will be held in September.

HARDISTY HOME AND SCHOOL NEWS

HARDISTY — The monthly meeting was held at the school May 31st 1965. The minutes were read and approved and treasurers report given.

Mrs. Jean Garland reported for the welfare committee and presented the prospective ballot for the 1965 - 66 term. The following officers were elected, President, Mrs. R. Wood; Vice President, Mr. Paul Mazure; Secretary, Mrs. M. Unger; Treasurer, Mrs. A. Moody; Program, Mrs. J. Crone; Mrs. C. Golka; Membership, Mrs. A. Padlar; Mrs. R. Wood, Mrs. A. Cilbert, Mrs. B. Mazure, Lunch, Mrs. M. Unger, Mrs. S. Lazmiski; Press and Publicity, Rev. Zwicker.

Mrs. P. Miller led the installation ceremony for the new officers. Mr. G. Miller in giving school news, reported that Mr. Carnahan of Killam School will be our principal next year. Mrs. Carnahan will also be on the staff. In the absence of guest speaker Mrs. Hooper, Mr. Miller explained and demonstrated the new library system now coming in Hardisty School. The teaching staff and older students have worked patiently at this project throughout the school year.

KILLAM HOSPITAL AID

KILLAM — The Killam Hospital Auxiliary met June 3rd in the afternoon with eleven members present.

Mrs. Rueben reported the hospital canteen cart has been a huge success over the past year. The ladies of the auxiliary take turns by twos visiting each patient with a canteen cart offering bars, cookies, pop, stationery, etc. by way of convenience for hospitalized folk.

153 visits to the sick were reported and 125 magazines were lended during the meeting. The next meeting will be held in the evening on Sept. 2nd.

JUNE WEDDINGS!

Here we are in the lovely month of June — such a popular time of the year for weddings.

The bride, of course, has many decisions to make during this joyous time. However, her friends also are faced with a dilemma, the choice of a suitable gift. If you are included in the category of "wedding guest" perhaps you could keep the following points in mind:

1. The bride is often a relatively or completely inexperienced homemaker. Statistics show that nearly 50 percent of Alberta brides are 20 years of age or younger.

2. For the first few years of marriage the new partners will probably live in the smallest dwelling of their lifetime and be more mobile than at any other time in their lives.

With these points in mind, gear your gift choices accordingly. Many brides find they are supplied with enough linen for the next twenty years but lack many simple, but necessary utensils such as a paring knife. Remember that the bride is merely beginning her life as wife and homemaker and her tastes will be quite basic. She will need more pots, pans and every-day china than crystal or sterling silver. Unless you know her very well, white linens are a safer choice, perhaps than your favorite color, be it mauve or chartreuse. Place seats will likely be used more often than a grandson lace cloth, and her furniture at first will likely be limited and simple, not French Provincial.

A point to remember, too, if contemplating gifts of flatware or china is that many department stores have bridal registers where brides' personal choice with regard to pattern is entered. A simple inquiry will avoid a well meant but nevertheless "white elephant" choice.

A last reminder would be to remember your own big day and that lovely lamp with the lacy, frilly shade and cupid base that Aunt Mergatroid sent with loads of love, but not too much forethought. Even gift buying should be wise consumer choices.

ALBERTA SECURITIES COMMISSION
...protection for Alberta's investors

Canada's economic development has led to a marked increase in financial offerings of stocks, bonds, shares and debentures — particularly in Alberta where there has been a substantial increase in local issues. Protection of investors in Alberta is provided by the Attorney General's Department through the Alberta Securities Commission.

All firms offering shares must first file a prospectus with this Commission, and a copy of the prospectus must be delivered to every buyer before completion of the purchase. The Commission ensures the prospectus makes full, plain and true disclosure with regard to the company, its officers, financial status and the nature of the security offered.

Another function of the Securities Commission is to guard against fraud connected with the sale and distribution of shares. It has an overall supervision of firms and individuals selling shares and debentures. Every broker, investment dealer, broker-dealer, security issuer and their sales representatives must be approved and registered with the Alberta Securities Commission before legally engaging in business.

The Commission has, and exercises, wide investigation powers and a commodious hearing room and investigating complaints lodged with it by the public. In national and international fields the Alberta Securities Commission works in close cooperation with similar commissions in other provinces of Canada and the Securities Exchange Commission in the United States.

The Alberta Securities Commission also administers The Investment Contracts Act, The Mortgage Brokers Act, The Cemeteries Act where applicable to commercial cemeteries, The Prearranged Funeral Services Act and The Deposits Regulations Act.

Alberta is a good province in which to invest money—The Alberta Securities Commission helps keep it that way.

$20,000 in order to earn the $15,000 government grant.

Secretary reported that Mr. Herman Schmidt of Sedgewick had been hired by the Shop as mechanic and welder, and that the automatic welder had been purchased.

A letter was received from the Chief Municipal Inspector advising Council that the 1965 estimates had been examined and appeared to be in order.

Application was received from the Provincial Planning Director to subdivide a 20 acre parcel out of S.E. 20-40-18, was approved.

Mr. Whitehead reported on, apprentice in welding; deepening of ditch on N.W. 3-42-16, new grader blades; also possible sale of used materials.

Notice was received from the Dept. of Highways that the Road-ways Grant to Municipalities would be distributed, and that Flagstaff's grant for 1965 was$ be $105,378, an increase of $630 over 1964. The Department also reported their findings on two bridges in the Municipality. It was moved that the Dept. be requested to take a further look at these, as they were becoming dangerous for heavy traffic.

Easter maps were received from Canadian Utilities showing proposed power line construction routes. The company also stated that they would assume responsibility for damage claims due to their power poles being set on road grades.

The monthly report of Constable Vanderwould was received and accepted.

The authorization of easement for the Town of Sedgewick re Natural Gas system to cross Lot 11, was passed.

A sketch map submitted by John Golka, showing the location of a proposed Motel site on N.E. 25-43-10 was reviewed, and approval granted provided the Motel was constructed in accordance with Highway regulations and be responsible for all approach roads.

A letter was received from the Village of Strome indicating that the village intended to undertake a project under the Centennial project grants program.

Reeve Mathews called for nominations for the office of Deputy Reeve, and as a result K. Koehli was appointed to the office.

By-Law 323 authorizing the purchase of 10x20 Kitchen-Diner Trailer was presented, given three readings and passed.

Deal was completed for the supply of propane for the District, and a new propane cook stove was purchased for the gravel crew house.

A continuing committee, consisting of Councillors Mathews, Koehli and Blatz was set up to investigate and report on gravel deposits.

Baptist Church

A good representation form the church attended and participated in the recent 59th Annual Alberta Baptist General Conference which was held at the Gold Bar Baptist Church in Edmonton.

A work day was held at the Baptist Church on Monday with a busy day reported. The church looks very nice after receiving a complete cleaning inside and repainting outside.

Six members from our church enjoyed the Interdenominational Young Couples outing at the Elk District farm near Forestburg on Monday night.

Rev. Grymalski was in charge of the Sunday services and also brought the devotion at the Auxiliary Hospital on Sunday afternoon.

As a special Father's Day Sunday evening service, five laymen spoke on different aspects of the Christian Home.

This week the vice-chairman surprised our Pastor when he presented him with a substantial cheque from members and friends of the church. This gift will be placed toward the car which was recently purchased by him.

The Poet's Corner

If you should want to become quite rich,
You've got to work like a dirty witch;
Save your money and invest it well;
It will double itself as time will tell.
Spend your money and trust to luck
And you'll end up like that fellow Gluck.
Carry out their share thick and never thin,
The door to door salesmen are awfully thick—
They will try to sell you the gilded brick.
Try their scheme to get rich quick,
And you'll end up that famous creek
Now you won't always have your way
As Lady Godiva found out that day.
Her husband was stubborn as he could be,
He wore the pants, it was plain to see.
The moral of this story is,
Spend as you please,that's your bis,
But buy at home from folks you know,
And watch your savings grow and grow.

despised boys; she wanted to be a missionary in Africa.

And look at her now, grinning up at you on the last day with those two pearly rows. She's built like Bardot, she has pearly and dark brown hair, she's off to take a course in modelling.

There's Jim, in the back seat as usual. In Grade 11 he was, by popular agreement of his teachers, the most conscious kid in school. Surly, selfish, shrewdy. Favorite question: "Whadda we get out of this, teacher?"

And look at him now: surly, selfish, shrewdy. Otherwise. But we've discovered he's human. Once in a while he cracks a smile at your pitiful jokes. And we've discovered he has brains. All he needs is a strong-minded young woman to turn him into a good citizen.

And there's Nancy, who was a real rip a couple of years ago, and is going off to Teachers' College, science as a cinch. And there's Bert, who wants to be a doctor, and hasn't a hope, but will make some woman a fine husband. And there's Ken, who broke the high jump record, and Ron, who broke his leg skiing, and Sylvia, who broke the heart of every teenage male in the school just by walking around and looking so beautiful.

And Kevin, the football hero, who is about to trade and go to work in the supermarket; and Dennis, who has lost his car over twice and gets in fights on weekends, and has narrowly avoided jail; and John, the poet, who is still trying to get people to form a picket line because the principal won't let him grow a beard.

I've been teaching for five years now. And I haven't many illusions. I am not "dedicated." I don't go around talking about the joys of "seeing young minds flower." Heck, anything will flower if you throw enough fertilizer around.

But there's a special satisfaction in handing teenagers, even though it's tougher than working in a salt mine. There is a sense of reality that I don't think I could find in another profession.

You are not dealing with torts and trials, like the lawyer; not with symptoms and cures, like the doctor; not surveys and stresses, like the engineer; nor goods and services, like the businessman. You are dealing in raw humanity, when you tangle with teenagers.

4-H DAIRY CLUB ACHIEVEMENT DAYS — JULY 2ND!

The Strome and Heisler 4-H Dairy Clubs will be holding their Achievement Days on Friday, July 2nd.

The Strome Club Achievement Day will start at 11:30 a.m., Strome and the Heisler Club at 2:00 p.m. in Heisler.

Mr. A. Malone of the Junior Activities Branch, Dept. of Ag., will be the judge for the day.

The Clubs' members will judge a class of calves, giving reasons for their placings. The judge will then place the calves officially and give reasons for his placing.

Following the judging a short program of entertainment and refreshments. All parents and interested adults are invited to attend these Achievement Events.

MASTER FARM FAMILY NOMINATIONS!

Nominations for Alberta's annual Master Farm Family Award must be filed with District Agriculturists by June 30th.

To be eligible for this highest agricultural award, the family must be Canadian citizens, the head of the family must be owner-operator or lease-operator, and will be accepted in lieu of time on the farm.

The nominations must be signed by at least three neighbors, and the unit of selection will be the District Agriculturist's territory. Nominees will be scored by a committee appointed by the Minister of Agriculture and composed of a District Agriculturist, the Director of Home Economist, a resident farmer and a resident farm woman.

Regional committees, also appointed by the Minister, will score the nominees on a regional basis, of which there are five approximating the soil zones. These committees will consist of a representative from the provincial Department of Agriculture, a representative from the federal experimental station serving the area, a district home economist, a farmer and a farm woman.

Families selected by regional committees will be further evaluated by a provincial committee appointed by the Minister. The provincial committee will consist of a representative from the Alberta Department of Ag., the Faculty of Ag. at the University of Alberta, the Alberta Federation of Ag., as well as a District Home Economist and a farm woman.

The number of Master Farm Family Awards cannot exceed one for each region. No awards will be made in regions where candidates are not considered worthy recipients.

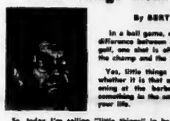
Little Things Mean A Lot



By BERT ODLAND

In a ball game, one hit can make the difference between a here or a base. In golf, one shot is often the gap between the cheers and the "also ran".

Yes, little things make the difference whether it is that special touch of seasoning at the barbecue, or that extra something in the smile of the woman in your life.

So, today I'm selling "little things" in heating and air conditioning. All equipment has the same basic components — motors, blowers, heat exchangers, compressors, cooling coils. The difference comes in the little things — an inch here, extra strength there, a bit of extra care in design and in manufacture. A lot of these little things all add up to a big difference in total quality. That's why we chose Lennox products. Whenever you look on a Lennox air conditioner or furnace, you will find some detail that is missing on the "also ran" brands.

For example, the air filter. Lennox has a new design called the Slow Shield filter. It is curved to offer more air filtering area, it fits tight against the cabinet so there is no air leakage around the edges. Its glass fibres are arranged to catch and hold more dirt. Yet it is less expensive to change than ordinary filters. Another case where little things have added up to a considerable advantage for the buyer.

You are invited to drop in to see the many "little things" about Lennox furnaces and air conditioners for yourself.

The REED X Means TIME TO RENEW

In "Sunny" Alberta When It Rains, It Rains

"It's either a feast or a famine," was the way one farmer put it when discussing the weekend rain that inundated the local area. He quickly went on to say that he wasn't finding fault. He's lived here long enough to take the rain when he gets it.

The 'Lost Weekend Rain" set in on Friday evening, and as this is being written on the following Monday afternoon, it is still raining. In all that time there was not a complete cessation of the rain. Many downfall, and up to this time just over three inches of moisture has fallen. In some areas of the Province the total reached five inches.

According to recorded statistics, the long time average for this area is 4.2, and already this year we have a recorded 5.5 inches.

While the wet weather has put a temporary halt to the work of summerfallowing, the return of warm weather will see the crops growing rapidly. Already well on the way to a bumper crop, the present moisture cannot help but improve the situation.

Of course prolonged rainfall has its disadvantages in other ways. Throughout the area, storm drains are plugging and local drainage equipment is being put into service; roads are taking a real beating, and crews will have a busy time getting them back into shape. Rivers and Creeks are full and if the rains continue there is danger of slight flooding in some areas.

PLANS COMPLETED FOR MED. CENTRE

HARDISTY — Plans for the new Medical Centre at Hardisty have progressed to the stage where construction can begin. Necessary finances have been raised to get the project started, and a site at the North end of the Main Street has been selected. When completed it is expected that the Centre will accomodate a second Doctor, as well as office space for a Dental.

Natural Gas System Will Be Ready For Use Soon

The main lines leading to Killam and Sedgewick to service the two towns with natural gas, are all but completed, and installation of lines in the towns is well advanced. Service lines to individual homes and places of business are getting underway, and property owners will be contacted as to location of lines and places of entry to houses.

While some will be ready to use gas in advance of others, it is anticipated that some will be using it this month, and that the entire project will be completed long before the summer is over.

This will be a big step forward in modern comfort and convenience, and one which the local area has been endeavoring to obtain for several years.

Auxiliary Hospital Arts & Crafts Sale

KILLAM — In spite of the inclement weather a large number of people turned out for the fine arts sale held in Flagstaff-Beaver Hospital. A very delightful tea was served by the Killam Hospital Auxiliary. Bingo was organized by the Strome Hospital Auxiliary and was enjoyed by the patients and public alike.

During the afternoon Mrs. Florrie was introduced and given an orchid for the basked rug which she made to be raffled. Mrs. Gordon Dammann held the lucky ticket.

Proceeds from the combined sale, tea and bingo will go towards new equipment for the Arts and Craft department of the Flagstaff-Beaver Auxiliary Hospital. The project has been initiated by Mrs. Jevons Kastler, Registered, Occupational Therapist, and Mr. Joe Gramlick, and is the only organized Arts and Crafts department in Alberta Auxiliary Hospitals. The purpose of the Department is to give patients a feeling of accomplishment and satisfy a social need.

Many articles have been donated toward the department and the staff is deeply appreciative of the donations, and to those who helped make this first project such an outstanding success.

Calgary Power Wins Award For Junior Citizen Program

A national Award of Excellence has been won by the Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year program, sponsored by the province's electrical utilities with the co-operation of the weekly newspaper editors.

The award was presented by the national president of the Canadian Public Relations Society in acknowledgement of the public service value of the Junior Citizen program, which is actively supported by this newspaper.

The Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year program gives deserved recognition each year to young Albertans who perform outstanding acts of courage or merit. The young people receive their awards at the Annual Alberta Weekly Newspaper Association Convention.

Nominations are now being accepted for the 1965 Alberta Junior Citizen of the Year awards. Readers who know of deserving young Albertans from 6 to 16 years of age are invited to contact the editor of this newspaper.

Strome CGIT Holds Mothers Banquet

STROME — The Strome C.G.I.T. honored their mothers at a banquet in the United Church hall on Friday evening. Those in attendance were the twelve girls and their mothers and leaders, Judy Hauck, the new graduate from the Bible College, Mrs. M. Curtis, Mrs. E. Graham, Explorer Leaders, Rev. and Mrs. Morris and family, Mel Johnson and Nancy and Jack Butler.

The theme, "The United Church Goes To Brazil and Trinidad," had been carried out in decorations and menu. The food was served buffet style from a table decorated with streamers and large straw hats filled with fruit and Brazil nuts. Small tables were grouped around the hall for the guests to use while eating. These tables were laid with matching place mats and napkins, centered with maps of Brazil and parrots. The guests were served fried chicken, roast beef, potato salad, baked beans (Brazil style), pickles, ripe tomatoes, etc. and buns, with coconut cream pie for dessert. Rev. Ken Morris said Grace. During this time the girls presented each mother with a gift.

A toast to the Queen was proposed by Janet Pooler. Judy Morgan proposed the toast to the C.G.I.T. in honor of their 20th anniversary. Janice Gordon gave a review of the work the group had done during the year. Colleen Cramton proposed a toast to the mothers, to which her mother replied.

Janet Pooler presented Mrs. Morris with a gift from the group in appreciation of her two years as their leader. Mrs. Morris very graciously thanked the girls, not only for the gift but for their co-operation, and wished them continued success.

A film on Brazil and Trinidad was shown as entertainment. At the close of the evening Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Butler were pleasantly surprised when they were presented with lovely gifts from the girls in appreciation of their leadership.

BIG LEAGUE CATCHER RECEIVES LITTLE LEAGUE TROPHY — Jerry Duff, catcher and captain of the Strome Little League ball team proudly receives the league trophy from Baseball Commissioner Brian Lee. Jerry, playing in the league's first ever ball player, played a big part in his team's undefeated record for the current season.

School Division Sets September 1st For School Re-opening

KILLAM — A regular meeting of the Killam School Division was held with all Board members and the Superintendent present.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read, reviewed and passed.

The Board went on record as being in favor of the transfer of land to Townships 42 and 43, Range 9, to the Provost M.D. and School Division No. 23.

Application was given for the payment of accounts numbered 141 April to 99 May, and approval was given for payment of bills numbered 69 May to 103 May.

Rate of pay per day to Trustees under Section 198 of the School Act, was discussed in detail, and the allowance per mile to remain at 13c.

School closings were set for various dates in June, with the latest ending in June 30th. Re-opening date for all schools set for Sept. 1st next.

The Sec.-Treas., Trustees and Superintendent were authorized to attend the Banff Short Course on Administration.

It was passed that Mr. Stan Urchadi be granted a boarding allowance to $35.00 a month while Larry, eldest grandson of Mrs. Urchadi, played a big part in his team's undefeated record for the current season.

P. F. Dammanns Married 50 Years

KILLAM — It was a happy occasion when Mr. and Mrs. Dammann celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary on Saturday, June 12, 1965. A three-tiered wedding cake centered the table where a lovely dinner was served. The entire family of 13 children (7 daughters and 6 sons) and 25 grand children were all able to attend. Relatives and friends from Edmonton, Elnora, Winnipeg, Man., Regina and Biggar, Sask. and Wyoming, Iowa, U.S.A. were also present.

Telegrams and a letter of congratulations from M.L.A. Hillman were read and Scrolls from Premier Manning and Lt. Gov. Percy Page, presented by Queen, were presented by Rev. Morris. The happy couple presented each other with a gold wedding band. Open house was attended by many friends and a purse representing the community was presented to the couple by Mr. Fred Forster. Many lovely gifts were received from friends and relatives.

The family extends sincere thanks to each and everyone who helped to make this a happy occasion.

It's No Laughing Matter

Soviet officials are in the laughable position of "protesting too much their innocence" so far as their espionage activities in Canada are concerned. Complaining in their press conferences that the RCMP are too ambitious in their anti-espionage work, would evoke amusement if it were not for the seriousness of the intent. In the past nine years there have been nine Russians expelled from Canada for espionage activities, and that in itself is enough evidence for the average patriotic Canadian that the activities of these Russians are detrimental to the welfare of this country. Their desire to have the security police "get off their backs" can only be realized by a change in their own conduct.

What holds true for Canada is also evident in all parts of the world today where communism has ambitions. By their own behavior have they earned the mistrust of the rest of the world, and any restrictive treatment meted out to them is just desert. They profess to admire peaceful co-existence while their actons give the lie to the claim.

Dangerous as these people are to our way of life, the more dangerous are those who fail for their propaganda. We have on our desk a circular containing a statement issued by the National Executive Committee of the Communist Party of Canada, urging all Canadians to help put a stop to the war in Viet Nam. The Canadian Government is ridiculed for not openly opposing Washington; the American Government is criticized for open aggression. On the circular is a picture of young people picketing the U.S. consulate in Toronto. All young people who obviously appear too young to really know much about the world situation; young minds that can be moulded to anything sensational so long as they are in public making some sort of silly scene. Who knows what kind of people these really are? What their background is? Who has moulded their thinking?

Stop the war in Viet Nam? On what basis? Americans and their allies pull out, leaving the situation to resolve itself to the satisfaction of those who advocate an ideology we cannot accept or live with? There is only one way Viet Nam can become peaceful, and that is for both sides to agree to terms, honestly arrived at and honestly lived up to. That this cannot be done has been proven time and again in other parts of the world, so there remains only one solution, and that is to continue the fight until one side or the other is subdued. In this respect there is only one position for Canada to take and that is to back the West to the limit of its resources. In this day you cannot be a fence-sitter and command the respect of the nations of the world.

Millions To Maintain U. N.

The old saying that there never was a law that couldn't be broken, holds true for most things that man contrives. Try as he will to set standards by which men shall live, he fails because man himself will not abide by any decision unless it suits his purpose.

Try as the United Nations will to establish a code of ethics, of morality of obligation or financial responsibility, the attempts will only be as good as all member nations want them to be. It is useless to establish regulations and by-laws to govern a body and then insert loopholes to allow escape. Such is the situation we find today in the United Nations. With an admirable set of rules on paper, the U.N. finds itself in no position to enforce its own rules.

Russia and France have "Opped Out" of financial obligations that morally they owe, and we find the tabs being picked up by other Nations who are already bearing the major portion of the upkeep of the U.N. Why these countries should be allowed to get away with this is beyond the comprehension of the man on the street. While every attempt should be made to keep the U.N. current and in operation, the time has arrived for a much stricter code of behavior and more severe penalties for failure to live up to responsibilities. If the U.N. is to continue to operate under the present circumstances it will continue to be the scapegoat for every irresponsible nation who has an axe to grind.

There's Always A Reason

There's a reason for everything that goes on in the universe, and if you dig deep enough you find that there is also a reason for just about everything that humans do too. Take car insurance for instance. Everyone who took out insurance this year found the rates up with the almost positive assurance that they will rise still higher. In fact rates have now reached the levl where somebody, somewhere is going to have to do something about it.

Well we did a little digging on our own and have come up with the major culprits responsible for the situation. First off we found that we apparently got a little break on our personal rates because our policy was issued on the understanding that nobody under 25 years of age would be driving our car. This apparently makes a difference; a great big money-saving difference. Why?

Delving into some statistics we found that drivers in the age group of under 20, there were 2,900,000 drivers involved in accidents, a rate of 35out of every 100; in the age group of 20 to 24, there were 3,100,000 drivers involved in accidents, or 30 of every 100. From there on up in the age groups the accident-prone percentage went down considerably, the only conclusion we could arrive at was that these young drivers are the culprits who make others pay high rates. Almost as if to prove what we were thinking at the moment, a car went by the office at, what could be honestly estimated at 50-55 miles per, roaring through an intersection without one thought to the safety of others; engine roaring, muffler barking and driver laughing.

The situation will never be resolved until the law takes a firmer stand and enforces regulations to the extent where the habitual and dangerous drivers are removed from the highways. There is a bottom to the pockets of accident-free drivers.

Striking employees of Anaconda American brass, New Toronto, have been notified that after June the company will cease to pay the company's share of the group insurance coverage now in force. No company can afford to continue to spend when no revenue is coming in and all is going out.

Wrong Address

OTTAWA — Picking chestnuts out of fire lives is often at the expense of a burned finger or two.

The Government's latest effort to play good neighbor to Premier Lesage and his Government has led to just that, even though the burns were not too serious or lasting. The Quebec Legislative Assembly's address to the Queen for an amendment to the British North America Act limiting the veto power of the Legislative Council appeared innocent enough but before the Conservatives and N. D. P.'s had had their say it became a cause celebre. And it was the first cause celebre in a long time which the Conservatives party united to a man.

This sort of thing at times could be disastrous. So far the Liberal Government has been able to behave as though it had a majority in the House and has been content with Social Credit and Creditiste support assured it does not have to do as that on other occasions it has been able to maintain this position only because it is fully aware of the split among the Conservatives at hand where an issue involving neutralism was concerned. When it came to a vote they could count on the required number of absentee Tory votes.

It is perhaps academic but interesting to note that if the Government had been defeated on this issue of the Address to the Queen, it would have been on an issue which it did not need to create. It all really stems back to the Fulton-Favreau formula for providing amendment of the Canadian Constitution in Canada. The amending formula in the shape of a draft bill to be submitted to Her Majesty for submission to Her British Ministers and passage at Westminster was approved by the Premiers of all the provinces last year and later by all Governments. There was no need to submit it to the Legislatures but Quebec and some other provinces decided to do so.

This was the first rub. It was ascertained that the Legislative Council where Union Nationale appointees still hold the majority would vote the amending formula if it was sent to it from the Legislative Assembly. A way had to be found to curb the vote. The Legislative Council derives its powers, equal to those of the Assembly, from Section 71 of the British North America Act of 1867. This, like any other amendment to the B.N.A. Act except those expressly placed within the jurisdiction of the Provincial Legislatures, required an Address to the Queen approved by both Assembly and Council. This procedure taken under Section 92 (1) of the B.N.A. Act which gives the Legislature of a Province exclusive power to amend from time to time the constitution of that Province has been used on four occasions to abolish Legislative Councils of Prince Edward Island, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Manitoba.

In the case of Nova Scotia in 1928 a committee of the Canadian Privy Council advised the Governor General that an Address of this nature, since it dealt with something exclusively within provincial jurisdiction, was not a matter for his consideration. Thus, if the Quebec Government had been able to take this course the Federal Government would have had no hand in the matter. But needless to say, the Legislative Council refused to approve the Address.

Since Legislative Councils appointed by Lieutenant Governors like Senators appointed by the Governor General are the least popular of Indian Premier Lesage would have been quite safe in calling an immediate election — he must go to the country in any event next year— and coming back with a clear mandate to curb the powers of the Council which no council out here on suicide would have defied. Instead, he appealed to his good friend Prime Minister Pearson and legality or they worked out the complicated and controversial device. Under Section 91 (1) the "Legislature" has the exclusive power to petition the Queen for an amendment to its constitution. But Section 71 specifically defines the Quebec Legislature as "The LL-Gov. and two Houses styled the Legislative Council of Quebec and the Legislative Assembly of Quebec."

So Mr. Lesage has thrown the constitutional ball to the Federal Government. The Legislative Assembly has passed two Addresses, one to the Queen asking the necessary amendment to the Quebec constitution, the other to the Gov.-Gen. asking him, with the assent of the Government of Canada to transmit the Address to the Queen. The Federal Government is thus bound to advise His Excellency and then through him Her Majesty whether or not to accept the Address.

To add to the unprecedented quality of the device being used, the Government announced in advance that it would advise Her Majesty to carry out the wishes of Quebec and then added that it would not give this advice until the House of Commons had had an opportunity to debate the matter on a supply motion.

The NDP leader, Mr. T.C. Douglas has said that the proper course for the Federal Government would have been to have the Address approved by the House of Commons and Senate, but this would undoubtedly have infringed the right of the province to decide the future of its

With pictures of young girls.
We see their "Sell" appeal
But what's their finished product?
It's never in their ads.

BOW OVER ROYAL AWARD. When Britain learned that her rock 'n rolling Beatles were on the Queen's list of birthday honours, as members of the Order of the British Empire, many people, justifying the issue by the Beatles' and Sir Brittain's balance of payments problem through foreign sales, members of the "establishment" in Britain however, were outraged, saying this degraded the coveted MBE award. Several MBE winners returned their medals in protest. Paul McCartney summed up the Beatles' own reaction to the winning of the rose satin sash with, "Gee, that's great!"—WTS Photo.

WEED CHEMICALS

Chemicals for weed control are effective and economical and in widespread use today. The proper use of the chemicals is somewhat confusing because there are so many different chemicals, different crops, different weeds and different conditions of growth, etc. It's hard to remember all the different combinations or be able to make the right adjustments because of varying conditions.

The 1965 Department of Agriculture publication "Chemical Weed Control in Field Crops" No. 181 just arrived last week in the D. A. Office. It is up to date and outlines the factors involved in choosing proper chemicals to do the best job. Pick up or ask for your copy.

FEED WHEAT STRAW IN GROWING RATIONS FOR FULLETS!

Use of finely cut wheat straw in rations for growing pullets will pay dividends, say poultry specialists.

A straw content of up to 50 per-cent can be fed successfully, report Dr. Strain and A.P. Pilotki. Their feeding tests were carried out with four groups of white leghorns and over an age of 12 to 22 weeks. The same grain ration was used in each case. Pullets in the first group were full-fed on the regular ration, while those in the second group received the same ration but were restricted to 70 percent the amount consumed by the fully fed birds. Those in the third group were given the same ration but with 50 percent of finely cut wheat straw and those in the fourth group were fed the ration containing 25 p.c. straw.

Pullets on the straw rations increased their total consumption to compensate for the increase in the fibre. The increase was such that those getting 25 p.c. straw actually ate more grower ration than the full-fed birds, the researchers said. The 50 percent straw ration was equivalent to restricting the grower ration to 76 percent of the amount given the full-fed birds.

Their findings from the tests:

Birds in the full-fed group proved inferior in rate of laying to those in the other groups.

Laying house mortality was lower for both groups that had been fed straw. Rearing mortality, however, was high for the birds that had received the larger amount of straw.

Despite the higher mortality in rearing, use of the 50 percent straw ration gave an increase in profit of almost 20 cents per bird over chick and feed costs based on local prices. There was little difference in profit between the birds that had been full-fed and those that had received the 25 percent straw ration.

The Bible Today

THE BIBLE TODAY

Chokwe is a language spoken by about 500,000 people in North East Angola and in South West Congo, as well as some fairly large isolated groups in Central Angola, and South West Africa. There is, in all, a Christian community of over 10,000 speaking Chokwe.

Printed in both Portuguese and Chokwe on alternate pages, a special edition of Genesis to Ruth is in the two languages, or digit form, due to government requirements.

There are over 800 churches and small groups of Christians to whom the new version of the Scriptures will come as a long awaited treasure.

While the New Testament, Psalms, Proverbs and two other books of the Old Testament have been available for some time, the balance of the Bible is now in the process of being completed. It is hoped that the book of Genesis to Ruth separately in case overseas missionary personnel are required to withdraw from the area concerned.

Two other languages have the Bible published in the digist form are Angala, Umbundu and Luchazi were completed as whole Bibles within the last few years.

NOTICE

A Special Committee on Administrative Boards and Tribunals has been established by the Lieutenant Governor in Council to study and receive representations and recommendations, on the following matters:

1. A thorough survey and consideration of the Alberta legislation concerning jurisdiction or power on administrative boards and tribunals and the functions and powers exercised by them.
2. Whether such boards and tribunals infringe on the rights of individual citizens and if so, in what way and to what extent.
3. Whether there should be a greater provision for appeals to the courts from the decisions of such boards and tribunals.
4. Whether such boards and tribunals have a practical voice in adjudicating matters without involving individual citizens in costly and time-consuming court procedures and whether the public interest is thereby served and if so, in what way and to what extent.
5. Whether there is need for a tribunal to which aggrieved individuals could have resort for the purpose of having decisions or actions by regulatory boards and tribunals and departments and agencies of the Government, investigated and reviewed, and if there is such a need, what form of tribunal would be best suited for that purpose and what powers should it be given.

The Committee invites all persons, Companies and Associations who are interested in the above matters or any of them to file with its undersigned Secretary in writing not later than September 15th, 1965, their representations, recommendations and submissions. Following that date the Committee will announce that dates and places of public meetings at which the submissions will be heard and discussed.

REPORTS FROM PARLIAMENT HILL

The Prime Minister recently announced in the House of Commons a Manpower Mobility Plan as another weapon in Canada's anti-poverty arsenal.

The program provides both for grants and loans to help workers move to new jobs. The Government believes this is an important part of our attack on the waste of human resources which results from inadequate employment opportunities.

I personally believe it is another indication that the present Federal Government thinks of the economic and other problems of Canada in these true terms: the terms of the people who are affected by them. Canada, after all, exists for people and surely it is the main duty of every democratic government to do all in its power to provide equality of opportunity for all. No government can ensure equality of success for everyone, but we must try to make it possible for everyone to have an even starting-off point.

The new programme will make loans available to anyone who is without work but for whom a job is open beyond commuting distance and of re-settling in a new home. They will cover the actual costs of the family's transportation and movement of household effects, plus a re-settlement allowance which may be $150, plus the cost of transportation. The repayment period will normally be not more than two years.

These loans will be of great assistance in enabling many people to make a new start. But loans are a larger financial obligation than can reasonably be assumed by people who have suffered prolonged unemployment.

Therefore grants, instead of loans, will be available to people who have been unemployed for four of the previous six months or who cannot get a job locally after completing a training course.

For a single man or woman, the grant will be limited to actual transportation expenses.

A family will be entitled to expenses of transportation and movement of household effects, together with a re-settlement grant of up to $400 for a childless couple and up to $1,500 if there are six or more dependents.

Grants and loans under this programme will be available not only to unemployed wage-earners but also to other people, such as farmers, if they are in similar financial circumstances and can obtain employment by moving.

For the purposes of this programme Parliament will be asked to approve, in Department of Labor estimates, a $5 million revolving fund for loans and a $5 million appropriation for the cost of grants in this fiscal year.

In addition to its direct benefit to the unemployed, this measure should be of great assistance to industry.

We cannot enjoy efficient economic expansion in Canada unless people can take advantage of employment opportunities despite the handicaps of distance. For the worker with dependents, those handicaps are very large.

The effect of this proposal is that, for the first time, the doors of opportunity will not be barred to a family just because of where they live.

The benefits will be social and economic. They will also be national: we will be helping all Canadians to feel that their country itself is as broad as Canada itself.

It is not my wish to exaggerate the importance of this measure. There is much more to do. This is the first, the first phase of the Government's planned attack on the problems of poverty and inadequate opportunity.

But as such, I believe it is of real significance and will, I hope, be warmly welcomed.

FUA Newsletter

The Alberta Government deserves commendation for its intention to proceed with a plan to require grantors to disclose annual interest rates on loans and sale agreements. This statement was issued today on behalf of the Farmers' Union of Alberta by its president, Mr. Paul Babey.

"We support 'truth in lending' legislation and we are of the opinion that granting of credit is a service, and certainly consumers should have the opportunity to know what this service is going to cost," Mr. Babey stated.

He continued, "It is our myth that interest rate disclosures will be a detriment to business is not a sound argument against this legislation, because it must be obvious that a customer unable to afford the fully disclosed cost of credit would have been in the same position if there had been no such law. We must conclude that business which would be deterred by such a full disclosure law should not transpire in any event."

Silver Link Rebekahs Last Meet Till Fall

KILLAM — On June 22nd, Silver Link Rebekah Lodge held the last meeting until after the holidays. This proved a busy meeting, getting the business attended to for the summer. District Deputy President, Sister Blanche Wroe, of Provost, visited the Lodge.

In answer to an invitation from Longlved Lodge for June 23rd, eight members decided to go. The date for the annual Rebekah Picnic Show and Tea was set for August 31st in Killam.

The members entertained the patients of the Auxiliary Hospital and report a good time had by all.

Before the close of the meeting a memorial service was held for the Oddfellow and Rebekah lodges, and the names of all the departed brothers and sisters brought to mind. Looking back with tenderness,

Along the path they trod,
We bless the years we had with them

And leave the rest to God.

Card of Thanks

The members of the Hazlewood Good Deed Club would like to thank everyone heartily for donating to the meat bonds in the Hardisty Stampede. What was made, was turned over to the Medical Centre Trust Fund. We cleared $295.63, and made it up to an even $300 from the club funds. We thoroughly appreciate would like to know, when so many helped out. Also a special thank you to the ladies who did the actual hard work so gladly. We had a very well attended Father's Day Tea. The draw first prize (quilt went to Mrs. M. Harrison; 2nd draw (Terry Cath Apron) to Dan Moore; 3rd draw (Cushion) to Mrs. M. Manning, a friend of Hardisty. Our Home Baking and Serving went in a hurry, so will say thank you again for this year, and may you all have a good and successful year, as our club has. 7 1 p

OBITUARY

KILLAM — Mrs. Louise Fox was born at Aiden, Iowa on November 19th, 1886. She moved to the Killam district in 1910 with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Alberty Bouse. On January 17th, 1912 she was married to Rose Fox, and she resided in the Killam district until her death with the exception of two years spent at Chilliwack, B.C.

Mrs. Fox is survived by her husband; one son, Everette of Killam, and nine grandchildren. Also surviving are two sisters, Annie (Mrs. Asa Thayer) and Mary (Mrs. Philip Ott) both of Coure d'Alene, Idaho; two brothers, Ed and John Bouse of Killam.

Funeral services were held on June 19th from the Knox United Church at Killam with Rev. Morris officiating, and interment was in the Killam cemetery. Pallbearers were Geoff Bouse, Dale Bouse, Roy Bouse, Lorne Bouse, Grant Murray and Lloyd Palmer.

The large number of floral and memorial tributes attested to the esteem in which the deceased was held in the community.

OBITUARY

MARGARET RICHARDSON

On June 30th, Margaret, beloved wife of Mr. Donald Richardson, of Burnaby, B. C. aged 77, passed away in Edmonton, Alberta.

She is survived by her husband; two sisters, Mrs. K. (Margaret) Lewis of Edmonton, Mrs. R. (Zena) Magilo of Saskatoon; eight grandchildren; three sisters, Miss Agnes Doughty of Port Saskatchewan, Mrs. E. E. Rowe of Vermillion, Mrs. W. V. Rathie of Edmonton.

SUGAR AND SPICE
by Bill Smiley

NEW BREED OF PYGMIES

Well, father, how did you enjoy your day?

Personally, Father's Day saddened me, as it saddens me each year.

The more existence of such a day is an indication of the new low to which the father has sunk in the family unit. Just a few decades ago, every day was father's day and there was no fooling about it.

When I was a kid, there was none of this nonsense of father helping around the house. Nowadays fathers scrub the kitchen floor on their day off, and help with the dishes after dinner. In the good old days off, in the first place, and mother wouldn't have let him dry the dishes, in the second, because she knew her place, and his.

Perhaps it's the increase in leisure time that has turned the head of the house into the foot of the family: a substitute babysitter; an unpaid domestic slavey; a handy wailing wall; and in general, a pale reflection of his dignified, respected male forebears.

Until a couple of decades ago, father worked a six-day 60-hour week. But he didn't get ulcers, or drop dead at 45. And do you know why? Because he didn't see as much of his family as the poor, cripple-gutted creature who brings home the bacon today.

Nowadays, father gets a day off. Does he putter in the garden? Does he go fishing? Does he play golf with the boys? Would it were so. He is kicked into the street with the children, while mother does whatever modern women do around home, with $2,000 worth of labor-saving machinery.

There is nothing more pitiable than the sight of a father, on his day off, wandering forlornly about a supermarket, trailed by two or three whining kids.

When my Dad got home from work, he didn't have to set the table, run around looking for the kids, then jump in the car and go to get a quart of milk. Nor did he have to "pick up a few things on the way home," because mother looked after her own shopping.

No, sir. When my Dad got home from work, he was greeted affectionately, but politely, and left alone. He retired to his chair, and MIS paper, until he was called for supper. During the meal, he was not forced to listen to a 35-minute monologue about the terrible day mother had. Nor did he have to break up quarrels among the children. They wouldn't have dared squabble.

And on the weekend, my Dad wasn't expected to turn into a party boy. He was tired on Saturday night, and he went to bed. If he felt like going to church next day, he did. If he didn't, he didn't. But he wasn't pestered all day Sunday by kids wanting to be taken swimming, or wife wanting to go for a drive, or "have somebody in." He made the decisions. If he just wanted to sit on the verandah and look at the grass growing, he did.

Not that he was an ogre. Usually, we went for a picnic on Sunday. But there wasn't any doin' foolishness about Dad doing the cooking on an outdoor grill. Mother made the lunch, and Dad would sit on a stump, in his Sunday best, gazing with dignity and a certain amount of distaste, at nature. After lunch, he would recline on a blanket in the shade. He was relaxed, that man.

Another reason for his unquestioned head-of-the-house status was that we didn't argue with him. Now you have to discuss everything with the brats. Today's father can get into a 20-minute argument with any kid over the age of five, at the drop of a suggestion. And come out whimpering.

One generation has turned fathers from giants to pygmies. And now, if you'll pardon me, I have to go and make the beds, while my wife dries her hair and watches a little TV.

MORE ABOUT YOUR CHILD'S SHOES

Shoes are a matter you are concerned about the clothing budget as well as the foot health of your child. Have you ever asked these questions:

QUESTION: I realize how important it is that children's shoes fit properly. How can I be sure of this? Actually, there are several things you can do. First, always have both feet measured each time you buy shoes. On most people, one foot is slightly larger than the other. (Size should be determined by the larger foot.) Incorrect fit can ruin the shape of shoes — but that's a relatively minor consideration. What is really important is the permanent injury ill-fitting shoes can do to a child's foot. The following chart relates the average growth rate of children's feet to the frequency with which their shoe size needs changing. (Growth varies with children; a youngster's feet may change from one to as many as three sizes during any one period.)

AGE	SIZE CHANGE EVERY—
2–6 years	1–2 months
6–10 years	2–3 months
10–12 years	3–4 months
12–15 years	4–6 months
15–20 years	6 months

How can you check fit on your child? Look for a space of 1/2 to 3/4 inch beyond the largest toe and enough width and height over the toe area to allow each of the five toes to lie normally. Also be sure there is sufficient room for maximum growth. Check, too, for generous height and width across the area where the foot flexes (the widest part of the foot.) If the shoe does not correspond to the foot shape, the fit is wrong. The counter and back should be slightly bulbous to avoid heel irritation. A properly fitting shoe will be comfortable as soon as the child tries it on — both shoes please.

Finally, encourage your child to sit, stand and walk in them before you make your selection. A foot expands in both length and width when weight is put on it. If any area feels tight, cuts or rubs, don't buy the shoes — keep on looking.

QUESTION: Shoe salesmen often examine the shoes they take off my children. Why is this done?

Looking at the way old shoes have worn frequently helps the salesman do a better fitting job. For instance, an unevenly worn sole or a badly-out-of-shape shoe usually indicates the old shoes were the wrong size or style. If the toe area on the upper is worn out, it might mean either that the child needs reinforcement there or merely that he has outgrown the shoes. In any case, a good salesman can learn a lot about your child's individual needs by looking at his worn shoes.

QUESTION: I always seem to be buying shoes for my children. How long should shoes last?

This depends on many factors. Children outgrow shoes very fast; they also give them exceptionally hard wear. Good shoes last some time. When a child outgrows them, discard, even if wear remains. The life of cheap ones is unpredictable. Sometimes they give good service, but more often they fall apart in the first few weeks. Naturally, shoes worn every day wear out faster than those reserved for special occasions. Wear also depends on whether your children abuse shoes excessively or take care of them. You could, for instance, turn shoe polishing into a game. Not only will this make your children more conscious of how their shoes look, but it also should increase wear considerably.

Based on an index of 100 for 1949, the Bureau of Statistics estimates that output per man-hour in Canadian manufacturing had risen to 154.4 by 1963, while the index of average weekly wages had risen to 186.2 in the same period.

MYSTERY MESSAGE

SOLISEUN

Some letters have been removed from the box and printed beneath. Put them back in correctly. A merry message will then appear, reading outwards from left to right, starting at the top left. Cartoon provides clue to the key-word in message.

Answer: HELP WHO ARE THE SURVIVORS

"This is motley!"

Is This A Good Advertisement?

If your advertising could be printed in a special kind of invisible ink that became visible only between 5:00 and 5:01 Thursday, and then disappeared, the chances are you wouldn't think such an ad was worth much. You'd only reach a small fraction of the total newspaper's audience—those who happened to be reading the newspaper on Thursday afternoon at precisely the time your ad appeared, and who in fact happened to be turned to the page your ad was on at the precise moment.

And yet this is what happens to advertising in media other than newspapers. A recent survey showed that 75 percent of all shoppers check the newspaper ads before making their main shopping trip.

Newspaper messages are available at the convenience of the customer. He doesn't have to be at a certain place at a particular time of day or night to hear or see the message.

Perhaps equally important — he looks at newspaper advertising because he wants to.

It is never an unwanted interruption.

Daysland Town Council

DAYSLAND — The regular monthly Council meeting of the Town of Daysland was held in the Town office on Monday June 7th. Six Councillors were present with Mayor Pryce presiding.

It was again suggested by Council that any delegations wishing to see Council should make an appointment to meet with Council the third Monday of the month instead of the first Monday. This appointment to be made ahead of time so that Council may know the agenda for the evenings meeting.

N.A.D.P. had complained that an old tiller had been left abandoned on their property. Council suggested if an owner could not be found then they would have it removed.

The police report that Constable Schatz gave for the month of May was read and discussed.

John Bhott applied for a building permit to construct a garage on lot 30, Block 30, Plan 8335 ET. It was moved that the permit be granted.

Correspondence discussed was a statement from Flagstaff Lodge, a report of the 1965 general assessment from the assessors and E.M.O. literature.

Councillor Stevens reported the fire brigade had ordered a fire mask from Saskatoon Fire Equipment.

In a general discussion such topics as sportsground, sidewalks and garbage received attention. It was reported that 67 trash barrels were of the 45 gallon type which was too large and too heavy to installed of this.

It was moved that Jean Ginter be appointed as Enumerator to prepare a supplementry Voters List for 1965.

It was moved that Councillor Cramton be appointed as Deputy Mayor for the months of June, July, and August.

It was also moved that each cemetery grave or plot be sold for $12.00, and that each lot containing those plots be sold for $36.00, a marker to be given with each lot or plot as the case may be.

A special meeting was called for June 11th in the Town Office for the purpose of giving second and third reading to By-Law C 126 and making any other arrangements and decisions in regards to the proposed lift, and people would have to be water system for the Town of Daysland.

Mr. P. Schoetzle, Manager of Municipal Engineering Services Ltd. and Mr. Ron Konechnk, Manager of Buffalo Drilling Ltd. were present.

It was moved that the Buffalo Drilling Ltd. of Donalda be engaged to complete a 165 foot well, with a 20 foot long- 4-inch sand screen, surface casing to be 40 foot deep, 8 5/8 inch in diameter and cemented. Actual well casing being 6 5/8 inches with sand screen at bottom. Well to be developed and pump tested and proper pump installed and to be completed before the end of June 1965.

By-Law C126, a By-Law to authorize the Municipal Council of the Town of Daysland to incur an Indebtedness on behalf of the said Town By The Issuance of Debentures for the purpose of providing a Water Supply and Distribution System for the Town of Daysland.

It was moved that the Daysland Elks' be paid $250.00 rent for the use of their hall for meetings for the year 1965.

It was also moved that a portable hamburger booth be built at the sports ground, estimated cost of lumber $180.00 and to be paid for from town funds. Labor to be donated by different organizations.

Mutual funds in Canada are custodians of about $1.5 billion of public savings.

A. P. Crop Report

GENERAL — Throughout the main part of Alberta, good to heavy rain was received ranging from about 1" in the North to as much as 4" in the south and west. Crops now have a very good start and warm weather is needed to promote growth. Weeds are thick in many areas and wet fields have prevented spraying for control. Winter Wheat and Rye are heading in the south with good crops indicated. No rain was received in the Peace River District, and, while crops are making good progress, rain is needed to restore surface moisture.

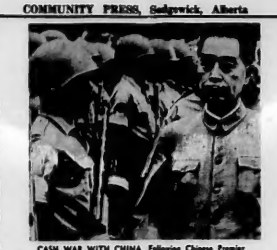
W.M.S. Meeting Held At Baptist Church

KILLAM — The monthly meeting of the W.M.S. was held on Thursday night in the church with twelve members in attendance. The devotion was in the form of a skit by four of the ladies. The missionary biography was read by Mrs. Freschuk with Mrs. Lillian Bartnsek in charge of the scripture and prayer session. A poem on vacation was read by Mrs. Jean Sorensen. A report was given by the President on the recent annual meeting of the Alberta Baptist General Conference held in Edmonton. This was the 46th Anniversary of the Women's Missionary Union. A work day for camp was set for June 28th. Cookies and cake are to be supplied by our group for girls camp on July 18th. Lunch was served by the hostesses Mrs. Jeanne Wilde and Mrs. Cyr.

Several men from the church spent some time mowing and raking the grounds of the Prairie Park Cemetery.

The Pastor was in charge of the Sunday services. Although many of our own members were absent, we were happy to welcome several visitors.

Several families from the church plan to attend the Billy Graham campaign in Vancouver next week while on vacation.



CASH WAR WITH CHINA. Following Chinese Premier Chou En-lai's visit to East Africa, announcement came of planned $45 million Chinese loan to Tanzania. This may mean China and Canada will step up aid to Tanzania, and counter Chinese visit with one from a Canadian cabinet minister. Tanzania is eighth in our foreign aid list, last year receiving $821,468 in economic help.

Bridal Shower Honours Miss Doris York

KILLAM — A bridal shower was held in the Killam Baptist Church lower auditorium on Tuesday, June 22nd, in honour of bride-elect Miss Doris York. The hall was suitably decorated in green and white for the occasion.

Mrs. Edith Bartnsek was M.C. with special numbers provided by: Miss Sherwen Wells, soloist, a duet by Mrs. Lillian Bartnsek and Mrs. Laurine Kusmenuk, and a solo by Miss Valerie Sorensen. Mrs. Gryzmalokl read a scripture passage and led in prayer. Quizzes were conducted by Mrs. Jeanne White. Miss Eunice Grymaloski was in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. Bartnsek planed the corsage of red carnations on Doris, and presented the gifts to her. Miss Eleanor Sorensen, sister of the groom, and Miss Shirley Beardsorg Child, carried them by Gengo Pettifor, and a medley of songs by the combined choirs.

provided the shower, and invited all to visit them in their apartment in Calgary. Lunch was served by the W.M.S. group.

A BARREL OF POST HOLES

(By Bert Odland)

Remember the wild, witty song that used to have 'round the bunkhouse? The young and the naive supplied them with laughter. Saying an old adage for hard-as-nails, left-handed monkey wrenches and a barrel full of post holes.

Ridiculous? Maybe. But just such a barrel full of post holes for a second. A post hole has value. In fact the only reason a former buys a post hole digger is because he wants post holes. The digger is just a means to an end. If he could buy post holes he wouldn't need a digger.

And so it goes. You don't want a furnace. You want cozy warmth when chores you don't want a TV set, you want entertainment. You never want to buy a furnace either ..... what you want is comfort.

The question then, is: "What is the best comfort buy I can make? The answer does not lie in how many bucks a furnace may cost. It lies in what kind of comfort you expect and whether you expect it to last one year, two years, or up to twenty or more.

So what do you look for? You look for more than just a furnace. You look for an installer whom you can trust to do a conscientious job of designing the right system for your home.

Yes, buying comfort is something like buying a barrel full of post holes ..... You've got to have faith in the guy you buy from, because you will never be sure of what you have until the job is installed and operating in your home. We invite you to check our reputation for delivering comfort and satisfaction. As certified Lennox Comfort Craftsmen we will install the right indoor comfort system for you ..... even if we have to buy a brand new left-handed pipe wrench to get the job done.

HIGHWAY DEATHS PASS '64 RECORD FIGURES

For the first time in five months deaths due to motor vehicle accidents climbed past last year's record-smashing figures. To the end of May, 116 persons died on Alberta highways, compared to 107 one year ago. Twenty-eight were killed during May, three more than in 1964.

Accidents continue to run well ahead of last year. A total of 14,048 accidents were reported to May's end. This represents a 14 percent increase over May 1964's 12,326 collisions. Police investigated 2,369 accidents during May.

Injuries, meanwhile, are holding below last year's figures. Two thousand five hundred and twenty-eight persons received medical attention since January 1st, while 2,613 people required treatment for motor vehicle accident injuries during the same five month period last year. During the fifth month 701 people were injured, four less than a year ago.

With driving conditions ideal many drivers take additional chances by careless lane changing, bad passing, failing to yield right-of-way. Death statistics for May show a person was killed for every 94 accidents. In April a motorist was killed for every 103 collisions. The ratio may increase to around a death for every 90 collisions by the end of July if accidents statistics follow the same pattern as previous years.

Sixty percent of the persons killed during May, according to the RCMP had liquor involvement.

Avoid Grazing Too Early

Grazing cultivated pastures before their growth reaches four to six inches can result in permanent injury to the plants and reduce the production for the entire season.

According to O. G. Bravold, Supervisor of Alberta's Crop Improvement Service, letting pastures establish at least four inches of growth before grazing is one of the most crucial factors in pasture management.

Mr. Bravold points out that the plants cannot manufacture plant tissue until leaf growth has been established. If livestock graze the pasture when the first shoots appear plants must continue to draw on food reserves in their roots. This seriously weakens them and the pasture's ability to produce becomes less and less instead of increasing as it would under normal growing conditions.

M.D. Requested To Support Protest Of New Assessments

A regular meeting of the Council of M. D. Flagstaff was held on June 23rd with all councillors present.

Reeve Matthews reported that the gravel crushing foreman had constructed a conveyor for feeding the gravel which was working well except for the belt which was being cut by the rocks. The foreman was requesting a steel type conveyor to remedy this situation. A decision on this is to be reached later.

A letter from the Director of Survey in Edmonton advising that he was in receipt of a report from the District Engineer which recommended that the road allowances advertised for closing through by-law be not closed.

The contractor for the gravel crush machine was discussed further and it was moved that Mr. Rott and Inc Soc-Trans. be authorized to rent to him a conveyer of the type discussed for loading the gravel crusher.

W. J. Ragnall, Reeve of County of Mountain View at Didsbury advised council that the Alberta Government intended to pass legislation to reduce considerably the pasture land schedule of assessment. He said his council was strongly opposed to this and requested support in preparing representation to the Alberta Government. The secretary was instructed to obtain further information, and the matter was then tabled for the time being.

A letter from the CNR enclosing a copy of their application to the Board of Transport requesting permission to close a level crossing at Meeting Creek, and to construct a railway (as advertised), and it was moved that in view of the report made by the District Engineer that we not recommend granting approval to the closing and that the passing of the by-law be not proceeded with.

CHEMICAL PLOT FIELD DAY ON FRIDAY

The Department of Agriculture and the Agricultural Chemicals Board have been co-operating with chemical companies in setting out plots in the M.D. of Flagstaff.

"Bucril" a product of Mray and Baker Chemical Co. of England, is proving to be a promising chemical in the control of Buckwheat, Thistle and other hard-to-kill weeds.

Field days will be held at the farm of Alex Black, one mile West and three and a half North of Daysland, starting at 10:30 a.m., on Friday, July 9th, and at the farm of Bill Hastings, 7 miles North and 3 East of Lougheed, at 2:00 p.m. the same day.

Plan to attend one of these Field Days and observe the effects on one of our new chemicals for weed control!

Kelsey Team Wins Dayland Sports

DAYLAND — With the weather co-operating perfectly, the Elks' sponsored Sports Day at Dayland turned out to be a huge success with a large crowd of people taking in the various events from the parade to the final ball game.

The day started out with a street parade at noon led by distinguished Majorettes and the County Band. Those were followed by floats, bicycles, novelty entries, cars, machinery and horses. The OOSP received first place, with the 4-H Beef Club second and the Old Timers third for floats. Betty Ann Miskiw was first and Cressida Lipsso second in the Bicycle class. In the Horse section, Danny McCarrol was first, Dennis Robinson second and Sandra Robinson third. Mark Walker, David Peterie and Paul Rolland received special mention in the Novelty Class.

Little League ball games drew a good crowd of spectators, who were interested in the future players of the area. Kelsey was thier game against Strome, and then Strome was the winner over Daysland.

An usual, one of the main attractions of the day was the senior baseball games, and the spectators were treated to a fine brand of the popular sport throughout the afternoon. Kelsey, Strome, and Lougheed clan defeating Strome. Kelsey then took on the Daysland boys and came out on the top end of the scoring. In the final game the bustling Kelsey aggregation trimmed Lougheed to take the day's top honors.

Strome and Daysland Peep Leaguers played a good game to 6-6 tie.

To end the day a most successful dance was held in the hall, with music by the Epics.

School Children To Lead Tree Planting

Alberta school children in Grades 6, 8 and 10 will spearhead a Centennial tree-planting program in the 1966 and 1967, which will result in thousands of trees being planted in every area of the province. The program will help to beautify Alta., and at the same time establish live Centennial projects or monuments which will extend well into the future.

The trees, which will be provided free of charge, will consist of other poplar species, Manchurian or American Elm, Green Ash, Manitoba Maple, White or Colorado Spruce, Laurel and other Willow. Caragana or other species for dry natural areas. In addition, one Centennial Ruspbian Crabapple tree will be available for each school to commemorate the occasion in a planting ceremony.

The Departments of Agriculture, Education and Lands and Forests are jointly promoting and assuming responsibility for the project with District Agriculturists, School Superintendents and Forestry personnel assisting in implementing the project, providing technical information on land preparation, planting and care of the trees.

School Boards or School Committees in both rural and urban School Divisions will be responsible for initiating the project. However, local organizations interested in the planting trees under this program may do so provided this is acceptable to, and sponsored by, the School Division. Applications must be submitted by School Boards or School Committees to the office of the District Agriculturist, and completed forms must be signed by all organizations participating and must indicate the responsibility of each.

Trees may be planted on public lands including school grounds, provincial, city, town or other public parks, scenic parks and campgrounds, bird habitat areas or other multiple use areas, for purposes of recreation, conservation and beautification only. Trees and cared for, approval of the site will be approved provided the planting site is well prepared, and if there is assurance that the trees will be given the necessary care and attention in future years.

Participating organizations will be required to prepare the land for planting and provide for continued cultivation of the planted areas until the trees are fully established. This means that a tractor or other cultivating equipment must be available for the purpose.

All correspondence relating to the Centennial Tree Planting Program should be directed to the Superintendent of Horticulture, P.P.S. Building, Department of Agriculture, Legislative Building, Edmonton, Alta. June 30, 1965.

Rain and Sun Combine For Sports Day Crowd

SEDGEWICK — A late June 3-day rain combined with a 36-hour drying period and bright sunshine, all combined to make the July 1st sports day at Sedgewick one of the most successful in recent years, with an estimated 2000 people passed through the gates. Farmers were unable to work the land and in view of the "big rains" were in a holiday mood to help swell the crowds who gathered to watch the various attractions of the day.

The parade which got under way at 10:30 in the morning, was led by the Viking School Band, and was followed by the largest and most varied list of parade entries in a good many years. The list included from 10 to 40 horses of all sizes and colors. In Commercial Floats, the Sedgewick Co-op took first place, with Sexsmith's Beauty Shop, second. For Clubs and Organizations the Kinsmen-Kinette entry was first closely followed by the Legion. The Comedy section was taken by Fred McKee, with Gordon Muirhead and his Wagon Train second. Miss Irene Schenck walked off with top honors in Decorated Cars while H. Hogg and Ken Jacobsen captured the second money section. In the Bicycle and Tricycle entry, first went to Tom Robertson, with Miss Mika a close second. The Queen of the Day award went to Margaret Robertson, with Elena Arbuckle runner-up.

Activities at the sports grounds got under way at 1:00 with baseball, softball, Gymkhana events, chariot races and other entertainment supplying all tastes on the holiday.

The first game in the baseball saw Lougheed drawn against Sedgewick. A good game of seven innings resulted in a win for Sedgewick by a score of 5-0. Batteries for Lougheed were Coates; Cochran, Borden and Dunbar; for Sedgewick, Bergum; Meyne and Dawson. The Killam Braves took on Hardisty in the second game and came out with an 11 to 5 victory. Catching for Killam was Alan Gaume and pitching were Remilard and Smolnik. The battery for Hardisty was Carl Maurer and Chapman. Killam met Sedgewick in the final game, a nine inning encounter which proved to be the best game of the day from a spectator point of view. Sedgewick got away to a 5-run lead in the first inning, with Killam coming right back to keep things even. At the end of three innings the count was deadlocked at five each, and remained that way until the top half of the ninth, when a combination of a hit, two bunts and a single scored the decisive run for Sedgewick.

George Anderson handled all the games behind the plate.

The Men's Softball drew a lot of applause as the evenly matched teams fought it out. Team trimmed Viking, Camrose beat Sedgewick, and I.O.A. was over Kinsella. The semi-final saw Camrose beat IOA, (Please turn to page 6a)

Dominion Day Is Canada's Birthday

Dominion Day, July 1st is Canada's Birthday. It is not just another holiday; not just another day to close up shop and go fishing or whatever people do on holidays. It is Canada's Birthday and as such is different than any other holiday we claim in this country. Because this is so, it is a day that deserves a little more serious reflection, along with the social and sporting activities that the day seems to have been set aside for.

Too many of us take Dominion Day in stride with hardly a serious thought for the importance of the event which took place on July 1st, 1867, when Confederation became a fact with the passing of the B.N.A. Act. Canadians, for the most part seem almost completely oblivious to the fact that July 1st is the anniversary of the establishment of democracy in this country.

If no other day in the year is worthy of the display, certainly Dominion Day is a day for flag waving. People from all over the world look with respect upon this land blessed with plenty, while we ourselves take it for granted, and do in fact show little of the patriotic respect that is so evident South of the border on July 4th.

We are fortunate indeed to live in a land blessed with so much, working and playing where life is not the frugal and dangerous thing visited upon so many parts of the world. Here we take for granted the affluent society, the comforts of life and the ease of living unknown to millions.

Another Dominion Day has come and gone. A day with a meagre display of flag waving. Canada now has its own flag and whether we like it or not, it deserves respect and prominence in the celebration of the nation's birth. In two years we will celebrate our 100th anniversary, and right now would be a good time to get in the habit of flag waving in preparation for that historic event.

The Most Out Of Life!

How does one go about making the most out of life? Actually there is no easy way, for even if you adhere to the belief that pleasure is the only good, you have to do some work to make that pleasure possible. The Western way of life, more especially the Canadian way, expects everyone to contribute in some way, economically, socially or culturally, through work. Once this daily routine has been learned and mastered, then we may go on to fill our lives with projects which are worthy and rewarding.

But of what does a full life consist? It requires that you be active, and awake to your surroundings and its possibilities; to be able to get hold of and understand things that are worthwhile. It forces yourselves upon you; to see and appreciate beauty; to stand on your own feet and to measure up to the demands of life so far as your ability may permit, while acknowledging with wonder the unexplained mysteries of the universe. All this adds up to seeing life as a whole. So it becomes obvious that there is more to making the most of life than plodding and punctuality.

As we progress from youth to adulthood we should learn the merit of adjusting to circumstances of individual lives to allow us to fit in to a total situation, for only as far as we adapt ourselves intelligently are we the masters of our own fate. In every life there comes a time to grow up, and this process consists at least in part of bringing rationality, quality and activities under control. The mature world in all its phases has little use for youth who enter it glorifying infantilism, like a small child crying "look at me" as he jumps off a six-inch high step.

We should never be afraid of the face wrinkles developed in the process of arriving at maturity, for there is nothing less interesting than a face on which has not written no story. These wrinkles develop with acquiring a sense of proportion, and the process of learning to command the self one has to live with. A mind set, whether on self-gratification or some other personal love, is a state which prevents making the most of your life.

Holiday Time Is Here Again!

School is out, the kids are on the loose, and Dad has a holiday coming up. This constitutes at least a part of the necessary ingredients for the annual two-week break from the ennui of day by day activities. Those who will be taking off for the resorts, the bright lights and the hinterlands this month, will be back in circulation again almost before you realize they are gone, for after all a vacation consists of 2 weeks, in which you are 2 tired 2 return 2 work and 2 broke not 2. This year the Community Press will NOT be closing shop for the annual summer break, but with additional staff will stagger the big events so as to remain open throughout the summer.

We are going to be presumptuous enough, even though we are not the world's best driver, to give a few words of advice to those who will be motoring on their vacation. First of all, don't let an amateur in the family take the wheel on busy highways. Amateurs screech tires on curves and starts, and awaken all the late starters who paid ten bucks for a good night's sleep; they forget to signal on turns and get clobbered by the fast guy who was due back at work yesterday; they hop lanes without signalling, not noticing the big semi-trailer bent on getting a load of parishables to the retailer; they leave a parking space without looking back and all this saves you from a dressing down from the lady with a dented fender is that she is on her way to the dentist to pick up her dentures. Do your own driving. You're a professional, and the professional driver respects the traffic regulations. He is considerate of other drivers and will not overspeed and take chances, even if little Johnny is in a hurry to get to a bathroom. He's going to protect himself at all costs and John can come in second. After all he's got a job to return to, a family to feed and a ball game to go to. He's going to get home. Safely.

JUNIOR CITIZEN AWARDS!

Entries for the Calgary Power Junior Citizen Awards end July 31st. If you have some worthy young person to nominate for these awards, just enter the person's name along with a story of the personal achievement, to the Editor of this paper. That's all you have to do. We and the Calgary Power Co. will do the rest. There are many young people who perform acts of merit and devotion to duty or responsibility, whose efforts go entirely unrewarded and unrecognized. ★ MACDUFF REPORT

No Vacancy

OTTAWA — John Diefenbaker, it now appears, is going to be around as leader of the Progressive Conservative Party a lot longer than most of his Conservative critics had hoped. The aging political warrior —so will be 70 in September— told reporters a few weeks ago that he expected to be around for a long time as leader of the Party. When they pressed him for clarification, he made it clear that he meant just what he said, that he had no intention of stepping into retirement in the immediate future.

Then, out in Edmonton the national president of the P. C. Party, Dalton Camp, has said that Mr. Diefenbaker will lead the Conservatives in the next election campaign even if it is two years away. It now appears that Mr. Diefenbaker and Mr. Camp are sending and receiving on the same wavelength. The latest that was reported by Leon Balcer when he was Quebec lieutenant of the Party, has Diefenbaker "in command".

Mr. Camp was interviewed in Edmonton. According to press reports he said that there was now a general feeling in the Tory party that Mr. Diefenbaker has "been more sinned against than sinning". He added that a recent survey conducted by the Tory party revealed a strong anti-government feeling in Canada. "An election fought along an anti-government platform would be just the kind Mr. Diefenbaker would be good at".

The Party's national president is certainly on sound ground in that observation. Mr. Diefenbaker would relish a general election in which he could pound the Liberal Government on corruption in administration and for moving the country down the road to republicanism. The Tory leader gave a pre-view of that kind of election campaign when he went out West in June.

He stopped off briefly in Winnipeg and had a talk with Premier Duff Roblin, Conservative leader in Manitoba. He moved on into Saskatchewan and visited briefly in Regina before going into Southern Saskatchewan for a political meeting. Then he flew out to Victoria and Vancouver for meetings. Newsmen who covered the meetings said they were enthusiastic, well attended and that Mr. Diefenbaker was in great form — "reminiscent of an election campaign," said one. Speaking in Vancouver Mr. Diefenbaker made it plain there was no vacancy as yet insofar as he was concerned in the leadership and that he planned to continue indefinitely at the head of the national party.

Mr. Diefenbaker dropped hints of a new party election manifesto. He suggested it would take in aid to education and to municipalities, a national highways policy, national water conservation program, trade expansion with Asia and a new emphasis on his roads to resources program as well as his old northern development policies.

The Conservatives apparently have realized that the Liberal minority Government may spring a general election at any time and that tactic with such a prospect they should rally around their present national leader. He is a tremendous political campaigner, an effective platform performer and would give the Liberals a hard run. Many Conservatives think he might even win because they believe the Grit Government is not so popular.

Behind rally the Conservatives behind John Diefenbaker is the rapid progress being made on redistribution by the independent commission in each province. As the maps for the provinces are made public, members of parliament in several cases, are disturbed at the shakeup that has taken place in the old constituencies. They would prefer to campaign on the basis of the old ridings rather than embark on a massive re-organization of their constituency organizations and meet the support of large blocs of voters that they do not know.

As redistribution moves ahead there is a growing sentiment among many MPs that a fall election in the old constituencies would be far preferable to a general election in 1966 or 1967 in new constituencies. Many MPs are now predicting an autumn election and on that basis Conservatives concede that the best leader in sight for their party for an early election is Mr. Diefenbaker by far. To select a new leader will require Mr. Diefenbaker to declare his readiness to retire—followed by plans for a leadership convention. Diefenbaker would rather take at least six months to get on the rails. After a new leader was selected he would want at least six months to travel the country getting known, from coast to coast.

While it now appears that Mr. Diefenbaker will be definitely leader of the Conservative Party for many more months to come, the speculation,as who will be his successor continues to grow. Mr. Diefenbaker's brief visit with Premier Roblin again focused attention on the young Manitoba Conservative. He has long been mentioned as a possible young candidate for the Tory national leadership.

Premier Roblin admitted that he and Mr. Camp at a meeting prior to Mr. Diefenbaker's visit to Manitoba, had discussed the Conservative party's leadership. But he emphatically denied that there was any personal significance in the discussions. However Conservatives at Ottawa voiced the hope that Mr. Roblin was interested and would be spurred to run.

Premier John Roberts of Ontario also was mentioned frequently as another possible candidate. He too has denied any interest. But when the time comes close friends of the Ontario Premier are convinced that he could be drafted. Whom else has been mentioned frequently

The Editor
The Community Press
Sedgewick, Alta.

Dear Sir,

In the editorial page of your newspaper appears this phrase "Independent, But Not Necessarily Neutral, in the public service."

Through the years I have watched the Community Press develop into one of Alberta's finest, if not the finest weekly newspaper. As Highway 14 communities have developed, the Community Press has been a vital part of this development. It has served the public faithfully in many ways—interesting and accurate reporting of news of concern to the public, widespread pictorial coverage of people and events, editorials of interest. He applies in what it feels is in the community interest, and finally the very important service of advertising. Local development owes much to the very effective advertising offered by the Community Press.

I never had doubt of the sincerity of the phrase " . . . in public service". Until recently that is.

How can a newspaper which is vitally interested in community betterment carry BEER ads? Beer never builds but in the end always wrecks. In our own community we can see wrecked homes, lives, and property that is a direct result of BEER.

How can a newspaper that seems to express community and Christian ideals, carry advertising beer? Do the editors underestimate the power of advertising? Or perhaps the dollar of the beer companies has gained control? Or does the newspaper exercise any control or have any standards in advertising?

30 YEARS AGO

(From Press Files of July 4, 1935)

Monday, July 1st will go down in history as a red letter day for Sedgewick, for on that day there were over three thousand people in attendance at the annual Dominion Day Celebration under the auspices of the Sedgewick Branch of the Canadian Legion.

The Dayaland C.G.I.T. left on Wednesday for camp at Hardisty Lake. Among the party were Mrs. G. Pyhos, Misses Dorothy Pyhos, Dorothy Moore, Shirley and Betty Anderson, Hazel Boggs, Helen Bewley, Mildred Moore, Amy Pryke, Jean Gardiner, Ruth Griffin, Nadia Hryculk,Frances Buis, and Alice Pryse.

Killam School closed on Friday with the usual picnics. The high school went to Hardisty Lake while the three lower rooms celebrated the day at Iron Creek where swimming and games were enjoyed as well as eats.

Mr. Clarence Zimmel has completed a service station on the Main Street of Strome near the Atlas Lumber Co.

H. Vagt of Killam spent last Friday at Kerrobert, Sask. getting a few instructions from the Dominion Government hog graders. Both live hogs and dressed hogs were well demonstrated and explained.

10 YEARS AGO

(From Press Files of July 7th, 1955)

On June 25th, Lougheed Community Hall was filled to overflowing with the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rogers, the occasion being his retirement as Postmaster.

Some time after midnight on June 26th, the Treasury Branch Office at Hardisty was broken into. Entry was made by a side window, and the safe expertly opened. The cash in the amount of $453.08 was taken as well as a number of driver's licenses.

The Killam Jubilee Committee held a meeting last week to plan their activities for the September 1st celebration.

Hardisty United Church C.G.I.T. were hostesses to their mothers on Thursday evening at the annual Mother and Daughter banquet.

Rev. Vars Wiebe, pastor had his farewell sermons on Sunday. He is leaving to continue his studies.

Farewell Held For Mrs. Bob Zimmer

A goodly number of friends gathered in the basement of the Catholic Church on Friday evening to bid farewell to Mrs. Bob Zimmer, with Mrs. Jeanette Moran as hostess. Several games were enjoyed and the guest of honor was presented with a beautiful Vase as a gift of money. A delicious lunch was served. Mrs. Zimmer has been a nurse at the Hospital during the years the family lived here, and will be greatly missed.

Mr. Fred Drager is a patient in St. Anne's Hospital, having suffered a painful injury while branding calves.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moody of Calgary spent a few days with friends and relatives here last week.

Miss Gail Thury was a weekend visitor at her home here.

The guest of honour at a shower held in the United Church basement on Saturday evening, was Jocyce Matthews, whose marriage to Mr. Wayne Nordstrum of Sedgewick takes place in early July. In spite of the bad weather a good number of friends were present. With Mrs. Howard Hayes in charge, a short program of musical games was enjoyed, with musical numbers being sung by Mrs. H. Tillman, Gail and Mrs. Anna Hayes. Assisting the bride-to-be in opening the many gifts were her grandmother Mrs. White, her mother Mrs. George Matthews, her sister Ruth and Mrs. Nordstrom, mother of the groom. A delicious lunch ended the evening.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Bell Jr. of Fort St. John on the birth of a daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Green of Vancouver visited last week with Mrs. Green's sister Mrs. Nettie Johnson, and with other relatives and friends in Hardisty and Lougheed.

Vince Renshaw, Leo and Lloyd McNabb took in the Calgary Pine-ors and report a fine time in spite of the wet weather.

Mrs. Isabel Nelson visited with her daughter Mrs. Brown in Canoe last weekend, and brought her grandson home with her.

Terry Edworthy, now based at Dean, Sask., is visiting here with his parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving Bell are the proud parents of a new adopted daughter, Carrie Gay.

Mrs. Gertie Gibson and Mrs. Mary Goodrich left on Thursday for a holiday in Europe. In England they will meet Mrs. Goodrich's son Lenrol, who will accompany them on their tour.

Mrs. B. Matthews reports hearing from son Bill, now working in Iran. Temperatures are 130 to 135 above, but he writes. Did we think we had hot weather?

Mrs. Adrian Cyr and son are visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Tillmar.

Ray Denver had his car stolen on Friday. It was found abandoned a few miles out of Killam some time later.

THE KEY TO GOOD SILAGE! Filling crops early in the day is the key to good grass silage this year.

O. G. Bratvold, Supervisor of Alberta's Crop Improvement Service, reports that the analysis of samples submitted to the Edmonton Feed Testing Lab over the years indicates that excessive moisture is a common fault in silage making in this province. The average quality of silage produced here could be considerably improved by reducing the moisture content.

With abundant soil moisture in most of Alberta, careful attention to the moisture content of silage will be especially important this year. Under these conditions, forages can contain over 80 percent moisture as they stand in the field. If such material is put directly into a silo it will almost almost certainly result in poor, unpalatable, unwilling silage. Moreover, silage with a high moisture content is lower in feed value. It is also more susceptible to harvesting grass legume mixtures in the early bud stage for high nutritional value. However, since they are usually high in moisture at this stage, they must be wilted to lower the moisture content to around 65 percent.

4H CLUB WEEK PROGRAMS!

Three 4H Club Week programs will be held at the Olds Agricultural and Vocational College in July to accommodate delegates from all parts of Alberta. They will be under the direction of the 4H Division of the Alberta Dept. of Agriculture.

C. L. Usher, provincial Supervisor of 4H Clubs, says those invited to 4H Club Weeks include one representative from every club in Alberta. Selection is based on their record of achievement during the last year.

The theme of the week at this year's program. It will cover Alberta and its growth through the years with special emphasis on the people who have settled here as well as their economic, religious, political and social development.

A wide variety of social and recreational activities will also be included in the program. Leadership training will be incorporated into all phases through the participation of junior council, the appointment of group leaders, chairmanship sessions and special interest groups on such things as junior leadership, debating, public speaking and parliamentary procedures.

WATCH FOR APHIDS!

P. J. Procter, Asst. Supervisor of Crop Protection and Pest Control with the Alberta Dept. of Ag., advises farmers to watch for aphids on late seeded crops. He points out that a cold backward spring with precipitation spells outbreaks because the weather favors their reproduction and the crops stay in the tender succulent stage long enough to provide a plentiful supply of food.

If there are about 100 or more of these green soft-bodied insects on one plant, it is time to do something about them. If nothing is done they will stunt the plants and reduce the crop yields.

When infestations warrant control measures, Mr. Procter recommends a malathion spray. Rates and application methods are outlined on the container.

Farmers Receive Second Power Cut

Alberta farmers will receive the second power rate cut in two years as a result of voluntary reductions now being offered by the investor-owned public utilities in Alberta.

Canadian Utilities, Limited, Calgary Power Ltd., and Northland Utilities Limited have announced the rate reduction in the Union of Rural Electrification Associations through President Clyde Staeffer. The reduced rate becomes effective on all farm power which is billed for the three-month period ending September 1st.

The proposed rate schedule provides a new incentive rate with an end use of 1 1/4 cents per kilowatt hour and will result in a saving in excess of $250,000 per year to Alta. farmers. About one half of the farm customers will benefit as their consumption increases.

Power companies, officials point out that incentive rates were introduced in 1953 in the hope that use of electric power on the farm and broader use of electric power on the farm and broader use of off-peak power would increase. The results have been encouraging and have enabled the companies to follow their established policy of passing the benefits on to the consumers by a further reduction of rates. It is hoped that the new rates will encourage even greater use of off-peak power.

The combined effect of the 1965 reduction and the previous reduction will mean a total saving to Alberta farmers in the order of $850,000 annually, based on 1964 consumptions.

Support Your Local Agricultural Society

Agricultural Societies are the grass-root or backbone organizations of our rural communities. Many of them have been active for over 50 years and continue to make an enormous contribution toward the development of a permanent and prosperous prairie agriculture. Although the summer and fall fairs are their main activity, most of the Agricultural Societies in Western Canada carry out a wide variety of other activities and projects. These include the sponsorship of crop and garden competitions, field days, livestock shows and sales, farm boys' and girls' camps, and 4-H Clubs. The work of our Agricultural Societies could be made more effective if more farmers and rural people would give them a helping hand. Today, Agricultural Societies have a very important part to play in ARDA and other rural development projects. They need the support of everyone in the community.

FAIRS AND FIELD DAYS. Nothing can match the appeal of an Agricultural Fair. It provides an opportunity for the farmer and his family to display the best products of the farm and home. The activities of the farm boys' and girls' camps and the interesting educational displays and commercial exhibits, combined with the fun of the midway and grandstand, help to make the Agricultural Fair a community event of importance and interest. Field Days will be held in many districts of the Prairie Provinces this summer where improved farm practices, new crop varieties and the results of weed control, fertilizer, or other field experiments will be demonstrated and explained. Attendance at your local Fair or Field Day will help you to keep in close touch with new, approved farm practices.

DEMONSTRATION PLOTS Field Crop Variety Demonstration Plots, planted and supervised by local Agents of the Line Elevator Companies will be located in about 100 districts in Western Canada in 1965. These plots will provide an opportunity for farmers, 4-H Clubs and others to examine the performance, under local soil and climatic conditions, of all the new varieties of grain. The Line Elevator Companies concerned invite you to visit their local Field Crop Variety Plot this summer. The Agent in charge will welcome your interest.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Walter Keith Huggrahe who passed away July 14th, 1946.

The years wipe out many things,
But this they'll wipe out never,
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.
We think of him in silence,
His name we oft recall;
But there's nothing left to answer
But the picture on the wall.
Just when his life was brightest,
And when his hopes were best,
God called him from among us
To a home of eternal rest.

Ever remembered by his — Dad, Brothers and Sisters. 9-1-p

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Agnes Burgher who passed away July 16th, 1962.

Tonight the stars are shining
On a silent lonely grave,
Where the dearest one lies sleeping,
The one we loved but could not save.

Do not ask us if we miss her,
There is such an empty space
We cannot forget her footsteps
Or her dear familiar face.
And that smile is gone forever,
And her hands we cannot touch,
All we have are memories
Of the mother we loved so much.

Ever remembered and sadly missed by her loving Family. 9-1-c

Norman Zimmels Hold Silver Anniversary

STROME — On July 1st family and relatives gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Zimmel to help them celebrate their silver wedding anniversary. Mass was held at the Lady Of Fatima Church in Strome with Fr. Schmidt-ner of Spring Lake officiating, and who also renewed their marriage vows and gave them a special blessing.

Supper was served at their home for 25 guests, with Father leading the meal prayer. The room was decorated with white and silver streamers and the table was centered with a three-tiered anniversary cake flanked on either side by silver candles. Present at the head table was also their bridesmaid, Mrs. Norman Barkhard (Beatrice) and best man, Harry Zimmel. Also present were both parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Zimmel and Mr. and Mrs. R. Vos.

With a few well chosen words their son Grant presented them with a lovely set of Rogers Silverware, gift of their children. Their granddaughter on behalf of the grandchildren, presented them with a silver cream and sugar set.

In the evening the brothers and sisters of both families gathered. A purse of money was presented by Ray Zimmel on behalf of the Zimmel families. Leanora Niehaus presented a purse of money on behalf of the Vos families. The Father then extended congratulations and best wishes, and the evening closed with a lovely lunch.

A. P. Crop Report

Heavy rains totaling 2" to 3" were received in the Southern and Western portion, diminishing to about 1" Northeast. This has restored good moisture supplies and crop prospects. The far North area around Fort Vermilion remains very dry and crop prospects are poor.

GENERAL — Good to heavy rains fell throughout almost all Alberta during the week, providing very good moisture supplies for some time. Warm, dry weather is now urgently needed to overcome the lateness of the crops. The extreme Northern part of the Peace River District remains dry and crop prospects in this area are poor.

Higher Income For Alberta Wheat Farmers

Higher Canadian Wheat Board final payments, better prices for rapeseed and potatoes and increased cattle and hog marketings raised Alberta's farm income in the first three months of 1965.

According to R. E. English, Agricultural Statistician with the Alberta Farm Economics Branch, income from these sources for January to March 1965 was as follows: 1965 figures shown first, 1964 figure following in brackets. Wheat participation certificates $57,880,000 ($52,165,000); Rapeseed $1,884,000 ($285,000); Potatoes $1,131,000 (Nil); Cattle and Hogs $50,980,000 ($50,710,000).

Mr. English reports that cash returns from dairy sales remained fairly steady. The price of poultry meat was practically unchanged from the same period a year ago but a drop in production resulted in lower total returns to producers. In the case of eggs, both production and prices were down and income fell from $2,567,000 in 1964 to $2,320,000 in 1965.

Following is a summary of the total farm income for the first three months of this year. 1965 figures are shown first, 1964 figures following in brackets. Field Crops $121,340,000 ($103,387,000); Livestock $74,311,000 ($66,619,000); Total for 1965 $195,651,000, total for 1964 ($170,006,000).

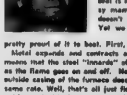
SLIDING SEAL

(By Bert Odland)



To hear some of the talk, you might think I'm running a menagerie down at my shop. No, I do not have a tiger on the road, in a soap box, or one who's tail I can shove down your feet tank. What I have, is a "sliding seat". This seat is not one of those gradually chemsy mammals you see at a zoo. And it doesn't go sliding around like crazy. Yet we call it a sliding seal and are pretty proud of it to boot. First, a little soft background music:

Metal expands and contracts as it is heated and cooled. This means that the steel "innards" of a furnace expand and contract as the flame goes on and off. Not being as hot as the flame, the outside casing of the furnace does not expand and contract at the same rate. Well, that's all just fine and nobody gives a hoot . . . until you start trying to connect the two together, like with the flue pipe that has to be connected to both. If that flue connection is rigid, there is a problem . . . it wants to give and wiggle, but it can't. Result: Holding noises and eventual metal "fatigue" and cracking. (You'd get fatigued, too, if you wanted to wiggle and were restrained.) Enter the sliding seal!

On its popular gas furnaces, Lennox builds a "slider" — a sleeve, gas tight gasket device that lets the inside of the steel . . . expand freely without restraint. Yet the flue pipe . . . of the furnace It's one of those brilliant ideas that looks so . . . ution to tight, secure . . . anyone would say "Well, I could have thought . . . ample, and almost Well, Lennox thought of it first, (which they . . . of that!" thing) and it is exclusive with them . . . . . the with most every- I'm a Lennox dealer, y'know. . . . and with me because

Around Sedgewick

Jim Hopkin and Barbara Bergsma brought Mr. Duncan McKenzie home from Camrose Hospital last Wednesday for the July 1st Sports. Duncan returned to the Hospital on Thursday for further treatments.

Mr. and Mrs. Elden Nordstrom and children of Prince George are visiting his parents here.

We welcome the return to town of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Christensen, who have moved into Flagstaff Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dornan from Victoria, B.C. were one day visitors in town last week en route home after a visit in Regina. Frank was a former partner with Harry McCrachen in the garage business in Sedgewick many years ago.

Colin Cumberland left on Thursday, July 1st for Edmonton where he registered for a summer course at Alberta College.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rahm of Spirit River were here over July 1st, and renewed old acquaintances. Bill left here thirty years ago with his folks Mr. and Mrs. Jim Glenn, for the newly opening country up North. He recently sold his farm up north and is now a retired rusabout.

Seen around over July 1st: Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Schaapmeyer, Mrs Ken Schaapmeyer, Delmar Bergum, Erling Christensen, Mrs. Jim Baker, Mrs. Eugene Bargh (nee Myrenberg) and children.

Mr. and Mrs. David Wylie and Sylvia Jane, and Miss Phyllen Wylie left on Friday for Spirit River to attend a wedding, enroute to High Prairie to visit Mrs. Wylie's sister.

Rev. Roy Kaskel of the Lougheed Church of the Nazarene held a service in the Legion Hall on Thursday evening, July 1st. These services will continue through the summer.

Mrs. Hilda Osbeck returned home on Friday from Killam Hospital.

Mrs. Mary Myrenberg and boys motored to Sherwood Park Friday to take Mrs. Bargh back home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pereira of Edmonton were July 1st visitors with his parents, and took in the sports events.

Mr. and Mrs. Colvin Beairsto are now settled in the new Apartment block. Mother did the moving while father toured Prince Edward Island.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Prentice and daughters of Sherwood Park spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Eastly.

Mesdames Regina Bradley of Regina Saskatchewan, Vera Hopkin and Carol Park entered the Vegreville Ladies Golf Tournament July 4th. Regina took second with the first flight and Chris took low for the fifth hole. A good time was had by all.

What might have been a fatal accident took place at the intersection leading into Sedgewick from the highway, on Sunday afternoon when a car and a motor bike were involved in a minor collision. Fortunately nobody was injured beyond scratches, although the car ended up in the ditch upside down.

Miss Maxine Swancoat of Edmonton is spending some time at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Glyn Swancoat.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Edwards and family spent the weekend at Buffalo Lake.

Miss Gwen Gascoyne is attending Camp Keosta at Sylvan Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Alf Jardine of Los Angeles and Mrs. Minnie Noble of Edmonton were visiting their brother-in-law Mr. Elwin Martin here last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson (Nee Dorothy Irving) of Brooks were here to attend the wedding of Elin Ekdey.

Mrs. Charlie James and Mrs. R. Parker are enjoying a vacation out at the West Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Korth and children of Edmonton were visitors in Sedgewick and district over Sunday.

Mr. Marvin Lowes and Mr. Mike Eanly were in Edmonton on Friday, and visited Eanly's friend Bill Hall in University Hospital.

Mrs. Boyd and Mr. George Young of Eden; Sask. are visiting her daughter Mrs. Larry Truss and family.

Mrs. Thomas Barclay and boys visited her sister Mrs. Grant MacPherson and family at Shatter last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Kobzar and family spent Sunday at Provost.

Ray Ferries has gone to work for the summer months at the Al Oen-ing Game Farm.

Mr. Lyle Kobzar is now employed with C.C.I.L.

Lorraine Bergum and Gordon Jackson of Edmonton were in town for July 1st.

WHEN MOVIES MEANT MORE

In one small town after another, the local movie-house, once the town's foremost center of amendment and sex, lack of glamor and violence and sensation and ecstasy, is dwindling its former bright spot on the main street, and closing its doors to stand there in bleak reproach unto testimony to the havoc that is being wrought on our culture by that one-eyed monster, the television set.

I read the other day that the theatre had been closed in my old home town, and it gave me quite a pang, like hearing of the death of a boyhood friend still in his best years. For some of the most harrowing days of my life, the theatre drove me into his black maw with the ravenous zest of a whale yawning to let one small herring swim inside.

As a small boy, I wept, shivered with fear, screamed with delight, and almost died of happiness, in that theatre. I chewed licorice with Tom Mix, left desperately love with Marlene Dietrich and thundered through the jungle on the back of Tarzer the Elephant with Torzan.

I remember going to every matinee I could manage, Money was scarce in those days, and raising a dime was harder for a kid than raising a dollar now. Sometimes it took me a solid hour to wheedle the sum out of my kid brother, an individual type who had a never-pauper roots.

There was a matinee Monday, Wednesday and Saturday, in those days, and it taxed my ingenuity to make all three, but I seldom missed. If I couldn't find any empty beer bottles to sell, and my brother was adamant in refusal, I'd hit up my pal "Egg" Shegg, an equally ardent aficionado of the silent screen, but one with a little more money. If he had found a dime, we'd buy one ticket, and both try to squeeze past the ticket-taker. It was then we were doing, and if he was in a good mood, let us both in.

One time, I was completely stymied. I had to go to the show to see if Torzan got away from the cannibals who were converging on him last Saturday. I got his last six cents from my brother, but couldn't raise another red. After about 20 years ago, so I guess nothing will happen if I admit I sneaked my other foot from my mother's purse. It was the one time the show hasn't gone on. The cannibals had cooked Torzan in the cannibals, and I suffered deep pangs of remorse for weeks.

A wonderful part of my cultural education in those days, though I didn't realize it at the time, was the music instilled in me at the show, when they were still running silent pictures. Down in the pit, watching the picture and matching its every mood with consummate skill on the piano, sat Lorain Noonan. Now he could make you sweat as the wheels started coming off the stagecoach. How he could make you weak with lust, salty tears at a touching moment!

During the teens, the theatre was a different, but equally thrilling place. In its comforting darkness, the most timid boy would find the courage to reach shyly for the hand of his girl and sit there, clutching it fiercely until both their pavs were slippery with sweat.

And if the girl whose hand I clung to so many a wonderful Saturday afternoon, with the teenage crowd in the gallery, reads this, I hope she won't be embarrassed.

It was one of the very nicest parts of growing up.

I'm sorry if you've been bored by these reminiscences. They started from my horror at the rapid decline of the smalltown theatre. How people can sit and watch that appalling junk on TV, when there's a first-rate movie at the local show, I can't understand. When the theatre in their own town goes dark, those who have enjoyed a thousand experiences in it will be sorry. And some will more bitterly regret it than your humble servant.

School Board Favors Land Transfer To M.D.

KILLAM — A regular meeting of the Killam School Division was held with all members and the Superintendent present.

A request will be made to the School Buildings Board for an Educational Survey, and for a survey of existing buildings and their adaptability in the South end of the Killam School Division involving the schools at Alliance and Galahad. This action was suggested by the School Buildings Board in answer to a request by the Board of the Division for additional buildings at Alliance.

The following resignations from the teaching staff of the Division were accepted: Douglas Mutrie, Mrs. A. B. Cramton, Mrs. Betty Lohner, N. Dawson, G. Williamson, Alan Smith, Lydia Dawson, H. E. Carroll.

Henrietta Widlake was granted a release from her contract to teach in the Division in the 1966-66 school year, due to her impending marriage and removal from the area.

Mrs. Pat Gillespie was granted leave of absence for the months of September and October 1965.

The following teaching assignments and hiring teachers as listed, was approved: J. Milton Holmes as Vice-Principal at Killam; Mrs. Adele Kelpsetter, staff; Mrs. Margaret Graham, Junior High School at Strome; Michael Sirdak, Industrial Arts at Daysland: Joanne Hoffman, Grade 5 at Sedgewick Public; Kenneth Wold, Central High School; Elva Geddes, Junior High School at Killam.

Approval was given for busing that they carry grade 7 pupils to the power plant at Forestburg, and grade 5 pupils to the picnic site South of Alliance.

The bid of Avery Construction of Stettler in the amount of $1543 for completion of re-roofing of the old Central High School building, with 210-Lb. asphalt shingles, plus all necessary flashings was accepted.

The Bours of Killam School Division went on record as being in favor of having the portions of Township 42 and 43, Range 8, presently within the Provost School Division, and the M.D. Provost, transferred to the Killam School Division and the M.D. Killam.

The Board committee's action in offering to purchase the house from Fred Pozer for $6,000 was approved.

It was moved and passed that the Board make application for Natural Gas service to schools at Killam and Daysland.

Henry Bazby was granted permanent certification for position as caretaker at Galahad.

A petition signed by over 200 electors of the Galahad area, requesting a meeting with the Board for the purpose of discussing the

Pool Opens New Elevator

KILLAM — The Alberta Wheat Pool's new elevator, with a capacity of 120,000 bushels, was officially opened at Killam on Saturday, July 10th with a large number of patrons and visitors in attendance.

Acting on M.C. Ben Plaxton, Delegate for Rosyth Sub-District, welcomed the many visitors to the opening, and read a telegram from Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart who are vacationing at Vancouver. Mr. Plaxte gave a rundown of Wheat Pool activities in Killam from 1926, and invited Mr. Ed Forster Jr., to officiate at the ribbon cutting. Mr. Forster congratulated the Wheat Pool on the fine new premises, and the farmers of the district who made it possible. In the cutting of the ribbon Mr. Forster declared the elevator open for business.

Four loads of grain were received by the local agent Mr. Sands to initiate the new and up-to-date facilities. These loads were delivered by four charter members of the Pool, Hugh Brodie, Ed Bause, John Lewis and Sid Walker.

Traveling Supervisor Mr. Harold Hawley, introduced the local agent Mr. Sands and a number of district elevator agents who were present for the occasion. Also introduced were the building foreman and his assistant. A number of the old-timers in the district were mentioned.

Mr. Arnie Johnson of Camrose, and Director of the Alberta Wheat Pool, paid a visit to the original signers of contracts with the Pool and outlined the accomplishments of the organization since 1926 when the first Pool elevator was built in Killam, with George Murray as agent. Since that time the Killam Elevator has handled 6,623,000 bushels of grain, for a total of 72,322 dollars in cash and reserve dividends paid out. Mr. Johnson presented a gift to Mr. Ed Forster and also cheques and gifts to the four members who had hauled in loads of grain.

Following an inspection tour of the elevator, the visitors were served lunch.

This fine large elevator, indicating the growing grain trade in the district, required 270,000 board feet of lumber, 40,000 feet of fir timbers and 80,000 feet of cedar siding, plus 230 bundles of cedar shingles and 16,500 pounds of nails. The entire structure has 30 bins in the annex section, hall fully happened, and 24 in the main elevator all fully happened, with the receiving pit having a 30-ton capacity with 30-foot platform and hydraulic hoist.

Hardisty O.O.R.P. Install New Officers

The regular annual Installation meeting of the O.O.R.P., Hardisty Lodge No. 136, was held on Thursday, June 24th. Visitors were welcomed from Viking, Killam, Irma, Wainwright and Rinnette. The members of the B.P.O.E. of Hardisty were also special guests, including the D.D.G.E.R. of Wainwright.

Doreen Lokens; Trustee — Doris Powell; Pianist — Dorothy Kruger.

A special feature of the evening was the presentation of the P.R.L.L. jewel to Mrs. Iris Drever, and the Pianist Pin, with inscription, of Mrs. Dorothy Kruger representing 8 yrs. of faithful service. The evening closed with a social hour.

CLEANING THE STREETS— A new problem the local communities didn't have until they decided to pave their streets, is how to keep the pavement clean. The machine shown above sweeps the dust into a hopper and it is then dumped into a truck to be hauled away. This one is a local invention and is shown being used on the street of Sedgewick.

1st Annual Sports At Killam Monday

KILLAM — After a lapse of a couple of years, the Town of Killam is back on the Sports Day scene. Due to a "take-over" of the old sports grounds for the erection of the new hospital, Killam has been without the facilities for holding outdoor celebrations until this year, when on Monday, July 19th the first annual "Centennial" Sports Day will be held at the new Centennial Park. A lot of effort has been put into the new sports area as well as a considerable sum of money, with the result that a first class race track and ball park have been completed, as well as facilities for other outdoor events.

The new recreation Centre will be officially put into operation on July 19th with what promises to be one of the major events of the summer season. Things will get under way with a gigantic parade at 10:30 in the morning, and will be quickly followed by sports events of all kinds at the Park. There will be four senior ball teams in action, as well as men's and ladies softball. Racing enthusiasts will be entertained with horse races, chariot races and Gymkhana events, as well as Stampede Pony Chuckwagon races.

A special attraction will be Wally's Midway, with Ferris Wheel, Merry-go-round and Scout Cars, plus other attractions for young and old.

Everything is set and all that's needed to make the big day a real event is sunshine, something we haven't had too much of this year.

Pony Chariot Assn. Having Busy Year

Anglicans Farewell Capt. Bloom-Family

SEDGEWICK — About fifty parishioners, and guests from the United Church gathered in the St. John's Anglican Church hall Monday evening to bid farewell to Captain and Mrs. David Bloom, who are leaving Sedgewick for Toronto, where, for the next three years Dave will be studying to enter the Ministry.

During the evening David Chapman, on behalf of the choir, presented Mrs. Bloom with a handbag as a small token of appreciation of her work as organist, and Mr. Bruce Johnson made a presentation to Captain Bloom on behalf of the Sedgewick Branch of the Royal Canadian Legion, for whom Dave was Chaplain.

The Rev. Don Lewis, speaking on behalf of the United Church, while regretting the departure of Dave & Phyllis, said he was glad of the reason of their departure, namely to prepare for ordination into the Ministry. He spoke of the very real fellowship that he had enjoyed with the Bloom's and wished them every success and good fortune.

TO MUCH MOISTURE? We have heard a number of farmers complain that they cannot get their crops in on account of the rain. Looks at what is happening down east where severe drought throughout June in vast areas of near-productive farm land in southern Ontario and the Ottawa valley is having many farmers ask: Prod, vegetable and cereal grain crops are suffering, early hay crops have been destroyed, and the effects are showing in lack of feed for cattle.

Address To The Unca Guid!

My son, these maxims make a rule
An' lump them ay thegither:
The rigid righteous is a fool,
The rigid wise anither;
The cleanest corn that e'er was dight
May hae some pyles o' caff in;
So ne'er a fellow creature slight
For random fits o' daffin.

Put Onus Where It Belongs!

While we may not admire the way Alderman Julia Kiniski of Edmonton goes about putting her ideas forward, one cannot help but be impressed with the straight-forward way she gets things said. We think she was on fairly solid ground recently when she advocated the use of the whip on some of the young hoodlums who perform acts of vandalism and molest people on the streets.

It is a seemingly useless and endless thing, this trying to pin down whatever it is that motivates people to do what they do. Like the words of the popular song of some years ago: "What Makes You Do Me Like You Do?", we try to figure out what makes the people do what they do. This is becoming especially apparent in the attitude we take toward the things the younger generation do for what they call "kicks".

Recent editions of daily papers carried most of the front page with stories of youth gangs molesting and beating older people, blocking traffic with stupid antics, grabbing ladies on the street, breaking windows in buildings, smashing the windshields on cars, slashing tires, and generally carrying on in a manner most unbecoming to say the least. The general net outcome of all this is an attitude of leniency laced with the feeling that after all it is not their fault, but the parents' and society in general. Perhaps the worst offenders in this popular attitude are the psychiatrists who continually relate the actions of young hoodlums to a mental disturbance created by unjust acts or lack of attention by parents some years before. For the most part this solution has a hollow ring and no matter how thin you slice it, it's still bologny. Pin any one of these culprits down and you get the admission that they knew they were doing wrong. Punish them severely and you get the confession that they wish they had behaved. Let them off easy and they brag about their performance. Perhaps our friend Julia is right. Maybe the whip is the answer.

The Guff Merchants!

(Guest Editorial — Calgary Albertan)

What's all this guff about Canada breaking up? To be sure there are the separatists — and not only in the province of Quebec — who get a kick out of throwing stones at Confederation in the misplaced belief that 98-year institution is a glass house. Then there are those pop-eyed doom-sayers who stand in dark corners loudly bewailing that we have become little better than a satellite of the U. S. And let's not forget those cheerless souls who are prophesying — equally as gloomily — that we are in the midst of waving final good-byes to the Monarchy as we prepare to descend into the abyss of a banana republic. And, of course, there are those who maintain that our leaders are too timid even while others are protesting that they are too bold and are taking us directly into war. Then there are those who claim that Parliament is a mess because of a minority government that can't push through what should be pushed through. And there are those who aver that Parliament is a mess because the opposition is divided and leaderless and lets too much through that should have been nipped in the bud. And there are those who see a fragmented Canada heading for Balkanization even as there are those who find fear in seeing a grasping central government over-riding provincial privileges as laid out in the constitution.

Such are the worries and cries of the guff-makers. But fortunately these are in the minority—as few as they are loud.

In spite of their cries, however, the vast majority of Canadians marked Dominion Day as their fathers, grandfathers and great grand-fathers did before them — in calm good faith that whatever the odds facing the nation now and in the years to come these odds will be overcome, just as they have been overcome in the past.

These are the Canadians, the real Canadians, the proud heirs to a proud past, who refuse to be rattled by the symptoms of the day. What Canada is going through now — the self-doubts, the sudden, unexplained aches, the unqualified suspicions, the disturbing pang of heartburn, the rumblings of an uneasy stomache, the unsteady hands and shaky knees, blurred vision — they recognize for what they are. History tells us that all new nations know them. They are growing pains. What ancient country hasn't experienced them? Across the border a nation that is almost twice as old as we are — and yet still very young — continues to fight these distressing disturbances. Still, those who keep their heads will remain of good faith in spite of them. For they know that one day, with full maturity, the pains will fade away — and the guff-merchants with them.

Beatles, Lima Beans and Love!

Children have been turning to science with some enchanting results. A youngster in Ohio planted four groups of Lima beans, and gave each group different treatment. The first group was given love and kind words. The second was serenaded with sweet violin recordings; the third with Beatle records. The fourth group was scolded sternly every day. The last group failed miserably, the third did poorly, the violin beans were fairly good, while the beans fed love and kind words prospered mightily. The moral drawn from this experiment will depend on your age & temperment. Boys and girls will claim it proves that beans our lousy Beatle fans and pretty thin-skinned. The violinists will argue that they are never fully appreciated even in the vegetable kingdom. The rest of the world, with a sentimental sigh, will recognize that it proves again what has always been well known: that there's no telling what bean will grow and what bean won't. — The Printed Word.

★ MACDUFF REPORT

Crime and Politics

OTTAWA — There is "a sinister and growing involvement of crime in politics". That statement was made by no headline-hunting political hatchet-man.

It was made by Prime Minister Pearson, following publication of the Mafia report. He pledged his Government to a war on crime.

Not many months ago, Mr. Pearson, in the name of honest Canadians, would have greeted that kind of statement with a certain mocking incredulity. It would have been unCanadian to believe that the tentacles of international crime, the Mafia, the Cosa Nostra, L'union Elsass, were reaching into Government itself.

Some of that incredulity greeted Conservative MP Erik Nielsen last November 22, when he rose in the Commons to reveal charges of bribery and coercion in Government offices.

The course of the next few months, and only vindicated Mr. Nielsen, but opened the eyes of Mr. Pearson to what dangers lurk in the shadowy side and familiar haunts of politics.

Judge Frederic Dorion, Chief Justice of Quebec Superior court, was named to make a full inquiry into the charges. Before his tribunal creeped a savage and unsavory crew from the dankrooms of crime and politics.

The Judge's report foiled Justice Minister Favreau, not for any lack of honesty or honor, but for his failure to recognize the dangers and to deal with them adequately.

Gone too, and perhaps facing criminal charges, was Raymond Denis, former executive assistant to former Immigration Minister Tremblay. Judge Dorion said there was no doubt Denis had offered a $50,000 bribe in an attempt to obtain bail for suspected dope smuggler Lucien Rivard.

Guy Rouleau, the personable young lieutenant of parliament Montreal-Dollard who became embroiled in the affair, saw his career disintegrate almost overnight. He lost successively his job as Parliamentary Secretary to the Prime Minister, Chairman of the Liberal caucus, and finally his seat in Parliament and his membership in the Liberal Party.

A number of others on the fringes of the Liberal party had their careers abruptly terminated. Some will have their day in court. Others, if they are lucky, may live out their days in peace, content to have lightly escaped their brush with organized crime.

In the meantime, the men at the top have been made rudely aware of the power and influence of international criminals. They have been forced to consider how, in the scheme of things, the money paid out for an election poster could well be the same dollar that paid off the prostitute or the dope peddler.

For men like Mr. Pearson, this has always been a blind area. It did not behoove a political leader to pay much attention to the twilight zone between politics and crime. Only recently, when it became apparent that the criminal elements were boldly intruding on the political scene did the Government become alert to the dangers.

The danger, contrary to what some may think, does not come solely from offline Quebec politics.

Consider the Harry Stanzelli case. He was a wealthy immigrant who [illegible] to Vancouver and became a Canadian. He had influential friends in British Columbia. It took a long time to get rid of him, inspite of his sordid background of crime-gambling and the fact that he was wanted in the United States on several charges. One Vancouver who made representations in Ottawa to keep Stanzelli in Canada has been convicted of forgery for signing B.C. Premier Bennett's name to a letter.

Then there was the case of Nona Miranda, a Windsor immigrant with alleged Mafia connections who managed to delay his deportation for several years. He too had the help of no doubt well-meaning friends. At one time he had the present Immigration Affairs Minister, Paul Martin, as his lawyer.

The one heartening fact about all these cases—the Rivard affair, the Stanzelli case, Miranda—is that the immense tactics didn't work. The payoffs were rejected, the bribes turned down, the influence petered out at a certain point.

Lucien Rivard did not obtain bail. He had to escape from jail instead. Stanzelli and Miranda were both unusually forced to leave Canada.

But there are other disturbing questions raised by these incidents.

How is it that a man like Lucien Rivard, engaged in the international narcotics smuggling trade, was able to find so many diligent helpers in the ranks of and on the fringes of the Liberal Party?

Why was the easy assumption made by criminals that Government figures could be bought, that political influence could be diverted to thwart the course of justice?

These are the long, disturbing questions now being pondered by Mr. Pearson.

Their implications take him deep into the nature of the financing of political parties, the slush fund, the use and abuse of political power at every level, in short, the war on crime in politics.

At the moment, naturally enough, the personal consequences of the Dorion report - the resignations, the shattered careers — are getting most attention. The Government certainly has a duty to act on the report's conclusions.

But it has a further duty, which Mr. Pearson fortunately seems to recognize. It is to ensure that the same scenes are never played again, with nothing changed but the names of the actors.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND STAMP

Details of a special postage stamp to honour the Province of Prince Edward Island were announced today by the Honourable Rene Tremblay, Postmaster General. The stamp, which will be the eighth in a series of stamps honouring the official flowers of the ten Canadian provinces and the two northern territories, will go on sale July 21, 1965.

The new stamp will be issued in the large size, horizontal format. It will be printed in three colours by a combination of offset lithography and intaglio printing from hand engraved steel plates. The provincial floral emblem, the lady's slipper or moccasin flower, (Cypripedium acaule) will appear at the right of the stamp and will be printed by offset. The background tone of the stamp, and the provincial coat of arms on the left side will be printed by the intaglio process.

In announcing the new stamp, Mr. Tremblay noted that the Legislature of Prince Edward Island had officially approved the lady's slipper as the provincial emblem in March of 1965. Drawings for the stamp were prepared with the cooperation of the Public Archives of Prince Edward Island and with the Federal Department of Agriculture.

The stamp, as with the others in the floral series, was designed and printed by the Canadian Bank Note Company of Ottawa. It will be in the five cent denomination. A total of 36,518,801 stamps are being issued.

Are Farmers Turning Land Into Dust Bowl?

Grim spectre of the 30s and 40s forgotten, farmers are over-plowing and cultivating with reckless fear among government men.

By EDWARD ROMAINE
In the Financial Post

CALGARY — Farmers with short memories have Alberta government soil-conservation officers worried.

Agricultural department sources say that other three relatively drought-free decades many of the province's farmers are letting their guard down and are reverting to practices which produced a grim harvest of dust-bowl soil-drifting in the 1930s and 1940s.

Although they concede statistical data is lacking, conservation officers report an "unfavorable trend" in land management in Alberta. And they believe this also applies to Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

The danger signals:

Over-cultivation of crop lands.

Peter Jamieson, Calgary, a leading authority on soil conservation and a department administrator here, says strong demand for Western grain is reducing summer-fallowing and crop rotation through the Prairies.

Although he concedes greater use of chemical fertilizers is mitigating damage to soil, he does not believe use of fertilizers is keeping pace with the growing drain on soil fertility.

Excessive cultivation of land.

Jamieson and other provincial conservation authorities say farmers throughout the Prairies are generally overworking soil to increase yield. They say too many farmers are using discs and harrows when they should be using "lionesing" but compulsorising equipment employing wide, flat blades.

The conservationists say chopping up of soil tends to produce slightly higher yields if moisture conditions are good, but they warn that pondering of soil could be disastrous to farmers in the event of a major drought.

Encouraging sighting of windbreak plantings.

Although statistics on tree planting and strip-farming are not available, the Alberta department says there is an "obvious" decline in activity in both these fields.

Jamieson attributes this to the trend toward larger, absentee-owned grain farms. "The general change in farm economics is also a factor," he says. "Where family farms are not absentee-owned, operators are not planting enough trees for windbreaking purposes and are not doing enough strip-farming, which, in addition to resting soil, is an ideal method of weed control."

The conservationists say there is plenty of evidence that land management is beginning to take a toll again.

Items:

★ A recent, general windstorm which swept Alberta grain lands from Edmonton to Lethbridge caused widespread soil-drifting despite the fact that moisture conditions in this area are considered good. The agriculture department says this drifting should be a warning. One spokesman says: "If such drifting takes place in a spring when moisture conditions are fairly favorable, just imagine what would happen in a bad year."

★ A recent Lethbridge court case, in which a farmer charged that more than 100 acres of his land had been drifted off top soil by drifting, which he claims was caused by failure of a neighbor to employ proper soil-erosion techniques. The claim was dismissed, apparently because of a paucity of similar court cases which might have resulted from widespread soil-drifting in the area during the moderately dry winter of 1962 and early spring of 1963.

The Alberta agriculture department says it is keeping a close watch on soil conditions in the province with a view toward strengthening existing legislation if the drifting problem continues to increase.

Under present legislation (the Soil Conservation Act of 1962), municipal governments have the authority to set up conservation offices and to require farmers to reduce drifting by strip-farming and windbreak planting.

Although farmers who fail to carry out instructions issued by properly constituted conservation agencies can be fined up to $200 or jailed for up to 30 days, no such action has to date been taken.

Jamieson says: "Because of relatively good moisture conditions, local authorities have tended to be lenient. However, if the situation continues to worsen, the provincial government might be forced to take a hard, legislative look at the present permissive legislation with some provincially enforced regulations."

The Bible Today

Hundreds of Christians in Ghana received their first great Thanksgiving services when revised Bibles in two Twi dialects were gratefully received, going on sale for the first time.

The two occasions were indeed memorable. The State Functions Secretariat of the Ghanaian Government had given permission for the Twi (Asante celebration to be held in the open air at the Cultural Centre, Kumasi on May 29, and the Twi (Akuapem) at the Sports Stadium in Accra on June 5. Invitations had been sent to many VIP's, including Congrats the President, Ministers of State, Directors of State Corporations and the Diplomatic Corps. Besides presentations to those involved in the translation, copies were presented, either at the ceremonies or later, to the President, the Queen Mother, Princess Elizabeth and other high officials. Radio Ghana recorded the services, replaying excerpts in their programs. Nearly 5,000 copies of the new Bibles have already been ordered.

The first portion of the Bible in the Twi language was the Gospels translated in 1866. A new Christian community which has grown up in Ashanti territory in recent years, which differs from Twi (Akuapem) in dialect and orthography, made it necessary to produce two Bibles.

Canada's foreign aid program in the current fiscal year will cost $70,000,000.

Memory Lane

(By Mrs. F. M. Cantlon, Hardisty, Alberta)

OLD-FASHIONED COOK-STOVES

How quickly time rolls along. It will soon be forty-five years since I went to live on the old home-stead in Southern Manitoba. And, in some ways, it does seem that long or longer. Then again, it doesn't seem like more than possibly ten or fifteen years.

We raised two girls and five boys on that home-stead, all healthy, care-free youngsters. As I have previously mentioned. There was never a dull moment in our household during that time. What mischief the two didn't concoct, the other did, forever keeping the whole household in a perpetual "Up-roar". Then those young people grew up in such emotional stimulation, as only those reared in such environment know.

In those days no [illegible] steam canned cook-stove adorned the kitchen, with thermostat-controlled oven heat; no boil to automatically ring when cake or roast or pastry oven dinner was done. The farmer's wife was quite satisfied with what, if to see, no one look back, was nothing less than a cumbersome big monstrosity, to be kept cleaned, scoured and polished.

The range or "Cook-stove", then, was the predominating piece of furniture in every farm kitchen. From those room-y ovens, big and cavernous, came huge batches of mouth-watering bread, buns, pies, cakes, roast of pork, beef, chicken turkey and dinner fowl. — Not like the modern ovens do not produce succulent foods occasionally, now. But the modern trend today seems to be to buy the ready-cooked and processed frozen foods to be popped into the oven for a few minutes then eaten.

As our children grew, naturally their appetites grew. For example it was absolutely far too slow in the mornings to toast the bread for the family with one of those wire toasters—we had toast every morning the year round!

With our family growing in members as well as bodily dimensions there were eleven, with the hired help we measured the time-saving idea of using the oven grate for a toaster. When the cool fire had burned down to just live coals, off would come all of the front lids and placing the oven grate over the top of the stove of red-hot coals, we could toast at least twelve slices of bread at one time. But believe me, one could not sleep at that job. Using an old table fork, the slices had to be turned, one after the other in quick succession and buttered by another member of the family. In no time there was a big platter of crisp ready-buttered toast, which, with home-made jam or jelly disappeared to an amazingly liked time. It might be my imagination—likely 15—but I always think of that toast as tasting much better than that which is made with our "Pop-up" toasters to-day.

Some evenings in the winter time we would let the fire burn down to live coals, then drop in a few big, un-peeled onions. These burned quite readily, so had to be constantly watched. When done, we would peel off the outer layers and, with slices of home-made bread and home-churned butter, with a cup of tea with real farm cream, it actually was "Food for the gods".

Although we find ourselves sometimes wondering how we managed to cook and bake with such uneven heat, still, those old ranges had their redeeming features, too. I sometimes wish our more modern stoves had a big warming-closet ON TOP, above the heat, to keep the food warm while waiting for a belated member of the family to sit in to eat.

With all our turning up of the same now at times old black cook-stove, in these days it was the focal spot to which everyone turned on a cold day and in the evenings, as it always radiated heat and comfort. The younger children would sit on the open oven door and enjoy the heat on their back. Evenings, sometimes the older folks would pull up their chairs to the open oven, and resting their feet against the door, plan and talk, or just sit and enjoy the heat.

It was at this open oven door of times, same cook-stoves that the low rocking chair and toilet-trim were placed for Baby's morning and evening bath in the old-fashioned white wash-board; brought out from the bed-room for the occasion-en knee, of course.

Then, there were ashes to carry out every morning. Seems I can still hear the rattle of shaking down the ashes and the alternating down of the stove lids as the fire was finally going. No wonder there was dust on everything, to be wiped away before getting the breakfast under way.

There are times when I feel I wouldn't want to go back to that old black cook-stove with the ashes and dust, the un-sightly wood-box, the eternal blacking and polishing of those monstrosities. But, there are memories; there was a comfort, a close-ness of family life, a, should I say? "Home-liness" that these modern ranges in our kitchen today, lack.

The pleasure of seeing the hop of that old stove rod with heat on a bitter cold day; to hear the wood crackling and smell the delicious aroma of maybe bread baking, or a pot of beef-stew simmering at the back of the stove. What more, I ask, in his could one wish for?

To this day I enjoy nothing better than to go into a home where one of those old-fashioned stoves are, eating up, as it were, the wood and coal and producing a heat that one automatically turns to on a cold day. Maybe it is sitting there looking back as if it were trying to hide from the eyes of some discriminating Matron who had dropped in.

We possibly owned a modern electric or gas range just recently bought. As she glances at that old cook-stove and memories of bygone days flood her mind, a wave of nostalgia sweeps over her. She knows the comfort the family had derived from the one she has discarded and re-placed it with a new or modern type.

To the old-timers, I ask you, is there anything to compare with the smell of wood smoke from an old cook-stove more than from any other source, I think—or am I just sentimental old "Fogey"—reluctant to accept progress as it is today? A good question, is it not?

Since Confederation more than 1,200 inquiries have been initiated by the federal government by Order in Council, of which about 35 per cent of the investigating bodies have been described as a Royal commission.

TREE ORDERS!

Many farmers are writing into the office asking for a list of trees available for planting in 1966. We wish to thank you for your interest in putting your orders in early.

We are sorry to inform you that as yet we have not received a list of trees available for planting in 1966 from the Department. We can assure you that the ordinary run of trees will be available as usual, but we cannot be sure of what ornamental or fruit shrubs and trees will be available for 1966 planting.

When the list arrives we will let you know through this column.

WEED ESSAY CONTEST!

The North Central Weed Control Conference is again sponsoring the Weed Essay Contest open to boys and girls between the ages of 12 to 18 years of age whose parents are actively engaged in farming.

The title of the Essay is "How We Control Weeds On Our Farm". It should not be more than 1000 words and deal mainly with HOW and METHODS to control weeds on OUR farm. It should not be a summary of general weed control methods.

The Provincial award is $25 but the Grand Prize for 14 North Central United States and the 3 prairie provinces is a $200 scholarship towards registration in a course of choosing of a gasoline machine for the parish. Members conducted the Sunday School classes. Hospital calls were made and cemetery committee meetings attended and reports given.

A farewell party was held at the home of Mr and Mrs. Collins for Capt. and Mrs. Bloom, and a purse presentation made.

The Anglican Clergyman Rev. A. Katurandi from Africa was a guest, as well as the Rev. Anthony Hume, who will be resident Anglican Rector in September.

W. A. business matters were attended to, reports given and tentative plans made for fall.

The meeting closed with prayer, followed by lunch. The August meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Grace Collins.

St. George's W.A. Has Seven Life Members

KILLAM — Twelve ladies of the Anglican W. A. met at the home of Doris Bonnell for the July meeting, which opened with a hymn, member prayer and Bible reading.

During the last two months, a Deanery meeting was attended at Wainwright where seven members were made Life Members, Mrs. H. Brodie, Mrs. E. Collins, Mrs. Hagger, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. E. Robson, Mrs. T. Robson and Mrs. Palmer.

The W. A. contributed to the purchase of a typewriter for the Agriculture at a University or a School of Agriculture.

BRITISH GHOSTS AGHAST

From Britain came an unprecedented rumbling in the atmosphere.

No, it wasn't thunder. Not real thunder, anyway, though it sounded mighty like it.

It was made up of two things: great men turning in their graves; and a roar given off disgust and despair from several million ghosts.

If you listen carefully, you can even distinguish some of the individual voices in this continuing chorus of protest from the nether world.

Surely that rasping growl belongs to Sir Winston Churchill. Poor old chap. Barely laid to rest when something like this comes along to destroy his hard-earned peace.

Doesn't that angry bellow belong to Sir Francis Drake? Could that ball's roar of rage be anyone but Henry the Eighth?

Surely that booming of black verse is John Milton? And wouldn't that howl of anguish be Rudyard Kipling?

There's a duet: the angry shout of the Duke of Wellington and the outraged bleat of Neville Nelson.

And there's a trio. It sounds much like the pontifical tones of Architects Sir Christopher Wren, Sir Cranmer, Ridley and Latimer, martyrs three.

Graff Gladstone and dapper Disraeli, roaring protest, are in tone as they never were alive.

I'd bet money that female squeal, rising above the others, belongs to Good Queen Bess, hurling down the bolts of five centuries, as she rages, "Somebody! Child! Elizabeth! How could you?"

Methinks that magnificent bellowed baritone with the shudder in it could belong to none other than Old Hard, sobbing in sorrow and frustration, "Is this a Beatle which I see before me?"

There. It's out. I knew the suspense was killing you. Yes, the great soul of Britain's glorious heritage have good reason to raise celestial storm of indignation. The Beatles were awarded the M.B.E. (Member of the Order of the British Empire).

Yes, in this depth of depravity here reside the ancestors of those giants who took on the Spanish Armada, the Pope, the French, the Germans, who clubbered natives all over the world and established peace and good working conditions, who defied single-handed the great tyrants Napoleon and Hitler. (Well, almost single-handed.)

Don't quail like that old chap. Don't rip off your Victoria Cross or your D.S.O and throw it in the garbage. Don't get a stiff drink. You Britain have always been able to muddle through this one.

But it will write fame to the stone-cold. And British courage. And perhaps it's best this way, after all. The Empire was shrinking like a two-dollar alluvial investor. If you couldn't end with a bang, be satisfied with a whimper.

The weather was ideal for the Sunday School picnic which was held on Monday at Hardisty Lake. After dinner a time of races, contests, ball games and swimming was enjoyed by all. Following refreshments everyone returned home tired but happy.

In the absence of our Pastor, two of the laymen spoke at the Sunday services. Special announcements were made of the Daily Vacation Bible School to be held August 2 — 6, and also that Charles Smith of the Mission to Lepers will be speaking next Sunday morning and the Sunday evening service for July 18 will be cancelled.

CHILD BRIDE

(By Bert Odland)

During the short time I've been writing these columns, I have received an unbelievable amount of letters, asking for information on heating and air conditioning. For this I am very pleased. However, last week I received one that I feel was mailed to the wrong department. But to what, I'll answer anything. Below is the letter, and my answer to it:

Dear Mr. Odland:

I was a child bride. I couldn't take the domestic life and soon three ago deserted my husband and three children. A distant big city provided the last life and thrills I craved. Being fairly attractive and week-willed, my conduct was not beyond reproach. But the fun, money and few firing seemed worth it all.

Now I am out on parole. I feel rehabilitated. I ignore the old crowd.

I have met a wonderful man. Steady, kind, honest. He wants to marry me but doesn't know my past. "What should I tell him?"

— Speedy

Dear Speedy:

Tell him that his beautiful new house had better have Lennox control heating and air conditioning in it or the deal is off. You've gone through too much, Dell, not to settle for the best.

Warden of St. John's, after welcoming guests, thanked Dave for the work he had accomplished at St. John's, and Phyllis for her work as organist. He spoke of the growth in co-operation between the Anglican and United Churches in Sedgewick during Dave's ministry, and of his hopes that some formula could be worked out at the forthcoming Synod of his Anglican Church to be held in Vancouver shortly.

Mr. Ernest Leah, Rector's Warden, in making a presentation of a purse to the Blooms, spoke of the high calibre of Dave's and Phyllis's work and the degree to which they would be missed. He congratulated Dave on the establishment of the Dave-point St. Edmund's Mission and its growth which he felt was largely due to Dave's efforts, and Phyllis Bloom for her work as the organist and the choir, and for the support which she had given Dave.

In replying, Captain Bloom thanked both his Wardens for all support they had given him. He spoke of some of the most memorable events of his time in Sedgewick. The St. John's Rectory was the first real home his children had known, and his daughter was born here; of his feelings on his return from morning service at Hughenden to find only the bell tower of the church still standing, and of the determination to build a new church and the spirit of co-operation that resulted in the fine new church. He expressed the wish that when the time comes, he could be ordained in St. John's at Sedgewick. He thanked Her. and Mrs. Lewis for the fellowship and friendliness he had received from them, and the congregation of St. John's for their co-operation and support.

An excellent lunch served by the W. A. and a programme of games and a sing-song completed the evening, which was ably M. C'd. by Calvin Beairsto.

I.O.D.E. To Keep Union Jack Symbol

Under this heading Canadian Press reported an interview with our National President, Mrs. D. W. McClellan.

"The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire will continue to use the Union Jack in its ceremonies as a symbol of its Commonwealth affiliations," national president Mrs. D. W. McClellan, said yesterday.

"We carried the Union Jack originally as a symbol of the Empire and then the Commonwealth. We will continue to carry it because we are a Commonwealth organization.

"But our national executive decided some time ago that if our Government decided on a distinctive Canadian flag, as a Canadian organization we would recognize that flag.

"We fought the good fight and we lost. I would like to think if we had won, Nasso who opposed the Red Ensign would be as agreeable as we are.' " —Echoes.

Shower Held For Miss Helen Simons

KILLAM — On Thursday evening, July 15th the staff of the Killam Hospital held a miscellaneous shower at the hospital residence in honor of Miss Helen Simons, bride-elect. The guests were received by Miss Shirley Inman.

The sewing room was tastefully decorated with pink and white streamers, wedding bells and a basket of pink and white peonies.

Mrs. Orpha Smith as M. C., introduced the members on the program, the highlight of which was a number of piano selections by Miss Anita Spahn, and a contest. The gifts were presented by Miss Billy Simons to a lovely wagon decorated as a hay rack. Miss Simons was assisted in opening the gifts by Miss Sandra Foster, after which she thanked all those present.

Kinsmen Swimming Lessons Draw 96

SEDGEWICK — The Kinsmen Swimming Lessons program is in full swing at the Sedgewick Lake with 96 children from eight to twelve years being instructed by Miss Gerry Thomlea of Hardisty.

Of the total entry list some fifty are beginners or non-swimmers with the remainder being second and third year students.

The swimming area at the lake has been further improved, with better beach and diving facilities, and this along with the improved camping and picnic area is attracting large crowds for evening picnics and weekend excursions. Mr. Jerry Richardson, grounds-keeper, is keeping the area in an attractive condition, and the Kinsmen have now added a new horseshoe pitching area.

Next Sport Event Two-Day Tourney

SEDGEWICK — The second annual two-day Baseball Tournament being held at Sedgewick this weekend, promises to be even better than the 1964 affair. With eight teams competing for the $320 in prize money, the event will get under way at 9:00 a.m. on Saturday, July 24th, with games running through Sunday, July 25th.

The team to beat is expected to be the Viking Shamrocks who are loaded with talent in preparation for the big tournament at Lacombe. Another tough entry is the Camrose Cubs. These two teams meet at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday afternoon.

The facilities at the Recreational Centre are being put in topnotch condition and sports enthusiasts can look forward to a weekend of real baseball.

Daysland Building Community Hall

DAYSLAND — The regular monthly Council meeting of the Town of Daysland was held on July 5th in the Town Office.

Present were Mayor Frew, Clr. Shannon Ward and Clerk McGregor.

Because the closing date for tenders for the proposed Water Supply System for Daysland was July 5th at 7:30 p.m., Mr. P. Schaefer of Municipal Engineering Services was also present.

The meeting was opened by the Mayor and Tenders for the Water System were opened.

It was moved that all tenders be rechecked by our Engineers and if found in order then the lowest former submitted would be accepted as the tender for Islet.

Mr. Schaefer presented a price list of the different materials needed for the proposed Water System.

It was moved to authorize Municipal Engineering Services to purchase all materials required for the Water System, on behalf of the Town, from the lowest bidder.

The minutes of the June 7th and 11th meetings were read and adopted. Also the minutes of the Court of Revision on June 16th and the meeting on June 21st.

Councillor Schaus's police report for the month of June was read to Council by Law Clerk.

A By-Law to authorize the Municipal Council of the Town of Daysland to borrow an indebtedness on behalf of the said Town by the issuance of Debentures for the purpose of constructing a Community Hall.

MUSHROOM CLOUD. The world's first nuclear explosion was set off on the desert flats near Alamogordo, New Mexico,on July 16, 1945, proving the feasibility of the atomic bomb. The dropping of two A-bombs on Japan the next month hastened the end of World War II in the Pacific. In the 20 years since, Great Britain, the Soviet Union, France and China have developed their own nuclear weapons. Several other countries are said to be capable of doing likewise in the next few years.

MOVE TO THE BACK OF THE BUS — These seven members of the Sedgewick Army Cadet Corps are just boarding the bus for two weeks at Camp Lake, Manitoba and they didn't have to be told to move to the back of the bus, they headed right there. The cadets are (l to r) Martin Chapman, Terry Olsen, David Easterly, Clifford Carlson, Billy McBride, Buster Pedersen, Billy Wallace.

Bill Malmo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Malmo of Daysland, a Queen Scout of the 1st Banff Troop has been chosen along with Miss Lynn Queen Scouts to represent Alberta at the New York World's Fair during the month of August. He will leave Edmonton July 21st and return to Edmonton August 27th. The boys will be joined by one Scout from Saskatchewan and three Scouts and a Scout Master from Manitoba.

Lougheed Wildcats Win At Killam Sports Day

KILLAM — The Lougheed Wildcats clawed their way to the big win in the baseball tournament staged in conjunction with Killam's first annual Centennial Sports Celebration. The "Cats" defeated the Sedgewick Oilers to the final game by six runs of 8 to 4. Earlier in the day Lougheed had defeated Bittern and Lougheed took out the Killam Indians. In the final game, Gab Brimmer went the route on the mound for Lougheed, while Mayne, Haire and Bakken did the mound duties for Sedgewick.

One of the biggest crowds in history took in the day staged at the new Centennial Park, arriving early to take in what onlookers said was the best parade in many years. Activities got under way at the grounds at noon with ball games, softball, horse races, and chariot racing, concluding in the evening with sheland pony chuckwagon races. The Midway on the grounds provided entertainment for old and young, and the day concluded with a grand dance.

Complete tabulations are not available at this writing, but a report on statistics and event winners appear next week.

SIX WEEKS TRAINING — A second group of cadets who will be in camp for six weeks left for Vernon, B.C. and another for Clear Lake, Manitoba. They are (l to r) Rodger Smith, Doug Bolley, Ellis Desmeuzel, Jackie McBride, and Bruce Robertson.

NO SUPPLEMENT

Due to the staff of the Western Weekly Supplement being on vacation, there is no issue of the Supplement this week.

Some time ago the publishers of the Supplement decided to produce their own section, which would be cheaper and that is the reason it has not appeared in each edition of the Community Press. Many of our readers have missed the publication when it does not appear, but as soon as the staff is back in production this paper will be carrying the Supplement.

Drowning Mishap At Hardisty Lake

HARDISTY — The body of Linda Kneller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Kneller of Oakbend, was recovered from Hardisty Lake at about 2:30 p.m. yesterday, Thursday, July 15th. Linda was the victim of a tragic accidental drowning.

The girl, who had been attending the Roman Catholic summer camp for children, along with her brothers, was reported missing since mid-afternoon of the day before, and a search was immediately organized to locate her. Assistance was sought from neighboring areas and at one time there were 50 people, even Air Force planes, engaged in the search operations were commenced in the lake, and with the assistance of Mr. Fred Crewe and his boat, the body was located at mid-morning the next day.

The little girl's father was at the scene a few minutes after recovery of the body.

Ina Palmer Wed At Killam

KILLAM — The Killam Knox United Church was a scene of a lovely wedding, Wednesday, June 30th, when Ina Grace, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Palmer of Killam, became the bride of Edward Hagen, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Sander Hagen, of Sedgewick. The bride entered the church on the arm of her father while the congregation sang "Praise My Soul" played by Mrs. Childs.

The bride wore a lovely white, wide-skirted floor length gown of satin, with nylon over. The front was featured with lace. The neckline was covered with sequins. Her white rose veil hung softly to her waist. The bride wore a matching pearl necklace and earrings, a gift from the groom, and carried a bouquet of red roses.

The bride was attended by Miss Sharon Hagen, sister of the groom, as maid of honor and Miss Anita Palmer, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid.

They wore pastel pink dresses with white matching gloves and crowns, carrying bouquets of white mums.

The flowergirl, Patricia Busse, cousin of the bride, wore a blue satin dress with lace accessories. She carried a small matching bouquet of mums.

The ring bearer, Douglas Teice, a nephew of the groom, wore black pants and a white suit jacket, and carried a white satin pillow.

The groom was attended by Mr. Doug Hagen and Mr. Jack Mcguiness ushers were Mr. Elvo Hagen and Mr. Ray Palmer.

The bride's mother chose a blue and white net with white accessories and wore a corsage of pink carnations.

The groom's mother wore a beige dress with a lace jacket with accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Miss Mary Smolski sang "Oh Perfect Love" after the prayer and during the signing of the register she sang, "The Wedding Prayer."

The reception for 90 guests was held in the church basement with Rev. Morris giving the prayer. The table was decorated with a three-tiered cake with bridal lamps on each side. Mr. Neil Cameron acted as M. C. and gave the toast to the bride to which the groom replied. Miss Linda Palmer was in charge of the guest book.

Open house was held at the bride's parents home with many guest attending. After opening all the gifts we all went to the dance in Sedgewick with Vern Erickmore from playing. A very enjoyable evening was had by all.

The bride chose a yellow dress with black accessories as a going away outfit.

Upon returning from a short honeymoon to Banff, Lake Louise and Waterton Lakes, Mr. and Mrs. Hagen will reside in Killam for the time being.

The Pursuit Of Happiness!

That happiness is an elusive thing seems a certainty to those who feel they haven't enjoyed too much of it. But what these people seem to forget is that happiness is an individual thing, made up of work, interests, friendships, the pursuit of an ideal, and health. A man doesn't have to go around oozing cheerfulness in order to be happy. He may be happy in depth, and that sort of happiness, in the words of Robert Frost, "Will bear some keeping still about," for he is enjoying durable satisfactions.

An unknown writer has said that to get the most out of life we need to do our best work, participate in the best sort of leisure activity, and solve our problems in the best way. "Best" here meaning the highest for which our talents equip us. It means more what we put into life than what we loot out of life.

A rich full life cannot be described in terms of money, power and prestige. It cannot be defined as winning notoriety, for fame is only an impassioned name for what is merely our itch to hear ourselves spoken of. John Ruskin, the nineteenth century essayist and lecturer, insisted that to live a full life we must have five qualities similar to those required in good architecture: Unity, the type of divine comprehensiveness; Repose, the type of divine permanence; Symmetry, the type of divine justice; Moderation, the type of government by law, and Infinity, the type of divine incomprehensibility.

There is no place for make-believe in such a life. You are not living through the day to please others or to put on a good show, but to meet your critical self at nightfall. That self takes little account of what the people around you during the day said about you. They are incompetent to judge your compulsions and your purposes, and if your standards are high you need pay no heed to their finicky criticisms.

One thing needed is to avoid the habit of mind in which a man is forever looking for something against which to defend himself, and to face your future with a positive spirit and a confident posture. You must step resolutely from the cloistered life of home and school into the hurly-hurly of the working world. Having given your best thought to where the step will lead you, stride out boldly. When Caesar, with a small force of horse and foot soldiers reached the banks of the River Rubicon, he halted to consider the greatness of his enterprise. Then, having weighed the difficulties against the gains, he said to his staff: "Let the die be cast", and led his army across the Rubicon to become master of Rome.

Shades Of 62!

As we travelled about the country last week viewing the crops, we recalled an old-timer of the area who once said that he had homesteaded and farmed in various areas of Canada and the Western United States, but nowhere had he seen an area where, given any kind of a chance at all, the vegetation would grow like it would in Alberta. The drive through the lush countryside gave proof of his statement. Not too many years even in favored Alberta, bring forth the tremendous growth that is presently prevailing. Crops are virtually as thick as hair on a dog's back, and many fields of hay wave in the wind six feet high. It looks like another super-bumper crop yield surpassing even 1962 when records were broken. With continued good sales on the foreign market it is hoped that Canadian facilities will be able to handle this large volume that will be ready for the market in two or three months. The feed situation looks the brightest for some time and with the farmers busy at the haying chores there should be no shortage to take care of the ever increasing herds of top quality cattle. It looks like a good year for agriculture.

Why Not All Secede!

In this day and age it is difficult to assess the results of any conference. Particularly is this so in the field of Federal-Provincial relations, and it will be surprising indeed if out of the current talks between Ottawa and the Provinces some over-zealous individual doesn't bring forth some new suggestion of getting out of Confederation and going it alone. Governments at all levels are vieing with each other in an attempt to gain an advantage. Just over twenty-five years ago in a time of national emergency the federal government usurped certain authority solely in the provincial area, and since that time the various leaders in Canada's provinces have been convinced that a too strong federal government has been reducing provincial rights to nothing, and that the only sensible answer was to secede from Confederation and form a government of their own.

Wherever advantageous both, provincial and federal authorities have tended to disregard the constitution and proceed as though such a thing didn't even exist. Arguing endlessly in deciding who has what rights the battle of words and constitutional rights business has become a state of confusion and bewilderment to the average citizen. But what is probably more annoying is the fact that most of these differences between levels of government result in more of the confusion being passed on to the citizens and taxpayers of the country. Control mounts on control and the trend seems to be toward more of the same, thus depriving the individual of more and more of his freedom, and taking away more and more of the authority of cities, towns and villages; leaving them only as administrative shells.

If the trend continues it seems that the logical alternative would be—for all provinces to secede from Confederation, join the United Nations, and apply to the U.S. for foreign aid. Thereby these newly "emerging" countries could live lavishly off the taxpayers of the U.S., and run their own business as they pleased. Being catered to as they would be they could even tell Uncle Sam to go jump in the river as one dictator did, and get even more attention than before by being forced to take foreign aid. We just mention this as an easy way out for those who want everything their own way. If it sounds like treason, then make the most out of it.

It's time we got off the air bubble, got back on our own feet and put individual responsibility where it belongs.

★ MACDUFF REPORT

Timely Consultation

OTTAWA — Two experts at the old game of diplomacy got together during the past 24 hours compared notes and expressed the opinion that if Canada and the United States have substantial views on some international policy matter they should strive first to work out their differences privately in talks at high levels. If the quiet diplomacy does not work then Canada or the U.S. might be obliged to make their positions public.

The two veteran diplomats were Arnold Heeney, former Canadian Ambassador in Washington and Livingston Merchant, former U.S. Ambassador in Washington and asked to confer and work out "principles for negotiation".

Prime Minister L. B. Pearson and President Lyndon Johnson compared that note to them in January, 1964. In their study they were asked to take account of the interests of other countries and of existing international arrangements.

Their report was dated June 30 but it was not released to the press until July 13. The rash of news stories that followed were somewhat disturbing to the two diplomats — who like to do things quietly — particularly because great stress was laid on the suggestion that Canada should avoid public disagreement with the U.S. on critical world issues. Mr. Heeney suggested in subsequent interviews that this was an "over-simplication" of the report. He pointed out that the report had stressed the essential qualification reserving the Canadian right to independent judgement and decision in the realm of external affairs. Both diplomats were careful throughout their report to appear uncritical of any Canadian or U.S. Government past or present for its actions.

However, there are those in Ottawa and Washington who believe that both the U.S. and Canadian Governments have been too prone in the past to sound off in public about the other Government's policies before all the facts have been ascertained. Far be it for such practised diplomats as Mr. Heeney or Merchant to make such a suggestion in such bold language.

But the two diplomats did suggest that there was a clear need for their Governments to confirm the practice of "intimate, timely and continuing consultation on all matters of common concern, at the appropriate level". They pointed out that as partners in NATO and shared responsibilities for the air defence of North America, Canada and the U.S. have similar policies and share important common obligations.

In the conduct and development of their bilateral relationship, however, the two countries must have regard for the wider responsibilities and interests of each in the world and their obligations under various treaties and other arrangements to which is such a party.

This principle has a particular bearing upon the efforts between the two countries in relation to the heavy responsibilities borne by the U.S., as the leader of the free world and under its network of mutual defence treaties around the globe. The diplomats emphasized that it was important and reasonable that Canadian authorities should have careful regard for the U.S. Government's position in this world context and, in the absence of special Canadian interests or obligations, avoid so far as possible, public disagreement especially upon critical issues.

However, they stressed that they were not saying that Canada should automatically and uniformly support in foreign policy decisions taken by the U.S. Government. But this was what was emphasized in the first news reports and as a result the report came in for some heavy condemnation and criticism from those who had read it in its entirety, in the mistaken belief that the diplomats were advocating that Canada should act as a mere satellite of the U.S. and never criticize it in public.

Not so, stressed the diplomats, different estimates of efficacy and degree of risk generated honest differences of opinion among the closest allies. The Canadian Government could not be expected to renounce its right to independent judgement and decision in the foreign affairs it conducts.

On the other hand Canada for its part had special relations and obligations, some of which the U.S. does not share but of which it should take account, in particular with Great Britain and the states of major significance in the Commonwealth, with France and with certain other states.

But, said the veteran diplomats it is in the interest of both countries that, wherever possible, divergent views between the two governments should be expressed and if possible resolved through diplomatic channels.

They called on both countries to make a conscious effort to accept and extend a common approach to additional areas of the two economies where it can be demonstrated that joint undertakings are to the national advantage of each as well as to the common advantage of both. They also said it flatly that the extension of the entire process of policy formulation and decision-making, the U.S. should be alert to the potential impact on Canada of the United States' actions, especially in the economic areas.

One field in which the U.S. has stepped on Canada's toes more than once is in preventing sales to Communist countries of non-strategic goods by Canadian subsidiaries of American companies. The committee recommended amendments to the U.S. "Trading with the Enemy Act" to overcome such difficulties.

The committee made other recommendations, such as: (1) — A study of the economic advantages of disregarding the border in the development of new industries of electrical energy should be launched. (2) — Development of a North American Transportation linking Ottawa and Washington and speeded up mail service between the two capitals. Mr. Heeney's persistent complaint when in Washington was the slowness of mail delivery between the two cities). (3) — The possible extension of the automobile and auto parts agreement to other fields. (4) — Close consultation of balance of payments problems as they affect the two national bilaterally and multilaterally.

Central theme of the report was that there should be free and early consultation between both governments before either becomes publicly committed to any one policy.

WE'VE COOL TOWARD WHAT

Year after year, we moan about the bitter winter, or dreary fall, or the backward spring . . . until July and August, when we take the parcel-felt heat as a personal affront, and whine increasingly.

Along about the first part of July, we usually get a little whiff of that hot weather we've been looking forward to since Christmas. Nothing torrid. Just a little breath of warmth that a native of the tropics would sneer at. So what do we do? Do we cast off our long-hoarded underwear and burn it in the street? Do we have a big wet-come party for genial old Sol?

Not we. We totter around complaining even more bitterly than we did all winter. We adopt a harassed air. If we live in the city, we dash from one totally unair-conditioned building to another, inevitably collecting additional summer cold in the process. We greet other with anguished groans and that old folk-saying, "Hot enough for you?"

Same idiots try to fight fire with firewater. With remarkable ease they convince themselves that a long cool one's is the only way to beat the heat. Which is about as effective as trying to put out a

AN OUNCE OF DEATH

One ounce of disinfo on an acre kills grasshoppers, half an ounce protects against weevils, and less than one part per million in fodder contaminates milk. Our modern insecticides are powerful, necessary, and dangerous.

It is folly to reach for the spray run. Last year in Canada farmers spent $20 million on insecticides, herbicides and fungicides. How much was used wisely?

Two years ago a few farmers sensibly used insecticides to control beasts in wheat. An ost crop was found to have been sprayed at three times the recommended rate. Some of our cereal crops are being treated unnecessarily for wireworms. Milk has been contaminated by careless spraying and livestock have died of the market.

Insecticides are too complex and powerful to be used haphazardly. District Agriculturists, C.D.A. Research Stations, and container labels supply the best advice. Crops and soils. We have found that plastic can often tolerate large numbers of certain insects without the need for insect control. Our policy is crop protection not necessarily insect control.

Federal and provincial authorities co-operate to produce the best and safest controls and to protect the consumer from contaminated food. We use insecticides wisely or suffer restrictions or prohibitions.

We have the intelligence to control our competitors, the insects. Do we have the intelligence to control ourselves?

THE HOMEMAKER

ENLARGE YOUR FABRIC VOCABULARY AND ADD THE WORD "FLUORIZED"

This word, coined by the Du Pont Company, identifies a fabric finish introduced for raincoats, outerwear, draperies, and slipcovers. It is said to make fabrics water and oil repellent. The finish has a fluorine base and, according to its developers, does not affect the appearance or feel of the fabric to which it is applied. Substances that usually cause difficult stains are repelled by the fluorized finish and tend to bead and roll off the fabric. If the soiling agent gets somewhat into the stain it is dry, normal laundering in soap or detergent suds will often remove it entirely.

"SENSUINE" MADRAS FABRIC — as originated and produced in India, is dyed with fugitive dyes — which means that the colours are not "fast" and bleed freely during washing. As dyes run in the water, they tend to blend with each other. This is considered an advantage because the result is a rather unique muted effect.

The mass produced American versions of madras — like most silk or American fabrics — are made to our high consumer standards of washability in the manufacturer's labs first. However, some brightly coloured fabrics tend to have a little excess dye on the surface which may bleed during the first few washings.

It is desirable to launder them separately at first. Put the madras garment through a series of several washings during the first washing, each followed by plenty of rinsing. Once the excess dye is removed, it may subsequently be safely washed with other garments.

"SPRAY-ON REPTILE" —is the latest fashion trick for transforming shoes, bags, and belts made of leather, fabric, suede, patent, straw or synthetics. This spray appears as a solid colour when applied, but then forms into multiple little blobs that simulate reptile skin — in a choice of 12 shades. After drying, the surface can be washed by sponging with warm soap or detergent suds.

HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS MADE OF FIBREGLASS BETA YARN — are being widely marketed. This is the new fibre used for Fibreglass curtains and other draperies. The manufacturer states: "Under NO circumstances should dry cleaning fluids be used on it. Wet-cleaning is the proper treatment. The unusual fineness of the BETA YARN gives a softness never before possible in glass fibre. Any fabric or findings used with BETA fabric, should be preshrunk, as the glass fibres do not shrink. This fabric is fire resistant.

This fibre is a 100% continuous filament texture (to prevent pilling) and solution-dyed nylon (more fade resistant). It will soon be on the market.

ALUMINUM LINED FREEZERS

Fans in the Bellwood freezers are now an aluminum lining feature. These are manufactured in Ontario. Aluminum conducts the cold much more quickly than the old porcelain enamel. The lining is fastened to the coils which provides immediate contact — faster freezing as well. It is not supposed to build up frost as quickly and, therefore, thaw does not form as easily on the inside. Only 3 shelves are used in the lining at the moment. It is comparable in price to other models. Price is $289.95 for an 10 cubic foot freezer.

Farm Safety

Warning has many forms. Accidents are a common threat. A period during July (21st to 27th) is dedicated to the farmer and to those who assist him in various activities. The campaign is to remind farmers and adults that the mechanical equipment and the farm animals are all part of the farm homes, which causes many deaths and many serious injuries.

Occasionally a picture appears in the press showing some precocious child driving a tractor or other large piece of farm equipment — a youngster not nearly old enough to have a license to drive a car.

Human carelessness, neglect of safety precautions and regulations can contribute to death or injury on the farm.

Ramblin' Round

This is the time of year when people are moving around. It is vacation time, and often without knowing what it is that's been bothering us, we take a trip back to the place of birth, or the spot where we spent some years of our life, and find the answer. On a trip we've been homesick to see the old place, for nothing else, just to see what the years have accomplished or failed to get done.

A couple of weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Lawrence, their daughter Edna and her husband A. E. Hollister, walked into the office. In case the old tannery have forgotten Mr. Lawrence was at one time the Sedgewick Premier Slicer of Bedgewick. He was the lucky butcher, in partnership with Mr. Oliver. Known as Oliver and Lawrence, they dished a lot of steers back in the days when that commodity was not measured by the ton now. The Lawrences now live at 671 - 25 St., Oakland, California, and in spite of the lapse of years have weathered the storm well. Their daughter Edna and husband live at Hayward, Cal. Mrs. Lawrence recalled the memory a lot of things I would rather forget but on the more pleasant side said Mrs. Lawrence, "I always enjoy your column" (Mrs. Walter Dubbert) believe me sometimes here these many years ago. It was one more thing to all, and to tell you they wished to be remembered to all.

Another visitor was Billy Hoffman Jr. who lives at Chilliwack, B. C. Bill was so busy making the rounds we only got to see him for a minute, but long enough for him to present me with a Gavel which his father had made out of a genuine railway tusk back in the days when he was taking part in the Klondike Gold Rush famine the turn of the century.

Not all can be pleasant we suppose, and one of the saddest aspects of the summer came when the report of the death of Arthur Fewings of Penticton, B. C. Mr. Fewings was an old-timer of the Killam area, and will be remembered by many. Burial service was held at Killam on July 19th.

Our old friend John Micthrud, who has been plagued with ill health which slows down his physical activities but has failed to dampen his enthusiasm for life, was also among the crowd at the Smith Estate sale recently, and picked up a bit of selling. He showed he hasn't lost the touch. The years have rolled by since John left the days of the hame ther for the new world, and even in Scotland he had the moments, one of which was missing the annual plowing match. The following bit of poetry which couldn't have been written by anyone but a Scot, testifies to the plumb-line straightness of his plowing.

And amang them a laddie ca'ed Johnnie Muirhead.
The field was first-class, a rich loamy soil,
Eight-thirty began the tussle and toil,
When fourteen ploughs started to turn a sax bed,
And the straightest amang them was Johnnie Muirhead.
The tussle was hard, and the hassle was keen,
The mist and sae and young ane the fight fay between,
But our laddie was grit, he was nae'r' wad bred,
We ne'er had ony doot about Johnnie Muirhead.
As for upon furrow was laid to each rig,
It was this ane's owner, woe and that yin's over big.
But our laddie's lot was ane straight and weel rudd,
They had nae faults tae pick wi' young Johnnie Muirhead.
The judges went cannily over the lots,
And anon in a while you wad see them take notes.
Then after a brief consultation they said,
The best on the field was young Johnnie Muirhead.
Now ploughed in the gleamin', I can awe' hame,
You may guess I was proud when they cried out his name.
I can'd for three cheers, and the cheering I led.
Hurra for our champion, young Johnnie Muirhead. A.M.B.

on and were very discouraged and lonely. In some way they learned that Swanson was coming with another group of settlers. As soon as he came off the train they formed a circle around him and asked him to help them as they could go back to the U. S. where they had been. He encouraged them to go back to their farms and promised to bring relief. He took the next train to Ottawa and in a couple weeks came back with a banner of flour and supplies. He distributed the food to the needy settlers. Their children today are prosperous farmers in that splendid farming district.

4-H Clubs to Host Out-of-Province Guests

This appears to be a banner year for 4-H visitors to Alberta according to C. L. Usher, Supervisor of provincial 4-H Clubs.

Mr. Usher reports that six young people from the Northwest Territories are attending the Edmonton Exhibition Fair Camp for the first time this year. These delegates from British Columbia as well as groups from Saskatchewan and Montana will be attending 4-H Club Weeks at the Olds Agricultural and Vocational College until the end of July. Saskatchewan is also planning to send a delegate to the Provincial 4-H Junior Leadership Camp at Cooking Lake, scheduled for the middle of August.

From the middle to the end of July the annual Interprovincial Exchange Program will bring one delegate from each of the other nine provinces to Alberta for a two-week stay in 4-H Club members' homes.

While out-of-province delegates are visiting Alberta, nearly 100 senior members from here will be going on award trips to other provinces and the United States.

The purpose of award trips, says Mr. Usher, is to provide 4-H members with a broader understanding of Canada and the U. S. and of their role as citizens. All delegates have been chosen on the basis of their work in the 4-H program.

REPORTS FROM PARLIAMENT HILL

I recently attended my first meeting of O.E.C.D. Agriculture Ministers.

It was held in Paris, in a building that used to be one of the town mansions of the famous Rothschild family, and it brought together top agricultural representatives from most large Western countries, including France, Britain and the United States, as well, of course, as Canada.

These meetings are not intended to reach specific actions being taken. They are really just high-level ball sessions, where ministers can mull over the agricultural problems of the 21 countries which belong to the O.E.C.D. — the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development.

But after spending two days at these meetings, I am convinced that they are very useful. They bring together face-to-face the people charged with the main responsibility for working out the problems that afflict the food production industry in all these countries. They provide a chance to compare notes, to learn from firsthand talks how others are trying to do and what they are thinking.

They may not revolutionize the world over-night. But they keep adding a little more strength to the basis of mutual understanding and trust on which we must build a peaceful future — in agriculture and all the other areas of interest people share regardless of national borders.

We had issues on two reports about current trends and problems in agriculture within the membership of O.E.C.D.

They pointed out that the number of farmers is declining in most countries, while the size of farms is increasing. It all sounded very familiar to me. It could almost have referred solely to Canada.

These reports also pointed out that a high degree of protectionism still exists among the O.E.C.D. countries and suggested there should be less.

But my impression is that we will not be seeing any massive collapse of barriers to easier trade in agriculture products, though everyone seems to recognize the desirability of this eventually.

This is something else that makes meetings like this valuable, I believe. They give you a chance to see face-to-face the real attitudes of your friends and competitors. They give you a chance to learn for yourself what your country and its farmers are going to be up against on world markets.

They are friendly meetings. But they are tough meetings, too. The talk is always very polite, but its tough horse-traders' talk under all the polish. It reminds you that trade is based on economics and self-interest a little more firmly than on brotherly love and a feeling of mild-sacrifice.

But the more you see of the facts of international trade, as presented in studies like the ones before this recent Paris meeting, the more you realize that international co-operation is going to become increasingly more important in the years to come. In other words, international co-operation is not being soft on our allies so much as it is the pursuit of our own long-term interest.

The Bible Today

"The fundamental raison d'etre of the Bible Societies remains always the same. It is that man is meant to live by the Word of God, that without that word his life is mis-directed, that with that word it finds fulfillment." These were the opening words of an address by Dr. W. A. Visser't Hooft, General Secretary of the World Council of Churches, at the 161st annual meeting of The British and Foreign Bible Society on May 5. Dr. Visser't Hooft emphasized the special role the Bible Societies have to play in our modern world—in the age of technical civilization, which has its roots in biblical religion, and in guiding church renewal on biblical lines.

The Rev. Dr. N. J. Cockburn, General Secretary, in his report for the year, impressively pointed out present the great work being done by the Bible Societies. "If the world's circulation achieved in 1964 is maintained, it follows that by the time I end my report in twenty minutes time a further 2,750 copies of Scriptures will be placed in the hands of those who can and will read." Dr. Cockburn also reported on the program on the Feed the Minds Campaign for Scripture and Christian literature, which represents the United Kingdom's contribution to the "God's Word for a New Age" Campaign.

BIG MUSCLES in a compact package

Here's power for all-purpose, all-season lawn care — residential and institutional. These tractors are engineered with big-tractor thinking — more usable work power and Hydra-Static Drive, new hydraulically driven all-gear transmission. You get full power at any speed plus infinite speed selection and instant reverse for fast maneuvering. Mow up to 3 acres an hour with a rotary mower — up to 4 with a gang reel. Higher quality mowing too — rotary mower speed stays constant even when tractor speed is slowed for tight turns.

Full line of attachments available.

The big muscles of a Case garden tractor work for you all year — gardening, mowing, ducting, hauling, plowing snow.

small blaze by pouring gasoline on it.

Others have an even more silly solution. Their idea of getting away from the heat is to hit the highway, drive for four hours in extreme discomfort to a beach where they lie baking with similar sweaty citizenry, before retiring to sleep in a cabin like a steam bath.

Most of the preceding remarks have to do with the male population, poor devils. I must admit that women and children stand up to the heat better. Big women, of course, in their attire, or lack of it.

Small fry have less clothing on them in this weather than there is in the handkerchief their old man totes around in his hip pocket. Women, whose name is vanity, are interested in acquiring a tan, so expose every possible inch and ounce to the dazed gaze of the men. Women's summer garments are a delight to the eye, and the ultimate in cool-ness. Maybe that's why ladies don't sweat, but just perspire.

Not so the men. Unless they're on their holidays, they face the heat with a surly lack of compassion that would be admirable, were it not stupid. Most of them wear the same clothes in summer as in winter, except for an overcoat. The odd one will take off his jacket. A few sensibly remove their ties. And the wild individual will roll up his shirt-sleeves when it hits a hundred.

But that's about as far as they'll go. The vast majority of men wear wool socks, heavy leather shoes, long trousers of wool or flannel, and the same shirts they wear in January.

One more thing that makes a man miserable in the heat is the amount of junk he has to carry in his pockets. In cool weather he can spread it around in jacket and overcoat pockets. But when he has only trousers pockets in which to carry cigarettes, lighter, handkerchief, coins, car keys, pen, notebook, pipe and tobacco, and very likely small change, and can start grumbling about the cold, and what it costs to heat the place.

MEMORIES FROM PIONEER DAYS

At the turn of the century the Dominion Government was distributing pamphlets and literature all through Northern and Central Europe as well as the U. S., advertising Canada as a land of opportunity for young people, particularly those who were interested in farming.

The U. S. was still open for emigrants and most of the people went in that country. The railroads of both countries did their part of the advertising as well as steamship companies. The pamphlets described Canada in a very attractive way. Although some people complained that they were deceived by them, I think the literature was fair. Canada promised opportunity and prosperity, but only to those who were willing to stand hardship and hard work.

Boat load after boat load came from Central Europe and Russia.

These people were in some ways different from the rest of the emigrants. They all were sheepskin coats, stayed by themselves, seemed to like to eat garlic, and came mostly with their entire families. They, as well as the rest of us, had little or no cash. I remember one of the men, as he faced the immigration officer with his wife and children around him, and was asked through an interpreter how much money he had, held up his hand and said he had no money. I think it took a lot of courage to come to a strange country with a large family of small children, with only strong arms to support them.

These people settled in the northern part of the country from Winnipeg to west of Edmonton. Some of their children to-day are Doctors, Nurses, Business Men and Leaders in society.

I suppose that about 90 percent of the emigrants who came from the northern part of Europe came here with the intention of staying for two or three years, earn some money and go back, but I don't think that 10 percent ever did go back to their homeland—at least not to stay.

In the month of March 1905, the Sneather in Grand Forks, B.C., but where we had been working for some time, laid off most of their men because machinery was put in to do the work. The wages there was $3.00 per day for 12 hours of work. This was considered to be high, and after paying $1.00 a day for board we had a little money saved, and decided to look for farm land to settle down on.

We came to Wetaskiwin in April and stayed at the Wetaskiwin Hotel where we paid $3.50 a week for board and room. The board was excellent, but the bed would hardly stand comparison with a hotel bed today.

There was several of what we may call professional homesteaders there. A homestead in those days was supposed to break 15 acres, do some other improvind and live on the land six months each year for 3 years. Those men had proven up a homestead in the States before coming to Canada, had sold it and got some money, and now they were homesteading here They built a sod shack on the place, did as little improving as possible (im provements were hardly ever inspected) and stayed mostly at the hotel until they could get title to the land, and so made pretty good money in an easy way.

When we had made the necessary arrangements we went to the land office and got a map of the land that was open for homesteads and was not already taken up, hired a man with a team of horses and a democrat, and started out to look for land. All the good land as far as had no money I think we would have taken, therefore it was not before we came to south of where Sedgewick now is we began to look for land.

It was fine spring weather and good land, and here the government part of the country from Winnipeg to west of Edmonton. Some of their children to-day are Doctors, Nurses, Business Men and Leaders in society.

Killam Farmer Loses 9 Head Cattle In Recent Violent Electrical Storm

Ernie Kasber had the misfortune of having nine head of cattle killed by lightning in last Friday's electric storm. We understand the cattle were ready for market. Mr. Hartl had a little damage done to his house, and a transformer at George Spiller's was damaged.

Mr. Jack Murray of Canyon Creek was visiting last week with his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Forster and family left last week for Ontario where they plan to visit with the Gordon Forsters of the R. A. F.

Mr. and Mrs. W. McMahon have had visiting with them recently, Mr. McMahon's sister Mrs. Telfer of Winnipeg and Mr. and Mrs. Beilan of Calgary. Sympathy is extended to Mr. Hugh McMahon and family and relatives on the passing of their sister Mrs. Kelly, at the West Coast.

Drs. K. and J. MacQuarrie and family have returned home after spending the past month in Halifax.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Wood (Carol Weivoda) of Montreal motored to Yakima, Washington to attend Bill Weivoda's wedding on July 9th to Miss Julie Parrish of Yakima.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Flood and family of Woodstock, Ontario have been visiting with Mr. and Mrs. M. Hartl for a week. While they visited Al Canning's Home Farm and took in some fishing at Bayes Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Erickson of Minnesota and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Torkelson of Sauck Centre have been visiting at their cousins, the Erickens and Sorensens.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Manning are spending a few weeks in the U. S. A.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Fossen have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Don Stover and family of Kingston, Ontario. Mrs. Jos Gast of Edmonton spent last Sunday with them.

A number of Killamites were in Edmonton last week to take in the Klondike Days.

We wish Mr. Ken Quinton a real speedy recovery. He is a patient in the University Hospital in Edmonton.

The Fossen family gathered at Hardisty Lake on July 4th to celebrate Mom Fossen's birthday.

Mrs. Al Vernon of Chilliwack, B.C. is visiting with her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. A. Simonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherry Robson were in Red Deer over the weekend at the Floyd Rathwell home.

Mr. and Mrs. Laverne Badry and family of Crossfield and Mr. and Mrs. Andy Sevigney of Edmonton were weekend guests at the Vern Nisbaus home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Young, Darlene and Eddie spent the weekend attending the wedding of Mrs. Young's niece Sheila Rait at Elk Point.

The Otto Klingers and Nick Schweitzer were visitors one day last week at the Porter O'Reilly home at Alliance.

Mrs. Gene George was in Edmonton a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hart and family motored to Vegreville Thursday to meet with friends from Mitchell, Ontario who were enroute to Edmonton.

Mr. William Carson of Chedderville visited at the Otto Klingers enroute home after attending the funeral of his father Mr. Jim Carson of the Flagstaff Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Darud were at Fort Lake fishing over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Stainthorpe are on a vacation in Eastern Canada.

Mrs. Elsa Perry of Minneapolis spent a few days visiting with her brother Otto Klinger and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Newman and family of Winnipeg were at the G. Murray home over the weekend. Terry Lawrence of Calgary is also visiting with Grandma and Grandpa.

Miss Merna Schweizer returned from a month's training at the Sanitorium at Bowness. Her parents motored down to bring her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Cherryan returned recently from a holiday trip to Banff and points in Montana.

Crop Conditions Good

LOCAL — Fair showers were received through this area maintaining good moisture supplies. Some warm weather has produced good growth but more heat is needed. General prospects are very favorable.

GENERAL — Showers were received through Alberta this week averaging about 1/2" in the east and north, and ranging up to 3" in the west and south. Considerable hail accompanied these showers in the southern half of the province. The northern half of the Peace River District did not receive any useful precipitation and will need rain soon to protect the present favorable prospects. The extreme northern area remains dry. Throughout the province as a whole, prospects are very good but crops are late and need warm weather for growth.

20-20 Hindsight
(By Bert Odland)
They say hindsight is usually 20-20 vision.

I agree. Sometimes it is even better than 20-20. When it comes to hindsight, I'm a regular eagle-eye on some things. Foresight is another story . . . there I usually tap along with my white cane. Except when it comes to heating and air conditioning. Experience has given me foresight in that field.
For instance, foresight and common sense screams out loud for planning any new heating system so that air conditioning can be added with a minimum of cost and trouble. Let's face it, central air conditioning is common now. And in a few years it will be as common as the automatic transmission or television.
The only type of heating system that is suited to the addition of air conditioning is a forced air system. (A forced air heating system has many other advantages, including cost, but we'll go into that story later.)
And the forced air heating system should be planned with an eye to cooling. Many forced air systems can be adapted to air conditioning, but they would do a much better job if they had been designed with air conditioning in mind.
So . . . if you are planning a new heating system sometime in the near or distant future a little foresight is in order. Give us a call, no obligation.

HAIL DAMAGES CROPS

That grain farming is a hazardous undertaking was clearly proven last week when a hail storm cut a path almost through the centre length of the M. D. Flagstaff. Last in grain yields will run into many thousands of dollars, and a large number of farmers saw their entire season's work wiped out in a matter of minutes.

So far as the area served by this newspaper is concerned, the damaging storm struck severely at the west end near Meisler, where part of the main force of the storm hit. Damage in this area has been estimated at all the way from 40 to 60 percent. The storm continued East, seemingly following roughly along the Correction Line, hitting south of Strome, Killam and Sedgewick, where damage ranged from 25 to 35 percent. Damage varied south of Lougheed, and then continuing its line eastward it hit the Town of Hardisty, where gardens are considered a total loss. The area East of Hardisty and on North of Bashaw and Amisk were hit hard, and some farmers completely were destroyed. A few farmers in this area report 100 percent damage.

The hail was accompanied by heavy rain, with some areas reporting as much as an inch and one half of precipitation.

The lack of strong winds was about the only redeeming feature of the storm, and because of this, damage was lessened considerably.

It is not known at this time what percentage of the farmers carried insurance, but indications are that many were not covered.

Dianne Stainthorpe Wed At Knox United Church

KILLAM—Knox United Church was the scene of a lovely summer wedding on July 3rd at 2:30 p.m., when marriage vows were exchanged between Dianne Louise Stainthorpe and Robert Allen Anderson. Rev. K. Harris performed the ceremony for the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stainthorpe of Killam, and the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson of Sedgewick. The church decorated with bouquets of summer flowers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a white floor-length gown of bengaline. The bodice was designed with a scoop neckline and lily-point sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt and train were trimmed with lace and used panels. Her chapel-length veil was misted from a headpiece of two roses and fancy pearl trim. The bride wore a tiny engagement ring on sterling chain, a gift of the groom, and carried a bouquet of red roses and lily-of-the-valley with streamers of satin catching small rose buds and bows.

Miss Jean Palmer, friend of the bride, was maid of honor; Donna and Barbara, sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids. All were dressed in simply styled mauve nylon over taffeta floor-length gowns. Matching headpieces and white satin accessories completed their outfits. Each carried a bouquet of delicate mauve flowers and lily-of-the-valley set against a lacy white fan.

Two little girls, Diana Wagaese and Kathe Morris, in dresses identical to the bridesmaids, acted as train bearers. The girls all wore single strand pearls, gifts of the bride.

Gordon Jackson attended his brother as best man, along with

Dayland Lions Host 4-H Club Members

DAYLAND—On July 14th the Dayland Lions were hosts to the Dayland 4H Beef Club. The supper was held in the United Church committee room. Mrs Ray Baker was the convenor.

14 club members were in attendance. Clifford Brumding was attending Club Week at Olds, also the entire adult committee, Adrian Gaudet, Gordon Spiller, Chas Campbell, George Hesner and Club leader Eric Beddoes also 14 Lion members.

The club had purchased and had engraved gavels which were presented by the club leaders: Champion and Best rate of gaining—G. Gaudet. Res. Champion and Grooming—G Hetzner, Judging and Showmanship—G Blaser.

Charlie Lamont gave a short talk and presented his usual prize for the best kept records to W. Mickerson.

George Cramton presented the Wavy Lake Farm prize for the best showman to G. Gaudet also four prizes donated by A. Pryce to each of the four new members W. Mickerson, R. Spiller, D. Brumding and N. Twitchell.

Mr. Wm. Stevens presented his prizes to the two new members standing the highest D. Brumding and N. Twitchell. Mr. Pryce was unable to attend as he is in Eastern Canada to pick up a new car.

The Club leader announced that efficiency winner for 1965 and to attend club week at Olds in 1966 was Gordon Gaudet.

Mr. Charles Gordon Livestock Supervisor was the guest speaker and gave a 45 minute talk on his work and interest in 4H work in the past 25 years.

Gordon Gaudet thanked Mr. Gordon for his talk and also the Lions for their interest in the club and also for the supper which gave them a good chance to make the presentations.

Evangelistic Crusade Held At Sedgewick

SEDGEWICK—From July 4 to July 18 the Sedgewick Curling Rink was the scene of a successful evangelistic crusade. The meetings were held twice on Sundays and in the evenings Tuesday to Friday during the week. The speaker was Rev. Des Cantelon, formerly of Red Deer. He was ably assisted by Mrs. Cantelon. Audiences of from 75 to 200 appreciated their ministry in music and sermon, as well as the pictures painted by Mrs. Cantelon.

The meeting was sponsored by the Killam Pentecostal Church, of which Rev. Arden Lewis is the pastor. Other Pentecostal churches in the area co-operated in the meetings.

Plans are being made to hold a similar crusade next year.

U. C. VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

SEDGEWICK — A Vacation Bible School will be held in the Sedgewick United Church from August 9th to 13th Sessions will begin at 9:40 a.m. and end at 11:30 a.m. Children from four to twelve years of age will be accepted.

M.D. Protests New Pasture Assessment

A regular meeting of the Council of the Municipal District of Flagstaff was held for July, with all Councillors and the Sec.-Treas. present.

Mr. Orville Lilmann, gravel foreman, met with Council and discussed the wages being paid the front-end loader operator, the need for gravel done on S. E. 23-46-11, the 1966 gravelling program to date, and the costs in clearing the ditch on the N. W. of 5-46-10. He also reported the hiring of a gravel checker.

The minutes of the last meeting and the financial statement for June were read and adopted.

A letter from the Chief Municipal Inspector advised Council that the requirements to have these lands lying East of the Battle River in Townships 47 and 48 transferred from M.D. Flagstaff to M.D. Provost had not been approved by the Ministers of Education and Municipal Affairs. A letter from Canadian Pacific Oil and Gas Ltd. advised Council that the company would accept the council's offer to dispose of the gas rights on the West Half of 15-39-12.

Letter from Radnem Oil and Gas Ltd. offered to lease the gas rights on the same land. After some discussion the offer of Canadian Pacific Oil and Gas was accepted.

Reeve Matthews reported that the rental agreement prepared covering the rental of houses erected by the district for the senior grades' operators had not yet been received, and the matter was tabled.

Mr. T. Leggard of the Dominion Dept. of Agriculture met with the Council concerning the application of M.D. Flagstaff in 1966 for a dam to be erected on the S.W. of 10-40-13. Council informed him that they were not aware at present if the need for the dam still existed, but if Alliance still was in need of this project for a water supply, the Council would assist them in any way in obtaining it. Further information in this regard is to be forwarded.

Coun. Purdice reported that he had met with W. and Gordon Beaucage concerning the drainage problem on the S. E. of 23-41-13, and had invited them to the Council meeting.

Mr. Stewart was present and requested an approach and culvert across the creek to help with drainage of hay land. Coun. Morgan and Purdice were placed in charge of installing the approach and culvert.

Representatives from Watrous Equipment met with Council to discuss the new type of grader blade sold by his company. As present supply was adequate, the matter was tabled.

The shop crew will take over the installation of culverts to relieve the gravel crew to proceed with road gravelling.

Mr. Whitehead reported the sale of a bush house and a caterpiller motor, and his action was approved by Council.

The purchase of new feeder and trade-in of the old one was discussed, and it was decided to look into this matter further.

Mr. George Hughes was present and discussed the new schedule of assessment on pasture land. After some discussion it was decided to write a letter to the Minister of Municipal Affairs protesting the new schedule of assessments.

Secretary reported that a new 20 inch by 6 foot 3-chain Pioneer Apron Feeder with Diesel Auto Start had been ordered, with allowance for trade-in of present feeder. This received council approvement.

Coun. Blatz reported on the gravel test holes, and said it appeared that the area on S.E. 23-46-11 had little overburden and the good quality gravel would be 12 feet in depth, and further exploration was ordered, and an offer per acre for gravel rights offered.

Letter from the Minister of Highways enclosed a manual for supplying rural networks in the M.D. for erection of balanced road system was discussed. Each Councillor will receive a manual for study.

Letter from Stanley, Gimbel and Robbins advised they were prepared to assist in issuing their road program along the lines of the manual sent out by the government. The firm will be requested to meet with the Council in October

Dominion Dept. of Agriculture advised that Section 31 and 32 in Township 45, Range 14 had been classed as eligible for P.F.A.A. in the 5 to 8 bushel category.

It was passed that the Agricultural Service Board be authorized to carry on a visual survey of the crops in the M.D., and that application be made to P.F.A. for the 1966 crop year based on the estimated yields obtained by the survey

SHOWER HONORS MISS SAUNDERS

KILLAM—The United Church hall was the scene of a shower last Friday evening in honor of Miss Sharon Saunders. The decoration scheme was in blue and white bouquets of roses and pansies graced the tables.

Bylle Larsen played a piano solo and then Larsen and Marion Jackson conducted a contest. Mrs. H. Wiese acted as M. C., and also made the presentation of the gifts. Wendy was assisted in opening the many lovely gifts by her sister Sharlene Cherrier and Bev Larsen.

After thanking those present for the gifts, Wendy invited every one to Open House. The ladies of the U.C.W. brought the evening to a close with a very tasty lunch.

Two-Day Tournament Draws Over 1,000 Fans

SEDGEWICK — A two-day crowd estimated at between 1000 and 1100 attended the second annual eight-team baseball tournament staged at Sedgewick last Saturday and Sunday.

The annual affair which is sponsored by the Sedgewick Oilers ball team was blessed with ideal weather and featured some of the finest baseball that can be seen in the province.

Winners for the second year in a row was the home town Sedgewick Oilers, who came from behind to score eleven runs in the 7th inning and defeat the Hughenden All-Stars 15 to 11. Because this game was called by the umpire-in-chief on account of darkness, and in appreciation of the fine ball played by the Hughenden team on both days, the Sedgewick team split the first prize money with them.

On Saturday morning at 9:00, the first game of the tournament got under way with Strome and Sedgewick playing. This game went into extra innings with Sedgewick finally winning 7 to 6.

Lougheed won the second game which started at 12 noon by defeating Hardisty 21 to 6 for the only lopsided score of the two days. The game featured the only home run hit over the fence during the two days when Dave Boulter hit the long one in the first inning, thereby picking up 2 runs from Norm Rose.

The third Saturday game was a real squealer that went 11 innings with Camrose Cubs defeating Viking Shamrocks 3 to 2. This game was a real pitcher's battle, with both starters going all the way.

In the fourth and final game on Saturday the Hughenden All Stars won over Killam by a score of 20 to 5 and advanced to the semi-final on Sunday.

Warm weather and a large crowd featured the first game on Sunday at 12 noon which saw Hughenden at 12 noon when Camrose 4 to 2 in a game that was tied up until the top of the eighth when the All Stars scored 3 runs on three hits.

At 2:00 p.m. the Lougheed Cubs cut and Sedgewick Oilers played a tight action-packed game which Sandy ended with the Oilers edging 4 to 2.

The final game of the tournament was a see-saw battle between Hughenden and Sedgewick, which saw the lead change hands several times. The hosters of this game won an 11 run attack by the Oilers in the seventh when the Sedgewick coach used five pinch hitters all of whom produced hits to put the Oilers in front 11 to 8. Final score was 15-11, when head umpire Mike Hoffman called the game on account of darkness.

The Sedgewick team held a meeting Sunday after the final game, at which plans were started for the third tournament to be held next year. Applications for entry have already been received from 3 teams who wish to get into next year's affair.

The Faith Of the Farmer!

The hail storm of last week brought a set-back and hardship to many grain farmers, but not ruin, for the farmer is the real optimist. He plants in confidence and reaps what the elements provide, aided by his hard work. There is ever an element of chance. No matter how careful the preparation or how skilful the cultivation, the harvest depends mostly on rain and sunshine. Yet the world depends upon the farmer for its food. It is rather a startling fact that if all the farmers all over the world would go on strike during the planting season, starvation would follow for the great majority of the population in the civilized countries within a few months. There is never a surplus of food that would tide the world over a 12 month period. Agriculture is well said to be the basic industry, because all the population depends upon it for sustenance. That being the accepted fact, farming should be a profitable occupation, and whatever aid the governments can give in the way of legislation and assistance should be rendered for the safety of the world. Happily in Alberta a total crop failure is unknown. While some crops may be scant, and some ruined, others are up to the average, and in this area we have learned the value of diversified farming. This spring the farmers planted for the autumn harvest despite marketing conditions. Everything seems to be favorable for good yields this year. The faith of the farmer is the salvation of the world, and may the reward of the tillers of the soil be abundant, to bring a wave of prosperity and contentment to all people.

Acquisition Of Riches!

The wires are buzzing and the warnings are flying thick and fast against the promoters of get-rich-quick schemes.

To get rich at all hazards, and to get rich quick if possible, seems to be the object to which most men are bending their energies nowadays. Even

"The humble man out yonder who is digging in the ditch,
Has the hope within him hidden, that some day he may be rich;
And forgetting all the seasons that so foolishly were spent,
He keeps hoping he may profit by some lucky accident."

If it were not so, many a man who is now able to prey upon the credulity of his fellows would be compelled to seek some other employment. Post Offices in the U. S. report that members of the "Suckers List" lose millions of dollars yearly investing in get-rich-quick schemes, and it is safe to say that not all the 'Suckers' were caught on the other side of the line.

The man who goes through life 'Taking a Flyer' at this and that, under the impression that he will some day "Strike it Rich," is in 999 cases out a 1000 only wasting his money and making rapid preparation for an old age of humiliation and penury. The sooner he awakens to the fact that there is no certain short-cut to riches, and that the "lucky accident" does not happen to 1 in a thousand the better it will be for himself and his family. The only safe plan to adopt, if he hopes to have a competency in his old age, is to live within his income and to systematically lay up something from his earnings, no matter how small the amount may be. If he is living beyond his means, he should keep in mind Micawber's statement, which was something like this: "Income 20 shillings, expenditures 20 shillings and 6 pence; result misery: income 20 shillings and 6 pence, expenditures 20 shillings; result happiness".

Walled Towns

It is a fantastic, frightening picture of cities of the future, but one of this continent's leading real estate economists suggests that for protection from violence in the streets people are going to have to live in cities — blocks of flats, walled and policed. The rising crime rate in Canada and the United States, J.C. Downs of Chicago told a convention of Canada realtors, is a principal factor in the current trend to high-rise apartments.

"Crime is having a bigger impact in North America than ever before," Mr. Downs stated. "We are getting back to medieval days when walls will be built to protect us. If you think of it in sociological terms, people are building high-rise apartments because they feel it is safer. We're afraid. It is symptomatic of a world losing its morals. Soon you'll have huge 5,000-unit apartments surrounded by walls and have to pass through police to get into them."

That forecast seems utterly fantastic, yet even now in some parts of the great cities of Washington and New York it is unsafe to be on the streets after dark. On the other hand there is London, a vast metropolis where the police go unarmed and the streets are safe enough. Here in Canada there are some parts of some cities where it is not only the overty timid who hesitate to walk the streets at night. But also here in Canada there is the example of Newfoundland, where the police are unarmed and a man or woman alone is safe anywhere at any time.

It would not seem to be an over-simplification to say that where the streets are safe, it is much less a matter of policing than of respect for the law — in all that phrase implies. Walled towns within their cities may be the destiny of some countries but it need not happen here. — The Clip Sheet.

More Truth Than Fiction!

The recent scolding Premier Lesage gave the extremists in Quebec, while lengthy, could be summed up in a very few words. Separation from Canada, he said, would involve "an automatic flight of capital, economic disruption and inflation for one or three sacrificed, impoverished and humiliated generations". If this separatist business is ever to be toned down, it will be done by statements made by the people of Quebec themselves for there are more than likely several million Quebec people who are sensible, and the 22nd Royal Regiment in itself turbers. The fewer the numbers of such agitators the louder their noise, is the general rule.

Due to the effect of gravity, it takes more energy to close the mouth than to open it. In some cases this is a pity.

★ MACDUFF REPORT

Every Man's Medicine

OTTAWA — The Federal Government has placed its way through the constitutional thickets, and now stands in clear view of a country-wide, comprehensive medical care plan.

It was no easy task.

Prime Minister Pearson demonstrated a rare knowledge of the political and constitutional traps facing him, and managed to avoid them all.

His proposal is acceptable even to economy-conscious provinces such as Quebec. The tremendous cost burden of medicare will be shared equitably by Federal and Provincial Governments. The country as a whole will benefit from medical insurance plans that have come to be accepted as natural and desirable in modern, industrialized states.

And, perhaps not just incidentally, medicare will stand as a monument to Federal Liberal achievement in any general election.

The country is on the road towards medicare, and that includes not only Mr. Pearson's skill in the Federal-Provincial field, but also a rapid change in Canadian views.

It will be at least two years before medicare arrives. It will cost Federal and Provincial Governments roughly $2b for every man, woman, and child in the country. That's a total of nearly $600,000,000 a year, and everybody knows that that's just the beginning.

When the plan is in operation, it will pay for medical services rendered by any doctor.

This is what was known — not so long ago — as state or socialized medicine. This is the concept that brought the Saskatchewan doctors to strike three years ago, and left deep scars on that province.

Now medicare is popular. The politicians believe it is public demand. Everybody, or almost everybody, wants it.

It now appears inevitable, having met and faced some formidable political and constitutional difficulties.

Mr. Pearson's solution was ingenious. It was formed from some of the new concepts in Federal-Provincial relations that he himself has been instrumental in creating. The Pearson proposal is simply this:

If any province adopts a medicare program of certain defined standards, the Federal Government will make a fiscal contribution roughly equivalent to half the total cost of medicare.

There would be no Federal interference in the administration of the provincial plans. There would be no dictation by Ottawa as what provincial financing should be, or on details of services offered.

There is no disagreement on the fact that jurisdiction in health matters belongs to the provinces.

All the province has to do to qualify for a Federal contribution is to meet certain basic standards.

The provincial plan would have to provide for payment of services of general practitioners and specialists, for example.

It would have to be operated by the Provincial Government, or by an agent of Provincial Government.

The plan would have to be portable, that is, individuals could move from province to province without creating gaps in their coverage.

And finally the plan would have to be universal. That is it would have to cover all residents of a province without exclusion because of age, economic circumstance, or pre-existing conditions.

When Mr. Pearson made his proposal to the Federal-Provincial conference, only Alberta Premier Ernest Manning was bold enough to resist it flatly and whole-heartedly. Quebec, New Brunswick, and Saskatchewan embraced the proposal warmly. All the other provinces, except Alberta, greeted it with varying degrees of enthusiasm.

It is perhaps useful to have a man around like Mr. Manning, though he may be swimming against the stream. Mr. Manning opposes the medicare plan on philosophical grounds.

He dislikes the compulsory aspects which he thinks violate fundamental principles of a free society. He dislikes the provision that Federal and Provincial Governments must provide 100 percent of the financing, practically wiping out all private insurance plans.

He dislikes the spending of huge sums on medical care, when there are what he considers more urgent needs including treatment of mental illness, university financing, and technical training.

Mr. Manning held his views strongly But it was clear he stands almost alone. The other Premiers seem to accept that the country is ready for medicare, and is prepared to pay the price.

That basic decision having been taken, it is doubtful that even Mr. Manning's earnest protestations can prevent adoption of medicare plans in all provinces shortly.

The Pearson Plan has just about everything going for it. It will provide full medical insurance for all Canadians without trampling on the sensitive toes of autonomy-minded provinces. It will provide for sharing of the great cost.

And, not to be overlooked, it will bring to the country the kind of the many election promises made by the Liberals in 1963 and 1963, and will open the door for renewal of the mandate in a general election as early as this Fall.

THE HOLIDAY HORRORS

Next person who chuckles at me, "Huh. Nothing to do now until school opens in September, eh" is going to get a punch right on the nose, even if it's a dear, little, old lady who says it.

That's how I feel about things after three weeks of "holidays" from teaching school. If the rest of the summer is anything like this they'll be putting frush and over me about the middle of August.

It all began innocently enough, when two kids stole a taxi while the driver was having a beer, rammed it into the side of my car, across from the tavern and vanished.

Next day, I had to dash a round trip to the city of 200 miles with my daughter, for her llllal teeth-straightening appointment. The whole deal cost me $76. Know her reaction? She's going to miss her braces. "Gee, dad, they're a status symbol. Everybody knows that."

Next day I cut grass all day because visitors were coming. They were old friends. And we were all a lot older and fatter than when we last met at 6 a.m. Up at noon and out for golf. Ever seen two old cartlovers trying to pull something uphill which they couldn't even pull down-hill? That's what Pete and I looked like as we dragged our way up to the 18th green.

Had to get the first-born out to his summer job on the bust by 8 a.m. next morning. But had no trouble waking up. The rucky birds started yacking at 4 a.m. two paperboys had a violent altercation about the respective routes under our window at 6, and the construction gang tearing up the road in front of our place got their mechanical monsters roaring by 7 o'clock.

Wrote column, planted grass, weeded flowerbeds, washed wife, distraught because her son was leaving. She tried to make a big sympathic deal out of it. What's you

30 YEARS AGO

(From Press Files of Aug. 1, 1935)

The Battle River Old Timer's Association held it's eighth annual reunion picnic at Hardisty Lake on Wednesday and over 4,000 people attended commencing some 1700 pounds of buffalo meat.

Over 150 attended the Poultry Field Day held at the farm home of C. M. Meuier of Daysland under the auspices of the Accredited Flocks Association.

The Killam District Co-operative had distinguished visitors last Saturday in the persons of Mr. W. C. Hewitt, Glasgow Director of the Scottish Co-operative Wholesale Society, Mr. J. McCormick, Glasgow, Chief Accountant of the same firm, and Mr. A. G. Gladstone, Winnipeg, Canadian representative of that Society.

Sedgewick's Boys' Band resumed practice on Monday night of this week, and will meet again on Saturday night for practice. There on the following Saturday night, the band will play in the band stand beginning at 8:30.

Vernie Drake of Stromso won first in the 100 yard dash at the Provincial track meet at Red Deer, making him this years provincial champion. For winning given by Mr. Reid second in the 220 yard dash.

20 YEARS AGO

(From Press Files of July 30, 1945)

Canadian Wheat is still pouring across the Atlantic ocean, and last year's total export of 343 million bushels may be exceeded.

Some 20 mothers and daughters were present when Miss Hazel Hunt presented her piano students in recital at her home Tuesday afternoon.

The Wyoming Softball Team put on a tournament at their regular diamond on the Simpson farm south of Sedgewick. Patton's Sod Busters from Sedgewick came out on top in the finals against Ampolt 19 — 8.

A large number of Lougheed people gathered together and enjoyed a picnic at Borden Park in Edmonton on Sunday afternoon.

realize this is the very last day in his entire life that he'll be at home, one of us!" (He'll be home two days a week all summer, but apparently that doesn't count.)

Next day, took Hugh to his boat again at 6, put car in body shop to have door fixed, wrangled with insurance company, helped two high schoolers with their speeches, told Milt to stop fretting about her son, had daughter to stop fighting with her mum.

While family going to hunt to see Hugh off on sudden trip, to his considerable disgust. Car wasn't ready. Panic. Tears. Recrimination. Borrowed a car; bustled to dock. Boat almost out of view when we arrived. My fault, though wife was half an hour out on embarkation time.

Early a.m., drove wife to town 30 miles away for eye examination. Couldn't find doctor; he'd moved. My fault. Late. Doubled for lunch after exam which confirmed opinion wife is eagle-eyed.

Had to change and drive 20 miles to still another town for big carnival dinner. Not my wife had to daily meal at wedding before we left. Got there when most of the boom was gone.

Consoled by lady who thought my wife was my daughter. Entertained by lady who fell flat on her face on the lawn after her ex-spouse. She got up gamely, chortling, "He never laid a finger on me."

However, today has been peaceful. People and their kids invited for dinner, which I ruined. Hugh arrived from boat with two accomplices, headed for a beach party-Kiss in on her way to a pyjama party for some kid leaving town.

Really quiet now. Sitting on front stairs doing night acres of dishes. Dad sitting writing his column. And the blasted construction gang working overtime out front. Holidays? You can't beat them. But if you see please beat them to death with a big stick. Roll on September!

PRAIRIE CROP REPORT

What's the word? . . . Apocryphal? Anyway, it certainly seemed like a revelation one month ago when U. G. G. crop analysts, after interpreting agents' reports, first came up with a "bumper crop" prediction for Alberta. Now forecasts from other sources appear to agree and the only thing the West needs to realize a bumper crop is a good spell of warm sunny weather, and no frosts next and a freeless August.

While rain came again early this week, most of the province enjoyed a few sunny days last week. And except for a persistent dry district in the west parts of the Peace River, severe hail in southern Alberta (almost daily since June 1st), and spotty rains that have been delayed cutting operations, the overall picture for the province is very encouraging. Early-sown grains are well headed out. Hail damage has been reported at a few points but, as a Shackleton agent reported: "The crop seems to be coming back by forming new joints and bringing the heads back up." Growing conditions are just fine.

N. W. SASKATCHEWAN— Here again, at many points, wheat is well headed. Hail damage to crops even though it's 1 to 2 weeks late. Flax looks excellent and if moisture holds out should be good to yield over 15 bushels per acre

Are Small Cars Safe?

According to the Alberta Safety Council, six separate studies conducted in the United States have shown that serious injury and death rates are much higher among small car occupants than they are among occupants of larger cars despite the fact that small cars as a group are not involved in any more accidents.

The main danger in small cars is getting thrown through the windshield or out of the door in an accident. This is 69 per cent more likely to happen in small cars and 25 per cent more likely to occur in coupes' cars than in larger vehicles, according to the U. S. studies.

The Assistant Director of one of the U. S. studies pointed out that the risk of injury from ejection could be considerably reduced if all cars had seat belts or harnesses and safety door latches. These latches were lacking on most foreign cars examined in the study, although they have been on north American cars since the 1956 models came out.

A BUMPER CROP. The prairies may be on their way to producing their most valuable grain crop in history, providing there are no killing August frosts. As the scene shows, harvesting is about to begin in southern sections of the West. According to A. C. Rauchnee, president of Lakeland Growers, 1965 crop may run to 700 million bushels despite 15-day delay in planting. Because of higher prices, crop could be worth more than record 703 million bushels reaped in 1963.

weeds for Jean was read and accepted, for the month of June.

A summary of fire losses for the M.D. prepared by the office of the Fire Commissioner for the period January 1st to April 30th, was received and ordered filed.

The Reeve and Secretary were authorized to sign the agreement between the Alberta Dept. of Agriculture and the Flagstaff Agricultural Service Board for the 1965-66 year.

By-law 324, to amend section 8 of By-law 282, indicating the points at which yield signs are to be erected and at which vehicles are to yield right-of-way at S. E. 6-45-12, was passed.

By-law 325 authorizing purchase of a new T-1 Loseboy was passed by the meeting.

By-law 326 authorizing purchase of land to allow for a 99 foot road allowances in Township 41, was duly passed.

Coun. Fordice reported that Forestburg Collieries were building new roads and tearing up road allowances in order to mine coal. He requested that they be contacted to put mine roads until such time as the council could meet with them and discuss the matter.

The Bridge Branch of the Dept. of Highways is to be contacted to inspect conditions between Sections 27 and 28 in Township 46, for the installation of a bridge or a large culvert.

Teacher Courses For Driver Education

Gordon E. Taylor, Minister of Highways and Chairman of the Alberta Driver Education Committee, has announced that applications for the Teacher Preparation Course for Driver Education to be held August 18-28 at the University of Alberta Campus will be accepted any time up to July 31st. The Course is under the direction of Gordon Oswald, B. Ed. The Al Canada Insurance Federation through the Canadian Highway Safety Council will provide financial assistance to High School teachers who satisfactorily complete the Course in an amount of $40.00 for all teachers residing over 30 miles from the limits of the City of Edmonton and 10c per mile one way from their residence to Edmonton. Brochures may be secured from the offices of the Minister of Highways, the A.M.A. or the Alberta Safety Council.

The Course will feature lectures and actual road instruction as well as methods of classroom presentation. Teachers interested in preparing themselves to teach Driver Education are urged to apply for this Course.

THE HOMEMAKER
NO SUMMER SICKNAT FOR NUTRITION
NUTRITION
NUTRITION

Naturally, summer is a time for fresh garden vegetables and crunchy crisp salads. Protein and milk requirements are often inadequately met, however. Meat cookery will likely be limited to the barbecue and lemonades will often replace milk as a beverage.

Eggs cheese and other dairy products are adequate substitutes to insure that nutritional requirements are met. They are extremely versatile, for example, hardcooked eggs. Stuffed or deviled eggs are a delectable change. Eggs can be used hardcooked in salads, as garnishes, or chopped in salad dressings (especially for potato salads).

Hard cheese [illegible] Cheese comes add colour as well as food value to tossed green salads. Cottage cheese is especially versatile. It is a complete protein and three ounces furnishes 50 percent of our daily calcium requirements. It can be a salad in itself served with fruit or raw vegetables, added to jellied salads, or used as a garnish. For instance, try topping pancakes with cottage cheese and drizzle with fruit preserves, or roll thin pancakes around cottage cheese. — Mmmh, delicious! Cheese cake makes a cool summer dessert introducing protein in various forms — cream cheese, cottage cheese, gelatin — depending on the recipe used.

Seafoods are also a good substitute for winter regulars in summer menus. Crabmeat, shrimp, salmon and tuna can all be used for hearty main dish salads. Kidney beans, usually found in chili, are another hearty salad base, good eating — and, incidentally, economical.

Did you know that all the important nutrients of cream and milk are retained in the manufacture of ice cream? And in this day and age, there is certainly no lack of variety.

Don't be too blase about vitamins. True, many cooking losses will be overcome because many vegetables will be served raw, but what about vitamin C? The ascorbic acid content of oranges on the market reaches its lowest level during June and July. In season, however, strawberries, cantaloupe and tomatoes are good sources.

Nutrition CANNOT afford to take a holiday!

The federal government's contribution to the shared federal-provincial hospital insurance program will be $464 million in the current year.

Don't Be A "Sucker" For Stock Promoters

Anyone who buys mining shares from an unknown, unregistered sales promoter is asking for trouble, says G. H. Rose, Chairman of the Alberta Securities Commission.

Mr Rose reports that residents in towns and villages and on farms throughout the province have been receiving mail and long distance telephone calls from a number of unregistered Ontario broker-dealers seeking to sell speculative mining stock in Alberta.

When Toronto dealers focus their attention on the little mine in the West, says Mr. Rose, you can be sure their business is not good at home. Why else would they go to the big expense of mailing out "suckers" in Alberta when Toronto is such a densely populated area?

Mr. Rose points out that these dealers are not registered under the Securities Act to sell shares in this province and the shares they are selling by mail and telephone are not qualified to be sold in Alberta.

It has been said that to the uninitiated, Canada's penny stock market can be the "biggest and most dangerous floating crap game in the world". If you want to get into that kind of game, says Mr. Rose, it is your privilege but you should appreciate the risks you are taking.

A citizen in the Red Deer area recently bought shares in a mining company at a price of 40c each. Inquiries made by the Securities Commission revealed that on the market in Toronto on the day she bought them showed a bid of 16c per share with no offers. This was the only so-called market where the shares could be traded and the investors there would not touch the stock Albertans were buying at 40c a share.

Mr. Rose says telephone stock salesmen from Toronto, almost without exception, attempt to put pressure on the offering price quoted as a prospectus but they neglect to inform you that the shares are highly speculative investments, that they may be trading in Toronto at a price considerably less than the offering prices stated in the prospectus and that in many cases there is no market at all if you want to sell them again.

If you want to buy Eastern speculative mining stock, Mr. Rose advises consulting a registered securities dealer in your area. If one is not available, write or telephone to the Alberta Securities Commission in Edmonton or Calgary.

In Memoriam

In memory of Gracie Overman who passed away August 2nd, 1964. Let not the waves of the sea separate us now.
And the years you have spent in our midst become a memory;
You have rested among us in spirit.
And your shadow has been a light upon our faces.
Much have we loved you but speechless was our love.
And with veils has it been veiled.
Yet now it cried aloud unto you,
And would stand revealed before you;
And ever has it been that love knows not its own depths,
Until the hour of separation.
Ever remembered and sadly missed by: Her Loving Husband, Grey Overman and Children, Hilbert, Marvin, Myra, Marie, Verta and Cheryl. 11-1-p

NOTICE

TO THE RATEPAYERS OF THE TOWN OF DAYSLAND PUBLIC NOTICE OF BYLAW G 145

Public notice is hereby given that there has been introduced in the Council of the town of Daysland a bylaw of which the following is a short synopsis

Synopsis of bylaw No. G 145

1. That the municipal council of the town of Daysland be empowered to enter into contract to construct a Community Hall for the town of Daysland. The total cost of which has been estimated at approximately seventy thousand dollars ($70,000.00).

B. That it is estimated twenty-three thousand three hundred dollars ($23,300.00) of this amount will be raised through local contributions.

C. That for the purpose aforesaid the sum of forty-six thousand, seven hundred dollars ($46,700.00) be borrowed by way of debenture on the credit and security of the town of Daysland at large, of which amount the sum of $46,700.00 is to be paid by the town at large.

D. That the period for repayment of the said debentures shall be 20 years.

E. The debentures issued shall bear an interest during the currency, at a rate not exceeding 6% (six per centum) per annum. Principal and interest being combined and made payable as nearly as possible in equal annual instalments during the said 20 years.

A copy of the said bylaw No (1 (1) may be seen in the town office, and further, that unless within thirty days from the publication of this notice five per cent, or two hundred and fifty of the proprietory electors, whichever is the lesser, of the town the Council will proceed to consider, and if it thinks fit, to pass the same.

If a vote is required it must receive approval of two thirds of the proprietory electors voting.

Dated and posted this 28th day of July A.D. 1965.

Baptist Church

A number of regular attenders were on vacation this week, but our attendance was boosted by the goodly number of visitors present in the services. The pastor reported a restful vacation and was in charge of the services Sunday. Rev. Kemp, pastor of a Baptist Church in Toronto, was guest speaker at the morning service.

With VBS to begin next week, the ladies are busy planning and working with the final preparation. Our teaching staff is going to be augmented by three capable young women who have offered their services.

Mrs. Gordon Hearnberg, who suffered a stroke two weeks ago, continues cheerful in spite of her paralysis. Our prayers with her and her loved ones.

Average profit in the Canadian manufacturing industry in 1964 was 8.4 cents per dollar of sales, of which 2.5 cents were reinvested in the business and 2.5 cents were paid in dividends; income taxes averaged 4.0 cents and sales and excise taxes 5.0 cents on the sales dollar.

The Bible Today

July 18 to July 24, 1965

This is a story about St. John's Gospel and Christmas; not Decmber 25th type of Christmas but a Machiguenga Indian in Peru and Navidad—the Spanish word for Christmas.

Navidad listened intently as Martin, the Machiguenga Indian school teacher and pastor, was giving detailed explanations of the Gospel of John in Machiguenga, verse by verse, in one of a series of meetings. While Martin spoke Navidad would comment, question, repeat and agree. But mostly he was saying, "It's true. It's true."

Finally the message of God in his own Machiguenga language became real for Navidad. He stood to say to his wife, "Where is God? I can't see Him." Now after studying John's Gospel in Machiguenga, he was heard to pray "God, we know You are the only One . . ."

Formerly, uniformly and living in animistic fear and primitive conditions, now the people come together in villages, for the first time in the tribe's history. Five schools have been started in cooperation with the Peruvian Government. There are now 130 believers like Navidad. God's Word is the tribe's people's own language is bearing fruit.

FANCY FIGURES
The truth is out — the U.S. Public Health service has revealed that women are wider across the hips than men. The average "seat breadth" for women is 14.9 inches, compared to an even 14 inches for men. What's that got to do with actress Jayy Mansfield-you, dear? Nothing, except that probably any woman would be willing to trade figures with her.

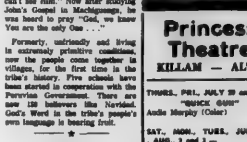
SMOKE vs. FIRE
(By Bert Odland)


Where there is fire there is not necessarily smoke. I'm passing that little piece of knowledge along just in fat you know that old adages don't always hold true. If you want proof, here it is.
Oil burners for furnaces are commonly thought of as messy, smelly, stinky and generally noisy things. But once along comes a new Lennox oil burner that is the exception. Just in time, too, for the list of people who prefer other fuels have been harrassing in popularity.
This new burner makes all competitive an a clean, quiet and economical basis.
Maybe you are not the least bit interested in burning oil in your furnace. But whether you are or not, it is an example of how Lennox has been advancing the science of home heating for 65 years. And there's a long time to be advancing anything. The Lennox HI-PERFORMANCE oil burner is just the latest. There will be many in other fuels and in air conditioning, too. What I am trying to say is that whatever fuel you choose . . . oil, gas, electricity or coal . . . you can look to Lennox for the latest and best. That goes for central air conditioning, too.
By some strange coincidence, this Lennox equipment I'm bragging about is sold and installed through our shop. Make us prove what we brag about.

SEEDTIME and HARVEST

TOWARD THE CONQUEST OF HUNGER

The year 1965 finds more than half the world's population living as close to the edge of hunger as did their ancestors. At the same time populations are increasing at a rapid pace. Although great strides toward the conquest of hunger have been made in several of the world's developing countries in recent years through agricultural programs sponsored by the Rockefeller Foundation and other benevolent organizations, there are formidable barriers still to be overcome before sufficient food is produced for millions of undernourished people. The most realistic hope of feeding the world's growing population lies: (1) in improving the conventional methods of producing basic foods in the underdeveloped countries; (2) by increasing production in the rich, well developed countries, and (3) in overcoming the many barriers facing the distribution of basic food crops.

The underdeveloped countries are looking to Canada for increased food aid. Canada can, of course, produce a large surplus of basic food products. In Western Canada alone it is technically possible to more than double our present production of grain crops. The increased use of fertilizer in regions of adequate moisture in the Prairie Provinces makes it possible to increase yields by 25 to 35 per cent. There is also the possibility that before too long the use of hybrid and may give wheat yields another 25 to 30 per cent boost. Needless to say, the impact of these and other advanced practices will help to close the world's food gap. However, better ways must be found to increase food deliveries to the underdeveloped countries.

FAO of the United Nations has calculated that in order to provide a reasonable level of nutrition for all people, world food supplies must be doubled by 1980. Thus all the food Canada can produce within the next few years will be needed. However, if substantial advances in agricultural production are to be made in this country, federal and provincial governments must encourage economic studies designed to help establish the place of agricultural programs, problems, and priorities within our national economy. In the years ahead Canada must broaden the scope of its agricultural program toward the conquest of hunger.

Stainthorpe Wedding

Doug Fox and Eddie Jackson. Ronald and Eddy Jackson ushered the guests to the pews. Members of the family were: Mrs. Stainthorpe Sr. in Ely-of-the-valley.

Mr. George Pettifer, sang "O Perfect Love" during the ceremony and "O Promise Me" during the signing of the register. Mr. George Davison was the organist.

The mother of the bride wore a three-piece dress of pink lace with matching hat and white accessories. The mother of the groom wore a two-piece linen dress with matching hat and white accessories. Both were corsages of white roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake baked by the bride and decorated by Sister Eustessa of the Killam Hospital. Ray Pottage of Sedgewick acted as M.C. Mr. R. Shaw gave the toast to the bride to which the groom ably responded. Jean, Doug and Eddie Fox entertained with "The Hawaiian Wedding Song", after which they served the guests the wedding cake.

Open House was held at the bride's home from 7:30 to 9:30, and a dance followed in the Sedgewick Community Hall.

Out-of-town guests were from Edmonton, Camrose, Sedgewick, Kinsella, Irma, and Rosetown, Sask.

For their honeymoon the bride wore a three-piece yellow linen suit with matching accessories and orchid corsage. The happy couple left for a honeymoon to Banff and the West Coast. On their return Bob and Dianne will be at home to their friends on the farm South-East of Sedgewick.

The RED X Means TIME TO RENEW

Warm Weather Helps Feed & Grain Crops

SEDGEWICK—One of the biggest cattle ranchers and feeders in the territory, Johnny Armitage, is perhaps one of the busiest farmers around these days of intense sunshine and dry weather. John is putting up one of the biggest hay and feed crops in years, as the lush growth continues to tax all the harvesting equipment available.

In the bottom picture the forage harvester picks up the thick growth of stalks, loading it into the truck which delivers it to the silo. The trucks are employed hauling the feed to the Bunk Silo shown in the top picture. Here a tractor with front-end fork loader is used to place the feed as well as pack it in the silo, which is 30 feet wide by 100 in length. John, shown on the tractor, estimates that a total of 1200 tons will fill the silo to a height of 20 feet. When dry this will diminish to 600 ton, which will winter some 600 head of cattle for the winter, along with grain and other feed. The Armitage family runs several hundred head of cattle the year around. Some 240 acres of feed go into this silo.

Lots Of Feed This Year

Stacks of feed were completely depleted this past spring, and with the extremely good growth this summer, farmers are taking no chances on a repeat performance. Roadside and highway ditches are being harvested and literally thousands of bales are being harvested and stacked against the coming winter. The cattle industry is getting to be big business in this area and, in Alberta, where beef cattle are a good percentage of the marries of Canada.

Grain crops are advancing well under almost ideal weather conditions and some of the crops are beginning to turn into the ripening stage. Harvesting operations should be under way in the course of the next three or four weeks on one of the better crops of recent years. Swathing of rye crops is now under way.

All-Stars Win At Hardisty Tourney

HARDISTY—The Hughenden All-Stars won first money at the six team tournament held at Hardisty Lake on Monday by the Hardisty Senior Baseball League.

Temperatures neared to the middle nineties during the afternoon and while the baseball players had it warm this was over doing it a little.

In the first game of the tourney Hardisty defeated Brownfield 6 to 4 in a hard fought game. Hughenden All-Stars met Lougheed in the next game and came out on top 4 to 0. The third game was between Viking and Lougheed and was close all the way with Sedgewick scoring three in the seventh to win 5 to 1.

Hardisty got the bye and Hughenden was over Sedgewick in the semi-finals by a score of 5 to 2.

In the final game of the day the Hughenden All-Stars defeated Hardisty by a score of 3 to 0 to take home first prize.

Ladies Softball

A three team round robin softball tournament was held between Brownfield, Hardisty, and Lougheed. In the first game Brownfield was over Hardisty with the score 11 to 7. Lougheed and Hardisty again came out on the short end of the score as they were defeated by the Lougheed girls.

In the finals Lougheed was out over Brownfield to take home first prize.

MR. & MRS. GEO. STEWART VISIT TRAIL OF '98

KILLAM—Mr. and Mrs. George Stewart have returned home after an extended trip by car as far as Skagway, Alaska, and 67 miles by train to points in the Yukon Territory. Among the highlights of the trip was a visit over the Trail of '98 which was used during the gold rush days. They also visited in Victoria, Vancouver, Kelowna, and camped with their sons Charles and Douglas and families at Mara Lake which is six miles south of Sicamous. On the return they visited at Banff, and with Lloyd, who had undergone an operation in University Hospital, Edmonton.

Daysland Lion "Tony" Renneberg New District Gov.

"TONY" RENNEBERG

Mr. Ed. G. Hay, District Governor of District 37B Lions International, has named A. P. "Tony" Renneberg of the Daysland Lions Club, as District Deputy Governor for Region 1, which covers fifteen clubs from Drayton Valley to Hughenden and Wainwright.

Tony has served with the Daysland Club as Vice-President, President, and two years as Zone Chairman, and is an active worker in all phases of Lions Club work.

42nd Lougheed Fair Next Wednesday

LOUGHEED—Final preparations here now been completed for the 42nd Annual Fair sponsored by the Lougheed Agricultural Society on one-day affair will be held at the Sports Grounds in Lougheed ,which have been improved and readied for the event.

Secretary Dave Black says the Society expects one of the largest list of exhibits on record, which will include Horses, Cattle, Poultry, Flowers, Vegetables, Grains and Grasses, Fruit, Dairy Products, Baking, Needlework, Handicrafts and 4H exhibits. Entries are coming in fast and facilities will be taxed to the limit to accommodate the displays.

The Society has planned entertainment for the day such as baseball games, Softball, Children's Pony Rides, Etc., with refreshment booths on the grounds. The P. A. system will keep the fair-goers informed of the various events during the afternoon.

President Lloyd Cameron invites the public to visit this Fair on August 11th, the only such event held in this area of Alberta.

Baptist Church News

Our sincere sympathy is extended to the Nearberg family in the passing, on Saturday, July 31, of their beloved mother, Mrs. Hilda Nearberg. Grandma Nearberg's Christian life has left its lasting impriat upon her children and all who knew her. Her example of love and devotion to Christ will always remain a precious, blessed benediction.

No, no, it is not dying
To go unto our God;
This gloomy earth forsaking,
Our happy soul ascending taking,
Along the starry road.
No, no, it is not dying
Heaven's citizen to be:
A crown immortal wearing,
And rest unbroken sharing,
From care and conflict free.

The regular meeting of the W.M.S. was held on Thursday night with sixteen ladies present. A time of devotion, business and refreshments, was enjoyed. Hostesses were Mrs. W. Bertunek and Mrs. G. Bertunek.

A group of teachers and young people met on Friday night to make final preparations for D.V.B.S. being held August 3—6. All children, parents, and those interested are urged to attend the closing exercises on Friday evening.

Rev. Grymaleski brought the messages from the Word of God at the Sunday services.

Congratulations to Norman and Marie Bergerson on his birth of a son.

Ninety-four Cooksons Hold Family Reunion

On Sunday, July 18th, Lougheed was the gathering place for a reunion of the Cookson family. Following a get-acquainted hour and time for photographs, ninety-four relatives ranging in age from seventy-five years to three months, sat down to a turkey dinner in the hall. Seated at the head table were the original members of the family: Mrs. William Bell, Sr. (Lily) and grandson Dale of Rockyford, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cookson of Lougheed, Mr. and Mrs. William Cookson of Lougheed, Mr. and Mrs. James Black (Elsie) of Lougheed, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Cookson of Lacombe, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Culshaw (Imie) of Calgary, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wright (Winnie) of Vancouver. One hundred, John of Kelowna, B.C. was unable to attend. Eighty descendents attending were: Robert Bells of Calgary, William Bells of Rockyford, Ernest Cooksons of Lougheed, Donald Cooksons of Lougheed, James Jacks of St. Paul, Horace Cooksons of Hardisty, Clifford Cooksons of Lougheed, George Blacks of Edmonton, Arthur Blacks of Lougheed, Lloyd Walmsleys of Edmonton, Ed Smiths of Edmonton, Kenneth Cooksons of Trochu, Jack Cooksons of Lacombe, Bud Fesse of Calgary, Wesley Culshaws of Devon, Bill Minieces of Vancouver.

After dinner everyone moved to the sports ground where an afternoon of ball games, horseshoes, etc. was enjoyed and many old friends had an opportunity to renew acquaintances.

The day concluded with lunch, speeches, etc., back at the hall.

Special thanks are extended to the Lougheed 4-H girls and supervisors for a job well done in serving and washing dishes. Also thanks to everyone else who assisted in any way to make this a very memorable occasion.

New Stamp Honors Winston Churchill

Details of a Canadian postage stamp to be issued August 12 to honour Sir Winston Churchill were released today by the Honourable Rene Tremblay, Postmaster General.

The stamp is the first Canadian stamp printed by the dustone offset process, a method of printing particularly suited to the reproduction of photographs. It features the famous "roaring lion" portrait of Sir Winston Churchill by Yousuf Karsh, internationally renowned Canadian photographer. Complementary design is the work of Philip Weiss, Canadian artist and Director of the Department of Industry's National Design Branch.

The stamp will be printed in brown by the Canadian Bank Note Company Limited of Ottawa. The total number of stamps printed is 25 million.

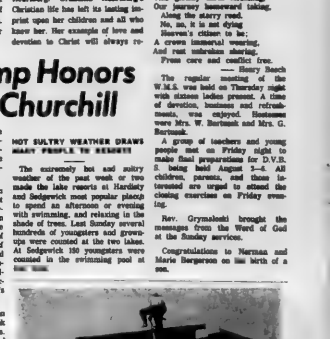
W. A. MEETS AT LOUGHEED

LOUGHEED—Mrs. Don Cookson hosted the W.A. meeting on July 18th, with seven members in attendance, along with Misses Hazel and Edna from the Mission Van. Capt. Bloom and two visitors.

After opening prayer Mrs. Jack Butcher read from the Rudy Book. Business matters attended to after which Miss Hazel gave an interesting and informative talk on the work and needs of the Anglicent Sunday School Mission Vans.

MOT SULTRY WEATHER DRAWS MANY PEOPLE TO RESORTS

The extremely hot and sultry weather of the past week or two has made the lake resorts at Hardisty and Sedgewick most popular places to spend an afternoon or evening with swimming, and relaxing in the shade of trees. Last Sunday several hundreds of youngsters and grown-ups were conned at the two lakes. At Sedgewick 150 youngsters were counted in the swimming pool at the beach.



INSTANT HOUSES—This new house located at Killam caught our eye the other day. In the time it took to get our camera ready the two men had erected the left section with the foundation and two more sections and the house was together. It belongs to Dr. Dahlroos and was said to him by Elmer Pedersen Services.

Getting Along!

Not long ago we had the occasion to discuss local topics, including some aspects of strictly local government with a person of long acquaintance. Before we had closed off the discourse we had come to the conclusion that our friend held a deep-rooted grudge against the world in general and that he was just having one of those days when he had let his mood lick him and sour his disposition. It seems that everything that happens to people, happens to him. We tried to share some of our problems with him, but always he beat us to the gun.

You know sooner or later, if a man is wise at all, he discovers that life is a mixture of good days and bad, victory and defeat, give and take. He learns that it doesn't pay to be a sensitive soul; that he should let some things go over his head, like water off a duck's back. He learns that when he loses his temper, he usually loses out. He learns that we all have burnt toast for breakfast now and then, and that he shouldn't take the other fellows grouch too seriously. He learns that carrying a chip on his shoulder is the easiest way to get into a fight, and the quickest way to become unpopular is to carry tales and gossip to others.

He learns that buck-passing always turns out to be a boomerang, and that it never pays. He comes to realize that the school can run along fairly well without him. He learns that it doesn't matter so much who gets the credit so long as the job gets done.

He learns that all people are human and that it doesn't do any harm to smile and say good morning even if it is raining. He learns that most of the other fellows are as ambitious as he is, and that they have brains that are as good or better, and that hard work and not cleverness or sly tactics, is the secret of success. He learns to sympathize with the youngster just coming on the job because he remembers how bewildered he was when he first started out.

He learns not to worry when he makes a blunder, or curse when someone else does, because experience has shown him that if he always gives his best, his average will break pretty well. He learns that no man ever got to first base alone and that it is only through co-operative effort that we move on to better things.

He learns that bosses are not monsters, trying to get the last ounce of work out of him for the least amount of pay, but that they are pretty good men who have succeeded through hard work. He learns that folks are not any harder to get along with in one place than in another and he learns that the "getting along" depends just about ninety-nine percent upon his own attitude and behaviour. Think it over.

Backward, Turn Backward!

Travelling about acquaints one more or less with the customs of people. Particularly is this the case with regard to styles of dress. Even though I have been ensnared these many years matrimonialwise, I have an appreciation and also a good eye for clothing, particularly when draped on one of the opposite sex. Believe me when I say that in your travels you do see females that look both draped and undraped; ones that were poured into a garment and others who need a can-opener to get out of what they call a dress. The ones who really amaze me are those who wear heels so high they have to bend forward, and skirts so tight they have to bend backward. The effect looks dangerous to the poise, but fascinating to the onlooker. It's a far cry from when mother was a girl and it brought to memory a poem they used in the days when I was a boy:

Backward, turn backward, O time in your flight; Give us a maiden with skirts not so tight; Give us a girl whose charms many or few, Are not exposed to so much peek-a-boo. Give us a maid no matter what age, Who won't use the street for a vaudeville stage. Give us a girl not so shapely in view; Dress her in skirts that the sun won't shine through. Then give us the dances of days long gone by; With plenty of clothes and steps not so high. Oust the jazz queens and buttermilk glides, The hurdy-gurdy twist and the wiggle-tail slide. Then let us feed our tired optics once more, On a genuine woman as sweet as of yore.

The Truth Might Be Worse!

Most editors and publishers have at some time in their careers been accused of everything from misrepresentation and distortion of the facts, to the lowest form of reporting, lying. Some perhaps have been justly accused, but most of them. And frankly not a few of us get a bit fed up with it. I have often wondered what the reaction of the reading public would be, if all editors and reporters decided to tell the absolute truth and the bare undecorated facts about every public and social event that came to their attention. How do you think you would like it? Just to give you a sample or two of what could happen, here are a few social events honestly written up in the news columns: John Doe our local groceryman is not doing much business these days, well he is way behind the times, his store is untidy and his stock is way down. How can he expect to do much? Dace Kankey died at his home last week. The doctor gave it out as a heart attack, but it was too much whisky that actually killed him. Sylvia Rhodes and Jim Collins were married recently at the local parsonage. The bride is a very ordinary girl who doesn't know any more about cooking than a jack rabbit and never helped her mother a day in her life. She's not a beauty by any means. The groom is an up-to-date loafer who's lived off his dad for years. We're afraid they are going to have a tough time of it. These are just samples of what could happen if editors told the unvarnished truth. We don't necessarily tell an untruth when we leave something unsaid, and sometimes we tell an untruth in some of the nice things we say. We may tell untruth forever about people so long as they are not libelous. Remember, too, when we tell a truthful thing that's not nice we are branded as a liar. Some fun.

It's still the little apples that hold up the big apples at the top of the basket.

Traffic conditions sometimes improve when reckless drivers are awakened by a pinch.

Life, like news copy, usually needs editing.

The higher any man rises, the less chance he has of being above suspicion.

★ MACDUFF REPORT

Dress Rehearsal

OTTAWA — Premiers who attended the Federal-Provincial Conference in Ottawa went away from the Capital confident that the Liberal Government is planning an autumn election.

The Premiers talked about it frequently. Some even even named the date. 10 or 31. One or two said they had been told it was possible the Government would hold off until Nov. 15.

Premier Bennett of British Columbia said there was no doubt in his mind that the program placed before the conference by the Government was its way of preparing for a general election. He predicted that the election would end up in another minority government headed by either Prime Minister Pearson or Mr. Diefenbaker. He also forecast that if Mr. Diefenbaker again became Prime Minister the Conservative national leader would not last for a year and then retire declaring that he had been vindicated.

Premier Roblin of Manitoba said the conference indicated that the stage had been set for an election. He said the "medicare" program as it had been presented was in a sense a "political" program. It would be a good plank for the Liberals, he suggested.

Revenue Minister Eric Kierans of Quebec described the conference as a "non-event" for an autumn election. Other members of the Quebec contingent echoed his sentiments. The same views were voiced by members of the Ontario delegation.

However, the Ontario group were chuckling the second night of the conference because they believed that Premier John Robarts's ready acceptance of the medicare programs had spiked the guns of the Liberals. The Ontario Conservatives were confident that they had upset the Prudent Liberals' election strategy.

But the Liberals laughed off the fact remarking that in the end the Premier had wrecked any plans the Federal party might have had for using the conference as a springboard for a national vote. They planned to end the conference as successful, the prestige of Prime Minister Pearson had been enhanced and the Liberal Government could now enter a campaign pointing out that a vote for the Liberals means peace until 1967.

There is no doubt that there was an increasing number of influential Liberals in and outside Ottawa who are coming around to the view that a Fall election should be held. They point out that the economy is booming and that there is no guarantee that it will be in such good shape a year or two years from now.

Mr. Secretary of Leslie Rivard has offset to some extent the adverse publicity the Government received from the scathing criticism of the Dorion Royal Commission report. By the Fall, the Liberals hope that the public will have forgotten the Dorion report and the Rivard affair. They would like to have the election before the trial of Raymond Denis and others take place this winter.

Liberals argue effectively that to go to the country this Fall would mean that their opponents the Conservatives would be badly divided behind the leadership of Mr. Diefenbaker.

In addition the Fall the Canadian taxpayer is benefitting from the reduction in the income tax. Next year he will be making contributions to the new Canada Pension Plan and the reduction in the income tax, will be offset by the deduction for the pension scheme.

To those who worry that the reaction in Western Canada to the S and B commission and to the sweeping concessions granted to Quebec the Liberals wanting an early election say it would do as good to wait until next year. By next year the S and B commission would be making its report and the reaction in the West might be worse, so have the election now, they say.

The man who has the final say is Prime Minister Pearson. And, to all intents and purposes he has not yet made up his mind. He is carefully assessing the situation this summer and studying reports from Liberal listening posts across the country.

One thing is certain the Prime Minister is out of the Ontario Provincial conference with his political stock higher than when he went into the meeting. His medicare proposals took the wind out of the sails of many of the Premiers. They had arrived in Ottawa prepared to needle the Federal Liberals for not acting with greater speed on the Hall Royal Commission report on medical services.

The Prime Minister's proposal to split the costs 50-50 with the provinces that set up their own medicare programs, provided those programs met certain criteria laid down by Ottawa was a master stroke of strategy. It left it to the provinces to do the organizing of their own programs. Thus it did not interfere with their autonomy; it also incidentally left it to the provinces to do the negotiating or wrangling with the doctors. Something Ottawa is happy to stay away from after watching Saskatchewan's experience.

The Liberal party in the Federal field can now claim that its proposals for medicare and it won't have to put up any money until the plans go into operation on July 1, 1967. That was the target date suggested by the Federal Government for the joint Federal-Provincial medicare programs becoming operative.

When the conference wound up and the Premiers headed home the scoreboard appeared to indicate that provinces ready to go along with medicare were: Newfoundland, New Brunswick, Quebec, Ontario and Saskatchewan. The provinces that are reluctantly indicating an interest are, British Columbia, Manitoba, Prince Edward Island and Nova Scotia. The strongest opposition came from Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta.

But the Federal Government holds the whip hand. The Federal

The Letter Box

EDITOR'S NOTE— The following is a letter which appeared in the Edmonton Journal following the June 12th murder and knifing tragedy, and the subsequent newspaper report of Harlan* going on at the house where the tragedy occurred.

GOOD NEIGHBORS

May we have the privilege of a few comments regarding the tragic event of June 12, when one life was taken and the lives of others were smeared by a report given to the press and radio.

We regret that we were not in town when this took place. Had we been home and had we been asked by reporters, maybe the story would not have contained reflections on others from one informant.

We have known the girls involved since they moved into the district. We knew the girls personally and have great sympathies for them and having them as next door neighbors was our pleasure. We were never bothered by what was reported to you as "wild parties." If having company and playing records or a musical instrument is called having a " wild party" then there are many such events going on in this district every day.

We hope this will never happen to your neighborhood.

30 YEARS AGO

(From Press Files August 6, 1935)

On Wednesday, July 31st, the 8th annual Agricultural Fair was held at the beautiful farm grounds of Mr. C. Ball, 12 miles south-east of Sedgewick. On this occasion the event attracted close to 1,000 visitors, and the weather was ideal.

The judges-ballcorns visited the Daysland district on Sunday in the late afternoon, doing from 20 to 100 percent damage in some excellent crops. Coming from Amherst and Hamlet, it went 17 miles north of town and all the crops in the area are badly damaged. Windows were broken, roofs of chicken houses blown off and gardens ruined.

The young people of Lougheed held a farewell party in the hall on Thursday evening for Edyth Campbell who left Friday to train in the Misericordia Hospital.

20 YEARS AGO

(From Press Files Aug. 2nd, 1950)

There will be no issue of the Community Press next week, August 9th. We have recently received word from Mr. W.T.B. that we have violated our rights and accepted our quota of newsprint. We have been told that we must make this up before September 1st. There is no other way this can be done, and that is by missing a week.

The Prairie Park Red Cross had a lawn social at the A. P. Nelson home Monday evening. A good crowd attended and enjoyed softball and lunch. A cake raffled was won by Lon Larson.

Isaac Lambe reported that he almost froze his feet walking across the Lougheed sports grounds one night last week (the thermometer read 89 degrees - and in the shade too).

A horse show tournament was held at Lougheed on Sunday, at which Mr. A. Matheson and Norm Jack came out on top, winning the big prize money.

Three carloads of Killam folks "would a fishing go" on Thursday to Dried Meat Lake. Since we have heard so tall fish stories we conclude the fish weren't biting.

SUGAR AND SPICE

by Bill Smiley

STILL IN THE SWIM

Any of you old-timers noticed the gradual, but steady changes in the physical world about you? Yes Good. I was hoping it wasn't just me.

You know what I mean. The hills in the golf course are steeper than last year. The lawn grows larger each year. The dining-room table grows a little further from you each year. The weeds in the garden are a lot farther away when you stoop to pull them. The look, you see, starts at down, when you scold your children.

And there's one other change that is particularly evident at this time of year. Water is far more likely to tan degrees colder than it was last year.

I noticed this when I went swimming this week with the Old Lady. It was rather a historic occasion. With both our birthdays another recent, it was the first time we'd been swimming alone, together, without kids, since our honeymoon.

You should have seen the performance. We hovered in the shallows. There are no shallows. There are no shallows to a dip. We advanced with the utmost reluctance to the water's edge. We stood there for ten minutes, peering gingerly at it and each other.

Down at the beach, in their more pride, I fiercely stuck one foot in.

Twenty minutes later I was right up to the waist in my house. The old girl had barely wet the point on her big toe. We'd been there ever yet shuddering, had set a couple of six-year-olds dashed past us, splashing us from chest to gudgeon. And my gudgeon still hasn't recovered.

Now, how do you explain this? It was the same body of water I had been swimming in since early May. He said it was great then. The weather was hot since. But in mid-summer the temperature of the mid was thirty degrees lower than in May. Something's wrong.

But I must admit, like all the other kids, that "it's grand when you get ducked." There's nothing quite like a middle aged swim, with the old hairdo all in the shoulder crunching at every stroke, the heart pounding alarmingly, the chest heaving wildly for air.

It does have its compensations, though, like evening without kids. No one suggests you to eat as a human dive-bomber. You don't have to engage in duck-diving competitions. You don't have to race a couple of grisly teenagers to the big rock. And your wife certainly won't compel you to see how far you can swim under water.

It's rather pleasant, really, swimming with the old lady. She dog-paddles along in the shallows with the four-year-olds. You wade out to the deep part right up to your waist, and sit down with a theatrical breaststroke for eight yards before sinking a rest. After a few minutes you may return with dignity to the bench.

And there's no one dragging at your arms ten minutes later, demanding that you go back into that cold refrigerator for another shock treatment. There's nobody bugging you for money for ice-cream or pop. There's nobody interrupting, with badly aimed beach balls, your conversation with your wife. There are no kibbids. There are no squabbles to break up.

It's pretty nice, really, just sitting there in your bathing shirt, hair on your knee, jug of iced mix handy, watching the human comedy. The beach boys, holding in their stomachs so hard they can't breathe. The beach girls, arching out their bosoms so hard they almost fall over backwards. Human hippos. Human giraffes. Human gorillas.

But surely something can be done about that water. If we can devise rockets to hit the moon, surely in goodness we can figure out some way of warming up our lakes so that people over forty don't turn from sophisticated citizens into gibbering cowards the minute they get near the water's edge.

Treasury is to kick in 25 per cent of the cost of the medicare programs and say provinces that refuses to participate would not get money from the Federal Treasury. This would mean that the Premiers staying out of the program would be open to the charge by political opponents that they were denying their people half the cost of their medicare bills. It would be a pretty potent weapon for a political opponent to use in bludgeoning any premier who refused to join in the scheme.

Under such circumstances what provincial premier would dare to stay out of the medicare program asked one non-Liberal Premier who was by no means so enthusiastic for the plan. It appeared to be the "carrot and the club" technique. The carrot was the federal offer to pay half the cost. The club was Ottawa's insistence that if a province did not participate it did not get the money it would otherwise receive.

BUMPER CROPS AND WATER USE

LETHBRIDGE—The amount of water used by a crop is not directly related to the size of the crop, states K. K. Krogman, soil specialist at the federal agricultural Research Station here.

Heavy crops use water more efficiently than light crops. In fact, a 6-ton crop of hay will use only a little more water than a 3-ton crop.

Krogman gives several reasons why this is so. Most of the total heat received by a crop from the sun is used in transpiration and evaporation. Only a little heat is required to build plant tissue.

At ordinary temperatures about 340 calories are required to evaporate enough to transpire a crop size. Thus:

The water requirement of a crop is more dependent upon the amount of radiant energy received by the crop then upon the size of the crop.

A heavy crop shades the soil more than a light crop and less water is lost by evaporation from the soil surface.

Heavy crops may promote better infiltration of water, hence less waste by runoff.

When drought is eliminated by irrigation, improvement of soil fertility will improve the efficiency of water use. The fertility of our prairie soils, particularly under irrigation, can often be increased by nitrogen and phosphorus fertilizers.

Nitrogen fertilizers applied to irrigated grass at the Vauxhall Irrigation Substation in the Southern Alberta area, gave a fourfold increase in yield of hay but the water requirement of the crop was only slightly increased. The efficiency of water use was much greater where fertility was high.

A bumper crop will make the best use of an accredit of water as well as the best use of an acre of land.

SCENTLESS MAYWEED!

Scentless Mayweed is relatively new in Alberta but infestations are growing and spreading in the M.D. of Flagstaff.

Scentless Mayweed plants are highly competative with other crops. They often grow one to three feet tall in places where there is not too much competition from other vegetation. Their large daisy-like flowers with yellow centres and white petals vary in size from 3/4 to an inch in diameter. The leaves are a rich green, stalkless and very finely divided. The main stems are usually hairless.

A single plant can scatter low-yield and even thousands of seeds in a year, so that field-size infestations are not uncommon in badly infested areas. Infestations are also showing up this year in the Killam district in particular.

Tillage and chemicals are the recommended methods of control. High rates of 2-4D will apparent the growth of this weed. A publication on the control of Scentless Mayweed is available from the D. A. Office.

PRUNING EARLY FLOWERING SHRUBS

Lilacs, honeysuckles and early flowering prunus species as well as most spirea bushes should be pruned after they have finished blooming.

P.D. McCalla, Supervisor of Horticulture with the Alberta Department of Agriculture, recommends cutting-off old flower clusters to prevent the shrubs from producing seeds instead of flower buds for next year.

A great many flowering shrubs produce suckers which should be removed. Any extra growth which makes the shrubs take up too much room should also be removed at this time of year. If pruning is left until the fall or early next spring a certain percentage of next season's bloom will be removed because all these ornamental shrubs form their flower buds now.

SILAGE MAKING TIME!

Good Silage is relatively simple to make if a few basic principles such as the following are used:

1. Horizontal silos should be well drained with a minimum slope of one foot fall per 100 Ft. in length.

2. The size of the silo should be geared to the number of animals to be fed and the number of days of feeding.

3. The ensilage crop should be cut at the proper time — grass and legumes in the early bud stage — oats in the dough stage. Too early cutting may give slimy and unpalatable silage. Too mature a crop is more difficult to pack, so that spoilage will not occur.

4. The moisture content of the crop is important. From 65 to 70 percent moisture is desirable. Moisture content is about right when a handful of silage material squeezed in a ball breaks apart slowly as released.

5. The shorter the silage is cut the easier it is to pack and to remove from the silo. A half to one inch long material is good.

6. When starting to put up silage it is a good idea to put up only a few loads the first day. Excessive moisture or packing could prevent sufficient rise in temperature of the silage. Check and be sure the temperature is rising before continuing or you could end up with "cold silage".

7. Packing by customarily driving a tractor back and forth to remove excess air is extremely important. Dryer material will require more packing for a day or so after the silo is filled.

8. A filled silo should have the silage crowned 2 or 3 feet above the walls to provide good run-off after settling. A filled silo must be covered immediately. Polyethylene thoroughly sealed down at the edges with dirt, and then covered with last year's spoilage that was piled at the side of the pit.

GRAZING LANDS STUDIED WITH RESEARCH GRANT!!

A research grant of $43,760 has been awarded to the Agricultural Economics Dept. of the University of Alberta. The award, made by the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act is for the 3-year study of ways of increasing the capacity of Alberta grazing land.

From 1951 to 1961, there was a 55 percent increase in cattle numbers in Alberta. During this same period the acreage of grazing land increased by only 11.4 percent, said Dr. Love, project director.

First phase of the study will look at the problem from the viewpoint of individual farmers and ranchers. Results of the survey will give livestock producers new information on pasture costs and development. It is also designed to help provincial administrators estimate the demand for additional grazing area. Phase two will provide most information necessary to decide where to spend money in the development grazing areas. At the same time, the ratio between costs and benefits, is to be studied.

KENNETH SEMPSTER WINS EXHIBITION TROPHY

The Northern Alberta 4H Public Speaking finals drew a capacity crowd when held at the Edmonton Exhibition Youth Building during Klondike Days. Top speaker, and winner of the Exhibition Trophy was Kenneth Sempster of the Wary Lake 4H Beef Club. His topic on "Advertising" in Beverage was the 4th paper of the Medicine Valley 4H Dairy Club speaking on "Weakness in Education". Colleen Wyllie of Tofield was in third place.

The 4H contestants were selected from previous competitions in the nearest the seven regions in the northern half of his province. Each one in addition to a prepared talk was required to give a short impromptu speech.

When announcing the winner, and speaking on behalf of the judges, Dr. C. F. Bentley, Dean of Agriculture, commended the contestants on their excellent presentations. Mr. Chatterton, T. D. Baker, Deputy Supt. of the Edmonton Public School Board, added that this group was equal to any their age in the province from the point of view of speaking ability.

He left out congratulations to Ken Sempster for the job well done. Ken is attending an all-expense paid nine day Camp out of Saskatoon as a reward for his efforts.

A. P. Crop Report

SUMMARY—Warm weather has again prevailed in Alberta during the past week and crops have continued to make excellent progress with the heading stage nearing completion in most areas. Moisture conditions are generally good, but scattered stations in the main part of the province report that rain will be needed for good filling. The southern part of the Peace River district continues to show good crop prospects, but the northern area needs rain for filling. The far northern part of the Peace River area had some rain which will improve the previously poor prospects, but has caused second growth. Fall Wheat and Rye are ripening in the south with some early Rye now being cut, and some wheat expected to be cut in a week to ten days. Lodging of heavy crops is reported in various districts, and ripened crops in the Peace River district are still being damaged by worms and beetles.

SYNOD TO MEET IN VANCOUVER

Delegates to the 32nd General Synod of the Anglican Church of Canada, to be held at Vancouver in August, will come to grips with the problem of union with the United Church of Canada.

"Committees of Ten" representing the two churches have the responsibility of preparing a plan of union which will be placed before the Joint Committee on Union. Rt. Rev. G. P. Gower, Bishop of New Westminster, heads the Anglican contingent of Ten and he will report on the progress made to General Synod.

Rep.-rtme Bishop Isabelo de los Reyes of the Philippine Independent Church will be a guest of the Anglican General Synod. A few months ago Most Rev. Howard R. Clark, the Canadian Primate, visited Manila for ceremonies marking the Philippines church into full communion with the Anglican Church of Canada.

Mr. Calvin Beairsto of Sedgewick is a member of the Synod and will be attending the session.

The Cabot Tower was built at St. John's, Nfld., to mark the 400th anniversary of John Cabot's landing there in 1497.

SORENSON — YORK in a ceremony at Killam Baptist Church on June 26th, Rev. Anton Grymoshnki performed the wedding uniting Doris Louise York and Allan Sorenson in marriage. The bride is daughter of Mrs. Eppa York of Killam and the late Jerome of Wetaskiwin. The newlyweds are making their home in Calgary.

Wendy Saunders Wed To Laverne Murray

KILLAM—Knox United Church, Killam was the scene of a pretty summer wedding on July 23rd, when Wendy Lynne Saunders, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Saunders became the bride of Laverne Gerard Murray, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Murray of Edmonton.

Rev. Wm. Bartwell of Viking officiated at the double ring ceremony which was performed against a background of delphinium, daisies and other summer flowers.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. D. H. Wilson.

She was charmingly attired in a pale blue dress of crystal charm styled with flared skirt ending in a train and lace bodice featuring lily point sleeves. Across the front of the bodice was a bead and bow of blue to match the dress.

Her chapel veil fell from a coronet trimmed with sequins, and she carried a cascade bouquet consisted of yellow gladioli, fern and white ribbon bows.

Miss Shirley Guerreau was her sister's matron of honor and Miss Shirley Murray, sister of the groom was bridesmaid. Attendants were identical street length gowns of blue crystal charm fashioned sheath style with a lace over blouse. Their headdresses were white veils with white flower on top. They carried cascades of yellow daisies tied with blue ribbons.

Mr. Dermond Murray was his brother's best man who also acted as an usher. Mr. Stanley Chervenak acted as an usher and was the groom's other attendant.

The bride's mother wore a sheath frock of pink knitted acrylic with hat to match. For the wedding, the groom's mother chose a two piece dress of blue flowered silk. Each wore white corsages of carnations.

During the signing of the register, Miss Mary Smolski sang "O, Perfect Love", and the organist also rendered "A Wedding Blessing".

The reception was held in the church hall where the bride's table was centered with the wedding cake daintily decorated in white and yellow, with white candles flanking it on either side.

Mr. Russell Smith of Camrose acted as M.C. Toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Ronald Vernon, uncle of the bride to which the groom ably responded. Dermond Murray proposed a toast to the bridesmaids to which Sharleen Gerrard responded. A toast was also given to the two grandmothers, Mrs. L. Vernon and Mrs. Alice Girard, who were present.

Out-of-town guests were present from Edmonton, Camrose, Chamwack, B.C., and Ongeda, Ont.

About 90 guests attended the Open House which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Saunders during the evening hours. Mrs. Alex Robinson and Mrs. H. L. Murray poured tea and coffee.

The bride's going away outfit was an aqua crepe two piece suit, the jacket being lace trimmed. With it she wore a white corsage. A white breton straw hat and white purse completed her ensemble. The happy couple left on a short honeymoon after which they will make their home in Edmonton.

Sedgewick Flower Show

Following is a revised list of entries for the Sedgewick Flower Show. In most cases flowers in a section may be mixed colours, unless otherwise stated. The heights specified for the bouquets is the overall height including the container. While the container is not to be judged it will affect the arrangement. The bouquets of variety of flower will be judged for arrangement and effect rather than the merits of one flower against another. Foliage may be included unless otherwise stated.

In order to aid those in charge of arranging the flowers, exhibitors are asked to state in which section they want each entry.

We are pleased to announce the Flower Show and really appreciate your participation—for without it there would be no show. Wishing everyone success and good flowers!

OBITUARY

JAMES WILLIAM CARSON

James William Carson passed away July 3rd, 1965 in the Hardisty Hospital after a short illness, at the age of 81 years. He was born at Palmyra, Missouri on April 15th, 1874. When he was 19 years of age he left his home to make his own way, and worked in Montana for several years as a rancher, and also drove a freight wagon for some time. He came to the Alliance district by covered wagon via Coutts and Red Deer. He proved up on a homestead North-East of Alliance in 1906, where he spent the best part of his life.

After he retired he lived with his son Ben on the farm until last winter when he entered the Flagstaff Lodge at Sedgewick where he resided until his passing.

On January 18th, 1910 he was married in marriage to Laura Jenny Fullers of Battle Head, Alberta, and to this union were born two children. Clarence predeceased him in 1932, and Robert at birth, there were six sons and four daughters.

After the funeral service at Battle Bend conducted by Rev. Zwicker of Hardisty, the remains were laid to rest in Battle Bend Cemetery. Miss Ruth Gascoyne was organist.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his loving wife Laura; eight children, Mrs. Ethel Gascoyne (Doris) of Killam, Mrs. Otto Klinger (Dora) of Killam, Mrs. Chris Proteau (Cora) of Killam, Merrill of Downey Creek, Sons of Alliance, Arnold of Calgary, Mrs. T. C. Graham (Evelyn) of Strome, Martin of Edmonton, and thirteen grandchildren and ten great grandchildren.

Pallbearers were, Noble Duncan, Leo McShane, Clarence Wold, Art Reimer, Tom Mundle and Laurie Rittenhouse. Funeral Director was Gordon Kirkman of Lougheed.

Wreaths were sent from Grandchildren: Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Mundle, Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Sutherland; Flagstaff Lodge Matron and Guests.

June Wedding Unites Norma Carlson and John Murray

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in Trinity Lutheran Church, Lougheed on June 18 at 3 p.m. when Miss Norma Ethel Carlson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Carlson of Sedgewick and Mr. John Murray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stan Murray of Irma exchanged vows. Pastor S. J. Christopherson performed the double ring ceremony. The church was tastefully decorated with baskets of spring flowers. The bride was given in marriage by her Father. Her floor length gown was styled with a full skirt of white net with overskirt of nylon lace and featured lily point sleeves and square neckline with seed pearl and lapel trim. A shoulder length veil fell from a coronet headdress of pearls and crystals. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow sweetheart roses. Her only jewellery was a crystal necklace and earring set, gift of the Groom. The bride was attended by her two sisters, Mrs. Corrine Hogg and Miss Irene Carlson who wore identical street length gowns of white embroidered organza with yellow Poi de soie cummerbound and bow trim. Their hats were of matching yellow and white lace and they carried colonial bouquets of white and yellow carnations. Crystal necklace and earring sets completed their ensemble.

The groom was attended by his uncle, Mr. Norman Ford and Mr. Ronald Larsen. They each wore ties matching the yellow trim of the bridesmaids dresses. The guests were ushered to their seats by Mr. Sedford Carlson, brother of the bride and Mr. Colin Ford, cousin of the groom. The wedding music was played by the groom's sister, Ted the groom's aunt, Mrs. Evelyn Zajic sang "Then and Miss Dora" during the signing of the register.

For her daughters wedding Mrs. Carlson wore a pink chiffon at length dress with matching jacket and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. Mrs. Murray's dress was pink linen with fitted jacket, white accessories and white carnations complete the groom's grandmother wore a dress of light brown and turquoise jersey with beige accessories and a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

The open reception was in the church parlours following the ceremony. The room was decorated with yellow and white streamers and bouquets of flowers. The bridal table was laid with linen and centered with a three piece wedding cake flanked by white wedding candles.

Mr. Thomas Clouston Jr. was master of ceremonies, Mr. Harold Hegg proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom duly responded. Mrs. Rasmeza Kinghorn was in charge of the guest book. Telegrams were read from Comox, Smithers, B.C. and Chesslanow, Poland.

Following a honeymoon to Vancouver and other points in B.C. the young couple will take up residence in Irma. For travelling the bride wore a blue piece suit of imported linen with white accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

Out of town guests attended from Edmonton, Calgary, Heath, Wainwright, Irma, Hardisty, Lanigh, Sedgewick, Castor and Highvale. — Irma Times

F.U.A. CONCERNED AT MANNING'S STAND

Concern over the stand taken by Premier Manning and Health Minister J. D. Ross on Federal Government proposals for a national Medicare program has been voiced by the Farmers' Union of Alberta.

Commenting on news reports that Alberta Premier Ernest Manning and Province going along with the rest of Canada in joining the Medicare plan, F.U.A. President Fred Sinnes said it was the Farm Organizations' conviction that no one living in Canada should lack medical service because of low income. "Every advanced country in the world has some form of health service," he said.

Mr. Sabey pointed out that such a medical scheme as that proposed at this week's Dominion-Provincial Conference in Ottawa does not entitle the Hospitalization Plan that all provinces participate in, and he felt that the Alberta Government, no matter how it views the issue, would have to recognize that a majority of Canadians have accepted the need for medicare.

Said Mr. Sabey, "Let's not overlook the importance of the health of our citizens. A healthy population can keep the great national product on the increase and as a result produce more wealth to pay for expanded health, welfare and ill health education or welfare. We hope that Premier Manning and Hon. J.D. Ross will reconsider their stand on this issue."

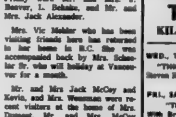
FIRE!
(By Gert Odland)



Do you agree? I think the average person gets an unfavorable mental image when he hears the word "fire". At least, he does when times out of ten. He would certainly have an unfavorable mental image if somebody called out, "Fire" in the middle of the night. Or if he was standing in front of a firing squad.

Fire often makes one think of getting burned, property damage, destruction. Yet, where would we be without fire? For one thing, we would be in about three cubic of endeavour. For another thing, civilization would still be in the Stone Age or earlier. And, for one more thing, I would be out of business, because fire is my business.

Because fire can be controlled, it is a great boon to mankind. An example of perfect fire control is a Lennox Furnace. The sensitive controls operate the burners at short, frequent intervals so that heat is supplied to the building in small amounts, just as the building loses it in small amounts. This means temperatures remain even.

You've heard of tried by fire. Well, Lennox gas furnaces and all burners are tried by fire before they leave the factory. Lennox fire-tests its units to make sure they are in perfect operating condition. Not many furnace manufacturers do that. It's just another example of how Lennox does things to secure quality.

May I shockingly add that they select and train outstanding dealers to be the best heating and air conditioning men in their communities. That's us.

The Bible Today

A problem Christians are constantly having to face is how to dispel the feeling among many young people who have not read the Bible that it is old-fashioned and unreadable.

An attempt has been made by the Danish Bible Society to make the Bible meaningful to young people. Challenged, says Miss V. Jensen, Bible Society Secretary, by young people saying "I feel the dust falls on me when I pick up a Bible," the Society decided to make a phonograph record of Bible readings by the most famous Danish actor, Paul Reumert, who kindly gave his services free of charge. The record is presented in a bright, attractive sleeve designed by a contemporary artist. Many people, of course, bought the record to hear the actor's voice. But as a result, a considerable number of letters are received from people enquiring about the readings. Many say, "Where can I get a Bible like that?" Miss Jensen also speaks to many groups of young people, impressing on them that the Bible is to be read not only by them in "missionary" countries, but by themselves.

Model Builder Now Living At Daysland

DAYSLAND—After 20 years as a schoolkeeper in Saltburn, Scotland, Mr. Charles Henderson, along with his wife, has emigrated to Alberta, and the couple is now living with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Rennebergand at Daysland.

Mr. Henderson says that while he was sad to leave, he and his wife are looking forward to their new life and plan on doing considerable travelling across Canada and the U.S.A. Mr. Henderson left the schools in England after receiving tributes from the children, staff and many other well-wishers.

During his many years at the schools where he commenced duties in 1936, he joined the fire services during the war, and since that time has given much of his time to making medals of fire engines, trains and boats to please the younger children.

Shown above are Mr. Henderson and some of the work he made during 20 years as schoolkeeper.

Daysland To Vote On Building Hall

DAYSLAND—Rapid progress is being made on the new Alberta Government Telephone Office in Daysland Designed to take care of the new dial system when it comes into operation this fall, the new building is of modern design and construction, and is situated on the main street.

Elsewhere in this issue readers will find a notice concerning the proposed erection of a new $70,000 Community Hall in Daysland to take care of the ever-increasing demand for an entertainment centre. The Town of Daysland is also in the process of plans for the installation of a public water system, and some talk has been heard of a project to pave at least a part of the main thread section of the Town.

A plebiscite is to be held in the near future on the erection of their desires on the matter.

Local Crops Show Good Progress

Local crop conditions continue to be bright and the recent hot weather has brought them on rapidly. Some of the earlier grains are beginning to ripen and swathing will be in progress within the next two or three weeks. In some areas rain would be of help in the next two weeks of hot and dry weather has somewhat depleted the surface and subsoil moisture.

Fine weather has allowed good progress to be made with the harvesting of a bountiful crop of hay and other feeds, and indications are that this year's feed situation will be the best in some years.

123 Attend Bible Vacation School

PROCLAIMING CHRIST OUR PEACE was the theme for the 1965 Daily Vacation Bible School held at the Killam Baptist Church. There were 123 boys and girls enrolled in the five departments. The Scripture Prem Lessons have become a favourite and were again used this year. Each pupil was provided with his own workbook or activity book.

Mrs. J. Kvil of Sedgewick was in charge of the nursery department, with 33 boys and girls enrolled. Mrs. B. Rancier and Miss Barbara Coyne assisted. Mrs. H. Moore of Sedgewick was in charge of the [illegible] department, with [illegible] assisted. Miss P. Kvill of Strathmore was in charge of the primaries with 27 enrolled. Mrs. W. Bartosek assisted. Miss Sandra Ambler of Cayuse taught the 18 juniors with Mrs. S. Fredrich and Mrs. T. Batt assisting. The Teen Class had 13 enrolled, with Miss Myrna Brandt of Wetaskiwin as teacher. Mrs. L. S. Sawyer of Camrose cooked and aid to all the pupils and teachers each morning. These were greatly enjoyed by parents and friends. Mrs. W. Semeniuk was pianist and Miss Elanore Erynnalonski organized Several young people of the church, as well as Mrs. S. York and Mrs. A. Bergerson assisted in numerous ways. The closing sponsoring committee consisted of Mrs. B. Fredrick, Mrs. A. J. Grymaloski and Mr. Ralph Sawyer.

The closing program on Friday evening was well attended by parents and friends. An offering was received to help with the expenses. Workbooks and handicraft were on display in the church hall. The children's Busen responses showed that they really enjoyed their classes and that the school was a worthwhile project.

Young Socreds Hold Lake Social

SEDGEWICK—The evening of July 28th saw nineteen Young Social Creditors and their guests out at the Sedgewick Lake for a social.

A ball game on the brand new diamond got the evening started, and croquet proceeded while the barbecue was lit.

After lunch the young people gathered around a campfire and joined in group singing, bringing a pleasant and entertaining evening to a close.

A. P. Crop Report

GENERAL — Hot weather has been general throughout Alberta during the week, with only scattered showers. Crops have come along rapidly, and throughout the main part of the province prospects remain very good, but the heavy growth requires moisture quicker than it can be drawn from the subsoil and rain is needed in many areas for good filling. The southern part of the Peace River District continues to show fairly good prospects but in the northern portion crops are deteriorating due to lack of moisture. Swathing of fall crops is getting under way in the south.

40th Provincial Park Will Be Established

Officials of the Parks Branch, Alberta Department of Lands and Forests, have announced the establishment of Alberta's 40th provincial park and 22nd historical site.

Plans are now under way for development of Jarvis Bay Provincial Park, a 289 acre site on Sylvan Lake. Work is scheduled to start in early 1966. The park is located just west of Highway 20, north of the junction with Highway 12. Facilities will eventually include a boat launching area, playground, and picnic, camping and swimming facilities. A beach development is also proposed.

A cairn is to be erected at the Bugnet Plantation Historical Site in the Rich Valley area, 24 miles Northwest of Edmonton. The 13-acre site is the former home of one of Alberta's earliest horticulturists, George Bugnet. Besides its historical value, the area will be used by the Alberta Forest Service as a source of seeds from trees and shrubs not native to this part of the world. Exotic trees and shrubs planted by Mr. Bugnet are now growing wild in the area.

In addition, plans have been completed for the development of Sir Winston Churchill Provincial Park next year.

Located on Lac La Biche, the park was previously known as Big Island Provincial Park. It is also hidden island by land and development plans include the building of a road and causeway. The park area is 640 acres.

With the addition of Jarvis Bay, Alberta's provincial parks total 197,887 acres. They range in size from the four-acre Ma-Me-O Beach Provincial Park, west of Wetaskiwin, to the 46,000-acre Cypress Hills Provincial Park southeast of Medicine Hat. All the parks are provided with picnic and playground facilities. Most of them also have facilities for camping, swimming, boating and fishing.

Cottage sites are not leased in provincial parks. Only exception to this policy is where subdivisions already exist when parks are established.

Park facilities are not provided at historical sites. These are maintained for their historical value and are usually associated with a cairn. Alberta's 22 historical sites total 189.37 acres. They range in size from the 0.37-acre Wesley Mill at Calgary to the 157-acre Fort De L'Isle Historical Site.

Homemakers Club To Hold Picnic

DAYSLAND The Homemaker Club met at the home of Mrs. Paul Pasgaard on July 28th with seven members present. A picnic was [illegible] for members sponsor a Fair Fashion Show at Mrs. Lars Elvinsen some time in the near future.

There was a display of Amway products and Mrs. Elvinsen gave a talk on them.

Plans were made to hold a picnic at Browns Lake near Sedgewick for all the members and their families on August 15th.

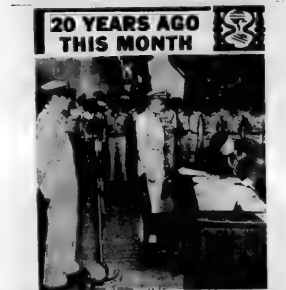
Mrs. Margaret Schmidt was the attendance prize. Lunch was served by the hostess.

New Lougheed Signs Being Erected

The Lougheed and district Chamber of Commerce held their meeting on Aug. 4, 1965 with a small turn out for the supper at the rink. They all went and viewed the new hall diamond, which are just taking shape and will be in use for fair day after which all moved to the Legion Hall for meeting with President Neas in the chair. Several projects were discussed and the members are to help erect a new [illegible] on the grounds and also lay plywood on the curling rink. The new signs have arrived and will be erected on the outskirts of the village. The members will also help all Provincial Play Offs between Calgary, St. Johns and Lougheed Rockets.

After the meeting adjourned several of the members enjoyed coffee at the cafe.

20 YEARS AGO THIS MONTH



IT WAS 20 YEARS AGO this month that General Yoshiro Umezu signed the surrender on behalf of the Japanese Imperial General Headquarters on the U.S.S. Missouri in Tokyo Bay, Aug. 31, 1945. At left is Gen. Douglas MacArthur, and centre, Lt. Gen. Richard K. Sutherland, MacArthur's chief of staff.

Uniform Traffic Act Being Considered

Hon. Gordon E. Taylor, Alberta Minister of Highways, has announced that a committee has now been set up for the purpose of studying the Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act and Town and Village and City legislation to see if a uniform Traffic Act is practical and possible.

Earlier this year the Alberta Motor Association made representations to the Government in which it was shown that there is little uniformity between by-laws dealing with traffic in town villages and cities, as compared with the Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act. The Alberta Motor Association asked that a committee to study the possibility of a uniform Traffic Act be set up.

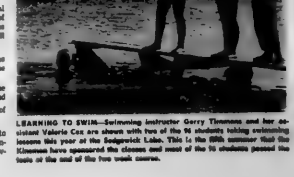
Gene S. Szuba, Departmental Solicitor for the Department of Highways, will be chairman of the committee, while members will include the following:

Alisa MacDonald, Solicitor for the City of Edmonton representing the Union of Alberta Municipalities.

D. J. Tremblina, Solicitor for the Alberta Motor Association; and

R. F. Tait, Deputy Registrar of the Motor Vehicle Branch.

The committee expects to go to work later this month. All members have volunteered their services to the committee.



LEARNING TO SWIM—Swimming instructor Gerry Timmons and her assistant Valerie Cox are shown with two of the 96 students taking swimming lessons this year at the Sedgwick Lake. This is the fifth summer that the Kinsmen have sponsored the classes and most of the 96 students passed the tests at the end of the two week course.

Good Citizenship!

There are two fundamental principles of good citizenship which must be possessed by every good, true and loyal citizen. These are loyalty and moral obligation or responsibility. The greatest resources possessed by any country are its citizens, and no country can be truly great and maintain greatness without good citizens. A true patriot is above selfishness and sectionalism and is not inspired by narrow motives, but looks outward and to the welfare of his country first, these are the principles of true greatness in the citizen, and it is on these kind of citizens in public and important positions that the security of our country depends. The voter, so far as his moral responsibility goes, should consider his franchise as a sacred obligation and vote for what he considers right. Had this always been done we would not see the vice in politics that we do today. We must make a sacrifice for principle; a cause, always demands a sacrifice, a price. We have very little patience left with the class of people who refuse to vote on any matter of local, provincial or federal importance because of some notion they have that by so doing they are mixing in things worldly. Such people, while they are willing to live under the laws that afford them protection, are not willing to help see to it that the best and the most honest men are put into office. They are willing to live in the country where I do my part to see that they are properly governed, yet condemn me for doing so.

People from all over the world come to Canada and become Canadian citizens; those of the best blood of all the nations are making this their home, and along with them also come the worst type of citizens. A moral responsibility rests upon all good Canadian citizens to keep this country as free of vice as possible. Canada is young; she is in the making. It can be kept as we desire if its citizens recognize their moral obligations. If the citizens of a country are good, its statutes will be good, elevating and progressive. Good citizenship; upon this depends Canada's future.

Citizens of high character are the most valuable asset any country can have. The schools are the making of good men and women; no country ever became prominent that did not encourage education, but pupils should be taught their sacred responsibility to their country, thus laying the foundation for good citizenship as well as able men. No country can become great until moral indifference has been overcome. Policemen may suppress crime but they cannot until uprightness into citizenship; this depends upon a different source that is not at present recognized by law as filling an indispensible part in the making of a nation. The law states what must or must not be done, and provides a penalty, but schools and missionaries of the gospel have a work to perform in laying the foundation of all good citizenship; moral responsibility.

The Chief Aim!

Second only to the perverted view held by a vast majority of people that the chief aim in life is the amassing of money and the enjoyment of those fleeting pleasures and luxuries which money can procure, is the gullibility of the public in snatching at get-rich-quick schemes that unscrupulous but clever promoters and swindlers dangle before the public. The idea that there is something fine and noble in work itself, in worthy ambitions realized, in service well rendered, and that a monetary reward is not the be-all and the end-all of existence appears to be fast dying out, and a person's success or failure in life has come to be measured by the standard of his success in amassing the world's money. It is a fatale standard and an unsatisfactory one. The truly successful men and women are those who can point with conscious pride to some real achievement benefitting them and their fellow men.

The desire to get money not honestly earned—which can only be gained by one person through the loss of some other individual—and to get it quickly without effort, in the bait used, the trap set for the unwary, and for every one who does obtain wealth in this way, there are hundreds of victims who lose. The only safe road to wealth is along the cultivation and practice of habits of industry, frugality, perseverance and care. And even this road may not lead to the desired haven. But if it doesn't, there need be no regrets for by taking such a road a person will at least have the satisfaction of accomplishing something, and of leaving the world better than he found it, and that's something.

A Problem That Isn't A Problem!

All across Canada there is a problem which isn't a problem, a paradox if you will, the case of the expanding population which grows so fast that it pushes out the walls of even new schools—almost before they are completely finished. Canada is teeming with children and this is a condition which the countries of Europe strived to attain for years, either by means of edict, bonus or tolerance, knowing full well that in a coming generation of strong, healthy children there is a wealth that cannot be duplicated. So this school problem, which undoubtedly is an expensive one to solve, meets this half of the twentieth century as a challenge which must be met. It is difficult to persuade taxpayers to pay out more money than is absolutely necessary, yet this is the economical way to foresee and meet expansion. We have passed the day of "make do" in the educational field, and we will have to recognize the fact.

Probably one answer may be found in paring down the luxuries and leaving the necessities intact — lighting, sanitation, room to breathe, facilities for recreation —these are important. Frills and what were formerly extra-curricular activities come in the class of at least temporary non-essentials. In a free and democratic country one of the most important of the trusts given to the hands of the government is an adequate education to equip a child to meet the demands of living. And while it may seem expensive, it is one of the best investments in the world today—this investment in the future of our children, these marvelous, healthy babies that you can see in every Village and in every city—the Canadian citizens of tomorrow. Schools are bursting at the seams and it is a good thing. Because Canada can put them all to develop its riches, of which they themselves are the greatest single item.

★ MACDUFF REPORT

Grain Cloud . . .

OTTAWA — Canada is close to making large new wheat deals with several countries which that will step up considerably its exports in 1965-1966 and give the already prosperous economy another boost.

But on this bright horizon there looms a dark cloud that appears to be growing larger; that is the prairie annual grain crisis that has slowed the movement of grain through the Vancouver Ports.

The Government is making every effort to try and get the strike settled as soon as possible. The Pacific Coast ports are heading for the biggest grain movement in their history in the next 12 months. Shipments through these ports will well exceed the record 230,000,000 bushel mark set in 1953-54, if the strike is soon ended.

Russia, Communist China, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Bulgaria are all showing an interest in taking large new supplies of wheat from Canada. The Canadian Wheat Board has found a greater interest in buying Canadian wheat among European countries than ever before.

A Russian trade delegation arrived in Canada the weekend of August 1. Purpose of that mission is to explore the possibility of developing increased trade between Canada and the USSR.

Under the Canada-Russian trade agreement, signed in April 1963, the Russians have only one year left to complete that deal. In the final year, April 1965 to April 1966, the Russians are committed to take 19,700,000 bushels of wheat. But indications are that they will want much more than that amount.

A difficulty however that Canada has in making trade deals with the Russians is that the Russians cannot understand the free-enterprise system under which Canadian businessmen operate. The USSR Government is naturally annoyed that in the Canada-Russian trade deals the Russians always buy much more from Canada than Canadians buy from the Russians. They fail to see why the Canadian Government cannot simply order businessmen to buy from the USSR.

The Canadian officials have to try and explain the "freedom of choice" to buy where and when and what, the Canadian businessman wants to buy. The Russians demand state control, can direct purchases to be made from Canada. They understand the Wheat Board is an agency that operates to the best advantage of the Western farmer. But they cannot comprehend our system whereby a businessman wanting furs for example cannot be ordered to buy his furs from Russia.

Major exports for Canada to the USSR in 1963 amounted to $180,152,-000. In 1964 because of the flour wheat sales made to Russia the exports by Canada soared to the record high of $315,943,000. Major imports to Canada from Russia have totalled $7,313,000 in 1963 and rose to only $7,997,000 in 1964.

The Russian Government, quite naturally, does not like the tremendous imbalance there is in the above figures. They would like to see the Canada-Russian trade brought closely into balance.

Even though Canada and Russia are competitors in many export commodities the Soviet trade officials believe there is room for countries to work towards expanding mutual trade.

Recently Prof. Ipolit I. Dyomkin, writing in an issue of the "Soviet Union Today" published by the Russian Embassy in Canada, said Canadian buyers and business circles have an inadequate idea of Russian goods available and the activities of Soviet Foreign Trade associations. He said it was a case for both sides to extend such information.

He contended that many countries with similar economic structures maintained brisk and fast growing mutual trade. He noted that the USSR exports mining and drilling equipment, metal and woodworking machine tools, welding equipment and hoisting mechanisms, which Canada buys from other countries.

In turn the Soviet would readily buy many machines and items of equipment manufactured in Canada, such as equipment for the mining, paper and pulp, food and other industries. The Russian professor forecast more than a fourfold increase in Russian foreign trade in the next two decades.

Soviet foreign trade organizations spending foreign currency on the purchase of Canadian goods are interested in getting it back by selling more goods in Canada. He urged that the range of goods purchased by Canadian firms in the USSR be expanded. Canada imports from Russia principally mink, fur, cotton and asbestos cloths, potassium chloride and pig iron. Canada sells to the Russians wheat, rapeseed, tobacco, pure bred cattle, abrasive wheels and stones and mining, oil and gas machinery parts.

The Communist Chinese Government is also known to be interested in obtaining additional supplies of wheat from Canada. And it too would like to step up its sales of Chinese products to Canada.

The Chinese just recently concluded a three year deal with Canada under which it took the maximum quantity of wheat totalling 187,000,000 bushels. The three year deal began on August 1, 1963 and is not scheduled to be completed until the end of July next year. The Chinese are expected to soon enter the market again to make wheat purchases. The wheat sold to China is shipped via the Pacific Coast ports. Similarly much of the wheat going to Russia moves out through the Pacific Coast. That is why it is essential for the farmers and the Government, that strikes do not tie up these ports.

CAPITAL HILL

The Federal Government has had to try and apply the brakes to Canada's building boom to slow it down before it pushes construction costs and prices sky high and brings on runaway inflation. Prime Minister Pearson announced over the August 1 Civic Holiday weekend that his Government will defer federal construction projects in Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa and Vancouver. Also in the category of needing brakes applied are Hamilton and Windsor, Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton. Areas where no braking action is required are located East of Three Rivers, Quebec and in parts of the Prairie Provinces. The Prime Minister has appealed to other governments and private business to cut back on construction.

Other Editors Say

THE NEWSPAPER— SNOW WINDOW OF THE DISTRICT

As has been repeated to the point of monotony, the weekly newspaper is, in a sense, the show window of the district, and the editor is constantly seeking for attractive material with which to dress his show window. He reacts to the story of progress, development or success on the part of any citizens as a father reacts to good news from a member of his family. It is something bright, colorful or valuable for the show window. It reflects credit on the whole community and district family. And there is no telling whose eye might be attracted. Remember if there is some accomplishment to the credit of your neighbor, let your editor know about it, it will brighten the show window.

To be a show window reflecting the town in true perspective the paper should be carrying advertising from every store, every service, which is doing business here. Every business and business man should help advertise the town from which he derives his living. In doing so he not only attracts more people but helps give the town a more impressive show window.

FIELD DAY ANNOUNCED!
An ornamental shrub field day is scheduled for August 26th at the Brooks Horticultural Station. Fruit field day has been organized for the 27th to enable those interested to take in both events in one visit.

TREES AVAILABLE FOR 1965
The following is the list of trees available for Farmstead Shelterbelts, Roadside Hedges, Field Shelterbelts and Replacements to already established shelterbelts: Caragana, Green Ash, Manitoba Maple, Rooted Cuttings Poplar, Rooted North West Poplar, Rooted Brooks numbered Seedling Poplar, Cottonwood, Rooted Laurel Leaf Willow, Rooted Acute Leaf Willow, Rooted China Willow, Villosa Lilac, Manchurian, Tartarian Honeysuckle, Red Leaf Rose, Mountain Ash, Burr Oak, Siberian Larch, Dogwood, White Spruce, Hospital at Lacombe, Ledge Pole Pine and Scotch Pine.
For 1965 Tree Planting there will also be 350 Fruit Bushes available, consisting of 45 trees to a bundle. Farmers are urged to place orders early.

TRADING MACHINERY
Farmers are faced with decision of trading equipment every year. The cost of trading for a new or a better machine has to be balanced with the purchase cost of not trading. We trade because the machine we have is not large enough, needs repairs, may not stand up to much more work without breakdowns and lost time, or we want a new model.

It is hard to put a dollar value on some of our reasons.
But the final decision to trade rests with each farmer. One must balance the pros and cons and balance the budget afterwards. Without realizing the technique used, most people are using the partial budget to make their decisions.
The partial budget simply outlines the two sides to be balanced. On one side is listed the additional costs or reduced receipts expected. On the other side is the reduced costs and additional receipts expected from any proposed trade. Depreciation, interest and repairs on investment are three of the important items that must be considered.

Lougheed Rockettes Play This Weekend

(By Postie)

Don't forget the Provincial Play Offs Aug. 14 and 15 at the Lougheed sports grounds. Should be lots of girls softball for two days.

Mrs. T. Chunston Sr. is visiting in Edmonton for a few days.

Mrs. Ole Ness and girls have arrived home from six weeks visit in Norway.

The T. Chunstons Jr. took Darrel back to Vermilion and also took in the Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Wright spent a few days fishing up North.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Chunston and daughter from Edmonton were weekend visitors at the T. Chunston Senior's.

Mr. and Mrs. Theo Jones who have been visiting in the district for the last two months left for their home in New Westminster.

Mr. Darrel Weyman from Calgary spent the weekend with Ken Smaller.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Whitbeck are visiting in the district.

Mrs. Ray Smith is spending a vacation out at the West Coast.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Gus Prybal a son a few days ago. Congratulations William Edward.

Mrs. Edith Robson and Mary have been visiting in the district this past week.

The Ted Patten family are vacationing at the West Coast.

The Keith Shanks are holidaying in Manitoba.

30 YEARS AGO
(From Press Files August 15, 1935)

Members of the Deysland League, with their wives and families, held their annual picnic on Wednesday. Clarke Mosher had a crowd around his 'Middle Ally' and was kept busy setting up the bottles. A 110 yard dash was run by Sam Levine and Chas. Auborn, the latter winning by inches.

Lougheed W.I. members held a tea-dance at the cemetery on Thursday. A great improvement was made to the driveways by hauling the weeds and cutting the grass around plots.

A truck load from Sedgewick attended a field demonstration at the experimental station at Scott, Saskatchewan on Tuesday.

Rainfall during the crop growing season to date has been approximately normal but the season started with quite what of a lack of subsoil moisture.

20 YEARS AGO
(From Press Files August 9, 1945)

We had fully intended not to print a paper this week for the reasons given in our last issue. However, in cancelling our supply of paper our paper wholesalers made a mistake and cancelled next week's instead of this week's.

We're quite sure but it would seem reasonable to assume that some kind of a record was set last week at the Forestburg Baseball Tournament when Sedgewick and Alliance battled for 17 innings before a run was scored by Alliance to win 1 to 0.

Members of the Killam IODE surprised Mrs. George Stewart on Friday evening in honor of her silver wedding anniversary. Mrs. Stewart was presented with a silver dish.

Pte. Ralph Lock, Army, and only recently returned from a prisoner of war camp in Germany, arrived this week end is renewing old acquaintances in the district.

B of M July Review Says

Economy Expanding In 1965

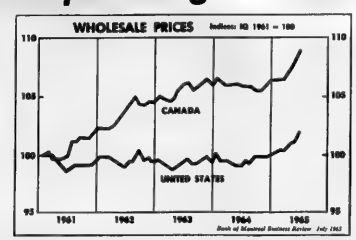
MONTREAL, July 29—Although Canada's economic conditions are continuing buoyant and future prospects are good some warning signs can already be seen in the business outlook, according to the Bank of Montreal in its Business Review for July, just issued.

The B of M notes that in both Canada and the United States the strength of last year's business activity has "continued at a good pace" into this year and industrial production, already 25 per cent higher than in 1961, is still expanding.

But the bank warns of uncertainty in the future of external trade, a major source of strength during the current business expansion, with the gap between imports and exports widening unfavorably .

PRICES RISE

"Further uncertainty, both for Canada's external trade and for general economic conditions in this country, could arise from a combination of price increases such as have taken place in wholesale prices recently," the B of M states.



POTENTIAL DANGER of spiralling prices in Canada is indicated by the recent rapid rise in wholesale prices, as charted by the Bank of Montreal in its July Business Review. Consumer prices and most other prices also rose.

The first signs of "strong upward pressure on prices" appeared in late 1964 and, between October, 1964, and June, 1965, wholesale prices in Canada rose by over 3 per cent.

"Certainly these increases as yet indicate only mild inflationary pressure compared with the record in most countries," the bank says.

"However, they do pose, especially for Canada, a somewhat greater danger of spiralling prices than has been experienced in recent years since they come at a time when the economy is operating much closer to capacity, when substantial wage increases are being gained and when there is an increasing incidence of labour disputes resulting in work stoppages."

BUSINESS OUTLOOK

The warning on prices was one of several raised by the B of M in a review of the current business outlook.

However, it notes that Canada's economic conditions are continuing buoyant and that future prospects are good, with the strength of last year's business activity continuing "at a good pace" into this year.

In addition, plans for capital expenditure this year which already call for a substantial increase appear to have been revised upwards in recent months.

FUTHER EXPANSION

However, the B of M says "there is a real question whether any further sizable expansion in capital spending . . . could be achieved without causing considerable distortion." It points out that additional demands would be placed on already short supplies of certain categories of labour and materials, intensifying existing pressure on prices and costs, and that imports could rise strongly to meet heavy demand for machinery and equipment.

But the bank says that official forecasts of growth for 1965 will be easily achieved in current dollar terms, even without taking into account the possibility of a bumper grain harvest in the West. "However, the various uncertainties . . . suggest that some slowing down in real terms of the current rather heady rate of advance may be inevitable before too long, especially if overheating becomes clear enough to require a more positive degree of monetary restraint."

Farmyard Lawns

Lawns for the farmyard involve more considerations than residential lawns in town. This is so because of the variation in size and because water may or may not be available for sprinkling.

If water is available and a nice silt turf is desired in the vicinity of the house it is advisable to use only an approved lawn grass such as a variety of Kentucky Bluegrass or creeping red fescue. The only mixtures which can be recommended for southern Saskatchewan are those which contain the above two grasses. These lawn grasses must be broadcast seeded and raked in very shallowly so as to mix or distribute the seed in the top quarter-inch of soil. By keeping the surface wet for two weeks a good catch should result. Seeding rate need not exceed one pound of seed for each 400 square feet of area.

Dryland lawns or larger yards which will not be watered must be seeded to other grasses. They will not provide the same soft quality as the lawn grasses mentioned above, but they will at least survives and given a ice grass cover. The grasses recommended here are Streambank and wheat grass or Russian wild rye grass. Streambank wheat grass will give the smoothest cover and is drought tolerant, establishes early and needs little mowing. Russian wild rye grass has nice color, is not as smooth as the other, is very drought tolerant and holds its color well.

Either of these two dryland grasses should be drill seeded into the soil up to one inch deep at about 20 to 40 pounds per acre. It is advisable to cross seed these grasses to eliminate the row effect. Cuttings of lawn grasses should not be lower than two inches and should be done frequently. Cutting of the dryland grasses should be at about 3 inches and should not be done, or need not be done oftener than 3 or 4 times a season.

Lawn grasses and Russian wild rye grass are readily obtainable from a large number of commercial seed outlets. Streambank wheat grass is a ipreasnt in limited supply. The only present Saskatchewan source is Newfield Seeds at Nipawin.

In the current year Ottawa's share of the federal-provincial hospital insurance program will cost $484 million, an increase of 964 million over last year.

NOTICE

TO THE RATE PAYERS OF THE TOWN OF DAYSLAND AND DISTRICT

NOTICE OF BY-LAW 6 '65

Public notice is hereby given that there has been introduced in the Council of the Town of Daysland a by-law of which the following is a short synopsis:

Synopsis of BY-LAW No. G. 165

A. That the Municipal Council of the Town of Daysland be empowered to enter into a contract to construct a Community Hall for the Town of Daysland. The total cost of which has been estimated at approximately Seventy Thousand Dollars ($70,000.00).

B. That it is estimated Twenty-Three Thousand, Three Hundred Dollars ($23,300.00) of this amount will be raised through local contributions.

C. That for the purpose aforesaid the sum of Forty-Six Thousand, Seven Hundred Dollars ($46,700.00) be borrowed by way of debenture on the credit and security of the Town of Daysland at large, of which amount the sum of $46,700.00 to be paid by the Town at large.

D. That the period for repayment of the said debenture shall be 20 years.

E. The debentures issued shall bear on interest during the currency as a rate not exceeding 6% (six per cent) per annum. Principal and interest being combined and made payable as nearly as possible in equal annual instalments during the said 20 years.

A copy of the said By-Law No. G 165 may be seen in the Town Office, and further, that unless within thirty days from the publication of this notice five per cent or two hundred and fifty of the proprietory electors, whichever is the lesser, of the Town of Daysland petition the Council to submit such by law to the vote of the proprietory electors of the town the Council will proceed to consider and if it thinks fit, to pass the same.

If a vote is required it must receive approval of two thirds of the proprietory electors voting.

The above is a true synopsis of the proposed By-Law No. G 165 that has been introduced and that will be finally passed by the Council within four weeks from the assent of the Proprietory electors thereto, and

The day and the place fixed for taking the vote of the proprietory electors thereon and the hours during which the voting place will be open for such purpose shall be at the Elks Hall in Daysland on Tuesday the 7th day of September from 10 A.M. to 7 P.M.

Dated and posted this 13th day of August A.D. 1965.

Signed:
Wm. Hanrahan

Barbara Gascoyne Wed At Irma United Church

IRMA—On July 31th a quiet wedding at the Irma United Church united in marriage, Barbara Gascoyne, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gascoyne of Sedgewick, and Mr. Claude MacArthur, son of Mrs. Olive MacArthur of Irma. Rev. H. Inglis officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a white lace sheath dress, wedding ring hat and finger-tip veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of white and red flowers.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Barry Gascoyne, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Ramona Pendleton. Both were red chiffon with complimenting white hats and gloves.

Supporting the groom were Barry Gascoyne, and his brother Duncan MacArthur.

Following the ceremony a family reception was held at the home of the groom's mother.

The happy couple are making their home at Port St. John, where the groom is presently employed.

Doris York and Allan Sorensen Married At Killam Baptist Church

A lovely summer wedding took place in the Killam Baptist Church on Saturday, June 26, 1965 at 2:30 p.m. uniting Miss Doris York, only daughter of Mrs. Signe York and the late Mr. Jerome York of Killam, and Allan Sorensen, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sorensen of Wetaskiwin. Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Olav Pedersen. The candlelight ceremony was performed by Rev. Anton Grymalaski.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. W. T. Cotton, the bride looked lovely in a gown of corded silk pique de faille with round scooped neck line, empire waistline, elongated lace skirt with back bustle and long lily point sleeves. The shoulder length bouffant scalloped veil was held in place by a floral headpiece with crystal droplets. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses, ivy and sophanotis. Her only jewellery was a pearl dewdrop gift of the groom.

Miss Eleanor Sorensen, sister of the groom, was maid of honour and bridesmaids were Miss Esther Driedger and Miss Shirley Sternberg. They were dressed alike in floral-length gowns of tangerine crystal charm with matching shoes and headpieces. They were white elbow length gloves and carried one large white tea rose. Their jewellery consisted of pearls and earrings, gifts of the bride.

Miss Carol Wichman was organist. Pamela Bertrand was flower girl and was dressed similar to the attendants. She carried white roses and daisies.

Master Perry Lewis was ring bearer and was dressed in a tuxedo.

The groom and his attendants, Gordon Sorensen, Neil Bertrand, and Ronald Hakeland, were black tuxedos with ruffled lace accessories. Ushers were Larry Miller and Howard Pearson.

Miss James Gardner was soloist and Mrs. Walter Semanuk was violinist.

Candle lighters were Miss Ann Pedersen and Miss Valerie Sorenson.

The mother of the bride chose a turquoise lace two-piece dress with white accessories and a corsage of pink roses. The mother of the groom wore a beige tiered lace dress with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The altar was adorned with two large candelabras decorated with bellsage and white asters, and two large bouquets of orange and white gladioli. Candles and satin ribbon roses were placed in the window and on the piano and organ. The pews were marked with white satin bows and asiliman roses.

A reception for 175 guests followed in the Killam school auditorium, and was served by young people who were friends of the bride and groom. The bridal table was centered with a three-tier round wedding cake, baked by the mother of the bride and decorated with tallman roses.

Rev. Hans Mattsen, of Wetaskiwin, acted as M.C. The toast to the bride was proposed by Ralph Sorensen. Mrs. Doreen Johnson was in charge of the guest book. The program consisted of: ladies trios by Miss Jeanne Koch, Miss Kathy Koch and Carol Wickens; male quartet numbers by Gary Terbenin, Gordon Cowie, Dale Emerson, and Howard Pearson; soloist for the reception was Gordon Cowie, trombone soloist was Hugh Phillips; a duet by Mr. & Mrs. Morris Johnson and a piano solo by Mrs. James Gardner.

Out of town guests were from Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Armstrong, B.C., Calgary, Grande Prairie, Edmonton, Wetaskiwin and Camrose.

Telegrams were read from Lawsdale Nelson of Trepar, Assam, India, and Dr. and Mrs. J. Robertson of Edmonton.

For travelling the bride chose a blue tweed suit and matching hat with black accessories and a corsage of red roses.

Following a honeymoon at Waterton Lakes National Park, B.C., and Jasper, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sorensen will make their home in Calgary, Alberta.

Baptist Church

Following the regular Wednesday night prayer and Bible study the annual business meeting was held. Reports were given from the various departments of the Church. Among the business was a discussion regarding the proposed Evangelistic Services to be held late this fall. It was decided to write and see if and when a suitable date could be arranged with an evangelist.

The closing exercises of Daily Vacation Bible School were held on Friday night. A total of 123 children were enrolled and the children are already looking forward to vacation school again next year.

Rev. Grymalaski was in charge of the Sunday services.

Rev. and Mrs. Sykes, missionary appointees to Haiti, were present at the evening service and showed slides and told of the work there.

Congratulations to Betty and Cecil Lewis on the birth of a daughter.

Make Room For Progress
(By Bert Odland)

It doesn't take a Jules Verne to foresee that central air conditioning will be as much a part of the home of the future as a heating system is now. Thousands and thousands of homeowners have already decided that comfort during hot weather is just as important as comfort during cold weather. They already have central air conditioning. Thousands more are preparing for it. So can you.

Now? Simply by making sure that you have the right kind of heating system. If you are building, or remodeling, it will cost very little more to plan the heating system with cooling in mind.

That calls for a forced air heating system, with properly sized ducts. It takes a furnace with a blower designed with air conditioning in mind. You can even get a step forward put in as an empty cooling coil. Then simply add the "works" inside the cabinet when your budget permits. (Of course, the entire year around system can be installed all at once, too, with only a slight increase in the monthly payment.) If your present heating system is in good condition, chances are that it can be adapted to summertime cooling at a big saving to you.

By planning for air conditioning now (all through the house, not just a couple of rooms) You'll be making room for progress . . . for comfort and for better health. We have the famous Lennox equipment to do the job. Call for a free estimate.

When The Well Leaks Dry

Ever had your water cut off? It happened to us the other day. And that rather vulgar expression, along with an odder one, "You never miss the water till the well runs dry", resumed new meaning.

My wife's dad, a 110-pound strip of whipcord with one arm, suddenly got sick, one of the few times in his life. We lit out for the homestead to lend a hand, while he was in hospital.

Everything went fine until about 11 p.m., when we decided to have a cup of tea before retiring. A trickle came out of the tap, and stopped.

My father-in-law is one of that vanishing species of rural dweller who, besides being able to tell the weight of a cattle-beast and know when it's going to rain, is a carpenter-bricklayer-plumber-millwright. He could build a bridge across the St. Lawrence with some wire, a plank or two, a shovel, an iron bar, and a couple of tin cans.

In contrast, I am one of that rapidly-increasing breed that couldn't build a bridge across a trout stream with 200 tons of steel, eight carloads of cedar planks, twelve bulldozers and six civil engineers.

So there I was. Grandded in the hospital. And me out there on the ranch, with no water supply, and three women on my hands, each of whom evidently had a use for tubbed and had a feverish thirst.

I tried to imbue them with the old pioneer spirit, when you had to walk two miles to the spring for water, through thickets of black bears. They were not impressed. All they wanted to do was go to the bathroom.

I went down the cellar, and looked desperately around. There were switches and pumps and hot-water tanks and cold-water tanks, and pipes running in every conceivable combination. Don't sneer, Mac. Do you know the ins and outs of a pressure system?

Granny started to panic about the hot-water tank blowing up. I remembered some fuses. The first plunged the house into darkness. The second put the refrigerator out of order (which we discovered next morning.) I pulled a switch. The furnace went on.

I poured at pumps, gazed at gauges, then I pronounced, "the well's gone dry." It was the only thing I could think of, and at midnight, who was going to argue? Granny came up with some bilge-lore about priming the pump, but I assured her the modern electric pumps didn't need priming. We went to bed, disgruntled, and thirsty as explorers of the great Gobi desert.

Bright and early, the plumber arrived. He said the first thing to do was put on the coffee. He poured 3½ imperials full of water down the pipe. I held the flashlight. No results. Female relatives, looking a bit frantic, peered down the cellar stairs about every four minutes. In the old days, there'd have been a two-holer within range. But these modern farm homes have everything. Except an outdoor privy.

Eight hours and many dollars later, we had: five men on the job; torn up a great chunk of the lawn with a digger; found the well; pulled up 70 feet of plastic pipe; all the households in the neighborhood establishments in town; and found the trouble.

Nope, the well wasn't dry. It was almost overflowing from all those ten-pots of water poured in. Nope. The pipes hadn't burst. Yup. There was something stuck under the foot-valve. One of the legs had broken off the poppet, a 60-cent item, and had prevented the jet in the foot-valve from jetting, and the pump was pumping air. Now, is that clear? If it isn't, hold your peace. That's what the man said.

And it certainly helped me decide what I'm going to do in summer holidays from now on. I'm going to pick up a bunch of flat-legged poppets and go around the country helping people whose water has been cut off. Just give me a call.

Camrose, Alta.

Hello Homemakers!

It is with great pleasure and anticipation that I write my first newscolumn to the homemakers of the Camrose and Flagstaff Districts. I am very pleased to be here as your Home Economist. I am sincerely looking forward to meeting and working with each and every one of you. Please call in or phone in to our office if you have any questions or problems concerning all aspects of homemaking — clothing, management, food, interior decorating, laundering, baymanship; to mention a few.

RICE IS NICE IN SUMMER SALADS

Tired of cold potato and macaroni salads this summer? Here is the answer for you. A Tossed Rice Bowl—that's right, a salad made with rice! You'll find it a welcome addition to those outdoor meals. Simply toss together 1-1/2 cups cold cooked rice, (10-ounce) can well-drained bean sprouts, 1 cup cubed cheese and any amount of radishes, cucumber, celery, parsley, green onion and green pepper that you like. Mix the dressing combine 1 cup mayonnaise and 1 teaspoon soy sauce. Add the dressing to the salad just at serving time and toss lightly.

KEEP AN EYE ON WHAT YOUR TEENAGERS EAT

Teenagers seem to be hungrier than ever at informal, outdoor meals. In spite of this, recent surveys show that a large percentage of our teenagers have poor eating habits. These studies have shown that the teenage girl is the poorest member of the whole family and teenage boys are a close second. Calcium and Vitamin C are most often found lacking in their diets so those young people don't drink enough milk or eat enough fresh fruit and vegetables. It appears the teenage favours food high in sugar and fat and these often replace the foods that contain the much needed protein, minerals and vitamins.

Outdoor meals provide a wonderful opportunity to improve your youngsters eating habits, especially with the abundance of fresh dairy foods, fruits and vegetables available this now. Include lots of milk drinks, hot and cold cream soups, cottage cheese salads in those meals, and serve trays of fresh fruit and cheese for dessert rather than something sweet. You'll soon find it easy to get the right foods into your teenager's diet.

DRESS UP THAT FRUIT SALAD

One of the benefits of summer is the abundance of fresh crisp fruit. What other time of year can we look the price tag right in the eye and take home a bagful of these sensuous people with complete ease of conscience?

Whether you arrange the fruit in attractive bowls for nibbling or serve it for lunch or dessert in fruit salads or plates, it is always a family favourite.

Here is a "piece de resistance" to top those fruit creations—Banana Cream Dressing. Simply combine 2 large bananas that have been completely mashed, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 2 tablespoons each of brown sugar and honey. Beat 1/2 cup whipping cream until stiff and fold in the banana mixture. This delicious topping isn't patient about waiting so prepare it as close to serving time as possible; but you'll find it well worth the last minute effort.

ROCKETTES NEW ALTA. CHAMPS

Lougheed Girls Win Easily In Playoff

LOUGHEED—Last weekend the Lougheed Rochettes won the Alberta Junior Girls Fastball Championship by winning in a double knockout series with South Calgary and Fort St. John, B.C.

Rochettes had already captured the Northern Alberta Title for the third time, having previously won it in 1962, and 1964, and were ready out to get the big one that had eluded them in other years. In fact this is the first time the provincial championship has ever been won by a team not from one of the major cities in Alberta.

The two day series was played on the new fastball diamond just recently completed at the Lougheed Sports Grounds and drew a large crowd that was thrilled to watch the local girls finally defeat their two opponents for the championship.

South Calgary had won the Southern Alberta Title while Fort St. John Cancilleton had the Far Northern Zone.

First game of the series was between Calgary and Lougheed at 4:30 p.m. on Saturday with the Rockettes out scoring the Southerners 11 to 2.

In the second Saturday game Calgary was over Fort St. John by a 11 to 6 score.

At 11:00 a.m. on Sunday morning the Rockettes took the field against Fort St. John and defeated them 11 to 6 thereby forcing the Northern team out of the series with Two Defeats.

Lougheed and Calgary were set to fight it out with the Calgary team needing two wins to eliminate the hometowners. This proved to a hopeless task as the locals hammered to a 15 to 0 win and the Alberta Championship.

Members of the Lougheed players had prepared dinner for the three teams and it was served to them in the Lougheed Community Hall after which the visitors departed for home in the case of the Fort St. John team was an eleven hour drive.

To show that the big win was no accident, Rochettes coach Conrad Ingvaldson told us that the girls had scored 325 runs this year while only giving up 75. The team batting average is .446 for the year. Also the average age of the team is only 16.8 years while provincial rules allow players up to 20 years of age. This is a young team and you can look for them to be strong again next year.

United Church Lakeside Service

Members and friends of the Sedgewick-Lougheed-Meeting United Churches will gather for an outdoor service at Hardisty Lake United Church Camp this Sunday, August 22nd, at 2:00 p.m. Special quartet numbers have been arranged by the Sedgewick Choir. The service will begin with the singing of favorite gospel hymns. A special offering will be received and forwarded to the Christian Leadership Training School at Naramata, B.C. Following the service the worshippers will enjoy a picnic and weiner roast. In case of unfavourable weather, the service will be held in the main lodge of the camp.

SUNSHINE CLUB

HARDISTY—The annual meeting of the Sunshine Club was held August 4 at the home of Mrs. E. Elm. 13 members and 2 guests were in attendance. The roll call guess was won by Mrs. H. Fleber. After the reading of the minutes, the annual report was given. The secretary guess on the amount in the Lougheed bank was given by Mrs. B. Kells and won her the hostess prize. Mrs. M. Patterson won the monthly raffle which was a novel pin cushion. The club will not hold meetings during Sept. and Oct. due to the busy season. The Nov. meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. Sabee. The election of officers were as follows: Pres.-Mrs. A. McShane; Sec.-Mrs. E. Lawson. Vice-Pres.-Mrs. E. Elm. Social committee-Mrs. L. Kells and Mrs. E. Elm.

There were 12 members joined the club for the coming year.

At the close of the meeting a lunch was enjoyed by all present.

LOCAL TEACHER LARRY HARRIS AT BANFF COURSE

Larry Harris of Kilsam will be among 210 teachers who will go back to the books for the week of August 15th at the Banff School of Fine Arts. Mr. Harris will be making an intensive study of leadership problems of his professional association, a special course, which is financed by The Alberta Teachers' Association. This particular course, one of four at the conference, makes a close examination of activities of locals and conventions, membership involvement in long-range planning of the Association, the relationship of locals to the executive council, the role of the local in professional development. Emphasis will be placed on how to make the teacher conventions more useful to education. The guest consultant for this course is Dr. A. W. Wolpert, Director, Urban Areas Project, National Education Association, Washington. Miss L. Jean Scott of Edmonton, immediate past president of the ATA, is course director, and F. W. Hoskyn, provincial vice-president of the ATA, is consultant.

The aim of this Seventeenth Annual Conference at Banff is to give teachers attending the courses guidance in improving educational leadership in their profession.

Mr. Harris will be reporting to the Kilsam local association on his return from Banff.

EDMONTON HOSTS CWNA CONVENTION

Canada's biggest newspaper convention, the annual assembly of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association opened Wednesday, August 18 at the Macdonald Hotel in Edmonton.

More than 300 weekly newspaper editors and publishers, many with their wives and families along, are expected to attend the three-day convention.

The convention will have a Klondike Days theme and non-business on the agenda includes a Klondike party and an outdoor barbecue.

Major speakers at the convention will be Alberta's Premier E.C. Manning who will be speaker at an opening-day luncheon sponsored by the province, and Robert Shaw, deputy commissioner of EXPO '67, who will speak at luncheon on the closing day. Main business item will be the proposed joining of Canadian Community Newspapers Representatives, the weekly advertising sales organization with the CWNA.

Hardisty Definitely To Have New Medical Center Soon

HARDISTY—At a meeting in the Hardisty Arena last Thursday evening it was definitely decided to go ahead with the planned clinic for the town of Hardisty.

Plans for a clinic first started with the Hardisty Stampede Association about two years ago and early this year a committee was set up to investigate the project.

A canvass of the district has been going on for some time and the meeting was told that about 75% of the total cost had been raised and it was now considered feasible to go ahead.

The site for the clinic has been picked at the north end of main street on the site of the old curling rink and a tentative floor plan laid out.

A ten member Board of Directors was elected from the meeting and they will set up building, finance, and other committees from their members.

Weather Boosts Attendance 42nd Annual Lougheed Fair

LOUGHEED—Attendance at the 42nd. annual Lougheed Agricultural Fair last Wednesday was the largest in recent years and many of the people were giving part of the credit to the weather, Tuesday evening it had rained in varying amounts throughout the district and this had put everyone in a happy mood. The weather on Fair Day was very warm.

The Weather probably did play its part but most of the credit must go to the people who have worked very hard in recent years to build the fair up and also to the effort that has been made to improve the Sports Grounds at Lougheed. First the new curling rink and now almost over night, two new ball diamonds and a new booth.

A new baseball diamond has been built during the past few weeks and although a tremendous amount of work had been done, the diamond wasn't yet ready for a tournament, so the baseball was limited to one game between Sedgewick and Lougheed with the hometowners Whitecats winning 7 to 5 in nine innings.

Softball

In the Ladies Softball Tournament the Brownfield team defeated Hardisty in the first game. Hardisty then went on to win over Lougheed by default when one Lougheed player was injured and they couldn't field a team. In the finals Brownfield once again defeated Hardisty to win top prize.

Exhibits

Number of exhibits was much the same as last year with more in some classes and fewer in others. A larger number of exhibits were entered in horses, grains, grasses, vegetables, flowers, and junior work, while cattle, and needlework were down. Other classes remained about the same.

Following is the number of exhibits in each class. Horses 44, Cattle 32, Calves 7, Poultry 6, Grains and Grasses 88, Vegetables 183, Flowers 95, Preserved Fruits and Veg. 50, Baking 176, Needlework 111, Junior Handiwork 35, Junior Baking 17, School Work 80, 4-H Thematic Display 3.

WIN SILVER TRAY—L. Arntzen and Sons won the Bank of Montreal Silver Tray given at the Lougheed Fair for the two best beef females under two year old. Mr. Ernie Sarauski presented the tray to Harold and Gordon Arntzen, sons of Ludvik Arntzen of Sedgewick.

BRINGING BACK THE PAST—The exhibits of the annual Lougheed Fair hold last week drew large crowds of people and one of the most popular was the exhibit of antiques from the early days of the district. The items displayed were brought in for the fair by local people who have preserved them over the years.

Viking Editor Writes "30" To Long Career!

Alberta, the Weekly Newspaper Association and a large number of fellow publishers have suffered a loss in the passing of H. G. "Tun" Thunnel, long-time editor and publisher of the Viking News and the Irma Times. It was as a youngster that I first recall my father talking about and visiting with "Tun" who came from the U. S. A. to strike out in business for himself in 1913. Too young then to appreciate the qualities of the trade that Tun had acquired, a friendship grew between us as fellow publishers and close neighbors, and it was often that we traded the little courtesies of assistance. As a past president of the Alberta Weekly Newspaper Asso., and an active participant in its affairs as well as the Dominion Asso., Tun accumulated a wide circle of friends and admirers among the publishing fraternity. The Viking News won awards under his directorship for the excellency of production and played no small part in the development and expansion of the local community. We feel the loss, not only of a fellow publisher, but of a neighbor and friend with whom we often visited and swapped tales of the development of the printing industry. The Community Press extends its condolences to the family, and best wishes to son "Bob" who carries on the business.

★ MACDUFF REPORT

Wilderness Leases

OTTAWA — Arthur Laing is a square-jawed, stubborn man who enjoys a scrap when he is certain in his own mind that the principle for which he stands is the right one.

In two years as Canada's Minister of Northern Affairs and National Resources he has probably collected more enemies than friends. There have been repeated public demands for his removal from the Cabinet, coming from as widely separated spots as Quebec and Alberta. Even his own colleagues admit privately that Art Laing is a difficult man to work with, mainly because he isn't given to the kind of compromise by which the Pearson Government has managed to survive two years in a minority position.

The most notable example has been Mr. Laing's refusal to transfer Quebec Eskimos to the tender mercies of the Provincial Government without consulting the Eskimos themselves.

Whatever the eventual outcome of this dispute, the fact that Laing fought Quebec's formidable Rene Levesque to a standstill in the earlier stages added some lustre to his name in parts of the country which were not charmed by the general performance of the Pearson Government.

But Laing's most recent battle was not with the Quebeckers but with the indignant residents of the national parks strung along the Alberta side of the Rocky Mountains.

These parks, chiefly Banff and Jasper, originated more than eighty years ago when newly-built railways first made it possible for somebody besides fur-traders and mounted policemen to visit the unspoiled wilderness..

The idea was to keep the wilderness unspoiled and it wasn't too hard in the leisurely days of the railway era when the travellers arrived in a trickle and were prepared to spend considerable sums for posh quarters in the railway hotels.

But the car brought democracy to the parks and the trickle became a flood of visitors, many of them with a back seat full of children and a tent on top, looking for some cheap places to park and set up housekeeping for their two weeks with pay. And there's no end in sight. So far this year, 156,000 more people have visited Banff and 38,000 more people have gone into Jasper than in the same period in 1964.

Alvin Hamilton and Walter Dinsdale, when they sat in Laing's seat during Conservative days, felt the pressure but in the past two years it has become intense. And it all centres around one question. Can we preserve the wilderness unspoiled and, at the same time meet the insatiable demand for service from the visitors who, after all are the Canadians for whom the parks were set aside.

Laing leans to the wilderness idea which demands tight controls over developments within the parks — tighter in fact than in the past when the sheer pressure of people was less. This has brought him into conflict with business interests and residents within the parks.

The latest series of mass meetings in Jasper and Banff were fired off by a new type of lease now offered to people who want to build on crown land in the park townsites. Instead of the old type—42 years renewable in perpetuity—the new lease expires in 42 years and any buildings on the land revert to the crown.

The park people thought at first

30 YEARS AGO

(From Press Files August 22, 1935)

Social Credit swept the province in today's provincial election winning an assured 55 seats and ending the 14 year regime of the United Farmers. Mr. Wm. Aberhart will be the new Alberta Premier.

It is reported that 67 people from Lougheed attended the movie show in Killam last week.

A number of farmers in the Daysland district are busy cutting what grain is left after the hail and frost have done their work. Cutting will be general in this district by the middle of next week.

Pupils of the Killam School are requested to report for the opening of school on Tuesday, Sept. 3rd. The Willow Hollow School will re-open the same day with Miss Florence Gibb as teacher.

The Federal race is on with voting on Monday Oct. 14th. For the first time there are four major parties fighting it out—Conservatives, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, Liberals, and Reconstructionists.

20 YEARS AGO

(From Press Files August 21, 1945)

A mixed Men's and Ladies Softball Tourney was held at Sedgewick on August 15 with 10 men's teams and 5 ladies competing for the top honors. The day was ideal and the fact that V-J Day was announced at the same time helped to swell the big crowd.

A happy crowd of folks gathered at the Killam Fair Grounds on Tuesday evening to celebrate V-J Day. A huge bonfire was the centre of attraction.

Mr. Len Hergott has been transferred to the Calgary Head Office of Pioneer Grain Co. Martin Brick will again be the buyer in Strome.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Haynes who have had the hotel in Sedgewick for over thirty years, have sold the business to Mr. Herman and will be leaving for the coast.

10 YEARS AGO

(From Press Files August 20, 1955)

Alberta hunters will be happy to know that the hunting season has been extended this year and that bag limits are up. This year you can shoot 10 ducks and 5 geese daily.

The Farmers Union held a picnic at Meiforce on Sunday and it was a huge success, with bidden races, picnic lunches and free ice cream.

We see Dave Walmsley belabring around with a sprained ankle. Softball didn't used to be that tough a game.

Anyone visiting the Hardisty Cemetery will be amazed at the amount of much needed improvement that has taken place, for which the town is footing the bill.

Neville Davis, Jon Cameron and Barry Cancoryan were the three district flunks who left Saturday night to attend the World Jamboree at Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ontario.

Stampede Assn. Annual Trail Ride, Bar - B - Q

The Hardisty Stampede Assn. held their annual Trail Ride and Barbecue at the river on Sunday.

Mrs. Kathy Vandewark had as guests her sister and brother-in-law and family, Mr. and Mrs. W. McLaughlin of New Brunswick.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bather and boys of Edmonton and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Morgan of Calgary visited with the Gerald McShanes. Mrs. Morgan is Mrs. McShane's sister.

Mrs. Helen Kirkpatrick of Edmonton spent a few days with Mrs. Maggie Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Kitchen were visitors in the Hamrid last week.

Marilyn Lubens was hostess at a shower for Judy Johnsrud on Monday evening in the United Church basement. Seated with the bride-to-be were her mother Mrs. Ing Johnsrud, Sandra Gregory of Provost and the mother and sister of the groom-to-be, Mrs. Thompson. Those assisted in pouring the gifts as they were opened. After the opening of the gifts and a gracious thank-you from Judy, contests and music were enjoyed, a delicious lunch served and the marriage to Ron Schlosser of Hughenden took place on August 14th.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Hill and family of Viking were visitors at the Arne Rusk and Rebee homes, after a holiday in Banff and Calgary.

Mrs. R. J. Harrison entertained on Wednesday evening at her home at the Lake. A number of birthdays, belated and otherwise, were noted, and a farewell gift was given Mrs. Ken Drever on behalf of the U.C.W. The delicious lunch included a birthday cake with candles.

Jack Anderson, Lee Walker and Art Woyen motored to Jasper on Friday for a weekend of golf.

Roger Hutchinson was a caller at the home of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. B. Matthews on Thursday, enroute from Ottawa to his home at Dalhousie.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hummel are enjoying a vacation at Jasper.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Elmquist had as guests their cousins from the State of Washington.

Rosemary Maddock is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. C. Nay at Sabo Beach and Miche Hot Springs.

We are glad to see Fred Prange home from hospital. He returned from Edmonton on Friday with Shani and Bette.

Among out-of-town guests at the Jessie Powell wedding were, Miss Bonnie Sampson of Camrose; Mr. R. L. Sampson of Red Deer; and Mrs. Don Brooks and Laura, Mr. and Mrs. D. Roggeveen of Edmonton; Alex Elmquist of Wilkie; Mrs. Shirley Mandeah and Elaine of Fort Saskatchewan; Mr. Fay Sampson of Calgary; Mrs. Guy Sampson, Mrs. June Sampson and girls of Camrose; Miss Janet Klink of North Battleford; Mr. and Mrs. C. May of Sabo Beach; Mr. and Mrs. L. Bethune, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Baumgartner of Wainwright, and several carloads from Wainwright.

A. P. Crop Report

GENERAL—In the northeastern half of Alberta, good to heavy showers have provided ample moisture to complete filling the heads. In this area very good crops are now in prospect, but hot dry weather is needed to harden generally later crops. Combining of Winter Wheat and Rye is increasing fairly general in the northeastern half of the province only light scattered showers were received and crops in many parts of this area are beginning to suffer. Rain is urgently needed to restore good prospects. There are some reports of rust, but damage is difficult to assess at present. In the Peace River district crops are progressing rapidly and some early barley is being cut. Prospects remain favorable except in the northern portion where crops will be only fair to light.

MacDuff Report

this would mean confiscation of the taxpayers' money without compensation. But later Mr. Laing told them the Federal Government would pay for multi-purpose dams from general revenue at the end of the lease period.

He still had to face a storm of criticism at a recent meeting held in Ottawa although the earlier demand for his resignation was all but withdrawn. But Laing proved his fighting quality by facing his accusers and forcing them to use the kind of language they had used earlier when they described his tactics as "filibustering".

There were no takers. In fact the meeting turned out to be surprisingly mild after Laing had joked a few of the group's leaders by jumping into their set-piece speech with tough rebuttals.

But the battle is far from over. Supporters of the "unspoiled wilderness" concept and the "developers" as money hungry profiteers and speculators eager to ruin the mountain horizon with hotels, motel and rock and roll dance palaces. And the developers see the wilderness people as living in the gracious, spacious days of Queen Victoria instead of the 1970's.

Mr. Laing's new type of leases are part of this picture because they lead to long control of the recreation mess firmly in the hands of the Federal Government. He says there is no sharp break with the past because the Tory Government had caused giving perpetual leases seven years ago. And he is ready to cite instances where leases which brought a pittance into the public treasury have fattened the speculators.

But Laing himself is determined to change one aspect of the handling of park property which is a dangerous from a more leisurely age. This is the fact that all changes in leases must be approved by the Minister himself, a fact which makes him automatically the target for pressure. He is reportedly planning to set up a new crown corporation so the government can deal with park tenants at arms length. But Laing isn't kidding himself that this will end the controversy or the battles which seem to boil up regularly.

Huge Sale Of Wheat Big Boost For Farmers

The Canadian Wheat Board announced today the sale of 4.6 million tons of wheat and 450 thousand tons of wheat in the form of flour to the U.S.S.R. This sale amounts to the equivalent of approximately 187 million bushels of wheat.

The wheat and flour have been purchased for cash, and delivery is to be made during the period August, 1965 to July, 1966 inclusive. Shipment of the entire quantity will be made from St. Lawrence River Ports and Canadian Atlantic Ports.

This contract is in addition to the sale of 700 thousand tons of wheat and 30,000 tons of flour to the U.S.S.R. announced on August 5th and to smaller contract quantities announced earlier this year but for shipment during the period August —December, 1965. In total, purchases of wheat from Canada by the U.S.S.R. for delivery in the current crop year now amount to approximately 222 million bushels.

Representatives of Exportkhleb will be in Winnipeg this week to complete the necessary commercial contracts with export agents of the Canadian Wheat Board and the Canadian milling companies for the quantities of wheat and flour involved in this sale.

DOUG GIBB OF KILLAM IS 4-H WINNER

Provincial 4H Eliminations were held in Olds early in August. Doug Gibb, one of five representing 4-H Clubs in the M.D. of Flagstaff, was a winner this year. Doug will be taking the 18-day expense-paid trip to National 4H Conference at Ottawa and Toronto this fall. Congratulations Doug.

FALL TILLAGE OF STUBBLE!

Fall tillage of fields that are to be summerfallowed is no longer recommended in southern Alberta where less the weed growth is no severe it cannot be chemically controlled. If tillage is necessary for weed control it should be done with a wide blade cultivator that will leave the stubble standing to catch snow.

D. T. Anderson of the Lethbridge Research Station has found that to conserve moisture, it is important to leave stubble standing to catch the snow. In the fall of 1959 stubble was left standing on one plot. Another one was worked with a wide blade cultivator. Then a third was worked with a one-way disc.

In the spring of 1961 the moisture was greatest in plots worked with the wide blade cultivator or where there had been no tillage at all. Moisture reserves were lowest in the other two because the stubble had been mulched down so that it didn't catch the snow.

Growing season precipitation at Lethbridge was about two inches below normal during 1961 and the spring of 1962 was also very dry. According to D. L. Anderson, the moisture deficiency resulting from the fall tillage of 1960 was carried right through to the growing season of 1962. The two plots yielded about four bushels per acre less than on those where the stubble was left standing. Whether a farmer plans to summerfallow the next year, or seed his stubble, it is important to kill weeds. But it is equally important to keep stubble standing to catch the snow.

GROWING TOMATOES WITHOUT SOIL!

Researchers are getting up to 3 times normal yield by growing greenhouse tomatoes in a sand-and-peat mixture rather than in soil at the CDA's Experimental Farm on Vancouver Island. The mixture is three parts pitrun sand and 1 part humicel or Douglas Fir sawdust. The plants are fed and watered simultaneously through perforated hoses laid along the rows.

Yields in the project have been running at about 12 pounds of fruit per plant. Average yields in the area are from 5 to 7 pounds per plant.

By turning on a tap one man can water and feed the entire crop in a few of greenhouses each 100 feet long and 20 feet wide.

Commercial fertilizers are mixed in solution and metered out by hose proportioners. Water is brought in from the roof and flows through the hose proportioners to carry the food to the tomatoes.

"The soil fleas and aerial worms rather than soil? R. M. Adamson, who is in charge of the project, explains:

"The soil fleas are used for the growing of tomatoes in greenhouses in our area have become infested with soil fleas and aerial worms disease. And generally speaking the soils are too heavy for tomatoes. By switching to sand-sawdust we overcame the disease problem while at the same time giving the tomatoes a better medium in which to grow. Also the lends itself very well to use of labor-saving equipment."

Mr. Adamson says there is no reason why the same growing system could not be adapted to commercial tomatoes growing in greenhouses here in Alberta except that the Victoria area is already trying the new method.

Quality of the fruit appears to be just as good from the sand-sawdust mixture as from tomatoes grown in regular soil.

SUGAR AND SPICE
by Bill Smiley

HOW, BACK TO WORK . . .

Some people say to me, "It must be quite a chore writin' that there column every week."

The only difficulty is getting started. Tonight is column night. Midnight is the deadline. I sat down at the typewriter at 6:30, as I'd have lots of time to watch TV after I wrote the column. I started quietly until 8:30. Very quietly. No noisy typewriter.

Posted our printing sheet with instructions: Boss, "Sugar and Spice, by Bill Smiley", at the top. Threw it in contributor. Decided to make plan to relieve mental constipation. Then had a beer. Smelling magazines for tomorrow's perhaps, maybe some fascinating article on Procrastination in the Middleages. Made Hobart Kim get vitamin concoction in French here. Mowed water sprinkler on lawn. Whipped up two more beers. Then remembered gang, The Fugitive is still running. Or rerunning.

It's now 10:36. Time to get cracking. But maybe I'll just answer a few letters, to get in the writing mood. There's nothing that cheers me up and inspires me like reading the warm and friendly notes from column readers.

Here's a nice fat one. Six pages, small writing. From Miss Ima Wegman, "Dear Mr. Smiley: Oh, you poor little pygmy! My heart bleeds for you." Woops. Let's go to the next paragraph. "Now, after having sorry for yourself and your fellow males, for males they are not and not MEN, wake up and face reality." Uh, maybe we'll leave that on till tomorrow.

Here's one that looks friendlier. From a lady who says it's not for publication. Just a quote: "There's not a women in the world who doesn't consider that her old man is the dope of the earth." Well! Really!

This one sounds better. "Dear Bill: I'll call you Bill instead of Mr. It's friendlier, seeing I always thought of you as a friend, that is until your recent column in which you were lambasting women."

By George, a bad week. Here's Linda Allen taking me down a few pegs for bouching the Beatles. She has one self wrong, I love it me, too. I have to, in self-preservation, or I'd go shooting mad every time I drive by the car with me likes on it.

Let's see. Here's a letter addressed to me, by Gwen Scrotzky. Good old Gwen. Says she's really like my column. She's written about 1,000 words.

Hey, this is pretty good. She's commenting on a recent column in which I suggested that summerfallowers had gone to pot, while men are the purest unadult. gallant gentlemen left on the farms. Quote Gwen's day. Gwen says: "I wonder if Cleopatra ever had to drive one of her chariots. Imma bet in a period after one of those Roman parties. There would be no advantage to a chariot with over-zealous jockeys. I would get more air while sprawled in the gutter myself than the modern maids does when his wife is driving home from a party and he has to hang his head out the window." Hmmm.

Talk about lambasting. I'm not sure I've been lambasted. I agree that men hasn't changed much since Caesar's day; I really don't think they've changed a lot. It's against their moral code to pick up, wear, or like pieces of clothing. This species of human manages to contradict itself more than any other species. Generalizing . . . Nobody is, was, or ever could be, so sick as a man with a cold".

Then there's a bit more in the same vein, so well written it's like listening to my own while. But I haven't time to sympathize with Mr. Scrotzky right now. I have a column to write.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our husband and father who passed away August 13th, 1961.
The stars will shine forever
On a lonely mans grave,
Where always our loving thoughts
Where we linger but could not save.
Do not ask if we miss him.
There is such an empty space,
All we have are memories
Of his lovely human face.
God knows how much we loved him.
For more than we can say.
There's an awful ache within our hearts
That years cannot take away.

DAYSLAND NEWS

The Daysland Auction Mart will be opening under new management on August 27th. The managers will be Bill Checkel auctioneer and Lionel Troyer.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Dolasz and family returned Tuesday after spending some time in the U.S.A. and the west coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hanrahan and family returned home on Thursday after spending some time out at the coast.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. P. Gartner on the arrival of their baby boy.

Dr. and Mrs. Reist left on Saturday for a holiday to the coast.

Mrs. Agnes Miller returned home on Thursday after spending three weeks with her sister Mrs. Kuntz in Edmonton.

You travel freely now between the two countries. We signed no papers, declared nothing going or coming. In fact they didn't even take our names or our license number.

Down South they still don't like our money—the paper stuff that is. They want our silver though. Seems there's a shortage of that coin. Getting back to the local crop situation. We predicted harvest before September 1st, only to get back home and find it already in progress. Looks like an early harvest and good returns.

P.S.—School re-opens in less than three weeks.

Ramblin Round

Any time you think the tourist trade isn't big business, visit Banff, Jasper or Radium Hot Springs during the summer. Accomodation is at a premium. Tuesday is the big thing today as most Motels are pricing themselves out of patrons.

We just returned from a week of mingling with the rich and the poor in various sections of the West, and learned that wherever you go, it's the same struggle and problems, fun and boredom.

The one big thing that impresses is that there are no better farming areas anywhere than right here at home. The best crops in the West are right here.

At Benner's Ferry in Meeke we parked overtime and should have had a ticket. Instead we found a note informing us that the city Business Men's Assn. had fed the one-armed bandit for us; also wishing us a happy holiday. Makes you feel pretty good, in our magnanimity we donated a nickel to the Civic Improvement Fund. Sort of a lend-lease affair.

CARE IN HARVESTING MALTING BARLEY

Mechanical damage to barley, during harvesting, frequently results in peeled kernels which are undesirable for malting purposes.

It will pay to take every precaution to see that barley intended for malting is harvested at the right stage, is properly swathed so as to permit complete drying and maturing, and is carefully threshed so as to avoid the peeling and breaking of kernels.

OBITUARY

MRS. WILDA HEARTBURG

Mrs. Wilda Heartberg quietly slipped away from those who loved her here in Killam on Saturday, July 31st, after a short illness.

Born Wilda Edna Leslie Johnson on a farm in Ontario Saturday, August 3rd, 1878, she came to Canada in 1905. She was united in marriage with Joseph Heartberg the same year. After residing on a farm near Sedgewick for 30 years they retired and moved into town in 1945, where she lived until her passing. She was predeceased by her loving husband in 1951.

Surviving are two sons, Henry of New Jersey and Heartley of Sedgewick; three daughters, Mabel (Mrs. H. Kemp) of Ontario, Esther (Mrs. J. O. Johnson) of Ponoka, and Margaret (Mrs. L. Marchand) of Edmonton; seven surviving grandchildren, a sister Ruth in Sweden, and a great number of friends.

Memorial services were held on Thursday, August 3rd from the Elim Baptist Church with Rev. A. Grymaloski officiating, and interment was in the Sedgewick Cemetary. Pallbearers were, Andy Gibson, Donald Sorenson, Ralph Sorenson, Nels Edney, Bill Cotton and Harry Munro.

Besides the lovely floral tributes, many memorials were given, most of which were directed to the Memorial Fund of the Killam Baptist Church, where Mrs. Heartberg had been a faithful member for so many years.

The D. Kinnars have moved into the Eklund house, and the R. Elkners have moved into the house vacated by the LaGasse family.

WEDDING BELLS

BULMER — ZWICKER

The lattice of the green officiated when Judith Diane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Bulmer of Athabasca, and Richard Granville, son of Rev. and Mrs. W. G. Zwicker of Hardisty, were united in marriage. The double-ring ceremony took place in Robertson United Church, Edmonton, on July the first.

The bride was charming in a floor-length gown of white crepe, designed on empire lines, with a cathedral veil, and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Her attendants, Mrs. John Richel, Mrs. Dry Edmonder, and Miss Linda Zwicker, wore street length dresses in white linen and lace and carried pink and white sheaths daisies. Diane Bulmer, sister of the bride was a dainty flower girl in her pink frock with a bouquet of daisies.

Barrie Zwicker, of Toronto, brother of the groom, acted as best man, and ushers were John Richel and John Cranston, friends of the bridegroom. Mrs. J. Appleby rendered two beautiful solos—"The Lord's Prayer", and "The Wedding Prayer".

For the occasion the bride's mother chose a gown in turquoise chiffon and lace, with a flowered turban and white accessories. The mother of the groom wore a pale green linen dress and matching coat, with organza hat and white accessories. Both were corsages of white carnations.

A reception followed at the Mayflower Banquet Room. Master Richel proposed the toast to the bride, and telegrams of congratulation were read from various distant points. The Northern Revellers Orchestra provided music for the evening.

Out-of-town guests were present from Toronto, Victoria, Calgary, Athabasca, Red Deer, Saskatoon, Ponoka, Viking, Hardisty, Hanna, Thorhild, Bruderheim, Mayerthorpe and Hardisty.

After a brief honeymoon, the happy couple will make their home in Edmonton, where both are employed.

Presbyterian Assn.

KILLAM—Mrs. Harold Grant was hostess for the August meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies association with 14 members and one visitor in attendance.

The meeting opened with the devotional period conducted by Mrs. Amy Robinson and Mrs. Harold Grant. The opening hymn was 462 followed by prayer. An interesting vacation topic was taken by Mrs. H. J. Grant. Devotions closed with hymn 768 followed by the Lords Prayer.

The business Meeting opened with roll call followed by reading of the minutes.

The visiting committee report many hospital and home calls gifts of fruit and flowers and remembrances to young people who were married.

An interesting report on the cemetery meeting was given by Mrs. A. P. Grant. Printed diagrams was dispersed for later sale of lots and plans for the future.

Further plans for renovating the church were discussed.

Meeting closed by repeating Mizpah benediction followed by a lovely lunch served by Mrs. E. F. Fee and Mrs. Craig Lawson.

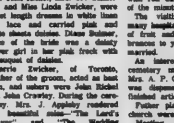
Nuggets Of Knowledge

(By Bert Odland)



Your eye, I hope, has been refurbished by the knowledge that the "brains" of some of the TV quiz programs were not quite as smart as they were cracky. Mine has. In fact, I feel so encouraged that I will now pass on to you a few more items of knowledge which you may use to amaze and amuse friends during coffee breaks:

1. The safety pin was invented by Walter Hunt in 1849. He needed 15 bucks to pay a debt. So in three hours he invented and made a model of the safety pin. He got 400 bucks for the idea. I assume the government got the other $385.

2. As a business hunting and air conditioning dealer, I deal right with the factory. My motivation to confuse the issue of "Who" is not strictly between me and the factory . . . but not much. This means I get more help faster, and can pass on latest installation and products to my customers without delay.

3. In Australia there is a 330 mile stretch of railroad with no curves, crosses no rivers, and there isn't a tree in view the entire way! Is half dog chased at the end of that line would look like Disneyland.

4. It is rather unusual when a manufacturer doesn't claim that his product stands four-square by itself. Lennox is the exception. Lennox tells the world that "brand name alone is not enough for comfort when it comes to heating and cooling." They go on to say that it takes a local Comfort Craftsman to do the job. That is because the best equipment in the world (Lennox) will not do the job unless it is properly installed by somebody who knows his onions . . . . It helps to know something about heating and air conditioning, too. We do. We are your local Lennox Comfort Craftsman. Call us for free estimate of your heating and or cooling needs.

Dr. Egedahl Honored On 59th Year Of Ordination

Three congregations of Trinity, Sharon and Bethania met at Trinity Church for morning joint worship last Sunday in honor of Dr. H. T. Egedahl, who is a member of Trinity and a past president. Pastor Egedahl now resides at Camrose.

At two o'clock a special anniversary program to celebrate Dr. Egedahl's 80th birthday and the 59th anniversary of his Ordination, was held. Greetings and musical numbers from each of the three congregations was enjoyed. Special greetings from Dr. Mellelid, President of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of Canada, was delivered by Rev. Arthur Holm of Edmonton who is president of the Edmonton Camrose Conference. Additional greetings were brought from Viking and Provost Lutheran Parishes.

Dr. Egedahl served all of his ordained ministry in Alberta, coming to Viking and his first parish in 1908. He later served at Monitor and Provost. He still conducts weekly devotions at Bethany Home in Camrose.

Dr. Egedahl's three children and their families were all present for the occasion, at which Pastor Christopherson was Master of Ceremonies.

Miss Helen Simons Honored By Friends At Bridal Shower

SEDGEWICK—On Saturday evening, August 21st, a miscellaneous shower was held in the United Church Hall in honor of Miss Helen Simons whose marriage takes place this Saturday.

Miss Ronnie Kobzar was in charge of the guest book. The table and room were tastefully decorated with pink and white streamers and baskets of cut flowers. M.C. for the evening was Mrs. Clarke James Sr.

A Reading, "What Is A husband" by Miss Gwen Gascoyne, a Solo by Miss Helen Jakobson, followed by a "1985 Hat Service" modelled by a group of ladies and showing the rags and outrage of the season, were enjoyed.

The M.C. spoke briefly and invited the guest of honor, along with Trudy Loeb, Linda Nordstrom and Mrs. Ardith Barclay to be seated at the guest table, where the gifts were presented by Dennie Sparrow and Sandra Bottineau. Miss Gay Kneeland and Gwen Gascoyne passed the gifts among the guests, and Helen offered her sincere thanks. Lunch was served.

CAR INJURES BOY NEAR HARDISTY

An accident took place at the Battle River bridge on Highway 13 Sunday, August 15th, when 5-year-old Blaine Mongale wandered from the picnic site on to the bridge and was hit by a passing car. He suffered fractures of arms and legs plus other injuries. After a few days in the hospital he was taken to Edmonton for further treatment, and at last report his condition is satisfactory.

Publishers Hold Convention

Some 400 weekly publishers are now back at their desks fighting the deadlines, after attending the annual convention in Edmonton. Editors and publishers were present from the Maritime Provinces to British Columbia, and all were enthusiastic in their praise of the Klondike Cabaret conducted under the presidency of Ken Patrige of the Camrose Canadian, and the Chairmanship of Jack Perry of the Rimby Record. A special convention newspaper was printed for the occasion, with a second edition hitting the convention halls midway through the meetings.

The first day of the convention saw the Hon. Ambrose Holowach give the welcome to Alberta, with Deputy Mayor Bothe welcoming the delegates to the City of Edmonton. Business sessions followed in the afternoon, after luncheon sponsored by the Alberta Government. The evening banquet was sponsored by Dominc. A Klondike Party followed in the evening.

Business sessions were the order of the day on Thursday, interspersed with a tour of the city and a barbeque in the evening. A lengthy discussion was held on the merits of offset printing as against letterpress. During the noon luncheon awards were presented in the various newspaper competitions.

Friday was clean-up day with nominations and election of President and executive for the coming year, clearing up unfinished business and installation of officers, directors' meeting and presentation of life memberships. The convention was closed with the president's coffee party.

Car Burns Along Highway

If we may be permitted to paraphrase a well used expression from the poetic collection of Robert Service, there are strange things done in the sunshine sun by the men who travel the roads. A glance at a picture in this issue will show the results of strange antics, but will not explain the reason.

Two cars, one bearing Saskatchewan license plates, and apparently travelling together, had just passed Sedgewick when the lead car developed motor problems. Occupants of both cars hastily transferred all moveable articles from the car, loaded them into the second vehicle, poured gas on the upholstery of the first car and set it afire.

Everybody hastily got into the other car and speeded away for parts unknown to the writer.

That's the story as far as it can be learned, and your guess for the reason for it all is as good as ours.

Harvesting Operations Reaping Large Crops

All available equipment is being conscripted into service on Alberta farms this week as grain growers start the big offensive on the fields of golden grain. Combines and swathers are being taxed to the limit to handle the heavy rank growth of what appears to be another bumper crop. Spurred on by the recent large wheat sale to Russia and news of other impending sales to countries short on this basic supply, farmers are harvesting every available bushel in the hope that the present demand will loosen the quota restrictions and cut down farm storage problems.

Due to the rainy weather in the spring, there was quite a mixture of early and late plantings, which now requires a variety of harvesting methods. While some grains are being straight-combined, for the most part the swathing method is favored. Heavy rains and winds have forced one-way operations in many instances.

At the present time it appears that locally the bigger percentage of the wheat will run to No. 4 with a fair percentage of No. 3 along with some No. 2. Yields in coarse grains are running out well, with barley up to 45 and fifty bushels per acre, and oats somewhat higher. The yield on wheat cannot be determined as yet but indications are that the yield will be well above the long-time average.

With weather conditions holding favorable this year should see one of the earliest harvest clean-ups in years, with plenty of time left for fall cultivation work.

LOUGHEED WINS SUN. TOURNAMENT

LOUGHEED— Lougheed Wilcots won first money at a six team tournament held at Lougheed on Sunday.

The Wildcats defeated Hardisty in the first game 6 to 4 while Hughenden won over Sedgewick 4 to 2 in the second game.

Stroome won 8 to 1 from Killam in the third game and then defeated Hughenden 6 to 2 in the semi-finals.

Lougheed got the bye and met Stroome in the finals winning by a score of 6 to 2.

A fairly large crowd was on hand for the games and they were treated to a good brand of baseball.

Sedgewick Flower Show

Despite the heavy wind and rain on Friday, the Flower Show on Saturday drew an entry of over 100. The flowers were of good quality and there was also a good display of house plants, as the judges: Mrs. W. Routledge, Mrs. O. Probst and Mrs. F. Sax, had an easy task in picking the best exhibits.

Mrs. Peter Myrehaug was awarded the prize for the most "first" ribbons, having received eight. She also had the largest number of all ribbons was with nineteen.

Mr. & Mrs. Saunders Silver Anniversary

KILLAM—The Stanley Chevraux home was the scene of a happy gathering of friends on Sunday, August 15th, to help Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Saunders celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. The event was planned by their daughters, Mrs. S. Chevraux and Mrs. V. Murray.

A beautiful wedding cake graced the table. Those pouring tea during the afternoon were, Mrs. E. Chevraux, Mrs. Clarence Hay of Otokeka, and Mrs. Herb Wilson. In the evening those presiding at the table were, Mrs. William Larson and Mrs. Jim Grant.

A purse was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Saunders by Gordon Fee, to which Mr. Saunders replied

Mrs. Saunders wore a beautiful orchid corsage, gift of her daughters. The previous evening a surprise party was held at the S. Chevraux home for the Saunders, when they were presented with a pole lamp.

DAYSLAND COUNCIL STUDIES WORKS

DAYSLAND—The Council of the Town of Dayslend is making plans for progressive improvements in line with today's demands for modern facilities. An extensive program of new cement sidewalks with suitable curbs is in the formative stage, and tenders for the construction of a public water supply are to be signed shortly. It is expected that work on this will commence soon.

Discussions are going on with Palmer Engineering Services regarding a Natural Gas system for the Town. Since there are several capped wells in the Dayslend area, the feasibility of installing this facility seems to be very good at the present time.

A plebiscite will be held this month on the construction of a new Community Hall in Dayslend.

STARTING THE HARVEST—Harvesting operations on this year's huge wheat crop are hitting high gear this week and for most farmers this means trouble. Here we see a swather at work on only the fourth round in this field but if the weather holds he'll be back here with his combine in a very few days.

On Sunday Sport!

As editor of the Community Press, I have been asked what I think and what I have to say about Sunday baseball. What anyone thinks about it has very little to do with the facts, which are that Sunday baseball is here and thinking that it should not be here will not stop it. Controversy over this topic is not new. Sunday observance has been a contentious problem for ages and will continue to be for years to come. The chief reason why it is a controversial problem or topic is because there are two aspects to it—one legal and the other moral, and these two aspects should not be associated in considering the "right" and the "wrong" sides of the question. Legal law and moral law are not one and the same thing, and in compyling with legal statutes the citizens of a State are not told to comply with the law if and when they "think" they should do so. No particular degree or course of thought is necessary in this connection. Every good citizen should familiarize himself with the law, and comply with it—we mean statutory law. People may differ in their ideas as to the wisdom of certain laws made by the State, but they should all unite and agree in one particular in this regard, and that is in compliance with the law.

The same might be said of the moral law, but in this connection each citizen feels he is entitled to make his own interpretation and then govern himself accordingly. It has been the custom for ages on the part of certain classes of people to formulate a certain code of moral laws and then seek to induce others to conform to that code. Efforts have been made and are always being made to elicit the aid of statute law in the enforcement of moral law. In connection with Sabbath observance a certain degree of success has been achieved in fusing the two. For example, charging admission at the gate of an amusement park—but statute law does not prohibit Sunday amusements of certain kinds if no charge is made, but simply a voluntary contribution or collection taken. Along this line of thought no "thinking" is necessary. All we can say in this connection is: "Comply with the law," and submit the moral phase of it to the dictates of conscience. What I may "think" about Sunday baseball has just as little to do with the moral phase of the matter as that which any other citizen may "think"—just enough to govern one person—and that's enough.

A Real Early Advertiser!

One of the earliest advertisers so far as I know, was Noah. Day after day he announced the fact that there was going to be a great flood, and that in preparation for the same he had contracted to build a great ark, on which a few people with good characters might buy passage. Nobody paid much attention to his advertising, and so they missed the bargain. Even when it did begin to rain, his fellow townsmen said they guessed it wasn't going to be much of a shower anyway. So once again, which advertised the fact that state rooms could be engaged on the ark; but as no one applied for them he filled them up with elephants, ant-eaters and such like critters. It was not until Shem and Ham pulled in the gang-plank that the people realized that Noah had not deceived them with his advertising. Then of course there was a rush for the box-office, but it was closed and the ark was beyond the three mile limit. There was terrible excitement in town that night, but next morning all was quiet—under six fathoms of water.

I don't suppose there's much of a moral to this except maybe that when a good, honest, reliable man advertises, people should believe him.

The Art Of Appeal!

The idea of appealing on a judgement, to a higher court, is paramount in human nature, when the decision of the first court is contrary to our wishes. This appeal has become nowadays practically a routine procedure in all phases of our lives and politically, if a locality is afflicted with a drought, first comes the idea of preventing it by bombarding the clouds containing water; next comes the prayers, and finally irrigation (men at least believing that the Lord helps those who help themselves). On the other hand, where wet predominates at the harvest season, we have the appeal from the present moon for a change of moons, and then after the second court has verified the decision of the first, persistency brings in an appeal directly to the Lord himself to straighten out our difficulties. A request is solemnly made that he remember not past sins of commission and rectify our grievences. The prayer intends to do this or that, however, once things are favorable again and the bad time is over, the Divine part in the transaction sinks into oblivion, and man goes on his own merry way until the next obstacle he encounters appears about to destroy him, then he again appeals.

The Value Of Conversation!

Conversation is the most delightful method of gaining knowledge, for what is more valuable than an accomplished companion, a living volume reading its own pages? What an intellectual treat it is to talk to one with whom, conversing, we even forget the time! It is worth a lot to read the lessons of a philosopher, but to hear him impart them in words much more. It is agreeable to read the narration of a traveller, but far more so to hear him describe what he has seen. Besides, there is the opportunity of asking questions, and skill in interrogation is the chief of an apt converser. Lord Bacon has truly said, "He that questioneth much, shall learn much, and content much; but especially if he apply his questions to the skill of the person whom he asketh; for he shall give them occasion to please themselves in speaking, and himself shall continually gather knowledge."

Among those things which are so simple that even a child can operate them, are parents.

★ MACDUFF REPORT

Keeping It To Himself

OTTAWA — A second mammoth wheat sale for Russian gold has not off a new fever of election speculation on Parliament Hill. There is not too much logic behind the speculation. While perhaps $75 million will be paid by the Russians for wheat delivered before the end of the year it is going to take months for money to get back to the Western farmer and still longer for it to fall in consumer spending. The chances are that the full impact of the new money on the Canadian economy will not be felt until next spring. If this is the case a Spring election would be colorful, a generally happy atmosphere some of which would inevitably rub off on the Government in power.

But Prime Minister Pearson, it must be said, did little to discourage the speculation before he plunged into his West Coast and Edmonton tour. At his farewell News news press conference he was more cautious than usual to avoid any hint of the way that wind was blowing which encouraged some to believe it was in the direction of a Fall visit.

Will Parliament meet on September 27th?

Parliament had been asked to reassemble on that date and so far there has been no change in plans. Would he meet Parliament on that date?

There was no reply except a gentle slap on the wrist for the man who asked it.

But Mr. Pearson made it very plain that he would call an election at any time if he believed it advisable. He was definitely not subscribing to the views of Mr. Stanley Knowles or Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson that to call it before Parliament had been convened would be immoral. In fact, he gave the impression that the election when it does come will be by the old constituency map.

There are a number of steps to be taken before the new electoral boundaries can become law. The reports of ten electoral commissions are open to local appeal. These they must be laid before Parliament and if there is a sufficient measure of opposition (it does not require a majority) they will be sent back for reconsideration. At that point, admittedly the commissions have the last say. If they choose to make no amendments then nothing Parliament can do. The final decision will be non-political.

But, even assuming that everything goes without a hitch there will have to be a reorganization of the whole electoral machinery of Canada. New returning officers will have to be appointed in more than 174 constituencies. Finally the political parties will have to do their own reorganization, hold conventions, get committees and canvassers organized and generally reshape party machines to fit the new geography.

As Mr. Pearson says, it's not a matter of having redistribution operative in terms of a general election next May or June. At the very earliest it would be the end of 1968.

Mr. Thompson and Mr. Knowles left themselves badly open to a thrust from the Pearson rapier because both had declared on the one hand that there should be no election until after redistribution and on the other that the Government had not ceased its house and that therefore that when the House of Commons met on September 27th it should be defeated. No one is likely to take the chances of such a defeat too seriously but that did not weaken Mr. Pearson's comeback.

"Apparently", he said, "it is immoral for the Government of the day to exercise its prerogative and appeal to the people for a vote of confidence but not at all immoral for the Opposition to defeat the Government and force an election before redistribution. That's a very strange concept of morality".

Then to cap it off Mr. Pearson concluded:

"Why are you all so pre-occupied with an election? Think of all the things that are going on in the country. Have you read the reports from the Bureau of Statistics that will show how the country is going ahead?"

Mr. Pearson himself might take a second glance at some of them, because they are rather a mixed variety. Gross National Product is going up nicely but unemployment failed to respond to the extent that might be expected with the impact of summer seasonal jobs. The export picture is strong enough but has nevertheless flattened out. As a result, with imports on the upgrade, Canada is running another very heavy current account deficit in international balance of payments.

There is certainly no crisis in the offing. Ottawa could well help the deficit & keep good times with us for at least another 12 months. Conditions are experienced in fact the luck of the Irish. But if Mr. Pearson thes any thoughts on holding a fall elected while he is keeping it to himself.

Other Editors Say

THE PUBLIC BE DAMNED

Strikes hit the public, but the public doesn't have anything to say about it. The power struggle takes place between the employer and the employees, neither of whom care cosmopolitan, judicial arbitration.

It appears incredible that such a medieval method of a strike is still the only way a worker can obtain justice. If his cause is strong, he can make exorbitant demands, even destroying the business on which a community thrives. If his union is weak, or if he has no union, he cannot normally get justice. If the wins his strike, it will take him a long time to recoup his losses. If he loses his strike, the results are disastrous. Always the public takes a beating.

Sometimes strikes are iniquitous, like that of the west coast elevator operators. Sometimes strikes are necessary. Certainly the postal employees are underpaid and their demands do not appear exorbitant, though the approach and methods are messy and disorganized.

For much of this the government is at fault. They have a responsibility to the public, and the failure to give them workable, scrupulous machinery methods of obtaining justice has not been fair to their customers who pay heavily for postal service, an exclusive government monopoly.

At the very minimum, all public services, such as teachers, nurses, firemen, police and civil servants, should have available impartial judicial bodies who can give the public convincing evidence of justice and protect them with protection. — Calgary Herald

ELIN ELDEY WED AT SEDGEWICK UNITED CHURCH

SEDGEWICK — The Sedgewick United Church was the scene of a pretty summer wedding on July 3rd, uniting Elin Eldey, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nils Eldey of Sedgewick, and Dale Andrew, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Jacobsen of Brooks. The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Don Lewis.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in a floor-length gown of white silk organza over taffeta and was featuring round neckline and lily-point sleeves. The shoulder-length bouffant veil was held in place by floral headpiece. She carried a bouquet of red roses and lily-of-the-valley. Her only jewellery was a single strand of cultured pearls, gift of the groom.

The attendants, Mrs. Sonja Bentzin, Miss Shirley Lewis and Miss Margaret Volpe, were styled in floor-length dresses of coral crystal charm fashioned A-line style. Their headpieces were matching pillbox with white veils. They carried bouquets of white shasta daisies.

Organist was Mrs. Orn Hose, and the soloist Mrs. Peter Spady. The groom was attended by Murray Eldey and Greg Mortenson and Art Petersen. Ushers were Bob Jacobsen, brother of the groom, and Ken Eldey.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Eldey chose a two-piece pink lace dress with matching hat and white accessories, with corsage of red roses. Mother of the groom wore a beige tone lace dress with matching accessories and corsage of pink roses.

The reception held at Merna School Auditorium was served by the ladies of the Merna Welfare Club. Ray Pottage proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom ably responded. Miss Hazel Breimo, cousin of the bride was in charge of the guest book and other town guests were from Provost, Alliance, Killam, Alix, Brooks, Coreal, Edmonton, Wetaskiwin and New Westminster, B.C.

Open house was held during the evening hours at the bride's parental home. Mrs. Johnsgaard was in charge of the lunch, while Mrs. Steve Fiscber and Mrs. Frank Eckstrand poured tea and coffee.

For her going away ensemble the bride wore a floral silk sheath with turquoise duster and white accessories. Her corsage was of red roses. The happy couple will make their home at Brooks, Alberta.

3 Different Tons Used To Measure

Three units of weight known as a ton are used in world commerce and all are different. The ton commonly used in United States and Canada is the "short" ton consisting of 2,000 avoirdupois pounds which equals 32 1/3 bushels of wheat.

In the United Kingdom and some Commonwealth countries the "long" ton is used. It is 2,240 pounds avoirdupois or 37 1/3 bushels of wheat.

The most commonly used is the "metric" ton. It is the equivalent of 2,204.6 pounds avoirdupois or 36.74 bushels of wheat. Practically all European and Asian trade and much of that in other parts of the world is conducted in the metric system of which the metric ton is one unit.—Wheat Pool Budget

Population Explosion Hits Rural Hardisty

A real population explosion occurred on the Roland Vanderwark farm recently when a purebred sow, purchased from C. Cumberson of Forsethurg, produced twenty pigs.

Fred Drager and Rev. Juricher travelled to Edmonton together on Wednesday morning. We expect that there was no dearth of conversation in their part of the bus that day.

Mrs. M. Vanderwark visited on Sunday at the home of her granddaughter Mrs. Willard Graham (nee Dorothy Archibald) of Elnora, when some 54 members of the family gathered. Mrs. Vanderwark had nine grandchildren present.

Holidaying with Dr. and Mrs. Perwarnff are their daughters Jean and Dorothy and families.

In an accident on Highway 12 near Bell, a car driven by Emil Thompson of Sedgewick failed to make the curve and collided with that of Hugo Tillmar of Hardisty. Mrs. Tillmar and Lorrie Wissenger were taken to the St. Anne Hospital with cuts and bruises.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hendricks and children are holidaying at the Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Garlea have returned from a motor trip up to Yellowknife.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Galvas and family were recent visitors to Mr. Mrs. and Mrs. Roland Vanderwark.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Voros entertained on Sunday at an "at home" in honor of their son Edwin and his bride, the former Anne Beme. Some former Hardisty folks attending were, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fischer and girls of Lloydminster, Mr. and Mrs. Art Brunson of Wainwright. A short program of readings and music by Corrine Voros and Carolyne Paxtor was enjoyed, and the many lovely gifts opened and displayed. Best wishes of all go to the young couple.

Shari Drager and Jean Sherwood have post returned from a camping trip during which they visited Yellowstone National Park, Grand Canyon, Las Vegas, and Los Angeles. While there they toured Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm and the Hollywood studios. From Los Angeles they went to Portland and by ferry to victoria and Vancouver. Both girls agree that it was a marvelous trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Doug Harrison and family of Lacombe, Sask. are visiting at the Lake and with Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Harrison.

Carol Pederson Wed At St. Joseph's, Hardisty

On Friday June 25th at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Hardisty, Father Heffernan performed a double ring ceremony for the marriage of Carol Marie, daughter of Mrs. Margaret Pederson, and the late Mr. Arnold Pederson to William Lawrence, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bourque of Czar.

The bride entering the church on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Jim Baker, wore a full floor length gown of chiffon over taffeta. It featured pearls and lace appliques on the skirt and the neck, and a fitted bodice, and lily point sleeves. It closed to a "V" back and fastened by two roses at the waist. Her shoulder length veil was held in place by a chiffon cabbage style bow. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings, gift of the groom. She carried red roses.

She was attended by her sister Renee, as maid of honor, her cousin Barbara Bergsen as bridesmaid, and cousin Mrs. Arlene Gonczyne as bride's matron. They wore identical red full skirted, strapless length dresses of chiffon over taffeta. Their headpieces were short white veils held in place by a chiffon rose. They carried white and red colonial type bouquets, and wore white shoes and gloves.

Tom green was attended by his brother Les as best man, and grooms men were his cousin Don Grocock and his friend Les Bullock. Ushers were Rizo Bourque, brother of the groom and Buster Pederson, brother of the bride. During the signing of the register Mrs. Doris Powell sang "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother," while Mrs. Leanna Olsen played the organ.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Pederson wore a three piece pink linen suit with white accessories and white roses encorsage. Mrs Bourque, the grooms mother, chose a three-piece navy blue and white double knit suit with white accessories and white roses.

Following the wedding a reception was held in the I.O.O.F. hall. The brides table was laid with her grandmothers lace and linen tablecloth and centred with a three tiered cake, baked by Mrs. Herb Gascoyne and decorated by Mrs. Don Wilder. The hall was gaily decorated in red and white. Mr. Ross Lee was M.C. and also proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom ably responded. Mr. Les Cherum proposed a toast to the brides mother. Mrs. Doris Powell sang, "The Wedding Prayer." Miss Julie Bergson, cousin of the bride was in charge of the guest book. Open house was held from 7-9 at the grooms parents and a dance followed in the Czar hall with Hornshe orchestra playing.

For going away the bride chose a three-piece aqua with white double knit suit and white accessories and pink roses encorsage.

After a short honeymoon the couple will reside in Hardisty where both are employed.

Out of town guests were from Clair, Hughenden, Amisk, Lougheed, Sedgewick, Daysland, Camrose, Edmonton, Calgary.

Muskegs

Although it's a serious threat to economic expansion, it can be made into French underwear. It once swallowed a railway locomotive whole, but can also be used to pat the taste in whisky.

What is it? It's Canada's future prize and today's plague — muskeg.

Referring to Canada's "rolling muskilard of blackflies and mosquitoes," Dr. Norman Radforth, of McMaster University, the first true world's leading authority on the subject, is quoted in the June issue of the Imperial Oil Review on the problems and economic potential of muskeg.

This "thick, black, spongy muck" the article explains, is often impassable except when it is frozen solid. As such it greatly hinders economic development in Canada's more remote regions. It has been known to swallow up sections of highway and railroad and once consumed an entire derailed locomotive. The cost to the oil industry alone, in its search for new oil fields, has been more than $100 million in entrance charges.

The article points out, however, that muskeg has great economic potential. It is a natural and valuable fertilizer, and such products as tar, coke, dyes, gasolines, resins and cellulose can be extracted from it. In Europe it has been used to put the taste in whisky and to smoke-flavor fish. One firm in France has come out with a new type of underwear made partly from muskeg and claimed to be warmer than wool.

Russia, with much less than Canada's 500,000 square miles of muskeg, nonetheless has some 400 scientists studying the subject. Dr. Radforth's group at McMaster, however, is the only one in the free world working continuously in this field.

Dr. Radforth feels that Canada is missing an opportunity in not developing it's muskeg potential. "As long as we ignore our muskeg, or treat it as a plague rather than a benefit, our remotes one of the world's undeveloped countries," he said.

The Homemakers

By Miss Irene Eby, Your District Home Economist

Dear Homemakers:

Wondering about how to get your white things whiter or what to do about those slipcovers?

A new publication entitled "Your Home Laundry Guide", just released by the Alberta Home Economics Extension Service, is designed to eliminate common laundry problems.

The bulletin contains information on new laundering techniques; modern methods; refinishing methods; the removal of excess iron from water and different types of soaps, detergents and bleaches. Instructions are also given for washing specific articles such as curtains, slipcovers, pillows, blankets, etc.

"Your Home Laundry Guide" can be obtained, free of charge, from my office in Camrose.

For good laundry results, however, the procedure is still the same. Perhaps you are relying too heavily on your washing machine, soaps or other laundry aids. Maybe you should look to your method.

Proper Sorting is a Must! Sort for the degree of soil, keeping lightly soiled clothes in one load, heavily soiled clothes in another. Wash non-colourfast garments, or those which are questionable, separately. Sort as to fabric—cottons, linens, silks and woollens, and synthetic fabrics. White synthetic fabrics. White synthetics should always be washed separately from dark loads, as they tend to pick up dye from other garments. Separate lint producers from dark fabrics.

Careful Preparation is important. Mend before you wash clothes. Empty pockets and cuffs, close Zippers. Pretreat heavily soiled areas such as collars and cuffs and traces of children's clothes with a brush and a solution of your laundry detergent or soap. Remove stains. Write to me for the bulletin "Spot and Stain Removal" for helpful suggestions on the removal of common spots and stains. Hot water, relatively free from iron, gives best results. Soap film caused by hard water dulls colour, causes white clothes to appear grey, makes fabrics feel harsh and stiff and stay reduces the wearing qualities by stiffening the individual fibres so that they break when creased or strained. You can soften your wash water with packaged chemical softeners. In order to be effective, at least the first rinse must also be softened.

If your laundry problems results from iron in the water, the water softener Calgon will assist in keeping it in suspension, if the iron content is not excessive. The most satisfactory solution for excess iron is the installation of an iron remover. A word of caution. Chlorine bleaches should not be used in water containing excess iron.

Use the correct temperature of water. Heavily soiled white and colourfast cottons and linens require a wash water of temperature of 140-160 degrees F. This temperature is required to remove oily and greasy soils, to release all types of soil which become embedded in fibres, to dissolve soap and detergent and to destroy bacteria.

Lightly soiled non-colourfast garments and delicate fabrics, wash and wear cottons, require warm water. Save these labels. Your best guide to proper laundering of any article is the washing instructions on the label. Be sure to note on the label the garment to which it belongs and follow the washing directions.

Cotton Dyes. Some dark cottons and those dyed in strong colours (red, blue) do sometimes run quite badly in washing. This could be an excess of dye which is left on the surface of the fabric. If this is the case, most of it will be removed during the first washing. If this is not the case, and the dye runs repeatedly, it may be that the dye has not been properly set. This can sometimes be remedied by soaking the garment in a solution made up of 1 cup of salt to 1 gallon of water, or 1 cup vinegar to 1 gallon of water. The water should be warm and the garment should be left in for a few hours. Rinse well BEFORE drying.

Hays Report From Parliament Hill

The response to the Federal Government's decision to establish the Centennial Year Young Canadians Fund and of the Centennial Commission that the youth in this country aren't what they used to be.

I think this is true—but in the opposite way most of this criticism is usually meant.

I am proud of the Canadian youth of today. We hear about those who get into trouble, but I feel they are only a very small minority, and my personal impression is that the generation growing up in Canada today is the most mature and intelligent we have ever had in this country.

The young have always looked for causes to devote themselves to—from joining the Communist Party of fighting in the Spanish civil war to wearing coat-suits and long gold watch chains or organizing gold fish-swallowing contests.

But what is it that has attracted such large numbers of willing recruits to the Company of Young Canadians?

It is not some idealist's fantastic illusion of remodelling the world in seven days. It is simply a desire to have some opportunity for service—and in most cases very humble service—in the face of some sense of humanity—to help build a road or a drainage ditch in some under-developed area, maybe to teach a few under-privileged children how to live a more normal life.

The aim of the Company is to provide young people in Canada with opportunities for making an immediate concrete contribution to their community and the world at large.

There is a widespread feeling among many Canadians that the youth of our country is more anxious than ever before to play a leading and sensitive role in national and international life, and also that young people today are concerned that their contribution be as direct and as concrete as possible.

The Company was proposed in the Speech from the Throne on April 8, which said in part, " . . . the establishment of a Company of Young Canadians, through which the energies A taien z of youth can be enlisted in projects for economic and social development both in Canada and abroad.

An Organizing Committee has been established by the Prime Minister to recommend how the Company should operate and how young Canadians can most effectively contribute to its work.

The Organizing Committee expects to have its report ready by early fall. It is hoped the Company will be fully launched by the end of the year, with projects beginning in 1966.

A variety of projects will be developed to permit young Canadians of different backgrounds and educational levels to participate.

The Company will send young Canadians to work overseas as teachers, nurses, technicians, and in several other activities.

In Canada it will recruit young people to undertake projects in urban and rural areas of poverty.

It will seek effective ways for working with Indian and Eskimo communities, and it will investigate the preservation and enrichment of Canada's natural resources and parklands and development of historical areas.

The Company, which will have a small research component, will also study many other areas of interest.

There will be two general aspects to the Company's operation; encouragement to existing organizations to expand their programs or to develop new ones; and, secondly, initiation of programs to be carried out by the Company itself.

There will be no rigid age restriction for volunteers.

Volunteers will participate in training programs appropriate to each project.

Town Of Daysland Decides To Go-Ahead with Water System

The regular monthly Council Meeting of the town of Daysland was held in the Town Office on August 6th.

Five Councillors were present with Mayor Fryer presiding.

It was reported that Mike Hrabowsky's house had been inspected and that it had the necessary qualification to be moved on a lot on West Cottingham St. Mr. P. Wynnyk is to be notified of this by letter and requesting a building permit.

As no word had been received from any Camrose Concrete contractors in regards to price quotation for construction of sidewalks and curbs, council instructed the secretary to write Dammann and Falgac at Killam and request a price quotation.

Miss Sheila Purves, who expects to teach school in Daysland this term, applied to purchase a lot to park a house trailer. Council instructed the secretary to inform Miss Purves they could rent her a lot temporarily at $7.00 per month with sewer connections and water when installed. Miss Purves also to be responsible for water and sewer charge as well as License on Mobile Homes.

Palmer Engineering Services visited Council and discussed possibilities of a natural gas distribution system for the Town of Daysland. As there were several capped wells in the vicinity of Daysland they agreed to check into the possibilities of a natural gas system for a reasonable cost and possibly report to Council at the next meeting.

Mr P. Schartzle of Municipal Engineering services reported on the progress of the proposed water system for Daysland. Final Certificate of approval had been received from the Dept. of Health and as soon as contracts were signed construction could begin.

It was moved that Council authorize the Mayor and Secretary Treasurer to sign the tenders for construction of a water supply and distribution system for the Town of Daysland, with Steve's Trenching of Calgary.

Resolution No. 105:

The secretary be authorized to open a Capital Water Account in the Bank of Montreal in Daysland.

Correspondence:

A letter from E.M.O. described Rian and a Vulnerability Study.

A letter from Atlas of Alberta requested information concerning the number of books in Daysland library.

Mr. J. Josephison requested to rent lots 13 and 14, Block 4, Plan 25 if not needed further by Svoboda Brothers. Council stated if Svoboda Brothers did not wish to rent them they would be available to Mr. Josephison at $12.00 per lot per year.

A petition was received requesting that By-Law No. O 140 re-constructing a Community Hall be submitted to a vote of the proprietary electors of the Town of Daysland.

Avoid Harvest Grain Losses

WOMEN AT WAR. War has been traditionally a man-size job, but in this time of crises in South Vietnam, women too have been taking an active part in the fight against Viet Cong guerrilas. The grim-faced women warriors are shown taking a salute in a march past in Saigon.

Care in harvesting, storing and hauling grain crops has three important economic effects: (1) Increased total production (more bushels per acre). (2) Higher quality grain (better grades). (3) Reduced cost of production.

Avoid Grain Losses. Some of the more practical and important ways of avoiding grain losses during harvest are: (1) Don't cut grain crops, particularly barley, before they are fully mature. Immature kernels in barley and grass-grown kernels in wheat don't "weigh up" on the scales and result in lower grades. (2) Swaths should be laid properly to prevent losses and during pickup during combining. Avoid having your grain rejected "on account of stones and or earth points". (3) Keep the cylinder and concaves of your combine in good repair and alignment. This will reduce the amount of kernel damage to the minimum. Skinned and broken kernels in barley, split kernels in wheat, and chipped and cracked kernels in flax are serious degrading factors. (4) Provide good, clean grain storage. Heavy financial losses can occur when insects, mites or moulds cause grain to heat and spoil. (5) Avoid rough handling of threshed grain particularly barley.

Control Combine Losses. Recent studies made by agricultural engineers show that Saskatchewan farmers spend $3 million dollars an inch each year through grain losses during the combine operation. Field losses have revealed that traveling at speeds which cause overloading of the threshing mechanism of the combine is responsible for excessive grain losses. Moreover, within the combine itself there is the possibility of grain losses occurring at three points. These are at the cylinder, the cleaning shoe, and the straw walkers. Cylinder losses consist of grain which is not unthreshed in the head. Shoe losses usually occur when grain is passed over the rear of the cleaning shoe and out the combine. Grain losses in the case of the straw walkers occur when the walkers fail to shake out the free grain as the straw moves over them. Two very important factors which affect combine losses are (1) proper adjustment of all parts of the combine and (2) traveling at speeds which will not overload the threshing mechanism.

Use care in harvesting grain crops. It pays!

WHEAT THAT FALLOW!

Higher than average precipitation over much of the Prairies this year has made cultivation of summer fallows impossible in many cases. The result is that weed control has an excellent opportunity to develop. Perennial weeds particularly, from the lack of adequate cultivation as it usually requires a full season of careful cultivation to effect a reasonable control of them. Every day that they are allowed to grow in the field enables them to spread and to store additional food in roots.

We do not know what the weather during the next 2 or 3 months is to be. If wet weather continues the fallows are likely to be in rather poor condition this fall. In addition to looking bad the perennial weeds present, such as Canada Thistle, and Sow Thistle, will have been little affected by fallow program. Chemicals can replace cultivation and could help to recover some of the lost ground in the battle against weeds. Very often when it is too wet to cultivate a field, it could be sprayed. Then again a field can be sprayed much faster than it can be cultivated. And an application of 16 ounces or one of 2,4-D will replace 2 or 3 cultivations. The cost of 16 ounces of 2,4-D would be 75c. To this of course must be added the cost of application. The total cost is still considerably less than the cost of most cultivation operations.

If you are having difficulty doing a good job of cultivation on your fallow, take a good look at spraying as an alternative. It can save you time and money and can help salvage what otherwise might be almost a summer year so far as weed control on your fallow is concerned.

HARVESTING AND THRESHING MALTING BARLEY!

Third difference in price between a feed grade and a malting grade in barley is sufficient to warrant a bit more care when it comes to harvesting and threshing a barley crop. There is a difference of 5c per bushel between 3 C.W. and 1 Feed Barley, plus a 5c per bushel premium for a malting grade — a total of 10c per bushel. Figured on a 2500 bushel crop it amounts to $250, plus the fact the feed barley will go on your quota and the malting barley will not.

Losses in harvesting and threshing malting barley are mainly due to (1) cutting at the wrong stage of maturity, (2) faulty methods of swathing and (3) improper adjustment of the combine.

(1) Stage of Maturity — Maltsters prefer a plump, mature kernel. The crop should not be swathed until the kernels have turned to color and moisture content is down to between 30 and 35 percent.

(2) Swathing — The width of the swath could be adjusted to weight of the crop. A heavy crop may be placed in a wide swath while the light crop must be held together in a narrow swath. The length of the stubble should be such that it will keep the swath off the ground, but it should not be so long that it will collapse under the weight. A well swathed crop will withstand a good deal of adverse weather. Weathering in the swath lowers germination and reduces the value of the barley to the maltster.

(3) Threshing — Malting Barley should not be combined until the moisture content is 14 percent or less. However, if the grain and the straw are too dry, damage through cracking and peeling may occur. All makes and models of combines can be adjusted to do a good job of threshing barley, but careful attention by the operator to the conditions of grain and straw during the day is very important. Morning and late evening combining usually requires a closer concave setting than mid-afternoon. The most desirable kernel will have 1/8 to 1/4 of an inch of awn attached. Attempt to take all the awn off usually results in peeled, cracked kernels. Comparing combine adjustments with those use for wheat, the speed of the cylinder must be reduced and the concaves given a wider clearance. The best combination for a crop-bar cylinder is a speed of less than 30 metres per second in five-eighths inch clearance. Wind board should direct the air blast to the front one-third of the straw carrier and chaffer. The adjustable chaffer sieve should be opened to about 3/4 open position to allow plenty of air to pass through. Since barley is lost by coming too little wind than by using too much. Sieves should be adjusted to give the least possible regarding a good deal of damage occurs on machines that are running with a heavy return.

FORMER SEDGEWICK DUGGIST PASSES AWAY AT CALGARY

George Clarence Crooks, former Druggist at Sedgewick for many years, passed away at his home in Calgary on August 14th, after an illness of long duration. President of Crooks Drugs Ltd. in Calgary, George had been confined to bed at his home for many months, where he was tenderly and lovingly cared for by his wife Ethel.

Mr. Crooks was born at Brussels, Ontario and came west to Edmonton as a young man in 1908. He attended the University of Alberta where he took a course in Pharmacy, and was employed in Peace River. In 1925 he purchased the Drug Store in Sedgewick from the late Howard Purves, where he conducted a successful business until 1949. The Crooks family later moved to Chilliwack, B.C. for a short time, later returning to Alberta where George conducted Crooks Drug Store at Calgary until his illness forced his retirement. The business is being carried on by his son Albert and Mr. Arthur Pollar. Always an ardent curler, Mr. Crooks was a member of the Calgary Curling Club.

During his many years at Sedgwick George was an active participant in civic and sports activities and was a consistent worker in Progress in the community, where he held many positions such as secretary of the town of long duration. President of the baseball club and president of the curling club. He was the prime mover behind the formation of the Sedgewick Sports Society which functioned successfully for some years.

While at Sedgewick he was married to Ellen Edna Gerry, sister of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ross, early and long-time residents of Sedgewick. Their son Albert was born here.

Funeral services were held at Calgary on Tuesday, August 17th at Park Memorial Chapel with Rev R. G. Beairsto officiating with interment in Queen's Park Cemetery. Among the pallbearers were old-time friends of the family, Harry B. Hey, Austin Smith, Arthur Pedlar, Billy Murray and Art Eastwood.

Surviving besides his loving wife Ellen and son Albert, are two grandchildren. The Crooks family accumulated a large circle of friends in the Sedgwick area, who extend regrets and sympathy to the bereaved.

ATTENTION HUNTERS

Hunting certificates and stamps are available at appropriate vendor sites in your district. You are advised to purchase early and avoid last minute delays. Most vendors operate during standard business hours only.

A relative or companion may purchase your hunting certificate and stamps for you. He or she will be required to provide the vendor with your name, address, sex, age, weight and height. Be sure that this information is made available to the vendor.

Certificates and stamps may also be purchased by mail, directed to your nearest Game Licence vendor. Your mailed request must also provide the vital statistics listed above plus the required fee.

As soon as you receive your certificate, endorse it in the proper place. A hunting certificate is not valid until it is signed by the licensee. In the field, the bearer of an unendorsed certificate is an unlicensed hunter.

(Mrs. Doug Klaser)

Squadron Leader and Mrs. A. Shade and four children of the U.S.A. have spent a two week vacation at the latter's parental home, Mr. and Mrs. E. Chevrier.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. Mel Fuesse spent the weekend at Lac La Biche, Cold Lake, Fleming Home and Moose Lake, where they spent their fishing. Mr. and Mrs. Hartz, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Rule and Mr. and Mrs. Jack McConnell met them at Moose Lake on Sunday morning and the whole crew went picking blueberries.

We wish Mrs. A. E. Fee a very speedy recovery in the University Hospital in Edmonton, after having the misfortune to break her hip.

Mrs. Jean Rattrell of Red Deer was at home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Robson for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Loren Kerr and boys have returned home from a vacation spent in Manitoba.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Weeks and family of Grande Prairie were Sunday visitors at the Lloyd Young home.

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Robinson were Thursday visitors at Alliance with Mrs. Bertha Young and Jean.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hartt, were Calgary visitors the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherry Robson have returned from a vacation spent in points in B.C.

Mrs. Reuben Reinmon has been a patient in the University Hospital for the past week receiving medical care. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Matt Nielsen and Shirley of Meister were Tuesday visitors at the Lloyd Young home.

Mrs. Robson and Bert have moved into the Denham house at the West end of town.

Jim Klinger and Don Dragor who have been employed at Olds, spent the past weekend at their parental homes.

Mick Schweitzer and the O. Klingers spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Lenry Curran who is a patient in the Hardisty Hospital. The occasion was her birthday.

Congratulations to Marge Thompson and Joe Prince who were married recently.

Miss Debbie Roth of Elk Point who has spent the past month with her aunt Mrs. Esther Young, returned home with her parents last Sunday.

Mrs. Jim Slavik who has been in the University Hospital in Edmonton for the past couple of months recovering from a car accident, has been transferred to the Killam General Hospital.

Baptist Church

A Sunday School teachers' meeting was held on Wednesday night at which time the weekly study and prayer service. Some of the business discussed was: that a contribution be made from the Missionary Fund to Miss Sandra Wylie who is working in the Yukon; that Rally Day and Promotional Exercises be held September 26; that all officers and out-teachers be encouraged to attend the Convention etc in Gold Bar on September 6.

The increased attendances at the Friday night Y.P. service was encouraging.

Rev. Grynauskas was in charge of the Sunday morning service. Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Cairns, missionaries on furlough from the Fiji Islands were in attendance at the Sunday services. Mrs. Cairns taught the adult Sunday School class and Mr. Cairns presented the message and showed slides of their work in the Fiji Islands during the Sunday evening service.

Thought For The Week

IN A TOURIST TOWN

Living in a tourist town must be quite different from living in a town of corresponding size that has no link with the tourist industry.

I grew up in a small town that was just beginning to find its potential as a tourist town. Quite a few cars in town were evident in July and August. Everybody thought the tourist business was a good thing and something should be done about it. A few people with large houses and small incomes, including my mother, put up "Tourist Accommodation" signs and were not only flabbergasted but delighted to rent huge, immaculate bedrooms for as much as $2 a night.

Not on the whole, the tourist business was just a little extra business that the town endured through the summer, the merchants hoping to stay open Saturday, Sunday for 6 o'clock to ensure they could close up and hustle off to the ball park after gulping their supper.

What a difference from the slam-bang-thank-you-ma'm atmosphere of the modern tourist town!

Today the tourist business is not only a little extra gravy, it is the cream in the coffee, the icing on the cake, the cheese with the apple pie and any other garnishing you care to nominate yourself by indulging. It is the difference between survival of the fittest and getting along nicely, thank you, in the business world.

For the grocers, the hardwares, the drug store, the tourist season is a mixture of exhilaration and exhaustion. The harmonious tune of the cash register is offset by the discordant screams of aching feet.

Aside from its economic injection, the tourist business has a very strong impact on the life of a small town. When the first visitors begin to arrive, in May and June, they are as welcome as the first flowers. They add color, excitement, a touch of the outside world, with their different accents and different clothes.

They are warmly welcomed, and not just for their financial contribution. Most of them are very nice, friendly people, and it's a pleasure to greet the repeaters each year, on their first trip to the cottage. We have a little years about the winter we've spent, and like as not, they'll urge: "Now you be sure and come up to the cottage and see us this summer. We'll have a cold one together."

They start to come in a trickle that quickly becomes a stream, then an avalanche. The pace quickens in the small town as everyone turns to in an effort to cope with them. By mid-July, the whole town is throbbing with this heady addition to its lifestream. You can't find a place to park, shopping takes three times as long, and you can scarcely cross the street because of the constant stream of cars crawling through.

About this time, the tourist town has almost lost its identity and individuality. Merchants and resort operators are like fishermen who find themselves in the middle of a vast school of fish. The farmers intent on reaping the harvest before the first touch of frost hit it.

As August nears its end, and the golden days fall rapidly away, there is a little sadness in the air, as the tourist season nears its end, and the new and old friends among the campers are seen heading east of town with their sunburned children and their piled high cars.

But when Labor Day arrives, and the avalanche descends in a trickle, the town becomes a town again, not just a shopping centre. The citizens slow down, stretch their backs, and look around at each other. Within a week, they have forgotten the scramble and the rush and the foolish business of making money, and, full of renewed interest in their town and themselves, get down to something serious, like planning a hunting trip, or having a party.

It took Gutenberg five years to complete the first Bible printed from movable type.

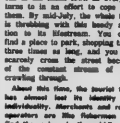
Costly Bliss
(By Bert Odland)



As the man said, ignorance is bliss. And in many cases it is very costly bliss, I might add. Anyway it's costly if you are in the ranks of us millions who view $500 with awe and reverence.

Let's get to the point before I forget what it is. And this is it:

What you don't know about heating and air conditioning could cost you up to 500 bucks. Want a "Pr business"? Here's one:

Let's say you buy a heating and/or air conditioning system for your home or business. Let's further say that you buy on price alone because you can't tamper with brands and quality features. It could be that, by buying cheap, you got a piano-bumper installation . . . the kind of installation and equipment that doesn't operate with ye olde budget in mind. (Here here is where I come riding in on my white charger!)

I've seen well-installed Lennox jobs operate for as much as 30% less than carelessly installed jobs. How operating costs will vary a lot, down and up, depending on types of homes . . . but let's say that operating costs are $300 a year. A 30% saving is $90. In ten years the saving is $450. In fifteen years it is $600. (Wow! And I haven't even mentioned comfort and dependability.)

Isn't arithmetic wonderful?

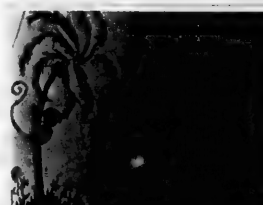
Heavy Rainfall and Winds Delay Harvest, Hurt Crops



HIDDEN TALENT—You never know who has a hidden talent that just needs discovering. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Conner hosted a few friends in for a Bar-B-Q Monday they were talented stock setters and discovered that instead they were painters. This is what the patio wall looked like the next day. Ralph says he didn't even get to touch a brush as his guests kept him busy rounding up cans of paint.

Natural Gas Being Utilized In Towns

The natural gas has been turned on at Killam and Sedgewick for those who were ready for its use. While many homes and places of business have not yet completed installation of facilities for the use of gas, many that were in this position are now enjoying the comfort of this natural resource in which the province is so rich.

Installation of furnaces and other heating units is proceeding as quickly as workmen can get it done, practically all who have signed up for the gas will have their units turned on.

The natural gas has been trying for many years to get natural gas and Killam and Sedgewick were the first to do so, having proceeded under their own initiative after failing to interest any of the recognized distributors in the project. Talks are currently underway at Hayter-land for the installation of gas there, and it is anticipated that other communities along the line will get some kind of action underway in the near future.

Hunting Season To Open Sept 13th

The local hunting season for Ducks and Geese opens on Monday, September 13th, and continues until November 27th. Bag and possession limits remain at five and ten, of which not more than three and six may be Mallards. Bag limit for Geese is five while the possession limit is ten. The Upland Bird season opens October 15th and continues until December 4th.

Labor Day Fatalities

Labour Day weekend, the last long weekend of the Summer season, invariably sees bulging traffic on all highways. Bulging accident statistics usually follow. Last year in Canada, 101 people lost their lives during the three day holiday weekend—79 in traffic accidents. Alberta had 2 traffic fatalities and no drownings.

Paul Lawrence, General Manager of the Alberta Safety Council, says that the Labour Day weekend could end happily for everyone if they would just concentrate on safe practices in all their activities.

"However, we are resigned to the fact that many are incapable of safe driving or safe boating for even safe walking," he said. "There will be accidents and some are likely to be fatal, but we are making no definite prediction, since any carload or boatload of holidayers can upset any pattern of average behaviour. For example, we had 2 deaths last year but the year before saw a total of 12 in traffic only."

Here are some suggestions for planning a happy holiday:

* Plan to leave early so that you will have plenty of time to reach your destination. If possible, avoid driving on Friday or Saturday night.

* Check the mechanical condition of your car—brakes, lights, steering, tires, etc.

* Get a good night's sleep before starting the journey.

* This is harvest time. Watch for slow moving farm machinery on all roads. Also, obey instructions at all highway construction sites and adjust speed for changing weather and road conditions.

* Share the road. The safe driver will be especially alert for the unsafe acts of others. Smart alecs and incompetent drivers are very annoying, but remember that your job is to avoid an accident. We know you'll stop, but will he?

* If your car is equipped with seat belts, be sure to use them.

LAWN TEA HONORS CAROL POWELL

HARDISTY—A pre-nuptial lawn tea was held in honor of Miss Carol Lynne Powell, at the home of Mrs. Arlene Woyen.

The afternoon was spent in contests and musical numbers by Doreen, Bill and Carol. A most bounteous lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Marion Johnson, who also presented Carol on behalf of friends and neighbors, with a Damask Tablecloth and matching Napkins, artistically autographed, by Mrs. F. Wilder.

Carol thanked her friends and the hostess for a delightful afternoon.

REV. F. PETERSON TO BE INDUCTED

KILLAM—The Rev. Foley Cyril Peterson will be inducted as Minister of the United Churches of Mirror, Forestburg and Killam, on Wednesday, September 8th at 8:00 p.m., in a service conducted by Ministers of the Coronation Presbytery, in the Killam United Church.

Although this is his first Charge as an Ordained Minister, Mr. Peterson comes with a wide background of experience. Before volunteering for the ministry, he served the Hudson Bay Co. as credit manager in Saskatoon, and was Assistant Traffic Manager at Edmonton. He served as Assistant Supply at St. Paul and Manville.

Rev. Peterson is a graduate of the University of Alberta and of St. Stephen's College in Edmonton.

Mrs. Peterson, nee Elsie Vivian Smith, is a native of Rosvarden, Saskatchewan. They have four children, Lionel 13, Howard 12, Nancy 10 and Neil 4.

Drever Family To Leave Hardisty

HARDISTY — A gift book was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Drever and family, Lynn, Judy, Cliff and Dale, on behalf of the congregation of St. Paul's United Church, Hardisty, on Sunday, the 22nd of August. The presentation was made by Harold Moody, Clerk of Session, at the close of the morning service, after Rev. Zwicker paid tribute to Ken for his valuable contribution as chairman of the finance committee for years and a member of the Session.

Mrs. B. E. Hempel, Supt. of the Sunday School, presented a gift from the Sunday School, and expressed thanks for teaching a class of boys for some years.

Regret was felt at the loss of Mrs. Drever also, who was a faithful worker in the U. C. W.

While the Drevers will make their home in Camrose, Ken will continue to carry on his business in Hardisty.

WIN KINETTE AWARDS

SEDGEWICK— Each year the Sedgewick Kinette Club gives two awards for the best kept lawns and gardens in Sedgewick.

Judging for this year has just been completed and the winners are: First, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Campbell; Second, Mrs. Tiny Medisky.

YOUNG SOCIAL CREDITERS OUTLINE STUDY LESSONS

SEDGEWICK—The regular meeting of the Sedgewick-Coronation Young Social Crediters was held August 19th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lewis with fourteen members present. The coming book study was discussed and a committee nominated to look after all details. The President and Vice President outlined briefly what study lessons would be for the coming year and the group agreed to their plans. A stimulating question and answer quiz was presented after which the meeting was adjourned. For entertainment the group played a game of twenty questions. Lunch was served. Next meeting will be held at Mr. and Mrs. Elnar Brandengins, date to be set by the executive.

Just as the harvesting operations were getting into high gear, the rains came and with it a grinding halt to all field work. Well over an inch of precipitation during the wet spell will cause a delay of some days before operations can get under way again.

With several days of ideal weather conditions prevailing, grain farmers had hundreds of acres in the swath, and with only a few more days of sunshine would have seen much of it combined and in the bins.

Those who had crops ready for the straight combine operation and have a good portion of the crop harvested, found the yields, while not as good as anticipated, running well above the long-time average. Wheat is yielding all the way up to 45 bushels per acre, with an average to date of somewhere around 30-35. Grades are mostly in the 2 and 4 class, with some No. 2 being reported.

With a forecast of clearing weather it is anticipated that within a week operations will again be in full swing, with the completion of an early harvest still in prospect.

A fair proportion of the wheat not ready for the sealbel before the wet weather, will now be ready for straight combining, which will put many farm operations in half.

Besides delaying the harvest and possibly hurting the quality of the grain the rain and winds caused a large amount of standing grain to lodge. As one farmer put it, some of it is horizontal then vertical and then horizontal. "It's a mess to combine but we'll get it.

FLOWER SHOW

KILLAM— A beautiful flower show and tea was held on August 7th with over 90 entries of garden flowers and house plants.

The Rebekah Cup, open only to members, was won by Karen Englad who also got the most firsts with eight ribbons. Most Entries resulted in a draw between Gladys Christenson and Mrs. Englad with Gladys Christenson being the winner.

GOLDEN WHEAT HARVEST—The combining of the wheat crop was just nicely under way when the rains came late last week and stopped everything. The sun is once again shinning brightly and the combines will be rolling once again before the end of this week and we hope there will be no more interruptions because of weather.

School Doors Open For Another Term

Well as the man said, the "Vacation" is over, and on Wednesday the doors of the local schools were swung wide open to receive the hordes of young and inspiring students who will buckle down to the months of readin', writin' and 'rithmatic.

For some days now caretakers have been getting the classrooms in shape for the session, and the staffs are all but complete, and mothers are hearing sighs of relief as little Johnny makes his daily visit to school.

This first week of the new term will see the high school students making their choices of the courses offered, which will eventually lead them to university or into the labor market, and teachers will be working overtime to get things in shape a little ahead to the business of seriously dispensing education.

New Phone System Extending Service

For most of the summer crews have been busy working in the district installing new under-ground and overhead cables in preparation for the coming of the dial telephone system this fall.

New telephone buildings have been built in a number of the local towns and crews are busy installing the equipment.

In the picture a member of the staff of Northern Electric Ltd. of Toronto is shown connecting one of the thousands of wires that make up the various circuits in the system.

When installation of the equipment is completed and it has been checked out to correct any defects that may be found the system will stand almost on supervision.

In many cases when something goes amiss the equipment will correct itself and report the faulty mechanism. To a certain extent the equipment can even make decisions. As an example, it would be virtually impossible for two people to dial the same number at exactly the same time but just in case this should happen the equipment will decide which one should get the number and give the other person a busy signal.

Another built-in feature of the system is its ability to report trouble to a central office so a repair crew can be sent out. This also includes reporting the temperature inside the building if it varies beyond set limits.

Dial telephones are already in operation at Strome and shortly will be at Sedgewick and Killam. Work is underway in the other areas and within a matter of months most of the M.D. of Flagstaff will be dialing their own numbers.

Return To The Classrooms!

If we desire health, we must strive in the right way to get it. Thus also with education. The richest youth in the nation cannot get it without working, but the poorest may have it if he fulfills the conditions of striving and persevering. A superficial glance at conditions in the world today reveals all too plainly the prevalence of the desire to get something for nothing, or at least for very little. The worker who watches the clock too closely and yet wonders why the pay doesn't increase; the workman who uses poor material where he thinks it will not be noticed; the dealer who gives short weight. These are the results of a false note that had been and is still being sounded in the training of our young people. Groceries must be paid for no matter how much we rebel at the price. Friendship must be paid for with friendship. Social success must be paid for with a real and lasting desire to please others. And that is no small price to pay. To often we hear people speak of the curse pronounced on man, that he must sweat for his bread. Honest effort, whether it be of the hand or the head or the heart is what we may well consider of first importance. There is always room for it in every walk of life, and those who can be depended upon to supply it will be in demand as long as the world lasts. And when we are able to teach our children, by example, that nothing worth having, either material or spiritual, can be obtained without paying the price, we will have taken a big step toward ushering in the golden age.

A new school term is now in the making and the wise student will return to the classroom absorbed in all the education possible, and prepare himself for the future, which demands only the best.

Labour Day Year's Top Road Killer

Of Canada's seven major holidays, the Labour Day weekend is well in the lead as creator of death on the highways, reported the Canadian Highway Safety Council. In fact, said CHSC, the working man, whose day it is, is being pushed into the background by the road victims in the general public's view of the holiday.

The average number of road fatalities on Labour Day weekend in Canada is 61. Other holidays have averages below that. They include 25 for New Year's (the least); 35 for Easter, 42 for Victoria Day, 45 for Dominion Day, 50 for Christmas, 52 for Thanksgiving.

Major causes, CHSC claimed, are the urge for dominance, the urge for speed, reluctance to "give in" to the other driver, failure to make use of driving procedures and car features designed to help avoid mishaps, and lack of attention to the simple signs that warn of potential peril.

Genetic Engineering To Change Humans!

Out of the scientific world comes a prediction that could satisfy the longings of the human race or confound people beyond endurance, depending to a large extent on their hopes for the future. Science predicts the definite possibility within five years of parents being able to control, or at least to order the type of child they want. Do they want a blonde, a brunette; a child of a certain height and body structure, all they have to do is put in their order before the child is born and science takes over and "delivers" the desired product. It's all beyond our comprehension, but the scientific world explains that it is all done through the introduction of new genes made up of dioxybonucliec acid, known as DNA. In ordinary language DNA acts as a coded message telling cells what to do and how to do it. These attempts at hereditary intervention will be made with an unborn infant at the earliest stage.

We can see trouble looming ahead for the human race if science is ever given a free hand in this matter.

The one bright spot is the possibility it has of fighting off such diseases as cancer and leukemia, and from there on eliminating disease and suffering from the burdens of mankind. But a deep and intelligent look at the horrifying possibilities of such an adventure into the realm of procreation almost stuns the imagination. Exploration of the possibilities repulses the calculating mind, leaves the adventurer cold as an icicle, while developing the dreamer into a fiendish and scheming but proud parent.

Putting such genes to work in satisfying the ego of humans has the distinct possibility of producing not an entire race of Rock Hudsons and Mae Wests. Broad shouldered men of slim waists standing six feet tall, curly black hair and intelligence fitted only for high and soft executive occupations. Women of high breasts and swaying hips in the traditional five-foot-two, eyes of blue style. Where will we find the little guy to crawl down the manhole and clean out the sewer. From where will come the big rawboned woman to pitch the bales and hoe the garden?

Better it would be, perhaps to leave the genes in the test tube and let nature and parents control the nature of offspring. We may continue to run into troubles but at least we will know that the end result is something in which we had a part, and not that of a bunch of scurrying genes giving us something we're not responsible for.

If these little body structural changers will do all that science claims for them, let them first be used to eliminate the distress that we of the bald-headed fraternity live under. If it can do that we are prepared to go all the way with the experiment.

WATCH THIS SPACE— IT STAYS AND STAYS!

Television is a remarkably versatile entertainment medium. It can also do great things in some lines of advertising, but it has one single weakness. What would a newspaper's advertisers think if they were told a blank square in the columns of their favorite newspaper, and told that their advertising message was printed in a secret ink that would become visible at exactly two minutes past six p.m. on Tuesday, and would remain visible for exactly 30 seconds? Watch this space! Describe your product, picture it, price it, and run the ad in your weekly newspaper. The reader can pick it up again to check your address or telephone number. Prolonged Boom

OTTAWA—Canada's economy is getting a boost from the bouncing babies of Peking and the bungling collective farmers of the Soviet Union.

Once before, two years ago, the cossacks came riding over the hill to buy our wheat and rescue the Canadian dollar from imminent collapse.

Now big wheat purchases by the Soviets and a prospective sale to Red China have injected new life into an economy which might otherwise have topped the peak and started sliding downhill much sooner than it is now expected to do so.

Soviet farm troubles were sharply highlighted again by the $500 million wheat purchase recently negotiated. Now the Chinese are knocking at the door again, mulling a renewal for a third term of the big wheat contract first negotiated five years ago—a deal which set the trend of big sales to Communist countries.

The Soviet Union should be able to feed itself if it can ever get its agricultural ups untangled and allow its fertile soil and hard-working farmers to produce up to capacity.

China is a different question, a long-term importer of food as long as the population expands faster than the means to feed it.

Figures recently released by the Canadian Trade Department show the effect of this demand on Canadian trade with Communist countries. Ten years ago, trade was a trickle. The whole Communist bloc including China, Russia and the seven other Communist countries of Eastern Europe took less than $5 million worth of Canadian goods.

But last year, the European Communist countries alone imported nearly a billion dollars worth of goods from Canada—and more than 60 per cent was wheat and flour. Russia took the largest part but all the other "bloc" countries were big buyers too, to the collective tune of $150 million.

When Alvin Hamilton, the flamboyant Tory agriculture minister, took the first big whirl at the Communist market there were plenty of hard-headers who predicted that it was a one-shot bonanza.

There's still good reason, Canadian officials believe, to treat the Communist market with caution and make sure we don't neglect our traditional customers and such growing markets as Japan. But still, the sales to Communist countries have come in mighty heady.

Just before the sale to Russia, Canadian economists were making fairly gloomy noises about the economy. They saw rising imports and weaker demand for Canadian exports. This, they thought, would increase Canada's trading deficit and bring about restrictions on the level of business activity.

Now these estimates have to be revised in the light of the new wheat sales to Communist countries. Instead of tapering off, the boom may continue well into 1966 even though it has already run longer than any previous business expansion since the Second World War.

The sales to the Communists—in which American farmers can't share because of U.S. shipping regulations—tend to insulate the Canadian economy from a downturn in the United States although Canada couldn't long resist the effects of a real recession across the border.

The Canadian Government is still keeping a wary eye on prices, particularly since some recent price increases affect capital imports from the United States. At a recent press conference, Prime Minister Pearson mentioned the dangers of inflation and he had already taken cautious steps to restrain federal building activity.

But the danger that the boom will bury itself out in an inflationary splurge is not considered imminent.

The present four-year boom has made havoc of a good many economic predictions that the present is just around the corner. But like the man who predicts rain every morning, the devotees of "the gloomy science of economics" are bound to be right sometime.

It's still possible, as some economists have forecast, that Canadians will celebrate the 1967 Centennial by living off the soup kitchens. This is probably one reason why the Russian wheat sale was followed by an upsurge in the election barometer. Any Government in its right mind wants to get a fresh mandate while the boom is on the the boom.

But the Communist sales certainly have the effect of starving off any evil day which may be in Canada's future. And this puts the present-day disciples of Marx in the curious position of helping to maintain in Canada the kind of prosperity they have always held to be impossible under our kind of economic system.

THE DAY OF NO REST

There have been fantastic changes in our way of living in the last two or three decades. Schools are bigger and brighter, if not better. The hamburger have taken over popular music and public attention. Television tirelessly hurls verbal and visual garbage in our unrealizing faces. Murder and rape walk city streets, even in daytime. Not to mention racial strife, the welfare state, frozen foods, instant everything, and Japanese motor scooters.

It's a long, long way from that simple, cut-and-dried, black and white society in which most of today's middleagers, caught in a world revolution, were brought up.

If our parents and grandparents could be brought back from their eternal rest for a quick look at our world they would probably die straight into deep shock. They might be able to cope with most of the items above, but there is one thing that would send them right around the bend: — the change in our observance of Sunday.

When I was a kid, Sunday, aside from its religious aspects, was a day of rest, literally. There was nothing else to do. For the average family, it was church in the morning, home for a big noon dinner, and then a long, lazy day for adults. gloomy poking around house or back yard for the kids, supper, and to bed early in preparation for school. Or, not even a game of catch. Peace and quiet, however resented by the young.

Only variation in this was the dreaded call of hords of old relatives. Everyone then sat around in Sunday best, in parlor or on porch, and passed interminably about Cousin Elwood's bad back or Aunt Arlene's asthma.

Another up thinking that Sunday was just a day on which you couldn't do anything worthwhile. My attitude toward the Sabbath was that (please turn to page 6)

Carol Forster - Edward Cavanagh Wed At Knox United Church

Knox United Church was the scene of a lovely wedding on August 14th, at 2:30 p.m. when Carol Irene, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Forster was married to 2nd Lt. Dale Edward Cavanagh of Winnipeg, the younger son of Mr. and Mrs. James Cavanagh of Hardisty.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. F. Peterson in the church decorated with baskets of glads, baby mums and candles.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a floor length white crepe sheath with a round neckline lily point sleeves, lace appliqued a chapel length train and a headfact veil of silk illusion misted from a pearl trimmed flower headpiece. She carried a bouquet of deep pink roses and lily-of-the-valley and were pearl earrings and a pearl drop.

Mrs. Irene Hallum, cousin of the bride was matron of honor and Marlene Cavanagh, sister of the groom was the bridesmaid Diane Wegmann, the bride's cousin was lovely little flower girl. All were identically dressed in short white crepe sheaths with pink organza overskirts, matching headpieces and pink shoes. They carried bouquets of white carnations.

The groom was attended by Lt. Bryan Drown and Lt. Rob Costhurs, both of Winnipeg. All three were formal military uniforms. Jimmy Forster, brother of the bride, acted as ring bearer.

Ushers were Calvin Cavanagh, Stan Forster, Doug Forster, and Larry Bredeson.

During the signing of the register Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wyatt sang "The Wedding Prayer". The wedding music was played by Mrs. Herb Wilson. For the occasion the bride's mother chose a blue lace sheath with matching white nylon hat and white accessories. She wore a corsage of pink sweet heart roses.

The groom's mother wore a beige puffed brocade sheath with matching hat. Her corsage was organza picture hat, turquoise gloves and a corsage of talisman roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement. The band table was covered with a white lace tablecloth centered by a three-tiered wedding cake baked by the bride's mother and beautifully decorated by Mrs. Ken Nelson, great-aunt of the bride. The cake was cut by the bride and groom with a sword in traditional military fashion.

The toast to the bride was proposed by Doug Forster, the bride's uncle, to which the groom ably replied. Calvin Cavanagh, brother of the groom, acted as M.C. Telegrams to the happy couple were read by the best man. At the close of the reception Mrs. Dolores Wyatt sang "You'll Never Walk Alone".

Open house was attended by a host of friends and relatives at the home of the bride's parents. A dance followed in the Elks Hall in Killam.

Out of town guests attended from Winnipeg, Provost, Hughenden, Hardisty, Lougheed, Sedgewick, Camrose, Lacombe, Edmonton, Wainburg, Red Deer, Bentley, Calgary, Galahad and Forestburg.

For a honeymoon in the mountains the bride wore a navy blue suit with white accessories and a corsage of sweet heart roses.

The happy couple will make their home in Winnipeg.

How many of you subscribe to "Consumer Reports" or have even heard of it? This is a monthly publication that is designed to give the consumer buying information about goods which are out on the market, ranging from scouring pads to cars. A yearly issue called the "Buying Guide Issue" of Consumer Reports gives to the consumer specific information about a wide variety of goods and services. Even an entry on "Choosing the Family Doctor" is included.

Under Automobiles it contains forty full pages of the following articles: "Shopping for Auto Insurance"; "Buying a Station Wagon."; "Foreign Cars"; "How to Buy a Used Car", and "Permanent Anti-Freeze".

It also includes charts on:

1. 1964 Sedans as Used Cars: (a) Compacts; (b) Intermediates; and (c) Full-sized.

2. 1964 Station Wagons as Used cars.

3. Recommended Makes and Models: (a) Desirable Models; (b) Undesirable Models.

4. Frequency-of-Repair Records: 1955-1963 Models

Other articles are included on:

Hydraulic Brake Fluid; Price Tables, 1959-1963 Models; Roadside Emergency Signals; Rear-Deck Speakers; Seat Belts and Harness; and Ratings of forty lap belts that were acceptable and twenty-nine that were not.

Included are the ratings on eight harnesses that were found acceptable and one that was not. Children's Safety Devices were also tested.

Appliances include air conditioners, fry pans, portable broilers, freezers, swing machines, vacuum cleaners, irons, fans, ranges, toasters and washing machines, to mention only a few.

If you happen to be considering a new sewing machine consider these facts first.

1 Should you buy one? If you are apt to use a sewing machine only occasionally, consider renting rather than buying Some stores will apply rental fees toward the purchase of a new machine should you later decide to buy. If you have a machine (even a treadle type) that has been capably doing your sewing tasks, ask yourself whether the additional conveniences of a new model are worth the cost.

2 Shopping—Don't pay attention to those tempting T.V. ads or door-to-door salesmen who offer to sell you a machine at a ridiculously low price Buy at a reputable store and always have all your questions answered, and always experiment before you buy Decide whether you want a portable or a console model. Try lifting the portable machine to make sure you can handle it with ease.

With any machine see the cabinet is comfortable to sit at, of proper height, and sturdy enough to hold the machine safely even when it runs at top speed. The speed control should be easy to reach when you sit squarely before the machine. A knee-operated speed control may be adaptable for foot operation.

Put the machine slowly through its full speed range to see whether there are any points at which its vibration is disturbing. A good speed control is especially important in decorative stitching. It should work freely throughout the range with a smooth mechanical feel. It should start the machine off slowly and smoothly without hand assistance on the balance wheel; and it should require neither too much nor too little movement of the control arm for changes in sewing speed.

Stitching controls that require resetting from time to time should be clearly marked and calibrated. Bobbin insertion, bobbin removal and threading should be easy to do.

When you have chosen the model and cabinet you want, try them out together in the store. Or, if the store is one that permits a home test for a week or so, try them out at home.

Always follow exactly the manufacturer's instructions for cleaning and lubricating the machine.

This column is for you, the homemaker, so if any of you techs have ideas that you would like me to discuss in my column, I would appreciate it very much if you would give me a call or drop me a line expressing your wishes.

Improving Farm Water Supply

"You never miss the water till the well runs dry" is a folkore saying that does not come to mind often in years of abundant run-off and rainfall such as this year.

Yet it is just in these years, when there is so much water, that wise farmers will look ahead and prepare storage for the dry years that may come again.

During the dry years just past, it was found by many farmers and ranchers, that what they did put like about dug-outs was only that there were not enough of them and that they should have been made even bigger.

The bigger and deeper the hole, the less chance there is of running out of water if a year or two of very light snowfall comes our way. so, then a dug-out 125 feet long, 85 feet wide, 12 feet deep with side slopes 1 1/2 to 1 and end slopes 4 to 1, is also about 4300 cubic yards in size.

To help farmers and ranchers make larger holes, the Canada Department of Agriculture, through P.F.R.A., has increased maximum financial assistance for a dug-out to $300.

The grant, as in the past, is based on the cubic yards excavated. Payment is made at the rate of 7¢ per cubic yard up to a maximum of $300.

On a typical project, to obtain full assistance, the dug-out must be almost 4300 cubic yards in size.

A dug-out 200 feet long, 70 feet wide, and 14 feet deep, with 1 1/2 to 1 side slopes and 4 to 1 end slopes, is almost 4300 cubic yards.

In this area many people prefer to make a shorter, wider hole. If so, then a dug-out 125 feet long, 85 feet wide, 12 feet deep with side slopes 1 1/2 to 1 and end slopes 4 to 1, is also about 4300 cubic yards in size.

This increase in size will give an additional 80,000 gallons of water in the dug-out. The largest size dug-out should be particularly appealing to farmers who are considering a modern water supply and sewage system and will require a more adequate and dependable water supply. In order to obtain further information regarding your dug-out program apply as in the past to your Municipal Secretary-Treasurer, your District Agriculturist, or you may write directly to the P.F.R.A. District Office in Vegreville.

The Canada Pension Plan and its benefits

Here is what the Canada Pension Plan will do for people like Thor Andersen, a farmer who works for himself and makes $4,000 a year.

The Andersens are both aged 45 and have no family. If Thor's earnings continue at $4,000 a year until he reaches age 65, he can look forward to a retirement pension of $83.33 a month from the Plan. This, plus the $75 check Mr. and Mrs. Andersen will receive from Old Age Security, will give them a total of $233.33 a month—equal to 70% of Thor's previous average earnings.

If Thor becomes disabled anytime after 1970, having contributed until his disability began, he will get a disability pension of $87.50 a month. This will continue until he becomes 65 when he will receive his retirement and Old Age Security pension.

Should Thor die anytime after 1967, having contributed until his death, his wife will receive a widow's pension of $36.25 a month until she becomes 65. From then on she will get $125 a month—$50 from the Plan and $75 from Old Age Security. At the time of Thor's death Mrs. Andersen will be entitled to a lump sum payment of $300.

All benefits under the Plan will maintain their value. The actual benefits payable will probably be higher than those given here since benefits will be adjusted to meet changes in living costs and in wage levels before they are paid and changes in living costs after they become payable.

What will the Plan cost you?

If you, like Thor, in a particular year, have self-employed earnings of $4,000 you will pay $122.40 in instalments, in the same way you pay income tax.

This advertisement is one of a series which relates some of the important benefits of the Canada Pension Plan to individual circumstances.

Issued by authority of the Minister of National Health and Welfare, Canada.
The Honourable Judy LaMarsh.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mrs. Blanche Herinek who passed away on September 6th, 1962.

You left us suddenly,
Your last thoughts unknown;
But you left us with memories
We are proud to own.
God saw you getting weary,
He did what He thought best,
He put His arms around you
And whispered "Come and Rest."
Ever remembered and sadly missed by: The Family. 16 1 p

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Roy William Hobson, who passed away September 6th, 1959.

When last we saw your smiling face,
You looked as fit and well
That little did we realize
It was your last farewell.
It broke our hearts to lose you Roy,
But you did not go alone;
For part of us went with you
The day God called you home.
And always every evening
We seem to have a wry,
Of wandering back to meet you dear,
On the road to yesterday.
Always remembered and sadly missed by: Mom and Brother Lorne. 16-1-c

Card of Thanks

I would like to express my sincere thanks to Dr. K. MacQuarrie and to the sisters, Nurses and Staff of Killam Hospital for the wonderful care they gave me during my recent illness. A. P. Crop Report

LOCAL—Swathing of Barley is fairly general and some combining has been done. Yielding of early wheat and oats is reported from most stations and considerable should be harvested quickly in the northeast. Gernot Wheat has been seriously damaged by rust.

GENERAL—The weather over Alberta during the past week has continued mostly sunny and warm and crops have been maturing rapidly. Harvesting of Barley is under way in nearly all parts of the province, and some swathing of earlier crops of Wheat and Oats is reported from most areas. With favorable harvesting weather, swathing of grain should become fairly general throughout the province in a week to ten days. In the south harvesting of Winter Wheat and Rye is well advanced. Wheat averaging about 35 bus., Rye 30 bus.

Mr. and Mrs J. Polashyte left on Monday for a holiday out to Vernon, B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Dolana and family were in Calgary last week-end visiting with Mrs. Dolana's sister Mrs. Heidebrecht, and family.

The Driegers are moving to Camrose to where Mr. Driedger has bought an insurance business. His office in Daysland will continue to do business as usual.

Farewells Held For Mrs. Doris Rawe

Mrs. Dietrich, Mrs. Dennis Hauch, and Mrs. Ken Hoffman were hostesses for a farewell party held at the home of Mrs. Frankler on Wednesday afternoon for Mrs. Doris Rawe who is leaving shortly to make her home at Ashmont. Doris was presented with a corsage and sheets and pillow cases. A sing-song was enjoyed and a delicious lunch served. In the evening afternoon, Mrs. James Curtis entertained at her home in Mrs. Rawes honor with Mrs. Spargos and Mrs. Gaiid as assisting hostesses. Another gift of blankets and sheets was presented. Doris very graciously expressed her thanks at both parties and extended an invitation to all, to visit her at her new home.

Relatives gathered at the home of Mrs. Dietrich on August 15 to meet their cousins Elizabeth and Helen Spaks who had arrived from St. Cloud Minn., for a three day visit. They left on Saturday night by bus to visit other relatives at Provost and Lloydminster. Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCoy of Edmonton, drove them down to Stream. Mr. and Mrs. Gayfer of Camrose were Friday evening callers to meet the cousins.

Mrs. B. Blesear is holidaying in the U.S.A. Mr. and Mrs. Hamblin were visiting friends here this week.

On Thursday evening in the Legion Hut Mrs. Jane Rawe was hostess for an Anwray Party, at which Mr and Mrs. Hamblin demonstrated the various Anwray products. Anyone wishing to purchase these or wishing more information can contact Mrs. Rawe as she is the Strome Representative Ardath Limbarner and Honey Carle holidayed at Gull and Sylvan Lake, and also visited the Jim Porter's at Red Deer.

SUGAR and SPICE

the sooner it was over, the better. But even then, though I was too young to notice, the rot had set in. Some of the wilder elements in the Conservative Party were smashing the Calvinistic gloom. Here and there, a family would not only go for a drive on Sunday, but smuggle swimming suits and a picnic lunch along. Before you knew it, the odd family was secretly listening to Jack Benny on the radio, after supper.

The virus spread like wildfire. By the time I achieved manhood, the grand old traditional Sunday was crumbling rapidly. The more reckless among the young fellows began hanging around the cinema restaurant or going for walks with girls. Some of the more anarchists even let them start playing tennis and fishing and all sorts of unspeakable things.

From there, of course, it was only a step to wearing sports clothes and smoking and having a beer on Sunday. Drugstores and restaurants began staying open, to cope with this new wave of weaknesses. Sunday sports got one toe in the door, then kicked it wide open. Sunday movies moved in. The benches set up midway rides. The Communist radio was invented, along with the drive-in.

And you know, too, what's happened to the peace and quiet of our old childhood Sunday. Sports cars bellow, lawnmowers whine. Traffic whines on highways, children whine at beeches. Transistors blare Beatles-beat. Power boats drum and throb. The air is sweet with the pock of golf balls ricocheting off trees, and wood-splitters ricocheting off the heads of swimmers. Beer cans clang on asphalt. Couples wrangle on gin and tonic. Even the birds have to shout louder to hear each other.

And all that, Dads, is why your old man went back from a rest in work on Monday, while you go back to work for a rest.

Pony Chariots Race At Edberg And Eckville

On August 11th at the Edberg Sports the Daysland Pony Chariot took part in the parade and racing on a good track about one third of a mile. Top time going to Ray Adamson's outfit with time of 47.2 seconds. 2nd Sheets and Hutchinson of Camrose with time of 48.4 seconds. 3rd Malloy Hatchery outfit driven by O. W. Ashton with time of 49.2 seconds. 4th Allan Schenk outfit of Daysland with time of 49.8 seconds.

Daysland Pony Chariots Took Part In The Eckville Rodeo on August 13th and 13th at the Eckville Rodeo, five outfits from Daysland Pony Chariots took part in the parade and racing in the afternoon on a good track about one third of a mile, with top time going to: Hugh Shanks of Camrose, 2nd to Glen Helmig of Daysland, 3rd to Bill McKenzie of Eckville, 4th to Jim Pollitt of Eckville and 5th to Russell Sheets of Camrose.

Also pony chuck wagon racing was held on the one third mile track with top time going to: 1st, Jim Pollett of Eckville, 2nd Bill McKenzie of Eckville, 3rd Glen Helmig and Grant Baeser of Daysland, 4th Russell and Hugh Sheets of Camrose, 5th Bob Pollitt of Eckville and 6th Ralph Jarvis of Eckville.

The boys also took part in the rodeo, coming home with a Trophy for the Wild Horse Race.

Tieing for front and second Dennis Borgstrom, Glen Helmig and Dale Oldorf, Jack Bloemer, Stan and Francis Meachin. Third money going to Glen Helmig, Grant Bloemer and Dennis Borgstrom.

They didn't do so hot in the steer and bareback riding.

YOUR HOME ECONOMIST!
Miss Irene Eby is your new Home Economist, replacing Mary Lou Philips. Irene Eby is stationed at the Camrose D.A. office but serves Camrose and Flagstaff Districts.
Miss Eby would like to divide her time evenly between the two districts and is prepared to spend two days a week in the M. D. Flagstaff. This is your chance to get the M. D. of Flagstaff to make more use of the Home Economist. Be sure to keep Irene busy.
Miss Eby and I are both planning our winter programs now and any suggestions of the kind of program or meeting that you would like, would be welcome. We will be calling on some of the women in each district asking for ideas the next few weeks. The two days from you will spend in this district will appear in our columns as soon as the best days are determined.
Miss Eby is qualified to help the homemakers with many different subjects such as: Home Building or Remodelling plans, Floor Covering, Drapery, Color Treatments, Furniture Selection, Sewing Problems, Food and Nutrition, Money Management, Wills and Estate Planning, Clothing and Appliance Buymanship and many others.
Irene would like to conduct meetings, schools and home visits. There are numerous booklets and circulars on a wide variety of topics now available free of charge. You can write or phone either the Camrose or Sedgewick Extension offices regarding your home making problems or suggestions. We invite you to keep us busy.
VIRUS DIARRHEA IN CATTLE!
A vaccine for virus diarrhea or mucosal disease in cattle was released for use in Canada this year. Dr. H. N. Vance, Laboratory Division of the Provincial Veterinary Services Branch, thinks the vaccine may be helpful if it is used at the very beginning of the infection. Since the vaccine is a live virus, it takes some immunity in two or three days but the peak is not reached for at least a week.
Often the number of cattle affected with virus diarrhea is not high, but once an animal gets the disease it usually dies within three to seven days. There is no treatment. The main symptoms are severe diarrhea, complete loss of appetite, rapid dehydration and ulceration of the mouth.
Losses in Alberta from virus diarrhea vary from 5 to 25 percent of a herd. According to Dr. Vance, they are usually in the lower range. This is why he has some doubts on the likelihood or justification of a blanket vaccination program here.
With virus diarrhea as with the other diseases, an early diagnosis greatly enhances the chances of carrying out some kind of effective control program.

Killam Young People Hold Corn Roast

The Pastor, Rev. A. Grymaleski, was in charge of the services on Sunday, August 29.

The August meeting of the W.M.S. was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Frendrick on Thursday evening with eleven ladies present. President, Mrs. Dorothy Heartberg was in charge of the meeting with Mrs. Grymaleski giving the names of this month's missionary couple and their biographies. Mrs. J. Simmons led the devotion while Mrs. J. Frendrick gave the spiritual life devotion and rendered a solo. It was decided to invite Mrs. Mattoon of Wetaskiwin as a guest speaker for a W.M.S. meeting this fall. Much discussion followed re the commencement of G.M.G. (Girls Missionary Guild).

Approximately fifty young people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sorensen on Friday night. The young people had as their guests young people from the Killam and Alliance Pentecostal churches. A social time was enjoyed which included a hay ride, games and a corn roast. Geysar presented the devotion.

We are sorry to report that Miss Mary Patten has been hospitalized. Our prayers are with you, and also Mr. and Mrs. Olav Pedersen.

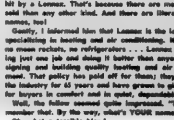
TERRIBLE BLOW
(By Sort Odland)


What a terrible blow I received a few days ago!
A prospective customer was intending to buy my sales story. Naturally, the name "Lennox" buzzing and air conditioning cropped up often. "What brand name did you say?" he asked at last. "Lennox," I answered. "Never heard of it," he said, without a blur of hesitation in his calm, innocent eyes. This jarred me clear to my socks. But coming back gamely, I asked him what furnace he had names he did know.
Well, it turned out that he couldn't think of any, not even the brand of the old furnace in his home.
Actually, I shouldn't have been too surprised. Central heating and air conditioning equipment is usually installed out of the way and forgotten. And it takes years to make a furnace name a household word through advertising. People just don't buy or think about furnaces that often.
My friend was soon set straight. I told him that, if furnaces were automobiles, he could hardly walk across the street without being hit by a Lennox. That's because there are more Lennox furnaces sold than any other kind. And there are literally scores of brand names, too!
Gently, I informed him that Lennox is the largest manufacturer specializing in heating and air conditioning. He transforms air, not on moon rockets, no refrigerators . . . Lennox concentrates on doing just one job and doing it better than anyone else. That is designing and building quality heating and air conditioning equipment. That policy has paid off for them; they have been leading the industry for 65 years and have grown to giant size. It pays off for buyers in comfort and in quiet, dependable equipment.
Well, the fellow seemed quite impressed. "Lennox, eh? I'll remember that. By the way, what's YOUR name?"
Oh, what a terrible blow!

FOUR POUNDS MORE FOR FAST DRIVING

Automobile tires should be inflated four pounds above the recommended normal pressure for extended high-speed driving, cautions the Canadian Highway Safety Council. Heat is a tire's worst enemy, the Council learns from the Rubber Association of Canada, and rapid flexing at high speed can cause excessive heat build-up in a tire. This can lead to premature tire failure, even a blowout.

Inflation higher than the recommended pressure reduces the degree of flexing and keeps heat to a minimum. The association also advised that pressures should only be checked when the tires are cool.

Farmers Take FCC Loans

OTTAWA — Major expansion in both loans and services highlights the sixth annual report of the Farm Credit Corporation tabled in the House of Commons June 30.

The report covers the Corporation's initial lending under the new Farm Machinery Syndicates Credit Act which provides credit to qualified syndicates of three or more farmers to purchase machinery for their cooperative use.

The Corporation began to accept applications under this Act in January 1965 and by the end of March loans totalling $219,404 had been approved for 32 syndicates. The syndicates were purchasing a wide variety of farm equipment, about 100 item, to serve 81 farmer-members.

Loans approved under the Farm Credit Act during the fiscal year ended March 31, 1965, reached a new peak of $154,813,980, up 43 per cent from the preceding year. The number of loans, 10,162, was a 17 per cent increase and a new record.

Repayment of loans outstanding continued on a satisfactory basis, but the report indicates that problems have emerged with some types of loans and in some areas, recognizing that the Corporation's lending is soaring a limit consistent with the net incomes potential of many farms.

Shown for the first time is the distribution of borrowers by age groups. During the year 67 per cent of the loans were to farmers under 45 years of age. In contrast, the 1961 Census of Agriculture indicated that 41.5 per cent of all farmers in Canada were in this age group.

FCC had an operating loss of $539,000 over the fiscal year, the result of an inadequate margin between the interest rate the Corporation must pay for the funds which it borrows and the rate it is permitted to charge on loans made to farmers.

Commenting on the past year's operation, Chairman George Owen said he was particularly pleased at the greater number of farmers being assisted under the two Acts administered by the Corporation. He stated also that lending during the current year (up to June 30) is continuing at a record pace, with 4, 235 loans for a total of $78,675,700, approved since April 1, or an increase of 72 per cent over the $45,534,300 approved for 2,466 farmers in the corresponding period last year.

PEOPLE WARNED ON PROTECTION

An illness among horses has been reported from various parts of Alberta during the last three weeks, and there appears to have been a concentration of cases in the areas around Edmonton and St. Paul.

The nature of the illness has not yet been confirmed, but equine encephalitis is suspected, and serum samples from a number of animals have been submitted to the Provincial Laboratory of Public Health.

Two human cases of suspected encephalitis have also been reported during the last two days, one from a few miles north of Edmonton and one from a few miles north-west of St. Paul.

The virus of equine encephalitis is known to be carried by birds. It is transmitted from birds to both horses and humans by a certain type of mosquito. Sick horses do not themselves present any danger for humans, but they do provide a useful warning of the presence of infected mosquitoes.

Since there is no vaccine against equine encephalitis that is suitable for human use, it is up to people to protect themselves against mosquitoes by the use of effective screens on windows and doors, the application of insect repellent to the skin, and the wearing of long-sleeved clothing out of doors during the hours when mosquitoes are prevalent.

2395 Students Register In Local Schools

Wednesday, September 1st saw the schools in the Killam Division open for another year and a total of 2395 students registered for classes.

In the picture is a group of new grade ones for whom school is a new step in life and the beginning of their formal education.

Total school enrollment in Killam School Division for the 1965-66 term is down slightly. To be exact there are 36 fewer students enrolled this term than for the last term.

While most of the schools in the Division are continuing the steady increase in the number of students which has prevailed during the past few years, one or two schools are down slightly in enrollment. These declines are confessed at Strome and Galahad.

Student enrollments for schools are as follows: Killam 822; Central High School 220; Dayaland 429; Hardisty 322; Meeker 314; Killam 288; Longlevat 130; Mersea 92; Sedgewick Public 225 and Pre-Em. 16; Strome 163; Galahad 135. The total enrollment is 2395.

Grade 12 Exam Results Surpass Old Records

Grade 12 examination results in the Killam School Division on June 14th examinations surpassed all previous records for the Killam Division. A total of 434 grade twelve examination papers were written, and of these 68.3 percent received a mark of 50 percent or better. The provincial average is 68 percent.

Eighteen students received matriculation passes consisting of at least a 60 percent average in six subjects. Supplemental exams in August will very likely increase this number.

Miss Isbel Lynne Ness, Central High Student, received an average of 91.8 percent, and will receive an award of $50 from the Division.

While it is not customary to release results for individual high schools, particular mention should be made of Dayaland, Central High School and Galahad. Students from these schools received "E" or better passes of 91, 69 and 65 percent respectively.

Grade Nine exam results were less impressive in that of the 397 pupils writing six received an honor pass, 177 received a regular pass and twenty-four failed.

Stanley McGillvray Alliance; Sandra Stuart, Hardisty; Peggy Dutton, Killam; James Wright, Lougheed; Vilma Semenchuk and Janet Pender of Strome, received honors. Each of the above pupils will receive awards of $25 from the School Division.

The Department of Education has not announced the winner of this year's Gov.-Gen. Medal.

ALMOST READY—Construction of the Feed Mill at Killam is rapidly progressing and it is expected to be completed within about six weeks. This view shows the new Mill from the East side.

Flagstaff Expects Extension On New Assessment Plan

The regular August meeting of the Council of the Municipal District of Flagstaff was held at the Council Chambers, Sedgewick, with all council members and the Sec.-Treas. in attendance.

The minutes of the last regular meeting, and the financial statement for the month were both presented and accepted as given.

After a short session the council adjourned to meet as the Flagstaff Farm Purchase Advisory Committee to hear an application of Lena Lakshall of Sedgewick to purchase the S. E. of 36-44-12 containing 160 acres, for the assessed price of $16,080.00. With a down payment of $5360, the application was approved by the committee.

Re-convening as the Council, Mr. Whitehead, shop foreman, met with the council and recommended that a bill from Street, Robbins and Munroe for repair work done on a tractor in the amount of $260.54, be not paid as the repairs were not satisfactory. Secretary was instructed to write the firm in this respect.

The shop foreman also reported on worn tires on the earth mover, and the fact that grader blades were being used rapidly due to dry weather. Information is to sought on the type of blade to purchase.

A letter from the Minister of Municipal Affairs advised council that the schedule of posters announced published in Ottawa, must be utilized on the new general assessment, and that the Municipality could consider any additional expenses incurred in making the revision a legitimate expense and would pay 25% of the additional costs.

As time does not permit the new assessment to be completed in time for 1966, council is asking for a one year extension of time in order to complete the new assessment schedule, and also for permission to pass a by-law to use the assessed value of any property as shown on the assessment roll of the current year as the assessed value of the property for the year 1966.

Mr. G. Hughes of Harrien and Associates has been invited to the next meeting to help explain the additional cost involved in making a revision of the present assessment.

Secretary reported that application had been made to the Provincial Planning Board for approval of the three acre subdivision in the S. W. of 34-40-11 required by the council for the sale of a motor grader operator's residence. A road division occupies part of this 3 acre

Hardisty Starting On Medical Centre

SHOWER HELD IN HONOR OF MISS LINDA MAKINS

SEDGEWICK — On Saturday evening, August 28th a shower was held in Bethania Church basement in honor of Miss Linda Makins, a bride of Sept. 18th to Everard Dye.

The M. C. for the evening was Mrs. Ned Jacobsen. Readings were given by Mrs. Leif Oshack and Mrs. Ted Dyo. A song composed by Lloyd Olsen, was sung by Mrs. Lloyd Olsen. Dianne and Muriel Oshack, Lois, Phyllis and Eunice Merken also favored with a song.

Mrs. Bill Lewis and Mrs. Teddy Dyo assisted the honored guest in opening the gifts, and the Bethania A. L. C. W served lunch.

HARDISTY—Bids on the construction of a new Medical Centre at Hardisty are presently being considered, along with the estimates on various types of buildings, and it is now finalized that the Centre, will be situated on the site of the old curling rink on the North-West end of the main street.

The committee in charge is hard at work planning out the final details and work on the project is expected to commence this month.

When completed according to plans the building will house a modern medical clinic for doctors, with added facilities for a dentist, with ample waiting room space and all modern facilities.

LONG SERVICE PIN—Ray Lambertsen, Personnel Officer representing the District Director of Postal Services in Edmonton, pins a long service badge on Sedgewick Post Master, Victor Eastly.

The pin is presented to government employees for twenty-five years of continuous service. Mr. Eastly joined the 49th Edmonton Regiment in September 1939 and was discharged in 1944, starting immediately in the Post Office on July 1st 1944. Along with the pin comes an extra week's vacation with pay and Mike says he's going to use it for Geese Hunting.

Hunters! Hold Your Fire

Game Bird Hunters in the local area served by the Community Press are warned not to get trigger happy over the article in last week's paper that the local hunting season opens on September 13th.

The paper has been informed by the long arm of the law that this area is in the Southern Hunting District, and that as such the season opens on SEPTEMBER 24th. Lay that shotgun down and wait a few more days.

Farewell Held For Hardisty Citizens

HARDISTY—A large crowd assembled at the I.O.O.F. Hall on Friday evening in a joint farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Ken Drever and Mr. Tom English.

With Mrs. G. Krusser at the piano, Len Anderson led in a singsong. With Ian Harrison and Dick Gillespie in charge, several games were played causing much amusement to onlookers as well as players. Following a generous lunch served by a number of the ladies, Ian Harrison as M.C. called the guests of honor to the centre of the floor, and after expressing his regret at losing these fine citizens of the town, presented each with a gift of money Replies of thanks were made by Iris and Ken, and Mr. English, following which the crowd sang, "For They Are Jolly Fellows".

Ken Drever and Iris Creasy were born and raised in the Hardisty district, and after their marriage lived in town where Ken managed the local B.A. Oil plant. They have taken an active part in all community projects, and with their children, Lynn, Judy, Vicki, Cliff and Dale, will be greatly missed as they move to Camrose.

Tom English has been the popular manager of the Imperial Bank of Commerce for the past several years and has been a help in many community affairs.

SHOWER HELD IN HONOR OF MRS "SONNY" LOZMESS

SEDGEWICK — On Thursday in the Legion Hut a shower was held in honor of Mrs. Sonny Lozmess, nee Gail Bowen. Mrs. Bert Whitten was in charge of the guest book, and the guests were received by Cindy and Laurie Dahl. M. C. for the evening was Mrs. Thurston Smith.

The program consisted of a contest, a mock wedding and a solo by Mrs. Barry Gascoyne.

In opening gifts the guest of honor was assisted by Shirley Colbert and Dottie Beadle, while her mother Mrs. Stan Bowen baked the gifts. Gail graciously thanked all present for the many lovely gifts.

SUN SHINING! FORECAST FOR MORE!

At press time the sun is shining brightly and the weatherman says it is going to continue, for at least a few days. Farmers will welcome the pleasant change in the weather after having their harvest activities brought to sudden halt by rain and chilly weather, over the weekend.

If the weatherman proves correct in his forecast, by the time this edition of the Press reaches the streets, harvest operations will be back in full swing. It is reported that only about 25% of the crop has been "Binned" at this date.

Roy Rick Dies In Road Accident

SEDGEWICK—Roy Rick, son of Anna Rick of the Mersea district South of Sedgewick, died of injuries received in a two-truck road accident on September 1st, a half mile North and a mile East of the Fred Ball farm.

From a re-construction of the accident it appears that the two trucks which were travelling together became involved in the accident as a result of a flat tire. The front truck driven by Clinton Anderson, son of Mr and Mrs. John Anderson stopped over a small knoll because of a flat tire, and the rear vehicle unable to stop in time, hit the stopped truck from the rear. With Clinton was Roy Rick. Driver of the second truck was Ron Bowman. Roy was found lying in the ditch, and the front truck was lying on it's side in the field.

Roy Rick was born at Mersea and educated at the local school and at Canadian Union College at Lacombe. He was 20 years of age. His father, Frank Rick was killed only a few years ago in a plane accident at Red Deer which also took the lives of Michael Medisky and Eddie Eisley.

Injured in the accident was Clinton Anderson who suffered chest and rib injuries and shock. So far as has been learned Ron Bowman escaped with only minor bruises and shock.

Funeral services for Roy were held last Friday at the Seventh Day Adventist Church at Mersea with burial in the local cemetery.

Farm Fatalities!

Will there be a greater number of farm fatalities and injuries this fall as a by-product of a bumper harvest?

Mr. Paul Babey, FUA President, feels there is cause for some concern because the usual harvest rush coupled with a bumper crop this year will tax potential farm labour to maximum. And because qualified personnel for operating potentially hazardous grain harvesting equipment are in very short supply, there will be many inexperienced helpers running combines and other machines this fall.

"We pray hopefully that the crop will be harvested without fatalities or serious accidents," said Mr. Babey.

Reasons for the labour shortage were outlined by the FUA President. He said low returns for farm production have been reflected in wages that are low in comparison with other industries. At the same time, unemployment insurance benefits are unavailable to farm workers. An indication of the low regard with which farm labour occupations are held is the fact that nowhere are vocational training programs available to fit workers for jobs in today's highly mechanized agriculture.

How will farmers cope with this labour shortage? Mr. Babey says there are three alternatives open to most farm families. Farm women will be playing a major role during the harvest assisting with operations and in many cases operating machines or driving trucks. School children too will be called upon for their contribution to the family effort, even if it means missing school. And many willing inexperienced friends and neighbors from nearby towns and cities will be seen fumbling with the controls of modern equipment in an effort to speed the harvest to a successful conclusion. All this entails extra risk at harvest time.

Yesterday, Today And Tomorrow!

While the facts of current education stare us in the face, this first week of a new term might be a good time to think backward and forward at the school scene in Canada and to recognize that while tomorrow may be in short supply today and may be vitally needed tomorrow, they have been faithfully on the scene of Canadian education ever since the first settlers arrived and through many years when their reward was pitifully small and their influence great beyond computation. There has been, in almost every community, at least one teacher whose honest presentation of the basic principles of learning has laid a foundation on which the men and women whom he or she taught, have built lives which were lived in the service of their country and their God. They wielded an influence which even they probably underestimated, because in the life of every child or young person there is one moment when he needs a hero. It may be a baseball player, an orchestra leader, a minister, or perchance a teacher, but when that moment comes, the person who fills it will never be forgotten.

They taught in log school houses in rooms in private homes, those old pioneers of education. They took over the bright new schools which we now term hovels. They worked with a minimum of text books, but they turned out our college professors and statesmen. And they did as good a job as is being accomplished today with all our new fangled machinery. We owe them a great debt. Today we may accept this whole matter of education as a trust from those who worked faithfully for little pay. Today we may spend our money and educate our young people with a view of making their education the first claim on our purses and on our time. We can appreciate those who are carrying on in the classrooms the classrooms the education of our future citizens, and recognize these young people for what they are—future riches unexcelled.

Compulsory Medicare!

There are some things in the affairs of men where compulsion is an absolute necessity if a nation is to become great, and to the degree that its citizens accept this compulsion they become the builders of the nation. Without compulsion in the rendering of taxes and other levies for conducting the affairs of a country or a community, such institutions would wither and decay. But in the broad sense the average citizen is opposed to any form of compulsion in areas where he should have the sole right to accept or refuse. Such is the argument advanced in opposition to the Federal Medicare Scheme. Alberta's government, if the utterances of Premier Manning may be taken at face value, will oppose the Medicare proposition, even though if passed, will be forced upon the people of the province so far as helping to finance the project is concerned. Mr. Manning is right when he says that Governments should not do for people what they are able and capable of doing for themselves, for in destroying man's responsibilities to himself and to his family we take away his initiative and his desire to be of benefit, relieving him of the desire to progress and improve his lot. There is an inherant danger in mass compulsion which relieves the lazy and the ne'er-do-well of his personal responsibilities, by repeated doses of social welfare, but on the other hand there is little real logic in such persons benefiting at the expense of the industrious. Our only concern should be the care of those incapable of providing their own welfare through mental or physical incapabilities. This is the responsibility of society.

Other arguments are of little avail, for as Mr. Manning himself has often said, what is physically possible and desirable, should be financially possible. True, abuses will creep into the scheme, but under proper management abuses can be eliminated. After all is said and done, the only aspect of the whole matter which is distasteful is the angle of compulsion.

RESULTS MAY NOT BE GOOD!

The decision by the United States not to press further for payment by Russia of its share of the peace-keeping activities of the United Nations Forces is not likely to bring good results. Other countries may decide not to pay either. Membership in a club usually involves payment by each of the members for his share of the costs. The U. N. has not had a happy history so far. — Letter-Review.

★ MACDUFF REPORT

Back To Nature?

OTTAWA—A great battle is raging over the proper policy for Canada's national parks.

On the one side is Northern Affairs and National Resources Minister Arthur Laing and his department. They want to preserve as far as humanly possible the wilderness concept of the national park.

But on the other side are the people of Banff, Alberta and others who believe that tourists travelling to visit the parks, should be provided with the type of facilities that tourists are accustomed to finding south of the border.

The Trade and Commerce Department's travel bureau has been spending many thousands of dollars in promoting tourist travel to Canada and inside Canada. Prominent in the literature the Bureau circulates and in the advertising it places are pictures of the beautiful scenery in Banff and Jasper National Parks.

The message is clear for tourists in the United States: "Come to Banff and Jasper and enjoy the mountain scenery and get back to nature". But today the modern tourist travelling with a trailer or with a tent, or perhaps just looking for a motel, likes to do his sightseeing during the day, and in the evening he expects to find some good entertainment and restaurants.

In Banff today at night all the average tourist can do for entertainment is walk up and down Banff Avenue. After two or three nights he gets fed up and heads for other parts. The people of Banff are determined that they should be allowed to expand facilities.

The first national park was set up in Canada in 1885 when by order in council "sale, settlement or squatting" in the ten square miles around Banff's Sulphur Mountain was expressly forbidden. At present the country has 29,000 square miles of national parks and the question has arisen: What should be done about the parks.

Eldon Woolliams is the member of Parliament for Alberta's Bow River constituency which includes Banff. He contends that there is a sharp difference of opinion between the Federal Government's northern affairs and national resources department and the Government's Canadian travel bureau.

Mr. Woolliams argues that the Travel Bureau is heading every effort and spending large sums of money to persuade tourists to travel to Banff and Jasper and other national parks. But at the same time the Federal Government's northern affairs and national resources department has embarked on a policy of holding back in the development of adequate facilities for these same tourists.

Mr. Woolliams has a solution. He says the Federal Government should zone the parks such as Banff and Jasper. Certain areas and certain areas set aside for commercial tourist development and the other areas (by far the greater proportion) should be left as wilderness in its natural state so that the tourist can get back to nature. He argues that this could be done quite easily in Banff because the townsite is only one very small segment of the vast lands that make up the national park. However the Minister, Mr. Laing, does not agree with suggestions that there be commercial attractions such as resorts, amusement areas and that type of entertainment. He contends that the average tourist visiting Banff is more concerned with having adequate camps and picnic grounds rather than luxurious hotels or motels. He is primarily concerned with preserving the natural beauty of the parks and wants no "Coney Island" concept to destroy their appeal to those who want to escape from the hurley hurley of modern day living.

A year ago the Minister announced in the Commons a statement of policy that those who live and carry on business in the national parks should enjoy no particular economic advantage or disadvantage because of their special place of residence or business. In general, he said, they should be subject to the same financial responsibilities as those who live or carry on business elsewhere. This policy is to be applied when charges, rentals and fees paid by Federal Government are being reviewed.

The policy was intended specifically to end trafficking in leaseholds in Banff and Jasper and generally to ensure that the national parks were protected from commercial intrusion. Mr. Laing announced that in future all leases will revert to the crown as they run out. Under his policy land will be let for specific terms of up to 42 years. When the lease expires on residential lands, the lessee will be paid a fair market price for his house, which will be torn down if the land is needed for another park use or become crown rental property. If it is to be rented the former owner will be given first chance to rent it.

Leases on commercial property will be drawn up for shorter periods. Businessmen will be expected to write off the capital cost of the business during the lease term and at the end of the lease the property will revert to the crown.

This policy has had the effect of depressing real estate values. Businessmen have protested that it has caused lifeless investments.

But Mr. Laing is adamant. Meantime the National and Provincial Parks Assoc. of Canada has rallied to his defence. It has urged the Government not to give ground in the face of a strong attack from a minority group that has a "vested interest" in the parks.

The battle rages and the country is caught in the middle. The solution would appear to be the compromise put forward by Rev. H. Woolliams and that is to zone the parks, the area devoted to commercial developments of special appeal to the tourist who want some entertainment provided in hotels, motels, theatres or amusement areas and other areas—by far the largest section—left untouched and in its raw natural state for those who want to get away from the entertainment areas, into the wilderness.

Beverly Georgina Drager Married In Edmonton Ceremony

Knox United Church, Edmonton, was the setting August 7th of a lovely double ring ceremony when Beverley Georgina Drager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Drager of Hardisty, and Russell Mackellar Fiph, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fiph of Moose Jaw, were united in marriage They repeated their vows before an altar graced with silver candelabra and lighted candles, flanked by bouquets of blue and white gladioli. The flowers were dyed to match the bridesmaids dresses by the bride's uncle, Mr. E. Drager.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother Mr. Bill Drager was radiant in a floor length gown of Paint Desprite Lace and Lagada Silk. The removable lace jacket featured bishop sleeves and a cardinal cape which flowed from a deep yoke, concealing a slim sheath dress designed with scoop neck and high Empire line bodice. Her bouffant veil of illusion tulle was held in place by a silk bridal rose circlet. She carried a bouquet of orchids and white stephanotis.

Maid of Honour was Miss Sheri Dragar, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Lorna Reed, Mrs. Joan Wulff and Miss Donna Whitson.

The attendants were identical, full length dress of azure blue featuring sheath skirts and embroidered bodices. They carried bouquets of white mums. Their headpieces were floral design to match the dresses. Flower girl was 4-year-old Kim Dragar, the bride's niece, who wore a full length dress of blue silk with overskirt of white embroidered lace. She carried a basket of white daisies.

Trenton Reid, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

The groom was attended by best man Dale Jackson and Keith Lambert and ushers Colin Thatcher, Lowell Becker and Grant Huber. They all were tuxedos.

The bride's mother chose a fawn dress of paste de pois with matching lace jacket. Her accessories were brown and beige and she wore a corsage of yellow roses.

The mother of the groom wore a lace dress of beige coloring with blending accessories. Her corsage was yellow roses.

Mrs. Bette Rithaller, sister of the bride, sang the "Wedding Prayer" prior to the wedding vows and "Whither Thou Goest" during the signing of the register.

A reception for 250 guests was held at the Ben Aveture Motor Inn. Three tiered table was centered by a clever leaf-d'tiered wedding cake. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Edgar Drager. The guest book was attended by Miss Freda Drager, sister of the bride.

A dance followed the supper. For her travelling outfit the bride chose a gold figured two piece linen sheath dress with matching urban hat and brown accessories.

After a honeymoon at the West Coast the happy couple will reside in Edmonton where the groom is a school teacher and the bride is on the teaching staff at the University of Alberta Hospital.

Out of town guests included those from Hardisty, Moose Jaw, Calgary, St. Albert, Wetaskiwin, Ottawa, St. Michael and Penola.

A. P. Crop Report

SUMMARY — Damp, showery weather spread over Alberta about the middle of last week and persisted over the week-end, stopping all harvesting operations. Heavy precipitation fell in some areas, causing serious lodging of crops. Prior to the rain, swathing of barley had become fairly general throughout the Province and some combining had been done in most areas. Swathing of earlier crops of Wheat and Oats had also been started but only a small amount of combining had been done. The weather has improved this week and it is hoped that warm, dry weather will continue to prevail so that harvesting can be resumed and completed.

plot, and as the road was now constructed on the original road allowance. the Department of Highways will be requested to cancel road division plan 3300 c 1.

Letter from the Bridge Branch of the Department of Highways informed council that the next time one of their engineers is in the area he would inspect the area between sections 27 and 39-16-15.

It was moved that the bid of Vernon Beaver of Forestburg to purchase the Winch as advertised for 2311.00, be accepted.

Some discussion took place on the type of house to purchase for the senior grader operator in Division 1, and a committee was set up to look into types and costs of various houses.

Mr. Walter Bish of Forestburg Collieries visited the meeting and outlined the municipal roads being rebuilt by the Collieries and the roads where they wished to move and rebuild. It was moved that the proposals be accepted by the M.D.

Councillor Hutchins reported that the C.N.R. had advised him that they wished to remove the crossing the M.D. road East of and bordering the Village of Alliance, due to the fact that a new crossing had been installed a few rods West. A copy of the Board of Transport Commissioner's order authorizing this closing is to be obtained before any further action in this connection is taken.

The Hutterian Brethren applied for permission to establish a cemetery at South Bend on the S.W. 15-39-12. It was moved that the Provincial Planning Director be notified that Council approved of the subdivision providing the Brethren were responsible for costs of an approach and construction of a private road.

Secretary reported that quotations for the conversion of the office, shop and house in Sedgewick were coming in very slowly. A committee was formed to process the quotations, order and have installed the necessary heating units, together with a cooling unit for the office, as soon as possible.

Reeve was authorized to sign the articles of agreement with the Department of Highways covering the 1965 roadwork program of the M.D.

A letter from Cpl. McTavish of the R.C.M.P. was received, setting out the recommendations of the jury at the inquest into the death of Mr. and Mrs. John Swaren in an automobile accident four miles south of Forestburg, was read and ordered filed.

The report of Const. Vanderwoude for the month was presented and accepted.

Letter from the Livestock Branch advised that they were prepared to assist in the purchase of a weigh scale up to $900 to assist in the performance testing of beef cattle with the M.D. if the Municipality would undertake to maintain the scale in good working order and devise a rental policy where the scale would be made available for the use of purebred and commercial cattle breeders within the District.

Information was received concerning road and construction signs that were available, from Industrial and Road Equipment Ltd.

Letter was received concerning the lowering of a pipeline crossed by Gilmore Olds on the road between N.W. of 21-40-11 and S.W. of 8-41-11, was received.

Advice was received from the Federal Department of Agriculture that Sections 3-5 inclusive, 15, 16 and 20 to 34 Township 42, Range 17 had been found eligible for P.F.A.A. payments for 1964 in the five to eight bushel catagory.

It was reported that considerable shale was being trucked out of S.E. of 28-43-17, property owned by the M.D. As this is difficult to control it was suggested that the property be offered for sale. After some discussion it was decided that investigation be made as to gravel prospects on the property before it was offered for sale.

Strome has requested permission to purchase gravel to surface the main street. It was decided that if the Village wished to haul the gravel from the Hardisty Pit, that the gravel would be made available.

A committee of Mrs. Cumberland and Mrs. Robertson are to organize some entertainment at the Flagstaff Lodge for September. The Telephone Committee now is Mrs. Blakeney and Mrs. G. Weber.

A letter was read from the Flagstaff Lodge guests and the Auxiliary asking for support in their efforts for a tea and bazaar to be held in October.

The Constituency Conference will be held in Lougheed on October 14th, and members selected the items they would make for the Handicraft and Baking competitions.

Mrs. Whitten gave a detailed account of the A.W.I. convention she attended in June on a delegate.

W.I. Hears Report On Convention

SEDGEWICK — The first fall meeting of the W. I. was held in the School with 13 members being present. The president read an appropriate articles entitled, "Homely Homilies" as a word of encouragement at the beginning of a new term.

Members were pleased to learn that Margaret Robertson took charge of the Library during the summer months. A letter from the Canadian Diabetic Assn. was read, expressing their appreciation for W. I. support in the recent tests in the area. The Lougheed W. I. sent in $30.00 towards expenses of the Edmonton delegate to the Convention.

The Canada Pension Plan and its benefits

Here is what the Canada Pension Plan will do for people like Mary Todd, a 22-year-old nurse who earns $310 a month ($3,720 a year).

If Mary's earnings continue at this rate until she reaches age 65, she will receive a retirement pension of $77.50 a month from the Plan plus $75 a month Old Age Security.

Because Mary will have the opportunity of contributing for 43 years, she can have as many as 6½ years of lower or no earnings and still be entitled to the same pension.

Actually, Mary's retirement pension will undoubtedly be more. This is because as Mary advances in her profession and her earnings increase so will her pension. Furthermore, to ensure that all benefits under the Plan maintain their value, they will be adjusted to meet changes in living costs and wage levels before they are paid and changes in living costs after they become payable.

If Mary continues to work and becomes disabled at any time after 1970, she will be entitled to a disability pension of $83.12 a month until she reaches age 65. From then on she will receive her retirement pension as well as $75 a month from Old Age Security.

If Mary dies any time after 1967, having contributed until her death, a lump sum payment of $465 will be paid to her estate.

What will the Plan cost you?

If, like Mary, you are employed and have earnings of $3,720 spread evenly over the year, you will pay at the rate of $4.66 a month. Your employer will pay the same amount.

This advertisement is one of a series which relates some of the important benefits of the Canada Pension Plan to individual circumstances.

Issued by authority of the Minister of National Health and Welfare, Canada.
The Honourable Judy LaMarsh.

AGED HONEYMOONERS

Things are rather at sixes and sevens around here today. It's Educated Honeymoon time, and the Old Gentleman and I are flying around in a tizzy of preparation.

The fact that we'll have an 18-year-old son along for part of the honeymooning trip won't slow us down. He can find a girl of his own. The main thing is to get out of town for awhile.

This business of running a commercial hotel with the lowest rates on the continent can prove trying. The clientele has been of the highest class, but the whole enterprise has its drawbacks. Not only do the guests insist on trying to stay up all night with them, but their children, unfortunately, have never learned, please and other social baubles, except you're in an attic at 7 a.m. and hear voices (the normal ones) how you turn on the lawn sprinkler; "Are we going swimming soon, Daddy?"; and, why Daddy was so grouchy when they hiked to walk him.

And there are other things. Next year I'm going to buy barbecue charcoal by the carload. I've cooked so many steaks and hamburgers I can't look a cow in the face. The manager of the local bovine comparium told me the other day he'd give me a summer job next year, because I'm in there every day anyway. I've slept on a chesterfield in the living room, a couch in my study, a mattress on the attic floor, and half-reclining lawn chair, but I haven't been in my own bed in a month.

Oh well, it's all part of the game, and we enjoy having them. However, I do think it's a bit much when they start making reservations for next year, and assuring me they'll recommend the place to all their friends, because of the low rates, excellent cuisine, free drinks, and nightly entertainment (no cover charge).

At any rate, with nobody booked for's week our wedding anniversary coming up, and daughter safely off to camp with enough clothes to go to Europe, and a bag of fruit, candy and cookies she could scarcely lift, we're getting ready for The Trip.

First leg of the trip will be up the Great Lakes, and I quote from the folder, "... long, lazy, lei'd first days ... cool nights with piers swinging low ... sky-blue waters ... etc." Actually, we'll have only one and a half of those long, lazy days, but two of those star-swinging nights. We'll rain, I'll give odds. Right to one.

We'ring sing on a passenger steamer known as Hugh's Boat. It used to belong to a steamer service line, but since one Hugh obtained a job this summer as Entertainment Steward, it has become known for and vide so Hugh's Boat. After all, he has a pretty important position. He's listed on the directory of feature services with the Barber, Handy Man and Indian Dancers.

I've promised to help him entertain the passengers by rendering my famous version of a drunk singing, "I Belong Tee Glasgie". He was reluctant to impose on my good nature but I brushed off his protests.

My mother has promised not to embarrass him by telling him in front of the passengers, that he climbed trees when he's not playing that piece in the right key, that he left his room in a mess last time he was home, or that it's high time he was in bed.

Second leg of The Trip will be by train from Toronto to Ste. Anne de Bellevue. We've left nothing to chance. I've borrowed sleeping bag from one neighbour, a pillow from another, a flashlight, and many items our hotel manager. We have a road map. It's an older one, 1956, but who worry about that!

Well, bon voyage, and if you'll excuse me now, I'll get out in the backyard and have another practice go at putting up the preacher's hair.

It's a pretty religious test, I expect.

Every time I get it up, it sinks to the bottom in an attitude of prayer.

Patricia Morgan And Ralph Swoboda Married At St. Josephs

KILLAM—At a double ring nuptial mass at St. Josephs Roman Catholic Church at Killam on June 19, Patricia Ann Morgan and Ralph Patrick Swoboda were united in marriage. The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Morgan of Killam, and the groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Swoboda of Daysland. Rev. Father McCarthy performed the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father the bride looked lovely in a floor length gown of silk organza over satin, with sequins and pearls decorating the bodice and lily point sleeves. Her nylon tulle shoulder length veil was held in place by a headpiece of pearls and sequins. She carried a bouquet of red roses with streamers covered with rose buds.

Maid of honor, Miss Linda Morgan, sister of the bride, and bridesmaid Miss Judy Erickson, cousin of the bride, were attired identical street length gowns of nylon sheer over rayon taffeta, with delicate nylon and sateen lace jackets. They carried bouquets of pink carnations and matching head pieces of pink carnations and net. They wore sweet hearts necklaces and earrings, gifts of the bride.

The groom was attended by his brother, Dennis, and his brother-in-law, Mr. Edward Lesser.

Ushers were Ted and Billy Morgan, brothers of the bride.

Miss Cheryl Schaffer of Killam sang during the ceremony, accompanied by Helen Kisner of Killam at the organ.

Mother of the bride wore a two-piece dress of blue brocade with beige accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. Mother of the groom chose a two-piece dusky rose dress in rose with navy accessories and corsage of pink roses.

In charge of the guest book was Miss Audrey Fossen, cousin of the bride.

The reception which followed for 125 was held in the Elks Community Hall catered to by the Royal Purple. The bride's table was centered by a 3-tiered cake baked by the mother of the bride and Mrs. Mel Fossen, and decorated by Mrs. Lowther of Lougheed. Bouquets of flowers and candles were on either side. Father McCarthy proposed a toast to the bride in which the groom responded. Mr. Les Larson of Killam was master of ceremonies.

Open house was held at the Elks Hall followed by a dance. Les Dolsen of Daysland supplied music.

For her going away outfit the bride chose a three-piece suit of rose biscuit with white accessories and corsage of white roses. After a honeymoon at Banff and Jasper and points in B. C. the happy couple will make their home at Daysland. Out of town guests were from Daysland, Calgary, Edmonton, Lougheed, Rosalind and Forestburg.

FRONTIER RYE!

Ottawa, August 31, 1965—The Canada Department of Agriculture today announced the release of one of the new fall rye variety, Frontier.

The variety was developed by D. S. McIlleon at the Experimental Farm, Swift Current, Saskatchewan. Like Antelope and Dahdel, it has excellent winter hardiness but is superior to them in yield, kernel size and color. During the 1961-63 period, the average yield of Frontier was 44 bushels per acre compared with 40 for Antelope and 38 for Dahdel.

There are 1,000 bushels of seed available for distribution in western Canada for increase of the variety.

Priority will be given to growers of pedigreed seed of fall rye. Some seed will be available for other seed growers who apply now. Each purchaser will be limited to a maximum of 30 bushels. The price will be $4.50 per bushel, basis First Generation Registered grades 1 and 2, f.o.b. shipping point.

Order forms may be obtained from the Research Branch, Seed Office, 235 Motherwell Building, Regina, Sask.

Daysland News

(Dolores Dolan)

On August 19th at the Daysland Sports Grounds, the Edville Pony Chariot and the Daysland Pony Chariots put on an afternoon show for a big crowd. The Daysland Pipe Band piped in the chariots with the outfits from Daysland and 8 outfits from Edville. Running on a one third of mile track, judging total time of the two races, the top time of the day going to the Petersen's Sales and Service outfit of Daysland, driven by Ervin Bertsch; 2nd Ray Adamson outfit of Camrose; 3rd Jim Pollitt outfit of Edville; 4th Bob Pollitt outfit of Edville; 5th Gordon McCarroll outfit of Daysland.

At the end of the first race the Daysland Light Horse Jumper entertained the crowd, they were also entertained by the Pipe Band. After the races a barbeque was held at the Glen Helmig farm for the Edville and Daysland Pony Chariot members and their families. Rosalie Holt of Camrose was the lucky winner of the radio on the advance ticket sales.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Art Ekslund on the arrival of their baby girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Carlson and family of Edmonton were down for the long week-end visiting with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ragoski went to Calgary for the long week-end.

Miss Clara Heck of Lloydminster is home for the week-end visiting with parents Mr. and Mrs. J. Heck.

The Curling Club had a very successful turn out at their social on Friday evening. The winners of the $5.00 door prizes were; Mr. Bob McTavish, Mrs. Zenia Robinson, Mrs. H. Swoboda Sr., Aubrey Dryness, Edmonton and Mrs. Meekin of Calgary.

Open House To Officially Open New Sedgewick Apartment Block

SEDGEWICK — Tommy Wilson, President of Sedgewick Apartments Ltd. is announcing the official opening of the new Apartment Block in Sedgewick, invites all residents of the Village and the surrounding areas to an Open House of the Apartment from 8:00 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Monday, September 13th. Visitors are invited to inspect the building and will be served coffee and doughnuts during the evening.

While the Apartment Block has been almost fully occupied by tenants for several weeks, the opening was postponed until after the holiday season, to allow for final finishing touches to be made.

Feeling that there was a desperate housing need in the village several local people conceived of the idea of the Apartment to house those who for various reasons wanted accomodation without the accompanying need of caretaking their premises. Once the idea was decided upon, early construction was commenced in December of 1964, being completed in July last.

The building consists of eight apartments, four with two bedrooms and four with one. All are equipped with the most modern of furnishings and latest convenience. The entire building is hooked up to natural gas and is air conditioned throughout.

Ownership of the Apartment Block is vested in a number of shareholders of the Sedgewick district who saw the need for such a project, and who were willing to invest their money in a local interest paying undertaking benefiting the community. President of the Company is Mr. Tommy Wilson and the Secretary-Treasurer is Mr. Calvin Bastrais.

While the building is completed both inside and out, with all major facilities installed, there is still some landscaping and improvements to be made on the grounds, which is scheduled for this fall and continuing in the spring. When completely finished the two-tone building and grounds will locate as attractive addition to the Village of Sedgewick.

Memory Lane

(By Mrs. F. M. Cantlon, Hardisty, Alberta)

PRAIRIES AND MOUNTAINS

After spending three weeks at the Western Coast we returned, convinced that, "he is ever so humble, there's no place like HOME". Although we did enjoy every thrill-packed day while there.

How any sane thinking adult can look at those majestic mountains-pushing their snow-capped peaks up through the clouds, watch the tides go out and come in, see those many foaming, rushing, boiling rivers, tearing along on their way through canyons, over rocks and falls, between high cliffs, hurrying towards the Sea, HOW, I repeat, can ANY-ONE look with word-less wonder at the scene of multi-colored flowers in the many beautifully-kept parks, see the many different fruits hanging from the trees, look at the many, many different animals and birds in the Zoos and then deny a Supreme Creator is beyond my conception.

Crossing the wide expanse of Georgia Bay on our way to Vancouver Island is an awesome experience in itself to a "Prairie-born-and-bred" person like myself. During the crossing, as so many of you know-there are a few miles where no land is visible on any side. I thought of Noah and the terrible lost feeling he must have had when he looked out at that vast expanse of water on every side.

Although I have made at least eight trips to Vancouver and the Island during recent years, I see new wonders and beauties on every trip. Frankly, I am not "Sailor" enough to ever want to live where I HAVE to be on the water too much but I do enjoy looking at lakes, gulfs, rivers etc., BUT ONLY WHERE I AM SURE I AM SAFE from the possibility of falling in. Being what I am — as I said — "Prairie born-and-bred", I prefer "Terra-firma".

I might add-viewing the scenery through the Rockies from the windows in the "Scenic Domes" which are provided on all the C.P.R. Trans-continental "Canadian" passenger trains now is an experience one can never forget.

One especially interesting attraction seen from these "Domes" is where we enter the "Spiral Tunnel", climb, I believe it is eight thousand feet, then, emerging from the tunnel, being able to look down and see where we had entered almost directly below us.

Never-the-less, thinking back at times most marvellous man-made and natural wonders which, once seen can never be forgotten, I am still an avid lover of our Prairies where the sun-sets and sun risings actually takes one's breath. Who, but God can paint the sky with such vivid colors? What human being could possibly-with all the accumulated knowledge causes these acres upon acres of golden grain to be maturity where it blows gently back and forth in the breeze? Naturally a Supreme Being has given us all of these beauties of Plains and Mountains to enjoy.

But I repeat, I believe the Prairies are the place where, in myself, at least, as Harold Bell Wright says, "A Man is a Man For All Of That".

Beware of Centennial Projects?

No Centennial booklet or directory supported by paid advertising has been authorized or endorsed by the Alberta Government, it was announced today by the Alberta Government Publicity Bureau.

The Bureau has received several enquiries from different places in Alberta concerning the solicitation of advertising for "the province's Centennial Directory". It was emphasized that there was no such directory being compiled or even contemplated by the Government. The Bureau pointed out that the Centennial observances made it easy for persons willing to misrepresent themselves and their associations, to obtain funds and support for projects that are not what they purport to be. Sale of advertising and subscriptions is one of the more obvious.

It is strongly recommended that persons or firms approached for support of any "Alberta approved" publication inquire first of the Publicity Bureau before participating on the strength of promised Government endorsation.

Baptist Church

Since the first Sunday of every month, during the Sunday School hour is considered "Missionary Sunday" the special offering for missions was received. A talk on mission work in the Fiji Islands was enjoyed with interesting nature articles on display.

Rev. Grymaleski ministered at the Sunday services with communion observed during the morning worship service. We were happy to welcome many visitors to both morning and evening meetings. A special announcement was made that next Sunday, September 12, there will be child dedication during the morning service. Children are a heritage of the Lord, and we believe it is the parents' privilege and responsibility to bring them up in the fear and admonition of the Lord. The public dedication of children is a manifest token of parents desiring to follow these injunctions of God's Word.

Miss Sandra Wylie, of the Baptist Mission at Whitehorse, Yukon, showed slides and told of her work amongst the Indians, during the Sunday evening service.

Thought for the Week:
"I came to your church last Sunday,
I walked up and down the aisle.
I noticed your seat was vacant,"
Said the Master with a kindly smile.
"Oh, I was at home," I answered,
"Some folks up Edmonton way
Dropped down for a week-end visit,
So we stayed in the house all day."
The Master gazed at me sadly
As he was about to speak,
"My Child," He replied,
"Are there not six other days in the week?"
I saw I had grieved my Master
As slowly He turned away,
And I vowed He'd not find me absent
Again on His Holy Day.

BEHOLD THE NOBLE "WARRIOR"!

A forerunner of today's modern heating system is the venerable relic, the "Warrior Heater", built in Hamilton in the late 1880's. Billed as "the most powerful hot air stove in the world," This ancient "Warrior" occupies a place of honour in the offices and factory of Bulloch's Limited. This symbol of quality and efficiency has been reflected in the manufacturing of all Bulloch Furnaces.

In line with this thinking it is a pleasure to offer you

HARVESTING THIS YEAR!

Estimates of crop yields this fall are dropping as farmers get more of the crops swathed. The stand of straw would indicate 40 bushels but the heads are not completely filled and the grain is small and light.

These considerations will make the job of harvesting more difficult and less profitable. Combine operations will have to make the adjustments of their machines to see that they are not blowing grain over the back, or travelling too fast for the straw walkers to shake grain out.

The winds in the last few weeks have increased the farmers' problems too. Down grain has had to be swathed close to the ground in order to cut the crop thus adding to the straw that will have to go into the combines.

The yields will vary considerably through the district depending on the time of seeding and the amount of rainfall. Crop yields will vary between 20 and 40 bushels an acre.

ALBERTA AGRICULTURAL AND VOCATIONAL COLLEGES!

Registration at the Agricultural Colleges at Olds, Vermilion and Fairview for courses will be on September 27th for the fall session and January 3rd for the winter. Registration for commercial courses and high school academics was held September 1st.

The courses offered at these colleges have undergone many changes as in the past few years to keep up with the times. Several courses have been added to the curriculum to broaden the range of courses offered. The names of some of these courses are: A.I. Technician, Design and Clothing, Horticulture, Motor Mechanics, Welding, Appraisal and Assessment.

The Calendar of the three Colleges giving the details of courses offered is available from the schools or your nearest D. A's. office.

REPORT CORRECT CONDITION!

When you are tempted to bother about high taxes just think how much you are going to pay for a major contribution to research on insect control. If you are not too young just remember the changes since the "good old days".

When did you last wonder where the other half of the worm was in the apple you were eating? Can you remember those intriguing trips before "Get" or "Begone" or some other fly repellent was available? Would you like to go back to having your potatoes "with" or "without" worm-y holes? What about those pries Glads you're grooming for the show? "Look Dad, no thrips". Have you been back on the farm lately? You can see Jos now without choosing flies away first. The ladies don't run runs when bed flies any more either.

If you're too young to remember, just take Dad's word for it, you've never had it so good.

Want your money back? And all those bugs with it?

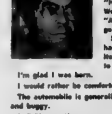
SMART BRAINS

(By Bert Odland)



Ever notice how magazines and newspapers seem obsessed with testing their readers? Open just about any magazine and you'll find a test to take: "How Smart Are Your Brains?", "How Would You Adjust To Life On Saturn?", "Are You Really Sane?" . . . . the tests go on and on, mercifully indescribable.

So why not just one more? This one has been prepared by one of my fervent supports: me. Just answer yes or no to the following statements.

I'm glad I was born.
I would rather be comfortable than uncomfortable.
The automobile is generally better transportation than the horse and buggy.
I dislike wasting money.
This is a noisy cosmos.

If you answered "yes" to all the above, congratulations. It shows that you have a keen, penetrating mind . . . that you would appreciate the latest and best in control air conditioning and heating. You would be willing to listen to the story of complete year round comfort, of latest advances in equipment, of money-saving ideas . . . . a la Lennox.

Now then, just one more part to the test. Answer yes or no:

I'm going to call 24 for an appointment to get the complete Lennox indoor comfort story.

If you answered "yes," you are a near genius, and I'm hovering near the phone awaiting your call.

If you answered "no", you need help. For help call (same number).

FOUR MEN'S STAND. Prime Minister Lester Pearson has been under constant heavy pressure by his Liberal Party to call a fall election. Gallup polls show his party with the majority of public support, and pundit prognosticators in both B.C. and Alberta are optimistic about gains. Only Conservative machinations his Conservatives are as strong as ever in the West, and his rousing reception in Quebec's eastern townships has Conservative Party leader Robert Stanfield Thompson does not favor an election, and he hinted that his splinter party would support Pearson if an election were called. Real Caouette says he is ducit a liberal sweep of Quebec, while organizers in both B.C. and Alberta are optimistic about gains. Only Conservative machinations his Conservatives are as strong as Diefs his Creditistes will draw at least 20 seats.

No Changes Will Be Made In School Division Borders

The regular meeting of the Killam School Division Board was held at the Divisional office, with all Board members and Supt. Bruce present.

The minutes of the last regular as well as a special meeting held at Galahad, were read and approved.

Mr. and Mrs. Nels Anderson and family, Mary Eshpeter and Mrs. Denes McDonald from Edmonton. Mr. and Mrs. Roger Zwack of Calgary, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Benz of Galahad, Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Alexander of Camrose and others from Rosaland, Heisler, Daysland, Spring Lake and Strome.

CENTRAL RAMS TO PLAY FIRST GAME

Central High Rams Football team has been practicing for the past three weeks getting prepared for their first game of the season next Saturday at Sedgewick.

At 2:00 p.m. on Saturday afternoon, September 18th, the Rams take on the Lathenor College team and launch a new season of football.

Killam School Needs Foster Parents

KILLAM— The Killam Public School has adopted "Pedro" an Equadorian 10-year-old boy, pictured above. The school will send $6.50 per month for the welfare of Pedro, which will be used for food, clothing and schooling. Pedro was accepted through Foster Parents' Plan, P.O. Box 65, Station "B", Montreal.

The Foster Parent has already received a photograph and case history of his child. Through an exchange of monthly letters (original and translation are transmitted by PLAN) they have learned to know and love one another. Foster Parents also often send photographs of themselves and their families and descriptions of life in this country.

Many a Foster Parent who has visited his Foster Child finds that his letters are tattered from reading and rereading. In turn the Foster Child writes about the neatness that his generous Foster Parents have wrought . . . the cash grant of $6 a month . . . new clothing . . . household equipment . . . medical care . . . and education. All this plus good used clothing for the Foster Child's entire family, guidance and counselling from on-the-spot trained social and case workers supervised by a full-time Director in each of the eight countries where Foster Parents' Plan works-Greece, Italy, Hong Kong, Korea, the Philippines, Viet Nam, Colombia and Ecuador.

The key word for "adoption" through Foster Parents' Plan is "responsible". Every Foster Child must go to school. Once a child is enrolled he is given PLAN benefits until he graduates from school or achieves financial independence. PLAN strives always to keep the family together. To help Foster Parents' Plan, P.O. Box 65, Station "B", Montreal.

Montreal businessman Gerry Waldston and his wife recently visited their 14 year-old Foster Child in Italy. "Seeing what a fine young lady Elena is becoming has given us a very heart-warming feeling," explains Mrs. Waldston. "Then they are young, children must't conscious of the extreme poverty of their surroundings such as we saw in Elena's district. But when they get to her age they know there is something better in life, and most of them will work hard to attain it if given half a chance. Through PLAN we can change the whole course of a child's life for so very few dollars a month. And there are hundreds more on the PLAN's list who are waiting for Foster Parents. To actually see their decaying homes and forlorn little faces as we did is to realize how truly desperate the need is."

Foster Parents' Plan is a non-sectarian, non-propaganda, independent, government-approved organization. PLAN has no professional fund raisers and its financial statement is mailed with pride to anyone who asks for it. Children may be selected according to ages and nationality.

To rescue one of the thousands anxiously awaiting "adoption" write Foster Parents' Plan, P.O. Box 65, Station "B", Montreal.

FIRST SNOWFALL OF THE 1965-66 YEAR

As we prepare to go to press with this edition (Tuesday afternoon) a light snow is falling, the first of the fall season locally we seem to have missed most of it, as reports have it that further south the fall season was heavier. With recent rains preceding the snow, harvesting operations will be held up again for some days.

"Independent, But Not Necessarily Neutral, In The Public Service"

November 8th Must See A Majority

The Canadian people are to be faced with another election, the fifth in eight years, and one that could, and certainly should put an end to the uncertainty that has plagued the federal scene since 1957. Any argument that a minority government can legislate just as efficiently as one with a house majority is pure poppycock and recent years have made this abundantly clear. Not that a minority government could not function efficiently if the Canadian people saw to it that statesmen were elected rather than politicians. But so long as we continue to elect men without vision, who calculate their moves for party political reasons rather than what's best for Canada, we will continue to have just what we are getting today. So long as we continue to nominate men without vision, without integrity and lacking in statesmanship, devoid of mature concepts and basic honest, without knowledge and a sense of responsibility to the people and the nation they are to serve, we will have the kind of administration that we ourselves are asking for. Men without these basic attributes have no place on the political scene, and the only way to keep them out of it is for the electors to use common sense in their choices. We should by now have gotten past the stage of electing men simply because they are hale fellows well met with nothing else on the ball. If we haven't, then God help the Canadian political scene.

There is a great tendency today to attribute dishonesty, or a personal desire for glory as the motive behind attempts to do something for the good of society or the world in general, on the part of men who may have only honorable intentions, and this very fact keeps many good people from attempting to do anything at all. Thus Canada is the loser and society suffers. Make no mistake about it, there are many good and talented people in our land whose capacities could well be used if our attitudes toward their motives were what they should be.

In 1957 Canada celebrates 100 years of nationhood, and the finest gift that its people could bestow on it to see to it that in her finest year she has a stable majority central government which can work without fear of defeat until such time as the Constitution demands a general election. It is only in this way that Canada will ever arrive at her proper destiny among the nations of the world.

Since it is most highly improbable that either Social Credit or the N.D.P. Party has any hope of forming a government, and therefore must continue in a splinter capacity, the people of Canada must make a choice between the Liberals and Conservatives and give one of them a majority. It is either this, or continue as we have been going, without stability, without sense and without proper progress.

WRONG SHOULDERS

Leamington (Ont.) Post and News

Better educated in the round we may be than our forebears, but the quaintness of the notions harbored by some Canadians in the matter of our relations with Britain is one of the minor mysteries of the day.

One by no means ill-educated young man, for instance, was recently overheard protesting with some vehemence, "the taxes we pay Britain to support the Queen and all the lazy" government which was not contradicted by any one of the half-dozen or more in his audience.

The truth, of course, is that we have paid no taxes of any description to Britain for something like 100 years — certainly not since the 1770's at any rate.

Curious the way this kind of prodigious fallacy continues to be handed about and is accepted by otherwise knowledgeable young people.

If we are going to complain about taxes — and heaven knows there is enough of that to do on — let us at least get the record straight and place the blame for them on the right shoulders — our own.

HAPPY DAYS

Uxbridge (Ont.) Times-Journal

Sixty years ago folks bailed cotton for and settled it with an axe. Records known were red flannels, and a boy didn't think he had to have a vehicle in which to pursue his pianos. People were more interested in the contentment of each other than they were in acres.

Ladies in stays attended to admonish, and when the preacher said a truth, the people said "Amen". A compliment was laid to be customary-not to hold office.

Neighbors talked about your family and resent it. And when a man dressed for the evening, he put on his nightshirt, Pelts used toothpicks, and were still polite; and the neighbors got fresh liver in big chilling times.

Two or three people could meet without passing the hat. Funerals were the only babysitters, and man worked for an honest living instead of wishing for one.

SUGAR AND SPICE

by Bill Smiley

ON THE CANOE TRAIL

DATELINE: somewhere in the vast hinterland.

I am sitting at a picnic table, baking over a beautiful, small, blue lake, ringed with golden seed and white birches. Twenty feet away, a fully developed couple swims quietly among the Hypodermic Hypos. They are wild ducks. Farther out, a loon raises its arrogant head on its snake neck, then dives.

When I look up, slam, swaying mosquitoes have been together to circle the distance that makes the head swim. In their branches, four and 38 blackbirds talk over last night's party. On the left, our bedsite neighbors whistle for their dog who is trying to catch a duck. On the right, our Illinois neighbors provide conversation over a string of 8-inch perch.

Behind me sits the (set, rather) remembering a very dark camp. And inside the tent, widowed, wan, and woe-begone after two straight, sleepless nights under canvas broods my wife.

It's been a grand holiday trip so far, but something tells me we went at it backwards. After two days and nights cruising the inland seas, found it dull and dined and waited on hand and foot, we were unceremoniously bundled ashore at the lakehead.

We couldn't face it like that, cold, so we holed up in a hotel for a night. Next day, we were up at the crack of noon, and off on our camping trip. That is, after lunch, and putting up our hair, and taking it down, and shopping for grub. We finally hit the road about 4:30 and belted off on our adventure. The scenery was superb: huge humps of rock, swathed in green; dark serpents of rivers, gliding far below; dizzying glimpses of Lake Superior, blue and splendid and almost frightening in its immensity. Say, this camping was great, so far.

30 YEARS AGO
(From press files Sept. 17, 1935)

The well drilling business seems to be having a run these days in the Daysland district. Mr. H. Owre is the owner of new clear water fountain and Max Harmider will soon be trying out his new pump. Mr. Gertrude is doing the drilling.

Owing to the prevalence of infectious diseases in the district there will be no public shows until further notice.

Rev. Nataby preached to a packed school house on Sunday at Goose Creek when the Harvest Thanksgiving Service was held.

Mr. James Marshall of Sunbow was chosen as Social Credit standard bearer in the forthcoming Federal Election on October 14th.

20 YEARS AGO
(From press files of Sept. 18, 1945)

We had a nice young man in uniform visiting in town this week. (In the form of the gas inspector.) Purple Heart is.

Mr. Hayward, genial Secretary of the Village of Killam, was a visitor at the Press Office on Monday and we had a nice long chat.

We hear the Government Radio Inspector was touring along the line last week checking on licenses. As usual there was a hasty scurrying in the direction of the Post Offices.

The Baptist Congregation attended the Presbyterian Service on Sunday evening, it being Rev. D. Douglas' last Sunday in Killam.

10 YEARS AGO
(From press files of Sept. 12, 1955)

Work has commenced on the new addition to the Hardisty School which will relieve the overcrowding considerably.

Gaining entry through the Garage the year, and entering the store by an opening in the ceiling, thieves removed about $1,500 worth of various merchandise from the Murray Motors and Hardware in Sedgewick.

Fourteen members answered the roll call for first fall meeting of the South Killam Service Club which was held at the home of Mrs. Ross Grant.

Mr. Fred Rogers, Post Master at Lougheed, has just returned home a month visiting relatives in Ontario and Michigan. He hadn't been back for 52 years but Fred says, "We'll still take the West and Lougheed, and Friends."

"I just got a ticket for dangerous driving!"

Political Jargon!

The story is told of an old-fashioned boarding house whose landlady was never flustered if extra guests arrived. She would perhaps converse with them for a few moments and then excuse herself in the pretext she had a few chores to do in the kitchen. The steadies in the house would grin knowingly at each other for they knew she'd gone to water down the soup. In our society today the economic and political jargon for watering down the soup has become extremely and painfully plentiful. Governments refer to it as "pumping more purchasing power into the economy," while its critics call it "rewing up the printing presses". The intelligent person is not fooled by this jargon, for they know what's going on in the government kitchen. The soup is being watered with the same results as in the boarding house, and we'll all get a taste of it.

Strikes Do Not Pay Dividends!

In talking to an acquaintance the other day, we learned that the printers in Toronto are still marching in front of the daily paper offices in that city. This in spite of the fact that they have lost their jobs for good. The only point to be made here is the one that their cause is lost but they refuse to see the handwriting on the wall. A more interesting disclosure comes out of the Carpenters' strike in Toronto, by way of the Toronto Star. The 3,000 Carpenters who were out on a 49-day strike lost about $1,060 in pay, a total of $3,150,000. The total cost of the work stoppage of course cannot be estimated, but the strike did halt construction work on some $300 million worth of schools and other projects. Wages were the sole point at issue, and the final settlement stands out as a painful illustration of the high cost of refusal to compromise. Carpenter pre-strike wage was $3.38 an hour. The Union sought a two-year increase of 45c, and preferred to strike rather than settle on an offer of 35c. Employers then offered an increase of 87c an hour for a four-year contract, but the Union countered with a demand for $1.15. Finally the strike was settled for an increase of 92c over a four-year period—a gain of an additional 5c. Not to mention the strike's other costs, it will be a long time, in fact about ten years, before that extra 5c an hour adds up to the $1,060 wage loss suffered by each striking carpenter.

★ MACHUFF REPORT

Answering Another Bell . . .

OTTAWA — Lester Pearson and John Diefenbaker face each other once again in an election battle in that will almost surely be the last for both of them, and perhaps for both. The two men are meeting in ri 22nd.

The slight week campaign with its long hours and relentless travel, it is arduous for anyone. But neither Mr. Pearson nor Mr. Diefenbaker showed any hesitation about getting off the mark.

That was evident on the night of September 7th, when Mr. Pearson announced dissolution of Parliament. It was then that the Prime Minister was going to call an election, though most people were fairly certain he would. At any rate, Mr. Diefenbaker was not at a loss for words. He blasted the government for calling an election before the parliamentary redistribution of ridings had taken effect. Mr. Pearson was afraid to meet Parliament, afraid to face non-confidence motions for his failure to clean up the mess in Government.

Mr. Diefenbaker scoffed at the Prime Minister's statement of the uncertainties of minority Governments. He claimed the minority parties assured Mr. Pearson of support. "There will always be one or two — " he claimed.

But the professed interest to be ready for an election. The issues would be Canadian unity and Canadian unity in Government. "Our organization will be operating at full tilt," said Mr. Diefenbaker. "As I look across the country I see increases in our vote in every province except Saskatchewan (the Conservatives already hold all 17 Saskatchewan seats).

Mr. Diefenbaker has probably correctly forecast the important issues of the campaign. These issues of Canadian unity and majority in government can really only be settled by an election.

They in themselves are sufficient reason for an election, in the view of those editorialists who insist that no one wanted this election, that it was not necessary.

The election should answer two questions which desperately need to be answered.

First, does Canada wish to sanction the Pearson type of co-operative federalism, which is slowly but surely re-shaping Confederation?

Second, does Canada feel that the Pearson Government, based alternately by scandal and blunder, is fit to continue governing?

The many other issues of the campaign — agricultural problems, welfare measures, and in relation to these two questions.

The Federal Government, on issues which partly forms it, will be moving quickly into all-important negotiations with the provinces on Confederation and tax-sharing negotiations.

That Government will have to have a reasonably strong mandate if the Federal interest is to be maintained. If a strong Federal Government is not elected November 8th, the provincial leaders will probably conclude that Canadians do not wish the Federal interest to be strongly maintained.

The issue, then, clearly in the election will be two-fold: To convince Canadians of the need for a majority government, and to convince them the Party has cleaned its house and is determined to keep it clean.

In calling this election when he did, without being forced into it, Mr. Pearson has taken the calculated risk that he can come back with a majority.

He goes into the campaign only four seats short of a majority. Mr. Diefenbaker is 43 seats short. The odds look good enough for the Liberals but who can tell? Anything but a majority for Mr. Pearson will mean failure.

It's a risk he chose to take, and one which, under Canadian practice he had every right to take.

MR. AND MRS. J. R. HURLEY HONORED AT ROSYTH SHOWER

ROSYTH—On Sunday evening a large crowd gathered at the Community Hall to shower the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hurley, with gifts and best wishes.

A short program of musical and comical numbers was enjoyed. Mr. F. Bliss as M. C., presented gifts from all present, and Carol and Rufus thanked all very kindly. Lunch was served by ladies of the Local, which brought the happy evening to a close.

Carol Lynne Powell Married At Hardisty

HARDISTY— Baskets of white gladiolis and fern decorated the sanctuary of St. Paul's United Church at Hardisty on August 6th when Rev. W. G. Zwicker performed the double-ring ceremony for Carol Lynne, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Powell of Hardisty, and James Rufus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard T. Hurley of Wainwright.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride was radiant in a floor-length gown of white cripline over chantilly lace. The sweetheart neckline was scalloped and accented with applique embroidery of sequins and pearls. Lily-point sleeves and tiny covered buttons extending to the waistline. Her chapel veil was held in place by a crown of crystal pearls. Her only jewelry was a single strand of matching crystal and earrings, gift of the groom. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of talisman roses with streamers of stephanotis.

Mrs. Doreen Bell was here sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Judy Hurley, sister of the groom. They were identical gowns in orchid length of sheer chiffon over net featuring lace jackets of blue and yellow respectively.

Junior bridesmaids were Elaine Powell and Maureen Madden, cousins of the bride. Their dresses were the same sheer nylon over net in pastel shades of rose. All were styled matching headpieces and carried nosegays of sweetheart roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Little Beverly Bell was flower girl in a floor length gown of pink nylon net over taffeta. Her flowers were pink and white sweetpeas.

The groom was attended by his brother Thomas Hurley and Ronnie Kennedy. Guests were ushered to the pews by Sidney Powell, Patrick Madden and Leslie Reid.

Miss Donna Sempson was soloist and sang "O Perfect Love". During the signing of the register she sank "The Wedding Prayer", accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Nora Zwicker.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Powell chose a two-piece dress of silk in warm brown, with matching gloves and hat and beige tulle trim. She wore yellow roses corsage.

A reception was held at the Rosyth hall, which was tastefully decorated with flowers. The bride's table was laid with white Damark and lace cloth centered with a three-tiered wedding cake, with pink and white candles and silver rose bowls. Mrs. Doreen Madden acted as M. C. for the dinner, and read many telegrams of well wishes. Mr. Fay Blaine Hurley proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. Misses Shirley Hurley and Nancy Planck were in charge of the guest book.

During the evening, open house was held when refreshments were served. Pouring tea was Mrs. Gerala Scott of Irma. A large crowd filled the hall for the dance.

For going away the bride wore a two-piece suit of linen pastel in shade of pink, with white accessories and corsage of sweetheart roses. After a honeymoon in the mountains and Banff, the happy couple will reside at Chauvin where the groom is employed by the Lloyd's Motor Ltd.

GAIL EDWORTHY IS GUEST OF HONOR AT SHOWER

Gail Edworthy was the guest of honor at a shower held in the United Church Basement on Friday evening. Hostings by Mrs Zwicker and Mrs. Cantion, and a contest of wits, were followed by a very funny Doctor-Nurse skit presented by Mrs. Miles and Mrs Les Anderson. Assisting Gail at the gift table were her grandmother Miki Wilson, her mother Mrs. J. Edworthy, and Mel's step-mother Mrs. Johnson, and his sister Miss Marion Johnson of Hughenden. After the opening and display of the many beautiful and useful gifts, Gail gave a gracious speech of thanks. Lunch was served by a number of the ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Anderson and children of Edmonton spent the Labor Day weekend with his grandmother Mrs. Marie Anderson and Jack. On Monday Ron and family with Mrs. Anderson motored to Cadogan to visit sister Linda.

Mrs. Annie Saville and Mrs. Scott of Irma visited with Mrs. Les Dennis on Wednesday in celebration of Mrs. Tennis' birthday.

A birthday party held at the home of Mrs. Zwicker on Wednesday evening honored Mrs. Cantion and Mrs. Trusler with belated greetings, and more seasonably Mrs. Redman and Mrs. Doris Powell and Linda Zwicker. Linda is spending a few weeks with her parents. Many memories were revived and laughs shared to a Quiz in which each one present gave one of her past history. A beautiful birthday cake featured the lunch. Mrs. Ruth Miles presented the guests of honor with gifts of money.

Mrs. Beverly De La Motte (Nee Anderson) and daughter spent a few days with her grand mother Mrs. Marie Anderson and Jack.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Anderson and boys, accompanied by Bradley Mosely, spent the long weekend at Alliario

Mr and Mrs. Lloyd Laughlin and family spent the holiday weekend with Mrs Helen Laughlin and Anne.

An old-timer resident in Rosyth, Mr. Herb Hines, passed away in Calgary on August 28th.

Mrs Jan Green of Edmonton was a weekend visitor with her family.

Mr. Mrs. L. Stewardson of Ft. William visited last week with Mrs. Marie Anderson. Mrs. Anderson is Mrs. Stewardson's aunt, and the two had not seen each other for 10 years.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Golka on the birth of a son.

Mrs. Ed Bonzer is a patient in a Red Deer Hospital, having suffered stroke while visiting in that city.

Farm Ads Of The Future

WANTED—Reliable farm labour. Hours—8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Work week—6 days. Holidays—2 weeks with pay. Sick Leave—2 weeks with pay. Workmen's Compensation. Unemployment Insurance. Home, Utilities, Meat, Milk, Eggs and Vegetables Furnished. Salary — $3,000 to $5,000 Apply: Homestead 6-6700

According to Dr. Glen Purnell, Director of Alberta's Farm Economics Branch, this type of "ad" could easily become commonplace in the near future. He points out that finding good, reliable and qualified help is one of the most difficult problems facing today's farmers. Whether one is looking for a good man for seasonal work, for year-round employment or for a farm-manager, the story is the same . . . . . much people just do not seem to exist any more.

Why is it that so many men refuse to work on the farm or are unqualified for this type of work when unemployment rates are often high in Canada? It is not unusual for haying wages of up to $13 a day plus board to be refused by an employed man.

Dr. Purnell thinks the conditions which many farm workers have to endure probably have a lot to do with the situation. These include drudgery, long working hours, poor living conditions and lack of fringe benefits. It is possible, says Dr. Purnell, that if farmers refuse to pay more attention to the welfare of their workers they could find themselves in the same situation as their counterparts in California. The labour union in that state are trying to unionize farm labour.

Anyone who is forced with a shortage of good help should ask himself "Would I like working for me?", advises Dr. Purnell. There is much more to good working relations than the dollars paid out in salaries although wages should, of course, be in line with those being paid in the community.

Here are a few suggestions from Dr. Purnell on how to make a more congenial and happy environment for hired help and thereby obtain their loyalty and co-operation.

Plan your work program and give your employee an opportunity to assume responsibilities for improvements. Let them do some of the more pleasant jobs while you share the unpleasant ones. This type of management generates enthusiasm and good will which cannot usually be bought with money.

Provide reasonable housing. The best employee will soon become dissatisfied if his wife and children are unhappy.

Arrange reasonable work hours. Time for extra hours put in during busy seasons should be allowed in slack periods. Keen paid vacations can be worked out quite economically during slack periods.

When possible, provide a wage incentive program such as a bonus or profit sharing arrangement to encourage initiative and productivity. Usually this approach is used for year-round help but it is also beneficial for seasonal employees.

Year-end dollar bonuses, an annual basic salary plus a percentage commission, extra pay for overtime and sharing of farm profits are all methods which can be used to encourage diligence and long term service on the part of employees.

When hiring a new employee, it may be a good idea to put a dollar value on such things as free housing, holiday pay, meat, milk, eggs and vegetables supplied by the farm. This will give him a more realistic picture of the situation.

Remember, says Dr. Purnell, when you are interviewing a candidate you are competing with many alternative employment opportunities, both on and off the farm.

Helen Simons Married At St. Boniface Church

At a double-ring nuptial mass at St. Boniface Roman Catholic Church at Spring Lake on August 28th, Helen Lillian Simons and Patrick Henry Leah were united in marriage. The bride is the youngest daughter Mr. and Mrs. Edward Simons of Sedgewick, and the groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Laddie Leah of Bashaw. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Deen Schneider.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked radiant in floor length gown of silk organza over satin, trimmed with French lace. Her elbow-length veil was held in place by a sequin trimmed organdy rose. She carried a bouquet of red roses with streamers covered with red rose buds. Her only jewelry was a pearl droplet, gift of the groom.

Matron of honour was Mrs. Ardith Barclay sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Geraldine MacPherson, brides sister and Linda Nordstrom bride's cousin. They wore identical blue street-length dresses of crepe with full length chiffon sleeves. They carried bouquets of white carnations and wore white hats. Their only jewelry were necklaces with tiny crosses, gifts of the bride.

Best man was Terry Leah, brother of the groom, Jack Blosser and Danny Krauzert, cousin and uncle of the groom respectively. Little Mary MacPherson, bride's niece, was flower girl, and the bride's brother Billy Simons was ring-bearer. Mary carried a bouquet of white carnations and bine forget-me-nots.

Lovely hymns were sung during the ceremony, after which all registor by the groom's aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Jules Lacouture of Edmonton. Ushers were Grant MacPherson and Calvin Krauzert.

The bride's mother wore a pink crepe dress with navy accessories, and corsage of pink carnations. Mother of the groom chose a dress of French crepe in blue with corsage of pink roses. The groom's paternal and maternal grandfathers, William Simons and Fred Sparrow were present; also the groom's paternal grandfather, Henry Leah, and his maternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kaiser.

A reception following the ceremony for 75 guests was held in the Spring Lake hall, where the bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake with lighted tapers on either side. Fr. Schneider said Grace. Master of Ceremonies was Emil Krauzert of Edmonton. Mr. Tom Sparrow thanked the guests on behalf of the family in the absence of the groom's father, who was ill and unable to attend. Mr. Sparrow thanked the bride's parents for the reception, and the groom's parents for the wedding dinner. Mr. Sparrow thanked the bridesmaids and ushers for their assistance, and presented them with gifts.

Out of town guests were from Calgary, Drumheller, George, Deerpark Creek, Edmonton, Red Deer, Provost, Stettler, Camrose and nearby Towns.

The convention which will be held in October at Edmonton was discussed and it was decided to send the President.

A cheque for a $75.00 scholarship was made out, to be given to Karen Burkard with the highest average and going in for nurses training.

It was decided to have a Turkey Bingo on October 6th in the Elks Hall.

A delicious lunch was served by the Sisters.

Safe, Clean Storage For New Grain

Storage of this year's large grain crop will tax to the limit the available on-farm storage facilities in the Prairie Provinces. From past experience it is known that large quantities of grain can be safely stored on farms in the country provided a few simple, practical precautions are taken.

Inspection is important. The most important factor in the safe storage of grain is sanitation. Dr. F. L. Weaver, Research Engineer, Chas. Winnage, a recognized authority on grain storage problems, points out that the floors, walls, plates, and between the studs of posts of permanent and temporary grain structures should first be thoroughly cleaned and then sprayed with a solution of either 2 cent Malathion, 1 per cent Lindane, 5 per cent methoxychlor, or special pyrethrum sprays. Any of these should be of one of these insecticides will cover 1,000 square feet of surface. He also recommends that concrete floors in grain storage buildings should be covered with heavy mesh reinforced paper to prevent ground moisture moving upward through the grain. Mr. Weaver states that grain stored in barns is almost certain to become infested with insects unless effective preventive measures are taken. All buildings used for storing grain should be structurally sound, weather-proof, bird-proof, rat-proof and well ventilated.

Emergency grain storage can be stored in the open without excessive losses. Enclosures made from snow fencing, filled with not at least three layers of heavy construction paper make good temporary grain storages. Such cribs, however, should be located on high, well-drained, dry ground and heavy construction paper should be used to keep the grain off the ground. The grain in the crib should be piled up into a uniform cone. The crib should be filled to the top of the retaining snow fence and so that no trough is left between the grain and wall to catch water. Cribs made in this manner are also popular temporary storage structures. Detailed plans for these and other temporary grain storages can be obtained from your local Agricultural Engineering Department of your provincial University.

SEDGEWICK UCW FALL MEEING

SEDGEWICK—Mrs. Walter Halton opened the September meeting of the Sedgewick U.C.W. with words of welcome to the sixteen members present. The Devotion entitled, "Prayer" was given by Mrs. E. Koehli. The members observed a minute of silence in memory of Mrs. J. Heariberg, who was a faithful member of the W.M.S. This was followed by a poem by Mrs. W. Halton, and a song "Beautiful Isle Of Somewhere" sung by Mrs. H. Smith.

During roll call 88 hospital and 38 home calls were reported. The correspondence included three interesting letters from our Korean Foster child.

During the business meeting final arrangements for the graduation banquet were made and a committee appointed to purchase new curtains for the church hall and kitchen. Mrs. Bob Campbell and Mrs. A. Gellan will serve on the Community Friendship and Visiting Committee.

After the Benediction lunch was served by Mrs. A. Gellan and Mrs. L. Rowland, and a time of pleasant fellowship was enjoyed by the ladies.

Presbyterian Assn.

KILLAM—The September meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies Association was held at the home of Mrs. George McCabe with 16 members and four visitors in attendance.

The Devotional Period was taken by Mrs. Marion Gibb and Mrs. Fry Nelson and opened with singing hymn 404 followed by prayer. The Scripture Reading was taken from the 2nd chapter of James verses 14 to 26. For the Study Period Mrs. Gibb gave an interesting reading entitled "Reading of Others in Our Community". The Devotional period was closed with hymn 331 and the Lord's Prayer.

The business was opened with roll call followed by the reading of the minutes and their adoption.

The Visiting Committee reported a very busy month with many hours and hospital calls as well as home and hospital calls as well as gifts and cards sent to those who were ill.

Further reports were given by the Treasurer, Home Helper Convener, Manse Committee, Sale of Cards.

Tentative plans were discussed for a Social Evening to be held in the church on the week of November 22nd.

The meeting closed by repeating the Mizpah Benediction, and a social hour followed with Mrs. McCabe and Mrs. A. P. Grant serving a most delicious lunch.

A. P. Crop Report

LOCAL — Harvesting operations have been kept at a slow pace by damp weather and scattered showers. Some areas have been done on favorable days, but conditions have not been dry enough for combining.

Rain has again prevailed over most of Alberta. 1" to 2" of rain has fallen in the southern half of the province and the Peace River District, resulting in wet fields and swaths and causing further lodging of uncut crops. In the northeastern part of the province, precipitation has been lighter and some swathing has been done on more favorable days, but little or no combining has been done. Some frost has been reported from various districts but the amount of damage is not known at present. There are also reports of parts of standing in swathed grain. Warm, dry weather is urgently needed to allow Alberta's potentially good crop to be harvested.

The regular Young People's service was held on Friday night with the annual election of officers resulting as follows: President— Anita Erickson; Vice-President — Paul Grymaloski; Sec-Treasurer— Barbara Coyne, Publicity Director —Doug Munro; Pianist— Valerie Sorensen; Group Leaders— Darlene Coyne, Irene and Joyce Gordash; Adult Sponsors—Mr. and Mrs. G. Bartusek, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kvill and Mr. and Mrs. W. Semeniuk.

It was reported the the Y.P. project for the past term, which was the purchasing of a Gestetner, has been paid.

Rev. Grymaloski was in charge of the Sunday services. During the morning worship service "child dedication" was held, at which time Karla Jayne Bartusek and Joy Alelea Grace Vanderwoude were dedicated to the Lord.

Announcements of interest to the congregation were: (1) The weekly prayer and Bible study meeting which has been held on Wednesday evenings has now been changed to Tuesday night. (2) Commencing next week the continued story of Pilgrim's Progress will be presented on flannelgraph each Sunday morning during the closing exercises of Sunday School.

The Pastor ministered at the Auxiliary Hospital on Sunday afternoon.

Choir practise followed the Sunday evening service.

On The Canoe Trail

Then came the down, or our first campsite. Or, to be literal, the dark. And as in the midst of it, trying to put up the tent, looks out, as it turned out.

The charcoal wouldn't burn. We couldn't find anything — the salt, the coffee, the breadknife the hot mustard. Nothing. We were sitting forlornly, side by side, on a cot, sweating mosquitoes, eating burned sausages and blueberry muffins, and burning with envy of our neighbors, every one of them in a luxurious trailer.

A pelican had informed us that we were camping right on an historic canoe route, used by early explorers and fur traders. It's still a popular route.

The occurred to me about 4 a.m., as I lay there staring starkly at the roof of the tent, my wife whimpering in the next cot. About every four minutes, a transport truck thundered past on the highway, sixty yards behind the tent. At one-hour intervals, a train hurtled clattering by, about 200 yards away. And every so often, a jet liner screamed past right overhead.

And I lay there, sick with envy of those hard-bitten fur traders, on their canoe route.

Not for them the stumbling over tent pegs. Not for them the charcoal that refuses to light. Not for them the never-ending, muddling search for the egg flipper or the toilet paper.

And above all, not for them the endless reorientations. I can't quite imagine the following conversation taking place on the canoe route, on an August evening, say in 1742.

"Hey, Pierre, where do hell did you put de kleenex?"

Dat's all right for you, Jacques, but co was de one co said we didn't need no French dressing, and'cre I 'ave de salade ready, and no dressing?"

"By gar, Jacques, for two beaver 'ides I never go wit' you again on a gotta camping trip. All de time you beeef, beeef, beeef!"

No, it couldn't happen. Oh, well, that's progress. Guess I'll go in and give the old lady another tranquilliser, strike camp (it takes only three hours to "strike camp"), and get rolling for the next episode of unadulterated horror.

The Canada Pension Plan and its benefits

Here is what the Canada Pension Plan will do for people like Joe Costello, a 52-year-old unmarried labourer who earns $50 a week.

If Joe continues to work full time until age 65 he can look forward to retiring with a monthly pension of $54.16 from the Canada Pension Plan and $75 from Old Age Security—a total of $129.16. That's almost 60% of what he was earning.

If he is ill or out of work for as long as two years, or if his earnings for a period of up to two years are below his regular wage, he will receive the same pension at age 65. This is because under the Plan a certain number of months of low or no earnings do not affect the amount of the pension.

If Joe wishes to continue working between 65 and 70 and earns higher wages than previously he can improve his pension. For example, if he works until age 69 and earns $3,600 a year, his pension will be $61.74 a month instead of $54.16.

If Joe becomes disabled after 1970, having contributed for at least 5 years, he will get a disability pension of $65.62 a month until he gets both his retirement and Old Age Security pensions at age 65.

All benefits under the Plan will maintain their value. The actual benefits payable will probably be higher than those given here since benefits will be adjusted to meet changes in living costs and in wage levels before they are paid and changes in living costs after they become payable.

What will the Plan cost you?

If you, like Joe Costello, are employed and have earnings of $2,400 spread evenly over the year, you will pay at the rate of 69¢ a week. Your employer will pay the same amount.

This advertisement is one of a series which relates some of the important benefits of the Canada Pension Plan to individual circumstances.

Issued by authority of the Minister of National Health and Welfare, Canada.

Graduation Dance at Sedgewick Hall on Friday September 17

Memory Lane

(By Mrs. F. M. Cantlon, Hardisty, Alberta)

What excitement-what activity in every home where there are school-age youngsters. The beginning of another school year marks an important epoch in thousands of homes holds across the country today.

Here in our little village the school is at the end of our street, and many of the youngsters pass by on their way to and from the "Hall of Learning."

Today-the first day of September-dozens of little, (AND big) girls in their pretty new bright-colored dresses are passing by-some in pairs, some singly-but all seemingly on a hurry to see their "New" teacher and to find out where they will sit. Even most of the boys-although they tried to act and look nonchalant-were, I am sure a bit excited, too.

The big yellow school Busses with eager faces looking from the windows passed one by one to deposit their precious cargo at the school. So starts the beginning of another school year with it's various activities.

What a tremendous responsibility these teachers and leaders have; more so, I believe, in the beginner's classes. Their's the task of moulding these pliable receptive minds into the right channels, right from the beginning.

Just as the foundation of any building is firm and strong-or weak and insecure, so the structure upon which that foundation is built will be.

In some of the States some time ago-possibly even yet-the salaries paid to the primary teachers were considerably higher than that paid to the intermediate and high school teachers-not including the Principal, of course.

The parents of the children at that time considered the knowledge gleaned during the formative years of a child's life-from six to eight or nine-were the most important. Frankly, I am of the same opinion. However, as I have lost track of school procedure and curriculum since my family are all grown up, I know that with everything else, methods have changed-and so they should as "Progress progresses", Actual methods must needs keep up, too, but one thing that should never change and that is the fact that a GOOD beginning for the new one sets one ever starting out on the "Difficult road of learning" is most imperative.

I heartily agree with the advanced methods of presenting facts to these fertile minds and feel the teachers will do their utmost toward the advancement of these children under their supervision.

However, with all of the new and wonderful ideas along these lines, I, personally deplore the cessation of the one-time popular "Bees" in which all the schools participated, usually on Fridays. To most of us it was the Hi-light of the week. Most schools would hold out only "Spelling bees"-but geography, History, and yes, even Arithmetic bees perhaps finally.

It was considered a real honor in a city where there were six or eight schools of the same grade, for a pupil to "Down" all of the other pupils in that grade. When this happened, that lucky pupil would go on to target city where, if fortune favored them and they "Downed" all other opponents, he or she was sent on to the State capital to compete against some expert spellers. There, if their lucky star still shone and they came out first, they were sent right on to Washington, D.C., the Nation's capital-all expenses paid-to try their skill against the Nation's best.

It they won over all these young people they were given a gold medal with a clay diamond setting, their name, address and age inscribed on the back. This, of course was a much-coveted prize and naturally, it was a very high honor to be able to achieve it.

I might add-to my ever-lasting sorrow and shame-although I did get to the State Capital, I never got beyond that. It was a spelling Bee, and after wading through the most difficult, tricky words successfully, I went down on the simple word "BALLOON". The fact that it was such a simple word made the defeat more bitter. As big-and so old as I was-sixteen years old-I turned to my seat and un-ashamedly WEPT. I had spelled down all but one pupil out of a possible one hundred and twenty-five. (Incidentally, my spelling ability has vastly deteriorated during these past years, to my shame.)

However, I believe it we would hold these new old-fashioned "Bees" again, it would not only be an incentive to the pupils to "Tie in" and study harder-it would encourage so many to keep at it, especially if they happened to win. The possibility of winning some, if not the ultimate prize should spur them on to greater endeavor.

"Competition is the life of trade" is not only true in business-but in ALL walks in life-to old and young, alike. So, friends and co-workers for the advancement of our young

Carol Anderson Wed At Merna Church

The Merna Seventh Day Adventist Church was the scene of a lovely wedding on August 8th, when Elder Ted Andrews of Lacombe united in marriage Carol Fay Anderson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Anderson of Sedgewick; and Mervin Nicks, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Orie Hicks of Blackfalds.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride appeared charming in a floor-length gown of organza over peau-de-soie, with a finishing touch of delicate appliques. Her elbow-length veil was held in place by a small crown of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of red roses, stephanotis, and ivy leaves. She proceeded down the isle to the music of "Psalms XIX" played on the organ by Mrs. Pitch of Lacombe. During the ceremony the soloist Harry Anderson, uncle of the bride sang "Perfect Love" and "The Wedding Prayer".

Attending the bride were her sisters Shirley, Nellie, and Patsy who wore identical pink floor-length peau-de-soie gowns and each carried three pink roses. The head pieces of pink net were held in place by a bow.

The best man was Doug, brother of the groom. Ushers were Ron Kryniuk of Edmonton and John Radomsky of Zoberg. The groom and his attendents, wearing striped directer coats, were very attractive.

For her daughter's wedding her mother chose a pink suit with white accessories and wore a single gardenia set off by her bouquet. The groom's mother wore a turquoise dress touched off by two small orchids. Her accessories were beige.

Following the wedding the reception was held in the Merna Gym with approximately one hundred thirty guests attending. The bride's table was centered with a three tier wedding cake baked by her mother and decorated by her second cousin, Mrs. Donald Becker of Edmonton. Mr. Pitch proposed a toast to the bride to which the groom very ably responded. The master of ceremonies for the occasion was Mr. Davis Hillery of College Heights. Jean Anderson, cousin of the bride was in charge of the guest book. As a special request of the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Hillary sang, "Whither Thou Goest", to close the reception.

For her going away outfit the bride chose a wool kiss suit, black shoes and purse with white hat and gloves. After a short honeymoon at Banff the couple took up residence in Portland, Oregon where the groom is employed in United Medical Labs.

Guests were present from Sedgewick, Lougheed, Galahad, Cold Lake, Grande Prairie, Lacombe, Calgary, Sandiler, Camrose, Stettler, Rosthern (Saskatchewan), Climax (Saskatchewan), and Wilno (Michigan).

Knox United U.C.W.

KILLAM—The Knox United UCW meeting at the home of Mrs. Fred Forster was opened with worship period led by Mrs. J. Christenson. Mrs. Wilson opened the study on Trinidad. Roll call was answered by measuring of the women's arms and by each paying a cent an inch.

During the holidays Mrs. Wilson had taken her from from Mrs. Harry's in the sending of cards, and will continue doing this for the remainder of the year.

The allocations received asked for clothing for one baby for the Moose Mountain Mission in Saskatchewan.

Since the June meeting the U.C.W. has catered for two weddings. Catering for two more was discussed. The group will sponsor a shower for a bride of the near future.

Again used clothing is to be gathered for shipment to Edmonton an Overseas, early in November.

These present paid "Sunshine" money for the summer months.

The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas.

Green Acres

By A. E. Edwards, District Agriculturist

The only way a farmer can be sure that his type of soil management is the best for his land is by taking an annual soil test. In respect of this statement, A. W. Gretsil, Asst. Supervisor of Soils and Weed Control, pointed out that without a test, it is impossible to know how much nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium will be available for next year's crop because the nutrient level of the soil is affected by the amount of moisture as well as other factors.

The many management practices used on Alberta farms can greatly affect the fertility of the land. Continued cropping of cereals rapidly depletes the nitrogen and phosphorus levels and lowers the crop yield while legume crops generally increase the supply of nitrogen. Soil fertility can also be increased when organic matter which is continually decomposing, is replaced by straw, manure or green crops. As well as increasing fertility, the addition of organic matter prevents soil loss from wind and water erosion.

Soil testing involves taking some samples in the fall from each field or from every 20 to 30 acres in the large fields. An analysis of these samples will determine whether the soil is acid or alkaline and will give the time, soluable salt and organic content as well as amount of nitrogen, phosphorus and potassium available for plant use.

To be assured of receiving recommendations before treatment is required and in time to benefit from price discounts by early fertilizer purchases, the farmer should be taking his soil samples now for spring grown crops.

Soil testing kits, which include instruction sheets and sample containers, can be obtained from your District Agriculturist's office.

4H LIGHT HORSE PROJECTS!

Light horse projects, designed to assist farming youth in this field, will be offered in Alberta 4H Clubs for the first time this fall.

G. L. Usher, Supervisor of provincial 4H Clubs, reports that the four projects will include a horsemanship project where members will manage and look after a horse or pony of good type and conformation; a foal-yearling project where members will own, rear and train a foal from weaning; a two-year-old project which will be a continuation of the foal-yearling project, and a brood mare project where members look after a quality mare.

Mrs. Usher points out that the projects will be under the jurisdiction of District Agriculturists and will be offered to members on the same basis as other 4H projects.

BEHOLD THE NOBLE "WARRIOR"!

A forerunner of today's modern heating system is the venerable relic, the "Warrior Heater", built in Hamilton in the late 1860's. Billed as "the most powerful hot air stove in the world." This ancient "Warrior" occupies a place of honour in the offices and factory of Bellock's Limited. This symbol of quality and efficiency has been reflected in the manufacturing of all Bellock Furnaces.

In line with this thinking it is a pleasure to offer you

TORTURE HELPS YOU
(By Bert Odland)

Don't get me wrong. I'm not advocating that you be tortured. I like you. The torture I'm talking about is a different kind. It is a torture that benefits you and thousands of others. First, let me give you a little background music for this torture story:

How would you like to buy a suit of clothes that almost disintegrated the first time it is cleaned? Or an easy chair that collapses after six months? Irritating indeed. But these things probably will never happen to you because you check the quality before you buy.

But how can you check the quality of the inside of a furnace before you buy? It's tough. You have to go by the reputation of the brand and the dealer . . . what they do to insure quality.

That's where the torture comes in. Lennox tortures tests its furnace designs. The heart of the furnace (the heat exchanger) is subjected to accelerated firing, overfiring, extreme cooling in a rapid order . . . then, in the laboratory, the tortured heat exchanger takes a beating in a few weeks that would take many years under normal operating conditions. The result is a heat exchanger design that stands up for years and years. Of course it is tested for top efficiency, too so that you get economical operation as well as durability.

As far as I know no other manufacturer has a torture test for furnaces. It is another example of how Lennox goes to all extremes to assure customer security and satisfaction.

These poor little heat exchangers are suffering for you . . . so that when we install your Lennox furnace you know you are getting the best.

St. John's W. A. Plan For Induction

SEDGEWICK — The September meeting of St. John's W. A. was held at the home of Mrs. Chapman, with ten members answering roll call. The president welcomed Rev. Anthony Sked, new Rector, who was present at the meeting.

The meeting opened for the blessing of the work of the W. W. in the coming year. The chapter, "Why I left The Anglican Church" was read from Pierre Berton's book. It was agreed that following these excerpts a discussion will be held, led by the Rector wherever possible.

A letter was read telling that Bishop de Pel will be speaking in Edmonton the week. Notice was also given that a Board meeting was to be held at Christ Church on November 10th.

Plans were made for the Induction of the Rev. Anthony Sked in St. John's Church, Sedgewick on September 26th at 8:00 p.m.

Committees were formed for the diner for the Apartment meeting on September 13th and the banquet for the Culbert wedding September 28th.

Discussion took place re the renovation of the Rectory bathroom, and a resolution passed regarding same.

A request from Flagstaff Lodge regarding their banner and ten ot Luther Hills was discussed and will be dealt with at the next meeting. The members being agreeable to help.

Mrs. Chapman will close the church this month, and the next meeting will be held on October 5th at the home of Mrs. Culbert.

Central High Graduate Class Surpasses Provincial Average

CAUGHT BY SURPRISE—When it snowed last it didn't really surprise most people after the type of weather we had been having but snow is no place for a sun flower and after going to the work of growing them big leaves it couldn't even hide under them.

SEDGEWICK — The 1965 Graduation festivities of Central High commenced with the usual banquet at 6:30 p.m., this year held in the school auditorium, due to the large graduating class and the number of invited guests.

With Brian Koehli, president of the Grad Class, acting as the M. C., Jim Stewart proposed the toast to the Queen.

Principal Harvey Stave introduced the beadtable guests, which included Mr. Bain, guest speaker of the Exercises, and Mrs. Bain from Forestburg, and then introduced the current teaching staff.

Miss Carol Borgel paid tribute to Mr. Fred Sparrow, long-time president of the school, by way of a toast, with "Fred" responding. The School Board came in for praise, being toasted by Corrine Fae. Replying for the Board, Chairman Russell Grant remarked that while the board provides the physical facilities, it is the teaching staff and the students themselves who deserve much credit for the high standings in grade 12 the past year. The average was 68 percent, two points above the provincial average. A very creditable showing.

Beverly Thorp paid a toast to the teaching staff, and it appeared obvious that in spite of the rough moments of the past term, the students held a high regard for their teachers. Mr. "Bill" Johnson, Assistant Principal, replied on behalf of the staff.

Sandra Thorp in asking those in attendance to drink a toast to the graduates, remarked that there are so many nice and kind things to say about parents, she hardly knew where to start. Obviously 'taken in' by Sandra's remarks, Mr. Eddie Fae waxed eloquent in his reply, and wished the students every success in their future ventures along the road of life.

Mr. Stave, while praising the graduands unreservedly, perhaps rendered meritorious service to the unity of Canada by firmly establishing bilingualism in the halls of old Central. His beautiful renditions in French assured the largest language class in history for the current term. Miss Pat Gallelly graciously replied.

A telegram was read from former teacher Al Smith, extending his very best wishes.

Evening Exercises

An estimated crowd of over 350 attended the Exercises later in the evening in the Community Hall to watch the 41 Graduands (37 present) receive their diplomas.

With Miss Gwen Armitage at the piano, the graduating chorus entertained with singing, directed by Mr. T. Chapman. The chorus also led in the National Anthem. The Grads marched in and were seated on the stage, the multi-colored evening dresses contrasting beautifully with the hall decorating scheme.

Chairman Stave remarked that this was the largest Grad Class in Central's history, and the outlook is for an even bigger class in 1966. An interesting observation by the chairman was that out of every 100 students who pass grade nine, 34 complete grade 12, and of these only twelve matriculate.

Mr. Stave, in making these remarks, seems obvious that high school dropouts are becoming fewer.

Rams Beat College 14-12 In First Game

SEDGEWICK — For several weeks we had been told that the Camrose Lutheran College Vikings would walk away with the high school football this year, but it now seems everyone was underestimating the local Central High Rams.

In the first game of the season at Sedgewick on Saturday had the Rams rambled to a 14-12 win over the College team. Ramble seems to be the right word as the Rams greund attack clicked in the second half for good yardage and all 14 of their points.

Ram quarterback Larry Burden, went over for both majors, and Dave Rombaugh kicked both important converts, which were the margin of victory. Rombaugh also made the only pass interception of the game, piecing off a College attempt in the third quarter.

The first quarter was scoreless as neither team was able to move the ball to any degree. Central picked up the only first down of the quarter.

In the second quarter the College got untracked and went over for a major, but the conversion attempt was blocked by the Rams in a fine defensive move.

Going into the second half down by six points, the Rams dominated the quarter and picked up 7 points on Burden's first touchdown, and the convert by Rombaugh. The offensive score may well have been higher except for penalties picked up by the Rams with wild abandon.

The fourth quarter saw the Rams go ahead 14 to 6, with Burden and Rombaugh again counting for the 7 points. College Vikings fought back and picked up six points when the quarter again failed to click.

At times it looked like the Rams would blow the game as penalties came in clusters, but they hung on for the final victory.

The Rams appear much stronger this year, especially on the line, where they have size and the experience to stop the opposition. In fact the defensive team didn't give up any major yardage during the entire game as they consistently stopped opposing runners. It was a good game and real team effort on both sides.

Next Saturday afternoon the local Rams will host the Camrose Composite High, and if all you armchair quarterbacks want some real fine thrills, be out at the Rec Centre at 2:00 p.m. when the game kicks off. It you turn out and support these fine young athletes they'll give you as good a brand of football to watch as you can see anywhere, and that includes T. V.

DAYSLAND H. S. TO GIVE AWARDS

The Dayaland Home and School will hold their first meeting of the fall season on September 23rd at 8:00 p.m. at the High School.

The main feature of the meeting will be the presentation of the Home and School awards. The big cash prizes have all been won this year. Miss Donna Wagner is the winner of the twenty five dollar award for the highest marks in Language.

Miss Jeanne Cockburn and Miss Pat Peaker have tied for the highest honors mark in grade 12 English. Plaques and certificates are presented to the honor students in grades 7, 8, 9 and 10.

Another feature of this meeting will be the election of the new executive. The election, usually held in the spring, had to be postponed due to poor attendance. In a very real way this will be a crucial meeting, the offices must be filled and an executive elected if the Home and School is to continue in Daysland. Everyone is welcome to attend this meeting, one the many consider the most rewarding of the school year.

Rebekahs To Help Arthritis Society

KILLAM—Holidays over, Silver Link met, once again in the Co-op hall. Sick committee, reported sister York and sister Palmer in the Killam hospital and sister Rohson had gone to Edmonton for an eye operation.

There was lots of correspondance to be dealt with.

A car load of Rebekahs decided to attend the 30th Anniversary of Britania Lodge Vermilion.

Silver Link will conduct a canvas in October for the Arthritis and Rheumatism Society. The Lodge decided to have a money raising project, to raise funds for the I.O.O.F., world eye bank.

Flower show committee reported a good showing of flowers.—a successfull flower show and tea.

27 GRADUATE AT DAYSLAND—Twenty-seven students graduated from the Daysland High School on September 10th and all but two gathered in a group to have their picture taken. The graduates are: Ann Sadry, Esther Bilik, Bill Brownlee, Karen Buhard, Joanne Cockburn, Ruth Coward, Shirley Criss, Eugene Graham, Bernie Koehn, Lorna Koehli, Grace Likness, Linda Little, Doris Makarowski, Bill Malmo, Dennis Madroniak, Audrey Marcinkoski, Donna Mcnaghten, Wayon Nicholson, Pat Peaker, Cheryl Rains, Pat Ramsberg, Sheryn Sather, Gordon Schaub, Jane Twitchell, Francis Vincent, and Greg Hertwick.

M.D. To Stockpile Under Winter Works Plan

The regular monthly meeting of the Council of the M.D. Flagstaff No. 24 was held in the Board Room at Sedgewick on September 8th, with all Councillors and the Sec.-Treas. in attendance.

A general discussion took place regarding the laying of underground cable by Alberta Government Telephones, and in view of the fact that the Council was not satisfied with the way the cable was being laid on road allowances, Secretary was asked to arrange a meeting with the Minister of Transportation in an effort to have the cable laid in such a manner as to cause the least possible damage to the road allowance. Council would not be responsible for damage to the buried cable as four miles of road allowance East of 16, 21, 28 and 33 and 46-14-4 as these lines had been put in contrary to instructions from the councillor concerned.

Orville Likeness, road gravel fave man met with council to discuss the road gravelling program to date and the amount of money that had been expended in each division. In view of the adverse weather conditions that prevailed during the season, it was passed that each division be allowed an additional $5,000 for the public works program. Each councillor is to work with Mr. Likeness in the programs.

A letter from Alberta Government Telephones regarding Mobile Phone service, was ordered filed.

Secretary reported that in answer to advertising for additional office staff, 8 applications were received. He further recommended that application of Mr. Stan Towers of Alliance be accepted and that he start work on Sept. 13th. The recommendation was accepted by the council.

The meeting was informed that the Board of Transport Commissioners had authorized the closing of the CNR crossing at Alliance, and the construction of the new crossing just West of the original crossing.

Mr. Harris of Harris and Associates met with Council to discuss the extra cost involved in moving the Manse of Transportation Act now also covers all public utilities. Council will also notify ATA Society's Obligations In Welfare!

Appeals for public support of welfare measures have become a part of our way of life, so much so in fact that we are beginning to wonder where our obligations to society end. There is only one area human compassion should come to the fore, and that is assistance to the needy,whether through physical or mental incapacity. This is a responsibilty we must not shirk, but where do you draw the thin line between the needy by necessity, and the able who are voluntarily mired in poverty?

Welfare schemes, while aimed at the needy, also include many who are in dire circumstances through choice rather than necessity. Society owes care to the needy, but has no debt owing to the lazy, the indolent and the freeloader. Yet any attempt to compel these latter to earn their keep is frowned upon by society as removing dignity. You just can't take dignity away from people who have none.

The Chances Are Still Good!

Anyone who has lived in this part of the country for the past fifty years or so knows that hope is never a lost item in the affairs of men. Rain and snow have had a discouraging effect on those who rely on agriculture for survival, as well as upon those who's welfare for good or bad is dependent upon the industry, but snow in September does not necessarily spell doom for the industry, for it is a rare thing in this area for winter to set in this early, and the usual hope abounds that we will yet have decent weather to finish the harvesting. Why, we haven't had our Indian Summer yet and a year without that is unthinkable. We've seen harvesting in October and November, we've seen ploughing in December and we've seen Christmas nearly without snow. We need never give up hope for there will yet be fine days in 1965. The crop will be harvested. There will be losses of course, but what there is to get, the farmers will get it. That's what has kept them going from the days of the pioneer, and the farmer of today is still a hardy individual.

On Reading Newspapers!

Looking through the columns of a daily newspaper one evelast week, I couldn't decide whether I was scared to death or completely disgusted. Most of the headlines portrayed disaster in some form. Even where the article itself made sane reading, the headline tried to convince you that it contained catastrophe. I finally decided that headline writers are morbid people with one-track minds; people who will go to any length to create sensation and attention even if the headline has little to do with the article itself. This is not the primary purpose of news dissemination.

P. G. Hamerton in his book, "Intellectual Life" tells of a man who told him that he did not believe in reading newspapers. He charged that they dealt too much in sensational matters, and claimed that the 500 hours or so which he ordinarily spent in reading them could be used to better purpose and more select reading. Another man has said that one's mind needed checking up as the business man's ledger did, and that this could best be done by the information in the press. In some ways there is no more welcome guest in the home than the paper. People read it who do not READ books, and it is their most important point of contact with their community and their country. Its various departments have something of interest to all members of the household. The newspaper provides a medium for the exchange of ideas, and matters that concern all the people are ventilated. It tells the achievements of our day, and registers progress; the cares, the aspersations of the families of the nations. It tells the people about one another, and has done as much as any agent to end isolation. These are the things that a good newspaper does, and it does them honestly. Without these things the newspaper loses respect, and where this has happened the fault may well be placed on the sensational headline writer.

Fire Prevention Week - Oct. 3 to 9

Statistics reveal that Canada has a shockingly high rate of death through fire. For instance in 1964 fire deaths amounted to 657 with 235 of these being children under the age of ten years. The loss of property ran into millions of dollars. When you stop to realize just how easily a house may be set on fire, it is indeed surprising that in the average home there are still fire hazards in almost every room, from the attic to the basement. Basements are particularly vulnerable for it is here that electrical equipment, utilities and inflamable materials are often stored too near a heating unit. Elsewhere in the house, do-it-yourself amateurs persist in installing or repairing wiring, or raising the amperage of fuses, dangerous practices which may easily become a menace. It is cheaper and safer to have a qualified electrician do this work for you. Where there are young children, it is good policy to keep matches, lighters and fuel out of reach. Children may have been told that these things are a source of danger if tampered with, but the warning may be a source of a "dare" for an experiment. A locked cupboard containing these various items could easily save a tragedy.

Once More Into The Breach!

OTTAWA — The dove of peace leader and he is obviously in the holding out the olive branch may position to forgive and forget at be a slightly incongruous role for least until November 8th. And of Mr. Diefenbaker but a wise one course there is always the chance nevertheless. So far his overtures that he might succeed in getting have received an enthusiastic the largest group in the next response. His former Defence House of Commons in which case Minister, Douglas Harkness has he can choose his own time for made it plain that he can win his retirement and it would certainly seat far better as an anti-Diefenbaker candidate. George Hees, new president of the Toronto Stock Exchange & making numerous speeches on the Canadian economy, has not accepted the implied invitation to become a Conservative candidate.

But outwardly the Conservatives seem close ranks behind their strong left wing trio, Joon Mar-chand, Gerald Pollistier and Pierre-Elliott Trudeau. Mr. Pearson probably takes his Mr. Pearson's Quebec lieutenant if the Liberals are returned to the office, the position which the Hon. Guy Favreau failed to grace as he had been expected to. His entry into the Liberal camp is a loss to the New Democratic Party, which with some reason, had been hoping his left wing flirtations were serious. Robert Cliche and being discounted this time.

The possibility that the Liberals might take as many as 65 seats in Quebec and perhaps 16 French Canadian seats outside the province is considered a problem. A minority party weighed so heavily as that with French Canadian influence is the last thing to appeal to the rest of Canada. Nothing can be said publicly of this danger but the party workers can be expected to use privately this argument as a strong non-necessity of having French representation on the government side of the House as a talking point at their Anglo-Saxon and other group votes.

The Conservative decision to run the president of the National Citizens Coalition against the Hon. Mitchell Sharp means that the Liberals can no longer put Eg. Hon. Toronto in the list of safe seats. It is traditionally Tory territory and Mr. Campbell, backed unabashedly by the former member and Finance Minister, the Hon. Donald Fleming, will be a strong candidate. It means at least that the Minister of Trade and Commerce will be able to spend less time trying to gain seats for his party on the Prairies. Prairie gains may prove tough going for the Liberals who now hold only 3 seats between the Manitoba boundary and the Rockies. Saskatchewan is still a Diefenbaker fortress and Tories are talking hopefully of holding all 17 seats.

One issue that may make the Prairie going tough is also a strong weapon in the Liberals should have Prairie seats in the next Parliament. The railway legislation with a plan for line abandonment must sooner or Later be tackled. It has been hanging fire since 1951 when the Macpherson Royal Commission on Transportation reported. It is true that the Conservative legislation also included provision for line banishment. In fact the Liberals have done a lot to sugar the bill. But the Conservative legislation never saw the light of day and the party is uncommitted on this parcely Western Canada issue. The NDP openly opposed. Even if the Tories as a party do not oppose the bill on the hustings it is the House individual Prairie members can and will.

Another thing with which the Liberals will have to contend is a stronger DP vote which, generally speaking will be taken from the Liberals rather than Conservatives. One familiar face that may be seen among NDP candidates this time is Alistair Stewart. The big bluff Canadian feat hasn't made up his mind at time of writing whether he will return to his party and, indeed ,in Parliament Hill circles he is elected. But I aside from the fact that he is viewing a return to the rough and tumble of politics with mixed feeling his old seat of Winnipeg North has been pre-empted since 1962 by an NDP member, David Orlikow. With Stanley Knowles firmly installed in Winnipeg Centre this narrows the choice of Winnipeg seats to two, one held by the Conservatives the other by the Liberals and both are much cold party stamping ground.

The campaign and the candidates

servative seats in the country.

Mr. Diefenbaker will be on the offensive in Quebec and there he will hit hardest in the areas where he was weakest the last time around — Quebec and the big cities. Don't look for the Conservatives to run an anti-Quebec campaign. Not with only eight of Quebec's 75 seats in 1963, and it will be Tory strategy to convince Quebec that the party isn't anti-French between now and Nov. 8.

The New Democrats will concentrate their efforts in B.C. and Toronto, where they won about their 18 seats two years ago. But they also hope to benefit from a split vote in Saskatchewan, where they could blunt Liberal hopes by stealing several seats if the Tory vote grows very much. Also the NDP has a colorful new leader in Quebec, Robert Cliche, who is going after the disgruntled Tory vote in that province.

The outlook is bleakest for Robert Thompson's Social Credit-ers and Real Caouthy's Creditistes. Together they hold 26 seats in the last House, but experts are already betting they'll win fewer than a half a dozen in November.

The election issues will dovetail up at the campaign progresses but if there'll be one over-riding issue — the Liberal bid for a majority government. If the Liberals make it, it will mean a quick end to the Diefenbaker career. If they don't, then the Pearson career will also be finished. Either way, it

Dear Editor:

Canada is a Democracy!

The installation of compulsory "benefits" has made this statement a joke. Can this nation be called democratic if we are forced to accept anything that the government decides to foist onto us? I am complaining specifically about the Canada Pension Plan (in effect Jan. 1) and Medicare looming on the horizon. Agreed that these schemes should be available, but to tell a Canadian that he MUST participate in an unpedmable act. Every man, under the sky provides medical insurance and a retirement plan for themselves. We are walking into Socialism and the Welfare State with our eyes wide open and our hands tied.—Sincerely, A. Gascoyne.

30 YEARS AGO

(From press files Sept. 30, 1935)

A very enthusiastic gathering of the Dayaland Board of Trade met in the Rest Room on Monday evening to formulate further plans for the Booster Sales Week to be held October 7th to 12th.

The new hall in Lougheed is nearing completion and it is certainly a credit to the town and district, being one of the most up to date along the line.

Mah Dao of the Royal Cafe in Strome returned recently from a four year sojourn in China.

The Killam school has re-opened after being closed for two weeks on an outbreak of measles.

St. John's Church, Sedgewick held the Harvest Festival Services on Sunday with a large attendance. The church was beautifully decorated with grain, flowers, and vegetables.

20 YEARS AGO

(From press files Sept. 27, 1945)

The cold weather sort of hit us in the face this week. We are now braving the cold in their woolen coats and parkas. Cheer up folks, we haven't had Indian Summer yet.

The National Clothing Collection will be from Oct. 1st to 20th. Start now to find out what you can give. Any old color doesn't matter. The need is very great. See what you can spare that they can wear.

The Sedgewick Curling Rink is being lined on the inside and insulated. Also a new lighting system is being installed.

This week the Community Press loses another of its staff of reporters. Mrs. McPherson is leaving Killam to reside in Edmonton. We don't like to see her go, but after all, who's running the McPherson affairs.

10 YEARS AGO

(From press files Sept. 22, 1955)

Several days of cool, damp weather occurred during the past week with showers in most areas and some snow. Only about 20% of the wheat has been harvested to date.

Just heard today that curling brooms are going on sale at half price at Killam as the curlers have decided to collect grain this year instead of curling dues.

Miss Annie Carmichael, a former Sedgewickian, has been promoted to Supervisor of Elementary Education in the City of Edmonton.

Moose Seen At Hardisty

Reports have come in of Moose being seen in the district. Children in the school bus driven by Maurice Manning were greatly excited by the sight of a bull moose feeding by the highway.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wood and children spend the past weekend visiting in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Matthews visited their son Dick and family over the weekend. Barney got in a bit of golf at the same time.

St. Mark's W. A. held their first meeting of the fall season on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Nettie Johnson. Devotional period was led by the hostess. Plans were discussed for the catering of a dinner to the Eastern Star, and a bazaar and tea.

A re-union of Legion Auxiliary members journeyed to Irma on Tuesday evening to visit the branch there. Members from Wainwright and Vegreville Branches were also present, with District Commander Mrs. E. MacKenzie of Vegreville. Mrs. and Mrs. "Sonde" Dragger were visitors at the Fred Dragger home for a few days last week.

Mrs. J. Edwards entertained on Wednesday at a treasure tea in honour of her daughter Gail, guests attending both afternoon and evening. Mrs. Jean Garland and Mrs. Pauline Cavenagh assisted in serving, while Mrs. Marian Johnson of Hughenden was in charge of the guest book. On Friday evening Mrs. Jean Garland entertained members of the wedding party at a post-rehearsal buffet supper.

Mrs. Annie Rigby of Winfield is visiting her sister, Mrs. Nettie Johnson.

On Friday, Sept. 10th Mrs. Flora Jeffrey, formerly of the Lougheed and Cambridge district, passed away in Lacombe at the age of 69. She is mourned by her sister Alice and Charles, and one sister, Mrs. Leslie Kells of Hardisty, as well as nephews and nieces. Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery homteended in the Cambridge district in 1908.

Miss Diane McShane has been visiting relatives in Ottawa for the past few weeks.

Mrs. Todd is visiting with her son at Medicine Hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brudle (nee Yvone Drever) of Brooks were visitors at Hardisty during the week-end.

THRIPS CONTROL
IN GLADIOLUSI

Gladiolus corms should be treated for thrips during the winter storage period or before the corms are planted in the spring. Treatment consists of dusting the corms with 1% DDT or 1% Lindane.

The chemical should be applied after the corms have been sorted and cleaned. One ounce of dust is recommended per bushel of corms. Lindane also controls bulb aphids which attack corms in storage.

Both treated and untreated corms should be spread on trays or in open bags under cool and dry conditions. They do not need to be sealed.

Further information on the control of insects and diseases pests as well as recommendations on disease control, storage and cultural practices and varietal choices can be obtained from a Canada Department of Agriculture publication entitled "Growing Gladiolus". It is available from District Agriculturists and the Extension Service of the Alberta Department of Agriculture in Edmonton.

TWINE ERYSIPELAS!

Erysipelas continues to be one of the most costly diseases in Alberta's swine industry. Dr. G. E. Wilson, Pathologist with the Provincial Veterinary Service Branch, reports that last year the disease was diagnosed by the Laboratory on 43 premises compared to 24 in 1963. Rural Veterinarians also report that they are continually coming across it in swine herds.

Dr. Wilson stresses that hog producers need to be continually on the alert for erysipelas. Antitoxins give excellent results when used early and vaccines have helped to reduce the heavy losses of a few years ago.

Erysipelas is a contagious disease caused by bacteria which attack hogs of all ages. There are 3 distinct forms; the acute, chronic and skin types.

Sudden deaths are often the first symptom of the acute type. Other symptoms include a high temperature, laboured breathing, diarrhoea thirst and a purplish discoloration of the skin on the underside of the stomach and behind the ears. Some pigs recover completely while some others appear to improve but develop the chronic form.

Chronic erysipelas is probably the most costly in this province. It is often called the arthritis type because it causes inflamed and enlarged joints. Some pigs develop bad hearts and become stunted and unthrifty.

The skin type of erysipelas, also known as diamond skin disease, causes square or diamond-shaped lesions on the skin. These usually and gradually turn from red to purple and the affected tissue often sloughs off.

Since the symptoms of erysipelas can easily be confused with those of other diseases, a veterinarian should be consulted as soon as it is suspected in a herd. Herd examination is extremely important on infected premises. Any animals that show "Growing Gladiolus". It is also available from District Agriculturists and the Extension Service of the Alberta Department of Agriculture in Edmonton.

Erysipelas is a contagious disease caused by bacteria which attack hogs of all ages. There are 3 distinct forms; the acute, chronic and skin types.

Sudden deaths are often the first symptom of the acute type. Other symptoms include a high temperature, laboured breathing, diarrhoea thirst and a purplish discoloration of the skin on the underside of the stomach and behind the ears. Some pigs recover completely while some others appear to improve but develop the chronic form.

Chronic erysipelas is probably the most costly in this province. It is often called the arthritis type because it causes inflamed and enlarged joints. Some pigs develop bad hearts and become stunted and unthrifty.

The skin type of erysipelas, also known as diamond skin disease, causes square or diamond-shaped lesions on the skin. These usually and gradually turn from red to purple and the affected tissue often sloughs off.

Since the symptoms of erysipelas can easily be confused with those of other diseases, a veterinarian should be consulted as soon as it is suspected in a herd. Herd examination is extremely important on infected premises. Any animals that show

STROME NEWS

Mrs. Hill's daughter, Sylvia and daughter Dorothy and Mrs. Hill, came on Saturday to take her back to the city for a week.

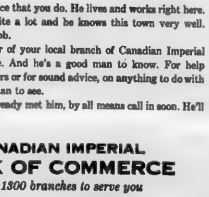
Mrs. Earl Hawkins and Mrs. Jeanette Moran of Hardisty were recent callers at the N. Petters home.

Mrs. Ballard is a patient in Daysland Hospital.

Orval, Johnny and Randy Rawe, and Ike Morgan moved some of Virgil Rawe's cattle to Ashmont on Friday.

On Friday afternoon Mrs. Henry Hawkins and Mrs. Wayne Prichard were hostesses for Amway Party for Mrs. Jane Rawe, at the home of Mrs. Hawkins. Guests were introduced to the various Amway products, after which a most delicious lunch was served. Mrs. Hamlin of Edmonton was also in attendance.

Do you know Mr. T. R. English?



There's a good chance that you do. He lives and works right here. He gets around quite a lot and he knows this town very well. That's part of his job.

He's the manager of your local branch of Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce. And he's a good man to know. For help with financial matters or for sound advice, on anything to do with banking, he's the man to see.

If you haven't already met him, by all means call in soon. He'll be glad to see you.

M.D. Flagstaff To Stockpile Gravel

office There would be an additional cost of $200.00 for fittings, electrical wiring and a hot water heater.

Secretary reported that transfers of land from Robert Birbeck of the M.D. and from the M.D. To Robert Birbeck had been completed.

Preliminary plans by the Farm Electric Service showing proposed power line extensions to serve members of the Gratton REAL were approved as to those lines appearing on the plans in red only, and excepting that portion which is the responsibility of Wainwright M.D.

Plans from Canadian Utilities for extension of a power line were given approval.

The plan submitted for the purchase by the M.D. of land from Walter Swinski of Kinsella for the gravel deposits was approved for registration, together with payment of the account in the sum of $215.50 for the costs of the survey.

Letter from the Municipal Inspector informed that the request of the M.D. for transfer of parts of Townships 42 and 43, Range 9 from M.D. of Provost did not receive the approval of the Minister of Municipal Affairs

Department of Municipal Affairs advised that a Winter Works Incentive Program would again be in operation from Nov. 1st, 1965 to April 30, 1966. Council will work out a winter works porgram for gravel stockpiling and hauling program, with power to ask for contracts for hauling.

Notice was received of the Municipal Districts and Counties convention to be held in Edmonton November 16 to 19 inclusive. All members of Council will be official delegates to this convention.

An application to subdivide 1.82 acres out of the S.E. of 3-43-18 was ordered held in obeyance pending investigation.

The Flagstaff Emergency Measures Survival Plan was adopted by Council.

Approval was given of an agreement between the Village of Strome and the M.D. for the devlopment of a ball park on land owned and contained within the Village. The M.D will contribute 1/10th of their estimated Centennial grant toward this project.

Advice was received from the Farm Purchase Board that the application of Lars Leirdal to purchase the S.E. of 26-44-13 had been approved.

Report of Constable Paul Vanderwoude for the month of August was received and accepted.

By-Law 331 was passed, authorizing Assessors Harris and Associates to make assessments for 1966 by adopting the assessed values as shown on the assessment roll of the current year, and by assessing not later than October 31st, 1965 all assessable property that does not appear on the assessment roll, of the current year.

By-law 332 to authorize the purchase of an new Apron Feeder from Pioneer Machinery Rentals, was presented and passed.

A resolution was passed authorizing a meeting of the electors on Saturday, Nov. 6th, 1965 from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. for the purpose of receiving nominations for Councillors for Divisions 3 and 6; and for a meeting of the electors on Saturday, March 5th at 1:00 P.M. at the Community Hall in Sedgewick for the discussion of Municipal Affairs.

Mr. E. Bouchard, assistant secretary, was apointed as Returning Officer for the 1965 elections.

Secretary was instructed to draw up a By-law authorizing the 1965 charitable donations of the M.D. in the amount of $700.00.

Flagstaff Lodge Had Busy Summer Days

The Lodge had a busy summer, full of activity. The guests who are active helped break and rake the quack grass for a vegetable and flower garden. Trees were planted for a shelter. The directors contracted for the painting of the outside of the Lodge, with white walls with old rose trimming on the woodwork. It is a fine improvement. For fall pleasing through donations from the guests, an order has been placed for 200 tulip bulbs and oriental poppies. A croquet set was purchased by the Lodge Auxiliary which was much enjoyed by the guests, both playing and watching.

We have welcomed new guests to the Lodge during the summer months as follows: Wm. Simms, Mr. and Mrs. R. Carlgston of Camrose, Mr. and Mrs. Stan Cheyne of Lougheed, Mrs. M. Merchant of Edmonton, Mrs. M. Lewis of Forestburg, Mrs. V. Krieg of Killam. We also welcome guests from Auxiliary Hospital who have come recently: Mrs. W. Croshery, Mrs. M. Alexander, Mrs. A. Flanagan, and also guests who are coming a little later: Mr. C. Beckmar, Mrs. S. Sellie, Mrs. E. Langrud, Miss M. Cleven, Mr. P. Bowen.

We wish a speedy recovery to Duncan McCulloch and Mrs. W. Scott who are both in hospital.

We would appreciate any donations of vegetables, etc. from anyone who has extra, such as potatoes, carrots, turnips, beets, etc.

SHOWER HELD FOR MRS. L. PETERSON

SEDGEWICK— A miscellaneous shower was held on Tuesday evening of last week in the United Church hall in honor of Mrs. Lavern Peterson (nee Maxine Swanceat) of Hughenden.

M.C. for the evening was Mrs. George Wellman who announced the numbers of a very enjoyable program. Ia opening gifts Maxine was assisted by Miss Sorenson, while Irene Pedersen and Mrs. Rod Bell listed the gifts. Maxine graciously thanked all for the most pleasant evening and the lovely gifts.

F.U.A. REPORT ON HARVESTING

Weather conditions, called by some inclement and by others incredible or unprintable, are the despair of Alberta farmers.

Already, from two weeks to a month behind in their harvest operations, grain producers are helpless as they watch wet weather slowly but surely reduce the quantity and the value of harvestable grain. What was once touted as a possible record yield is now viewed more soberly. Completion of even an average crop would be reason for thanksgiving on many farms right now!

Continued rain, mixed with snow during the past day or two, chilly days, and frost all contribute to steady deterioration. Grain which has been in swath since early August is being pushed deeply into the stubble. Evidence of sprouting has been found in a few instances.

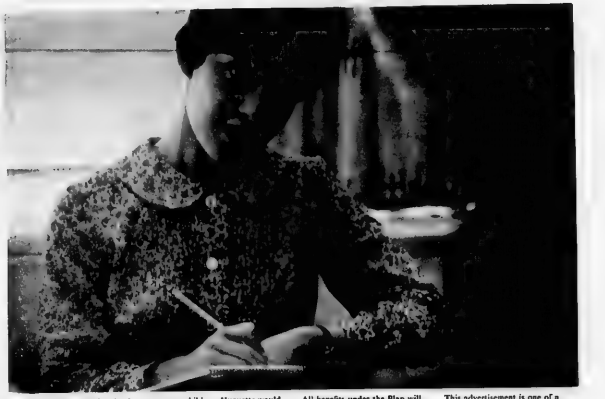
Alberta needs at least three weeks of warm dry windy conditions to enable farmers to wrap up their harvests. However, earlier predictions of an 840 million bushel crop will clearly not be born out. Every day added to our present weather conditions brings us closer to a 700 million bushel total.

Lower grades, lighter grain, and smaller yields all tax the financial return to producers. It is a sad truth the farmer must bear the brunt of this loss himself, just as he must with all such periodic losses. Working as close to nature as he does, the farmer must accept this and plan his operations to compensate for it. Today, however, the farmer's margin on operations is so small there is very little cushion left. All he can do is hope the weather will moderate before all the value in a once "bumper" crop is gone.

Ken Nelson,
Farmers' Union Of Alberta

The Canada Pension Plan and its benefits

Here is what the Canada Pension Plan will do for people like Huguette Samson, a 22-year-old married woman who earns $56.50 a week.



Huguette and her husband, who is earning $4,200 a year, hope that Huguette will work for a few years before family needs require her attention full time.

Assuming that Huguette does just this, her contributions to the Plan will benefit her in several ways. For example, if she works only for another five years, at age 65 she will receive a small retirement pension of $8.38 a month in addition to her $75 a month Old Age Security.

Through her husband's contributions to the Plan, should he die when they have three young children, Huguette would receive a widow's pension of $57.81 a month plus $25 a month for each child—a total of $132.81 a month. She would also receive a lump sum payment of $300.

At age 65, based upon both her own and her husband's contributions she would receive a pension of $37.53 a month plus $75 a month Old Age Security—a total of $132.53.

If she decided to supplement her income at any time by returning to work, she could still receive the widow's and orphan's benefits, could substantially increase her retirement pension, and could also ensure her entitlement to a disability pension if she became disabled.

All benefits under the Plan will maintain their value. The actual benefits payable will probably be higher than those given here since benefits will be adjusted to meet changes in living costs and in wage levels before they are paid and changes in living costs after they become payable.

What will the Plan cost you?

If you are employed and, like Huguette, have earnings of $2,938 spread evenly over the year, you will pay at the rate of 81¢ a week. Your employer will pay the same amount.

This advertisement is one of a series which relates some of the important benefits of the Canada Pension Plan to individual circumstances.

authority of the Minister of National Health and Welfare,

Two New Stamps To Be Issued

The Honourable Rene Tremblay, Postmaster General, today released details of two new commemorative postage stamps which will be issued by the Post Office Department on 8th September 1965.

"One stamp marks the Centennial of the selection of Ottawa as Canada's capital. It portrays the first Parliament Buildings which were completed in October 1865. The fourteen million copies of this large stamp, designed by renowned artist Gerald Trottier of Ottawa, are printed in brown.

The other stamp honours the September meeting in Canada's capital of 75 member nations of the Inter-Parliamentary Union, a world-wide organization that promotes personal contacts between parliamentarians of all nations and encourages the development of democratic institutions. The meeting is scheduled from 8th to 17th September. Sixteen million copies of this large stamp are printed in green. It is the design of Philippe-Gaudin and Associates from Winnipeg.

Daysland Proceeds With New Hall

DAYSLAND—The regular monthly Council meeting of the Town of Daysland was held Sept. 8th in the Town Office.

Six Councillors were present with Mayor Pryce [illegible].

Placing of the washroom facilities on the sportsground was discussed and left to the decision of the Sports committee.

Mr. Robert Haarahan, local Fire Chief and Mr. A. Johnson, inspector with the Provincial Fire Commissioners Office attended the meeting. They suggested if the town planned to obtain a truck to mount the present stationary pump to use for a booster, they should purchase a larger truck that could be used for a stand by unit. This could also be used for grass fires. The M.D. of Flagstaff was to be approached and asked if they would contribute towards this unit.

Resolution No. 166: It was moved that Mr. W. Haarahan be appointed returning officer and Mr. T. Cockburn as Deputy Returning Officer, nominations to be received at the Town Office and the Polling places to be in the Elks Hall.

Resolution No. 167: It was moved that Council apply to the Alberta Municipal Finance Corporation for the balance of the loan needed, amounting to $47,894.68, to complete construction of the Daysland Water Supply and Distribution System.

Resolution No. 168: Whereas the debenture from the Municipal Development and Loan Act would not be forthcoming until the Water Supply and Distribution System would be complete, it was moved that Council borrow $150,000.00 from the Bank of Montreal until the proceeds of the debenture sale are received.

Mr. Chris Golka of Viking who was present was asked to explain the cost and difference between pushing the water line underground and trenching. Cost of trenching and laying 2/4 inch copper pipe would cost $2.66 per foot while pushing underground would cost $3.05 per foot. As Mr. Golka was busy at present no arrangements were made.

As the vote for By Law G 149 was 70% in favor of building a Community Hall in Daysland, a delegation from the Lion Club was present to check on the progress. As final plans and specifications were needed the delegation said they would obtain them.

It was moved that the town designate the S.E. corner of Lot 11, Block 14, Plan 05 M.C. as the site for the new proposed Community Hall.

Mr. Peter Wynnyk applied for option to purchase lot 30, Block 13, Plan 72745 to move a house on this property and place it on a full basement. It was moved that this application be accepted.

It was moved that a Hall Committee be added to the Works Committee and that Councillor Wirth be chairman. Councillors Stevens and Thurston volunteered to act on this comittee with Councillor Wirth.

Mr. D. Weld, E.M.O. co-ordinator for Daysland asked to be replaced because of too much other pressing business. No one had been found as yet to replace him.

A letter from the Assessment Department advised that Mr. A. Dawson had been appointed as assessor for Daysland for 1965, replacing Mr. G. Greasy.

A letter from A.G.T. advised they could install an automatic fire alarm system connecting to volunteer firemen when the dial system will begin next May.

A letter from the Cultural Development Branch stated they were sponsoring a work shop in Sand Oct. 29-31.

A survival plan and resolution from E.M.O. was tabled to be discussed further at the meeting Sept. 22th.

Resolution No. 169: It was moved that Mr. Joe Longlo be allowed $16.00 subsistance allowance and travelling expence to attend the Western Canada Water and Sewer Conference School in Edmonton on September 12th.

DAYSLAND NEWS

(Delores Baines)

Now is a fine time to be talking about snow and ice, just the same Mrs. Doris Elvinsen sends along the news item that she will be attending a skating seminar at the Royal Glenora Country Club in Edmonton. This course will prepare her to teach Figure Skating to the young ladies and gentlemen of the district. She is also planning a Wednesday afternoon class for ladies. The theme of these classes will be "Keeping Fit On Ice". Daysland has very good skating facilities and 1965 could see the beginning of a number of supirent skating stars.

A miscellaneous shower was held for Miss Jeanette Caselilah on September 11th in the U.C. Social room with approximately 100 ladies attending. Mrs. Alex Caselilah the bride's Mother and Mrs. Ray Grimes the groom's Mother along with Jeanette and her two bridesmaids, Louise Brown and Elsie Caselilah opened the many lovely gifts she received. Jeanette thanked everyone for coming and thanked the ladies who put on the shower for her.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brinker on the arrival of their baby girl.

Bonnie Little Married In Edmonton Ceremony

Miss Bonnie Little and Mr. Gerald Halbert exchanged marriage vows before Mr Coville, Justice of Peace in Edmonton at 10:00 on August 14th. Bonnie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Little of Daysland and Mr. Halbert is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Halbert of Nanton

The bride was very charming in a street length dress of peau de soie de luxe. It featured a lace panel down the shirt front and had long fully pleated sleeves, the frock was made by the brides mother. The bride also wore a chapel veil held by a band of flowers, she carried a bouquet of red roses.

The bride was attended by her sister Linda as bridesmaid. She wore a street length dress of blue Peau de soie luna and lace and carried a bouquet of white and mauves. The groom was attended by his brother Robert Halbert. Little Miss Debbie Halbert sister of the groom was flower-girl and was dressed in pink and white and carried a basket of assorted flowers. Ring bearer was Richard Little brother of the bride.

Mrs. Little chose for her daughters wedding an afternoon frock of blue-green and accessories of white. Mrs. Halbert mother of the groom wore a pink suit with white accessories.

A reception was held at the home of the brides parents at two o'clock with 64 guests, the brides table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake made by the bride and her Mother and decorated by Mrs. R. Winchester. Vases of Sweet Peas and Gladeolus decorated the table.

Open house was held from five to eight with almost 80 guests present and many lovely gifts were received.

For honeymoon the bride donned a blue knit suit with white corsage and accessories. On their return they will make their home in Nanton where the groom is working in his father's

Through 5,650 branches, all across Canada, the chartered banks bring full-range banking within the reach of everyone.

Questions and Answers On Canning For Freezer Use

The preserving season is now in fullswing. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, have been busy answering questions on freezing, canning, and jelly-making. The following are some of the most frequent questions asked by the Canadian homemaker.

What does blanching mean?

Blanching is a short, partial cooking in boiling water or steam. It is required to destroy enzymes, found in all vegetables, which would cause undesirable changes in flavor, color, and texture during storage.

I have heard that you can freeze corn in the husk without further preparation. Is this possible?

No, this is not possible. All vegetables, including corn, must be carefully prepared for the freezer. They must be blanched, chilled and packaged in air-tight freezer containers. To freeze corn; husk, de-silk, wash in cold water, and blanch the specified length of time in your freezer manual, 9 minutes for medium cobs. Chill cobs in cold water, drain, cut in uniform lengths, and pack dry. Freeze immediately.

I always seem to get soggy s-round the seal of my jelly glasses. What am I doing wrong?

Be sure to avoid any dribbling of jelly on the inside of the jar above the jelly level because the paraffin will not be able to adhere to the jar properly.

If you are in the habit of pouring a thick layer of paraffin over your jellies, try this method for a better seal. Coat your jelly slightly, then pour a thin layer of hot melted paraffin over the jelly, rotating the jar so that the wax will adhere to the glass to form a close seal. Leave until hardened then add a second layer of melted wax, again rotating the jar.

I want to freeze peaches this year. How can I prevent discoloration? Peaches and apricots tend to discolor easily and so they must be treated with ascorbic acid. If you plan to pack peaches in syrup, use 1/4 tea spoon of crystalline or powdered ascorbic acid or 500 milligrams in tablet form to 4 cups of cold syrup. If using tablets, dissolve in 1 tablespoon of cold water before adding to the cold syrup. If you pack peaches in dry sugar, use one-eighth teaspoon of the crystalline or powdered ascorbic acid or 400 milligrams in tablet form for each pint. Dissolve ascorbic acid in 2 tablespoons of cold water, sprinkle over fruit in a bowl and mix gently. Then, add the sugar and mix slightly until fruit is well coated.

Is the even method of canning still recommended?

The Consumer Section does not recommend the oven method of canning. It is not as safe or as efficient as the boiling water bath. The oven may be used, however, for sterilizing jars. Just place the jars, open with lids in the cold oven, then turn the thermostat to 250 degrees F. When the oven temperature reaches this point, the jars are sterilized. Remove jars as needed.

What is the sugarless method of caning fruit? Will it keep the fruit as well?

The sugarless method of canning fruit is similar to the cold pack method. Remember, the keeping quality of canned fruit does not depend on the addition of sugar but rather on correct processing and the use of air-tight containers. The color and flavor of some fruit are retained better, however, when some sugar is added. The sugarless method is especially recommended for rhubarb, blueberries and cherries. It may also be used for wine fruit.

Wash, prepare fruit and crush part of it in the bottom of a preserving kettle. Add remaining fruit and heat for a few minutes, stirring occasionally and if necessary add a little water to prevent scorching. Pack in sealers or cans, crushing fruit down slightly as it is covered with its own juice. Leave headspace and process as for cold pack, from 15 to 30 minutes, or as directed by your canning booklet.

Fruit may also be canned in water, just add a little less water than you would syrup; and use the hot pack method as outlined in your canning guide.

I am only allowed to eat fruit without sugar. What fruit may be frozen without the addition of sugar?

The fruit that may be successfully frozen without sugar are as follows: all fruit juices, blueberries, currants, gooseberries, raspberries and rhubarb.

Some freezing experts suggest freezing strawberries and peaches in water or juice rather than in syrup, with the addition of ascorbic acid to preserve color and flavor. They also recommend freezing raspberries on trays, then packing in freezer containers.

I stored my canned fruit and vegetables in the cottage during the winter. Is there any danger in using these cans since they were frozen?

Freezing may deteriorate the quality of canned fruit and vegetables. There is no danger, however, in using cans which have been frozen, so long as there is no sign of leakage after the food has been allowed to thaw.

PRINCESS ROYAL CHAPTER I.O.D.E. KILLAM

KILLAM—Princess Royal Chapter I.O.D.E. met at the home of Mr. H. Bendig. with a fair attendance in spite of the bad weather.

A paper was read by Mrs. McCabe with directions for the Chapters to display the Canadian flag, at National, Provincial and semi-annual meetings, the "Union Jack" is the flag to be carried by the I.O.D.E. Correspondance was read, and the business dealt with. The members voted to have the National budget attended to, same as last year.

The Xmas Meeting is to be held in Castor on Sept. 30th and a car load of members plan to attend. The C.N.I.B. has asked the help of the I.O.D.E., in the form of a canvass.

Mrs. Lachey reported some new books had arrived for the library.

Members were pleased to hear that Mrs. Fox is getting along well, after her accident.

After the close of the meeting a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. McCabe and Mrs Bredie, and a social half-hour enjoyed over the tea cups.

The October meeting to be held at the home of Margaret Manning.

DESTINATION LUNAR LANDING: The U.S. is betting on its three-man Apollo spacecraft to carry astronauts to the moon, perhaps as early as 1970. But before men dare land there, NASA must know more about the moon's surface. Project Surveyor will load cameras on the moon,having the hardness of the moon's crust and photographing the moonscape to select a choice landing spot for the later manned voyage.

Jail Terms Urged For Impaired Car Drivers

Alberta Motor Association members were unanimously in favor of mandatory breathalizer tests as an aid to enforcement of laws aimed at impaired driving.

They are almost as strongly in favor of compulsory jail sentences for motorists who are found guilty of driving while impaired.

And they are in favor, also in four, of retaining speed limits on certain multi-lane highways in the province of Alberta.

Those are the conclusions that must be drawn from the results of the survey of members taken earlier this year by The Alberta Motorist — a survey whose results were high on the list of items that were scheduled for close study by AMA directors at the semi-annual meeting of the organization at Banff Sept. 13 and 14.

Results of the survey will be given further detailed study by the AMA Resolutions Committee and will be reviewed at the annual meeting next year.

As result of requests made through The Motorist to members to state their views on impaired driving laid papers limits, no less than 7,346 questionnaires were mailed back to AMA headquarters —an exceptionally high response to such a request for co-operation and one that reflects a great deal of credit on AMA members for their interest in the two important matters.—Alberta Motorist.

The Bible Today

August the first marked the completion of the first hundred years since the printing of the Yoruba New Testament. The churches of Nigeria held special services on that day to mark this event.

It was a slave boy who became one of the first African Bible translators. Sold four times from one trader to another, this young Nigerian lad eventually came under the care of a Christian schoolmaster. Soon he longed to return to his own people to share with them the Good News of Jesus Christ, and the new life he had found.

After many adventurous years he did return to Nigeria. His Yoruba, even after twenty-five years, was still fluent. He was possessed with the necessity of providing the Scriptures in the Yoruba language. Among his other duties, for he was now Bishop Samuel Adjai Crowther, he found time to devote to the translation of the New Testament. This was printed by The British and Foreign Bible Society in 1865. Today more than 1 1/2 million copies of the Yoruba Bible have been sold in Nigeria.

JULY DEATHS WORST IN HISTORY

July was the worst month in history for traffic deaths in Alberta. the 53 deaths nearly doubled those of July 1964. Searching the records of the past five years the Alberta Safety Council found that the greatest number of deaths previously recorded in one month was September of 1963 when 46 were killed.

For the first time this year deaths due to motor vehicle accidents rose past last year's figure. July's deaths pushed Alberta's 7-month total to 185, thirteen more than a year ago.

Accidents maintained their lofty position over 1964's collision mark. To the end of July, motorists were involved in 19,806 mishaps, a 15 per cent increase over a year ago. Three thousand and forty-five accidents were reported during July, up 327 from last year.

Injuries numbered 4,338 for the 7-month period, compared to 4,286 last year. July accounted for 925 against 886, 12 months ago.

The July Traffic Accident Summary shows R.C.M.P. reporting 44 deaths, 21 more than last year, with Edmonton and Calgary 3 each and Medicine Hat and Lethbridge 1 apiece. To the end of July, R.C.M.P. have reported 151 fatalities, Calgary 16, Edmonton 13, Medicine Hat 3, Lethbridge, Peneka and Taber 1 each.

July's accident-scene new Edmonton reporting 1,134 collisions while R.C.M.P. investigated 1,098, Calgary 738, Lethbridge 122, Red Deer 48 and Medicine Hat 34.

Of the 925 persons receiving injuries during the seven-day month, 387 of them were handled by R.C.M.P. Edmonton reported 208, Calgary 138, Lethbridge 36, Red Deer 10 and Medicine Hat 10.

To date $6,381,000.00 of estimated property damage has been reported. July accounted for $1,452,225.00.

Mr. Stein, principal of the Forestburg School and formerly of the Hardisty School, was the guest speaker of the evening. In his relevant and interesting address, he traced the scientific and technological advancement of mankind, and remarked that the changes in these fields has put man in a new environment wherein he must change much of his thinking. Man must first be a human being in our closely-knit universe, and a Canadian or Russian or African next. Brian Kosbik presented Mr. Stein with a gift.

Marilyn Harris Reports On Graduate Seminar

It was great honour to have won a trip lead to Banff Eye Camp. From five previous years there were 35 students in each, 10 were chosen to attend a special graduate Camp. Thirty-three girls and boys from all over Alberta met at Gold Eye to attend the 1965 Graduate Seminar.

It was for a week of fun and serious thought, a week for renewing old acquaintances, and making new friends, but above all, it was a rewarding week of experiences with lasting memories. During the week we were privileged to meet and discuss problems with Mr. Paul Babay, "President of the Alberta Farmers' Union;" Mrs. Kay Dewhanich, Director of F. U. and CDA; Mr. Ken Nelson, Editor of the Organized Farmer.

The program consisted of sessions on human relations, communications, farm organization, communications, public relations, news media panel, program planning, and leadership. The recreations of the camp consisted of volleyball, swimming, horse shoe, badminton, softball, dancing, singing, mountain climbing, water sports, and a free ride home for "trouble makers." The highlight was the final banquet and dance. which ended a wonderful week.

Irene Carlson Married At Trinity Lutheran

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in Trinity Lutheran Church, Lougheed on August 20, at 2 p.m., when Miss Irene Edna Carlson, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Chris Carlson of Sedgewick, and Mr. Duane Freeman, son of Mr. and Mrs Eldredge Freeman of Lougheed exchanged vows. Pastor E. J. Christopherson performed the double ring ceremony The church was tastefully decorated with baskets of flowers. The bride given in marriage by her father was lovely in a floor length gown of white satin, styled with bell shaped skirt and designed with lily point sleeves and scooped neckline. Her dress was decorated with lace appliques and seed pearls and featured a detachable train from the waist. Her shoulder length veil jewellery was a necklace of coloured pearls, gift of the groom. She carried a bouquet of orchids with white Stephanotis Ivy.

The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. John Murray and a girl friend Miss Shirley Quigg, and Miss Darlene Freeman sister of the groom. They were identical strust length gowns of mauve pui-de-soie with scalloped neckline and sleeves. Their hats were of white net, with a white chiffon rose. Crystal neck lace and earring sets completed their ensemble.

The groom was attended by Mr. Donald McKinnon, also of Hardisty and Cecil Kruschinsky. They each wore mauve ties to match the bridesmaids dresses. The guests were ushered to their seats by Clifford Carlson brother of the bride and Alvin Nordstrom cousin of the groom.

The wedding music was played by the groom's mother, Mr. Herb Lounsen sang "The Wedding Prayer", during the signing of the register.

For her daughters wedding, Mrs. Carlson chose a crepe dress at burgundy red with white lace trim and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. The groems mother wore a blue linen dress with matching jacket trim white accessories, and her corsage was of white carnations. The open reception for 150 guests was held in the church parlours following the ceremony. The room was decorated with mauve and white streamers, with bells and silhouettes. The bridal table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, baked by the bride's mother and decorated by Mrs. Olive Murray of Irma.

Mr. Conrad Ingvaldson was master of ceremonies. Mr. Thomas Clouston Jr. proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom ably responded. Mr. Herb Lounsen, and Conrad Ingvaldson each sang a solo during the reception. Miss Joanne Clouston was in charge of the guest book.

Upon house was held at the home of the groom's parents, followed by a dance in the Lougheed Community Hall.

Following a honeymoon to Eugene, Oregon and other parts of the States the young couple will take up residence in Edmonton.

For travelling the bride wore a three piece suit of off-white wool lace knit with brown accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Out of town guests were from Edmonton, Camrose, Wainwright, Irma, Kinsella, Lougheed, Amisk, Hardisty, Sedgewick, Strome, Highvale, and Antigonish N.S.

FAREWELL TO A FRIEND

After a couple of thousand miles of traveling, there's nothing so delightful as to sit in one's own backyard and contemplate the folly of the world. And that's what I'm doing right now.

Two kittens are tight-rope-walking the back fence, as grave and cautious as Blondin crossing Niagara Falls. They have survived the attentions of Winnie, our two-year-old neighbor, who has a utilitarian approach to picking up cats: ears, tail, stomach-fur, or whatever's natural.

The garage sits there, breathing lemon summer fragrant. It was a red shed when Ken began painting it as a school project. It is now two-tone, half faded blue, half deathly green.

Peering through the picket fence on the left are the Little Horrors. There are five of them. I'll swear they're all the same age, about two and a half. They hark like Indians watching a wagon train. The minute we leave the place even to go shopping, they but down the lower board in the fence and sack the place. They use our lawn chairs as trampolines and the picnic table for mountain climbing, dismantle my power mower and employ our hose to squelch civil disturbances among each other.

Across the street, where there are two teen-agers, swirls the daily ballet, a kaleidoscope of sound and color. Kids arriving and departing; swim suits and shorts and pyjamas; motorbikes and sports cars, tennis rackets and golf clubs and footballs.

From the great oaks spreading over the street comes the sonorous thumping the ground with a gentle irregular rhythm. Two lazy pigeons have found a cozy nesting spot under our eaves and are squabbled in there, purling like throaty growl.

The lawn sprinkler is turned off, but there's a dribble from it, and a young rabbit is nibbling it. Everywhere, doing everything but reaping his oversight.

Up a maple tree, twice around the trunk, along the hydro wire, jump to the cedar, leap to the vine, scramble up the side of the house and straight into my attic, lickety-split, hurtle two black squirrels. Object, either love or war.

Backyard inside: new-cut grass on the lawn; fresh-washed sheets on the line; cedar and spruce from the trees; and, gently stealing through the back door, the excruciating waft of coffee.

Color everywhere. Six shades of green in spruce and cedar, elm and oak, maple and walnut. Vivid splash of tiger lilies. Yellow sun dappling trees and patching grass. One dell-cate pink rose and pale mauve of phlox. Gay striped lawn chairs.

And what more pleasant place to look back over the pattern of summer. Early-morning golf with dew on the fairways and the first champagne-cool beer of afternoon; shopping excursions to the world's smallest cubic cover; under the cool silver. Home for cold beer, barbecued steak, ripe tomatoes and juice-spurting ears.

Luxury of boat cruise abruptly changed to roughing it in a tent. Those long-distance phone calls from remote outposts to learn when the next long weekend is due. Prize relief to learn that he does well. Sunday picnic in the depths of the camp, going with great gobs of goodies, sitting around for two hours eating to think of something to talk about, returning with load of summery camp clothes to wash.

Then climbing on top-of-the-world cat along an four hours steep, and trying to prove it. Daughter beating Dad at tennis and then not wanting to do. Wife like cat with cream because I haven't been away from her side for more than four hours all summer. Father pretending to be a hick, and barely able to find time to write a column.

Goodbye, Summer, you seductress. Then'll never be another like you.

Miss Irene Sky,

Beginning this week I am going to present a series on Money Management.

Some of the topics to be covered will include: 1. Your Budget; 2. Your Home Furnishing Dollar; 3. Eat Well—Pay Less; 4. Children and Money; 5. Eat It All—save Food; 6. Your Clothing Dollar; 7. Your Food Dollar; 8. Money Management for Young Moderns; 9 Money Management for Mature Adults; 10. Your Equipment Dollar.

These will be condensed from the booklets put out by the Consumer Education Department of Household Finance. Those excellent booklets can be obtained on loan from my office at Camrose for those who would like to study them.

YOUR BUDGET

Have you ever said "Just look at the money we've spent this year. Where has it gone? What do we have to show for it?"

The secret of having something to show for your hard-earned dollars is planning to spend it. Some dollars buy exactly what you need and want before they disappear in unexpected ways.

I have been keeping a budget and record of my spending for the last four years and I find that it really helps me. If I decide that I must something by a certain date, whether it be a car or a winter coat, by planning and saving where my money goes I can cut down on certain expenses and save. I can look back to see what I spent my money on and decide. "Now did I really need that? Did I make real use of it or was it an impulse purchase?" Then when future purchases come along it helps me to decide if I really need it.

Before you go shopping you should always plan what you are going to buy. Do you need it? Is it of good quality to warrant the amount of money being spent? Will it last as long as you want it to? Should you save some more and buy a better quality so it will last longer? Or do you need it right now and if so, will you need to use credit?

A good money management plan should be tailored to fit your living and your wishes. It cannot be based on someone else's ideas of "average" family, are on percentages of income which that average family might spend on the cost of living of shelter. The number in your family, your income, the type of work you do, your talents and tastes, the neighbourhood in which you live all influence your desires and spending needs.

Take out a pencil right now and write down everything you wish for —the things you would like to have —a bicycle, a washing machine, a fur coat, a vacation trip Have fun making your plans work. If you know what your goals are you will find the most important one fitting neatly into your spending plan.

You will find your wishes falling into three groups: 1. Things you need and want soon. 2. Things you want during the next year. 3. Things you want in the future.

Let everyone in your family help make this list. It takes more than one to make a family spending plan work.

NEXT WEEK—Start planning now to get those things.

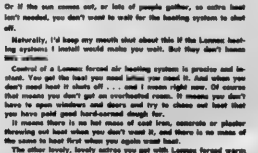
"HEY WAITER!"



By Bert Odland
Exasperating, isn't it, when you are hungry or in a hurry and you can't catch the waitress' eye for a restaurant. Many a time in despair have I thought that the counter-jockeys should be called "waiters" because they are the ones who do the waiting. It's just human nature to dislike waiting for anything.

That's true also when it comes to comfort in your home. When the temperature suddenly drops outdoors, you don't want to wait for the house to warm up.

Or if the sun comes out, or lots of people gather, an extra load isn't needed, you don't want to wait for the heating system to shut off.

Naturally, I'd keep my mouth shut about this if the Lennox heating systems I install would make you wait. But they don't because this salesman

Control of a Lennox forced air heating system is precise and instant. You get the heat you need just before you need it. And when you don't need heat it shuts off . . . and I mean right now. Of course that means you don't get overheated rooms. It means you don't have to open windows and doors and try to chase out heat that you have paid good hard-earned dough for.

It means there is no hot mass of cast iron, concrete or plaster throwing out heat when you don't want it, and there is no mass of the same to heat first when you again want heat.

The other benefit, lovely ones you get with Lennox forced warm air are: Continuous circulation of air to eliminate stuffiness and stratification; filtering of dust and dirt from the air; addition of fresh air; addition of moisture to the air; and, of course, only with a central forced air heating system can you easily add central air conditioning.

Why wait, why worry, why suffer? See us.

A. P. Crop Report

SUMMARY—Cool, damp weather continues to prevail over Alberta accompanied by intermittent rain and snow. Swathing has been going ahead on more favorable days with the result that the average amount of cutting completed is now approximately: Wheat and Oats 25%; Barley 20%. The lack of drying weather has kept combining at a virtual standstill for the past two weeks. Most areas report that little or no Wheat and Oats have been combined, and the combining of Barley has no clear pattern. Some stations in the north and eastern districts or no Barley has been combined, while other scattered stations show up to 75% of the Barley has been harvested. The South central section is a little more advanced than other areas. Frosts have occurred in most parts of the province and minor quantity of uncleared grain is also reported from various districts.

New Postage Stamp Programme For 1966

Eleven commemorative postage stamps will be issued by Canada in 1966. This announcement was made by the Honourable Rene Tremblay, Postmaster General.

The series featuring the official flowers and armorial bearings of the provinces and territories will be concluded next year. Alberta and Saskatchewan will be honoured on January 10th and the newest province, Newfoundland will be commemorated on February 22rd. Florals for the Yukon and Northwest Territories will be issued on March 23rd.

Mr. Tremblay explained that this sequence is one of the ways in which the Post Office Department is marking the Centennial. The series began on May 14th, 1964, when the Maple Leaf — Unity stamp appeared. Ontario and Quebec were featured on June 20th, 1964, followed by Nova Scotia and New Brunswick on February 3rd, 1965. Prince Edward Island will be similarly honoured on July 21st, 1965.

The three hundredth anniversary of the arrival of La Salle in Canada will provide the subject for another 1966 issue. The stamp will go on sale April 30th.

May 18th has been selected as the date of issue for a stamp to focus attention on Highway Safety. The Postmaster General explained that traffic deaths are increasing alarmingly each year and expressed the hope that this issue will serve to make people more aware of this needless tragedy.

Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy will be the theme of a stamp to appear July 30th. The date was chosen to coincide as closely as possible with the opening of the CANDU reactor at Douglas Point, Ontario, which has been scheduled for the summer of 1966.

The third stamp in a series honoring the major steps which culminated in Confederation will go on sale September 7th. The London Conference will be the subject. The first such meeting honoured by the Post office was the Charlottetown Conference, featured on a postage stamp which went on sale July 29th, 1964. The Quebec Conference issue was released on September 8th, last year.

For the third consecutive year, Canada will have Christmas stamps in 1966. Mr. Trimbley explained that they will be of the three cent and five cent denominations, the most commonly used for Christmas cards and letters.

All these stamps, except the three cent Christmas issue, will be five cents in value.

KICKING THE EXTRA POINT—Central High Rams are shown kicking the convert on their first touchdown in the record game with Camrose Lutheran College which they won 14 to 13. Last Saturday's game at Sedgewick was cancelled due to the two inches of snow that fell Friday evening. The coming Saturday the Rams are away from home for their first road game.

29 Nominated For Civic Election Seats

Civic nest-seekers in the local area has almost taken on the aspect of a federal general election this year, with 29 candidates competing for 17 vacant seats on Town and Village Councils. No doubt influencing the interest in at least Killam and Sedgewick, is the fact that administrations in the two areas undergoes a change. Killam, recently constituted as a Town will this year be required to have seven councillors including the Mayor, while Sedgewick, still an Incorporated Village, decided on a five man council. The other areas remain the same, but with seemingly renewed interest in the conducting of municipal affairs.

At Dayaland three men are running for two vacancies on council. Dr. Hrdlicka and John Josphison are the two retiring councillors this year, and while Dr. Hrdlicka is not running, Mr. Josephison, along with Leslie Dolezal and Martin Mandrusiak are seeking public support.

Strome too will have an election. with J. Beever and P Stanko running to fill the seat left vacant by the retirement of ex-Mayor Alvin Gordon.

Killam's ballot paper will read like the Bill Of Rights, with nine men and one woman seeking seats on the council. Those are, Simon Bosch, Bernard Chandler, Joseph Dutton, Craig Lawson, Roy Manning, Fred Martin, George Pattiar, Mrs. Amy Robinson, Ben Rott and Arnold Stenberg. Mayor George Hilker was returned to the mayoralty chair by acclamation.

Sedgewick, going for a five-man council, has eight aspirants for the positions. Mayor Smith and Art Edwards, retiring councillors, declined to run. Those in the race are, Hedley Bailey, Calvin Beairsto, Norman Culbert, Ralph Cooper, Art "Ace" Eastly, Erlin Lindquist, Everette Mayne and Lyle Metz. "Red" Culbert is the only re-run from the old council.

Lougheed too will have an election, with two seeking one vacancy on the village administration. Seeking re-election is Rich Yahemchuk, with Jim Aldridge looking for his first election win.

In the Town of Hardisty where there are three vacancies, four men will compete for the seats, namely, Leonard Anderson, Lames Cavanagh, Fred Crane and Robert Young.

Election Day is Wednesday, October 13th, and with the evident interest being taken in civic affairs, a large turn-out of voters is expected.

STOPPING THE PASS—Rams player No 17, David Muirhead, is shown attempting to intercept a College pass in the third quarter of the record game. He couldn't bang on to the ball but stopped it from being a completed pass and forced the opposition to kick on their third down.

Farmers Optimistic About Crop Harvest

Despite the clamour from across the prairies during the past two weeks, we find that farmers are generally are taking the finicky weather right in stride and are not being demoralized into abandoning damp grain. During the infrequent and short-lived dry periods many completed swathing operations, and some combining of quick-dry grain was accomplished in the lagoond, oats and barley. Some wheat combined was tough (14 1/2 to 17), but small if the grain loss here was made up by the increase in weight.

According to official reports a surprising amount of grain has been combined, with an estimated 228 million bushels of wheat taken off (28%). There can be no change in the estimated crop yield as a whole until reports are received on the standing flattened crops, but the main concern of farmers has been the grain loss. Sprout, bleaching, weathering and mildew have all been the enemies of high grades.

At the moment the picture looks like this for wheat in Alberta: Damage graded in No. 4, a general drop of one grade.

Unseasonable Weather During Past Week

SUMMARY— Very unseasonable weather has again been general over Alberta during the past week and harvesting operations remain at a virtual standstill. A small amount of swathing has been done when possible, and has been crushed now stands at: Wheat and Oats 75%; Barley 85%. The amount of grain that has been combined varies considerably in different areas but the average for the province shows cut more than: Wheat 30%; Oats 15%; Barley 20% combined to date. Crops are continuing to deteriorate in all parts of the province as the result of heavy frosts, wet weather and sprouting.

MOOSE BEING SIGHTED LOCALLY

Humans have always been restless, with an inborn desire to see what the situation is over the hill. Domestic animals have always found the grass a little greener on the other side of the fence, and even birds have been known to go astray.

This restlessness seems to be penetrating deeper and deeper into all areas of life on this hemispheric island. The moon up by has shielded the brightest minds of our time, who, having been on the verge of figuring out the peculiar antics of man, now find themselves confronted with the problem of coping with the peculiarities of animals and birds.

For years and years the Swallows have returned to Capistrano dand on computer and according to the calender Why have they suddenly gone astray? Why have birds traditionally native to England and Europe, suddenly decided the North American continent should be their habitat? Why have birds native to Canada lit out for communist countries? Perhaps the answer to the latter would best be left unanswered.

The latest trend in this wonderlust among nature's inhabitants is apparently being shown by the Moose. Reports are coming in of these animals being spotted in local areas, far from their native and traditional stamping grounds. Could it be that the moose is wiser in his ways and knows that his safest place is the area where these is no hunting season? It just might be, but man will soon remedy that.

Anglicans Install Rev. Anthony Steel

SEDGEWICK — The induction of the new Rector of St. Edmund's Mission, consisting of the Anglican Parishes at Killam, Sedgewick, Lougheed, Hardisty and Bigham, took place on Monday evening, September 20th at St. John's Anglican Church, Sedgewick.

Over 160 people, including many from other denominations, were in attendance at the service conducted by the Right Reverend W Gerald Burch, Bishop of Edmonton.

REV. ANTHONY STEEL
who inducted the new Rector

The installation was by the Venerable V. P. Cole, Archdeacon of Battleford and Rector of the Parish of Wainwright. The sermon was preached by Canon T. L. Leadbeater, Rector of Holy Trinity Church in Edmonton. The Reverend Trevor Elliot of the Parish of Edgerton and Provost, was Chaplain to the Bishop.

Visiting Clergy included the Rev. D. Lewis of the United Church of Canada; the Rev. S. J. Christopherson, Pastor of the Lutheran Church and the Rev. W. Peterson of the Church of the Nazarene. Also present was the Rector's father Sr. Lincoln Steel, a director of the Charterhouse Investment Trust Co. Ltd., and Chairman of the Triplex Glass Co. of London, England, who was returning to London after attending the International Industrial Development Conference at San Francisco.

O.O.R.P. MEETS

KILLAM—The first meeting of the new term was held on Monday, September 13th in the Elks Community Hall, which is now being remodelled with a new kitchen and washrooms. The ladies decided to purchase a Fridge and a stove for the kitchen.

The Lodge will cater to the Morgan-Weisgerber wedding in November. Plans were also made for the annual badding bingo.

A.G.T. Teleshow At Sedgewick Oct. 14

The first regular meeting of the Sedgewick Board of Trade for the fall season was held last week at the banquet room of Sedgewick Cafe, with over twenty in attendance. Minutes and financial report were presented by the secretary, followed by the clearing up of old and new business arising from the minutes.

The meeting was informed that an A.G.T. Teleshow will be staged in the Village on Thursday, October 14th, at which time patrons of the new phone system will be familiarized with its operation. Entertainment will also be provided at the Teleshow, and a crowd is anticipated.

It was further learned that "D" for Dial day will be on October 17th at which time the area will be switched to the dial phone system. This transfer will take place at midnight on October 16th.

After some discussion a committee was formed to seek likely candidates for the forthcoming civic elections.

Mayor Smith informed the meeting that tentative plans are underway for a joint opening of the natural gas system, with Killam, at which time events will take place in both centres, including the lighting of flares. Details of the affair will be worked out later, and a tentative date of November 1st has been set.

The Board of Trade is planning the annual Ladies' and Newcomers' Night for the regular meeting night in November, when the ladies and newcomers to the community will be entertained with a banquet and evening entertainment.

Meeting adjourned to meet again on the third Tuesday in October.

Young Socreds Pledge Support For Candidate Fred Barber

SEDGEWICK — The regular meeting of the Sedgewick-Coronation Young Social Creditors was held September 21st at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Einar Brandingen.

A motion was passed unanimously pledging our support to Mr. Fred Barber (Battle River-Camrose) Social Credit candidate for the forthcoming election, in his campaign.

It was decided to change the day of the regular meetings from every third Tuesday to every third Wednesday of each month.

The subject of study this month was a brief political history of Alberta and the beginnings of Social Credit. This proved very interesting and sparked a lively discussion.

Watch for our "Do You Know" column to be continued in October.

Meeting was adjourned and every one enjoyed a delicious lunch served by the hostess. Next meeting is at the home of Mr and Mrs Robert Polege on October 26th.

CENTRAL GRAD CLASS—The 1965 Central High Graduation Class was the largest in the history of the school and all but four were in attendance and posed for this picture. Back row (1 to r) are: Gail Reaume, Sandra Thorp, Corinne Fox, Robert Bjerken, Sandra Child, Dianne Leschewski, Teddy Hill, Judy Hess, Henry Mays, Marilyn Johnson, Richard Peake, Judith Barber and Linda Arnold. Centre row, Carole Powell, Goldene McGowan, Carol Burgat, Wanda Wilder, Wyott Pinsley, Marilyn Yanton, Alvin Nordstrom, Lorraine Ferrier, Clarence Batt, Myrna Sorenson, Ruth Bertinson, Sharon Crane, and Anita Palmer. Front Row, Treese Green, Lynn Fox Patricia Galletly, James Stuart, Barbara Cameron, Lynne Wess, Brian Kendel, Beverly Larsen, John Stuart, and Ronnie Grywulinski. Missing are Geri Timmons, Wendy Saunders, Lillian Caruth, and Glen Grant.

What Do The People Want?

In polling the public in the ...ition's very small sphere of ...ivity, as to their wants and ...ts-wants so far as governments are concerned, the results have left about as much confusion as ever. One thing is certain. We have the solid welfare-staters, the absolute free-enterprisers, and a fair sprinkling of the in-betweeners, and in the chaos no actual estimation as possible. What do the people want?

Do they want Socialism? Is the trend today bending toward the welfare state, or are the people beginning to retreat and swing toward getting governments out of their personal affairs as far as possible? To all appearances this seems to be the main issues at stake in the current campaign. If the demand is for more welfare with more and more of personal responsibility being taken over by government, then the Liberal and N.D.P. parties would appear to be leading from strength, and with the Federal Pension Scheme and the National Medicare on the way, the Liberal government will likely be called upon to form the next government. If the public is swinging away from welfare, and in our affluent society feel that they want to run their own business, the choice of the electorate is limited to the point of being non-existent, for as yet no political leader has had the courage to publicly proclaim that we have gone far enough toward Socialism. While they may oppose method they do not fight the principle.

The way it looks at the moment, we have the N.D.P. Party on the extreme left, the Liberals a bit left, the Conservatives almost straight down the middle, Social Credit of centre and Communists running up and down the whole line. Take your choice.

Who Says So?

When political parties go about the business of promoting a major change in the social order, their drive is based on the assumption that this is something the people themselves want; it is something that they are beginning to demand and that therefore it should be given them. But to what extent today do the people actually have very much choice in what is foisted upon them? The truth is being stretched to the breaking point today by those politicians who utter the worn-out statement that this is what "the people want". Local polls of a few people are of little value, for unless an opinion is obtained from all walks of life across the country there is little likelihood that any opinion will be obtained. Until this has been accomplished, politicians might well abandon the old stand, and forthrightly admit that personal popularity at the polling booths prompts all their utterances. At the other end of the scale, less than 2 per cent of the males earning under $3,000 have university graduates and a good proportion of these were summer employees or those working only part of a year."

SPENDING PATTERNS

The bank says that changes in the size and distribution of income "have important economic implications beyond the obvious effect on overall demand, for spending patterns alter as families move up the income scale. Moreover, the response to a rise in family income is unlikely to be the same at all age levels."

The B of M points out that in 1961, when 40 per cent of all families had incomes between $4,000 and $7,000, well over half of these had family heads under 45 years of age.

"Experience suggests that these younger families constitute the main market for houses, home furnishings and appliances, educational services, and many other goods and services related to raising a family. They also represent a major part of the demand for consumer and mortgage credit," the bank added.

"While new buying power enables lower income families to raise their standard of living, those already enjoying a comfortable standard may extend the range of their purchases to include a larger proportion of luxuries, from summer cottages to foreign travel."

Maybe We've Had Enough!

According to CBC's research department there is an indication that television may be losing some of its popularity. A study reports that the average time-per-week in which Canadian TV sets were turned on in a recent month was 40 hours and 24 minutes, almost two hours less than in the same month a year ago. The opinion seems to be that the trend to less TV viewing is on the way. The figures seem to us to be rather high, but just the same the trend may be a blessing, for if Canadians are actually drifting away from their television sets perhaps the costly activities of the CBC could be curtailed. For another, the advertisers' budgets might be revised to divert some of the heavy TV spending to other forms of publishing to benefit the public by helping to sustain the weekly press. That's not a bad idea at all.

Just as an aside, we notice that the CBC took six prizes or awards in the television and radio field. This is probably a quite commendable record, but it may well be pointed out that with $100 million of public funds to spend each year, the CBC ought to have taken all the prizes and not just six of them.

Lloydminster - Alsace-Lorraine

After all the talk of dissatisfaction with things as they exist, it now appears that Lloydminster will continue to function as it has these past many years. Premier Thatcher has declared that he will not surrender his half of the city to Alberta. Since Alberta has lower taxes the East portion of the city shows discontent. This could develop into an East-West partition or some sort of inter-provincial Alsace-Lorraine problem.

B of M Says Canadians Earning More

Montreal, Aug. 31— Marketing opportunities in Canada are now better than ever before, with Canadians earning better incomes and being able to buy more luxury goods and services, according to the Bank of Montreal in its Business Review for August, just issued.

The B of M Review, analyzing Canadian income patterns, notes that taxation statistics "reveal a number of significant trends that have implications far all those interested in selling to Canadians. Most important, of course, is the general rise in the level of Canadian income."

The Bank observes that the rise in incomes has been accompanied by a shift in distribution with the proportion of incomes in the lower brackets dropping sharply and the middle and upper income groups increasing markedly.

In terms of demand for goods and services, persons in the $4,000 to $6,000 bracket in 1963 represented aggregate purchasing power of almost $11 billion compared with a little over $3 billion for those in the same income group in 1953.

EDUCATION PAYS

The B of M says that the changes in income distribution and the rise in the level of real earnings are mainly attributable to increased productivity and to education.

"Generally speaking higher education goes hand in hand with higher incomes. A survey made at the time of the 1961 census revealed, for example that 40 per cent of the earners making more than $10,000 per annum had a university education. At the other end of the scale, less than 2 per cent of the males earning under $3,000 had university graduates and a good proportion of these were summer employees or those working only part of a year."

"HOLY COW... WHERE DID ALL THE TOMES COME FROM..?"

Names Are The Issues!

After threatening to die on its feet for lack of popular issues, the federal election campaign suddenly caught fire this week. It was a case of personalities injecting color into an otherwise dull campaign.

The personality who grabbed most of the headlines was, inevitably John Diefenbaker, triumphantly announcing he had restored unity to his splintered Progressive Conservative party.

But despite blasting Opposition attacks on problems of national unity and scandal in government, there was yet to emerge a red-hot "gut" issue which could sway the one-third of the voters who are rated as still undecided on how to vote.

The Tory rebels who returned to the PC bandwagon after Mr. Diefenbaker's appeal for unity were led by George Hees, ex-Trade Minister who gave up his job as head of the Montreal Stock Exchange to seek election in Ontario's Northumberland riding.

But the biggest catch of all—Manitoba Premier Duff Roblin—eluded the Tory net. After days of suspense, Roblin announced that although he would campaign for the party federally he would not be a candidate.

Behind the return of the Conservative defectors, there was speculation that a power play was underway among would-be successors to Mr. Diefenbaker.

The other chief Tory warrior to return to the federal scene was Davie Fulton, ex-Justice minister, rated a shoo-in for his old Kamloops B. C. seat.

A number of top Tory organizers, experts also put themselves to the test of the voters. Journalist B. T. Richardson, Diefenbaker's personal assistant, is going after the Toronto Spadina seat now held by the Liberals. PC association president Dalton Camp is to tackle Trade Minister Mitchell Sharp in Toronto Eglinton and vice-president Dick Thrasher is taking on the Liberals in Windsor, Ont. riding of Essex South. Diefenbaker critic George Hogan is trying for the Toronto York West seat vacated by hockey star Red Kelly, but he will have stiff opposition in a prominent Liberal who has returned to the fray, Robert Winters. Mr. Winters was a cabinet minister in the St. Laurent government.

Pierre Sevigny returned to the Tory fold in Quebec while in Calgary, ex-Defence minister Douglas Harkness, who broke with Diefenbaker in 1963, described the closing of Conservative ranks as a case of "they've come back, but I've never left."

A number of prominent MPs, of all parties have announced they will not seek re-election. The Speaker of the House, Alan MacNaughton of Montreal, announced his retirement, along with NDP leader Doug Fisher from Port Arthur and Tory Mrs. Elsie Jones of Saskatoon.

The Conservative party was also assured of more assistance from provincial premiers than Mr. Pearson will receive.

In addition to Duff Roblin, Ontario's John Robarts will go all out for the PCs, both of them sharing the platform with Mr. Diefenbaker at an Oshawa kickoff in Toronto, Oct. 1st. That rally, in solid Liberal-NDP country, comes a week after the official launching of the Conservative campaign in Halifax, which was followed by a Diefenbaker tour of Quebec.

Prime Minister Pearson will get help and assistance from provincial premiers, with the exception of Joey Smallwood in Newfoundland and Premier Robichaud of New Brunswick. Premier Lesage is off on a goodwill tour of the West and refuses to talk about the election.

The Liberals get down to work with a one-day candidates' rally in Ottawa, but the PM was planning on a slow start for his campaign, promising to take the high road above "smears, scandal and scuttlebutt."

New Democrat and Social Crediters seemed to be lost in the shuffle.

Fire Hazard Problems

A community may think of a fire accident as an isolated event however reports of fires accumulated by the provincial Fire Commissioner lead to the conclusion that certain definite fire hazards repeatedly kill and maim people. It is the purpose of the Fire Commissioner to remind people of the hazards that continously are causing problems.

Recent tragic Alberta house fires involving flammabel liquids call for a warning against misuse of flammable liquids in the home. Admittedly there is often the temptation to do a small dry cleaning job, but the qualities of flammable liquids are such that handling or using them in open containers inside a home is next to suicide.

Why are flammable liquids [illegible] very dangerous? It appears that most people believe that if the windows are open in the house that the vapours from the liquid will dissipate. The truth is that gasoline vapours, being heavier than air, will accumulate at floor level or in the basement and can be ignited by the pilot light of the furnace or the hot water heater. Gasoline and other common volatile flammable liquids standing in open containers produce combustible and explosive vapors. This process of evaporation simply spreads the fumes, setting up conditions for a flash fire. This is particularly true of gasoline, but the same is true of solvents although it takes slightly higher temperatures to produce a flash fire atmosphere.

Many people do not understand the speed at which fire travels, nor the amount of heat a small amount of vapour will generate. It is estimated by the experts that a flash fire will travel at least 50 feet per second, and that the heat of a flash fire is between 1200 and 2,000 degrees Fah. If these facts were understood, it can be seen that one cannot escape the path of a flash fire and that the heat of a flash fire immediately sears exposed flesh and sets fire to exposed clothing. In the face of these deadly characteristics it is extremely foolhardy to handle or use volatile flammable liquids in open containers. In Canada, over a 10 year period, 795 lives were lost involving accidents with flammable liquids.

IT IS A TWO-WAY STREET

Truedon (Ont.) Trudonian

It may not be amiss to remark, in the midst of the attempts to convince us all that we must meet the French speaking Canadian half way that this should be a two-way affair. There is an uncomfortable feeling that Quebec wants all the concessions made in one direction, and is not willing to bend at all.

If English speaking Canadians should learn French, it is just as much that French speaking Canadians should learn English. If Canada is to remain intact, Quebec will have to be part of Canada, not a separate state, existing as a sort of state within a state, and defying federal authority.

Fortunately, there are voices in the Province of Quebec too. But the Cassettes and others vocal with separatist ideas, are talking as though Quebec must get what it wants, or else. It is one thing to ask for understanding. It is quite another to ask for abject capitulation.

At 4:30 a.m. Saturday morning residents of Sinsen were awakened to fight a fire raging in the Memorial Hall. When discovered, the flames had already made such headway that it was impossible to save any of the contents. Damage was estimated at $10,000 and was only partly covered by insurance. Volunteers and Killam firemen prevented damage to adjoining property.

Threshing is nearing the end of its run. The yields and the grades are far from even the average, the majority of the grading running to No. 6 Feed. It is evident that this years crop is "a cent per year's harvest", but we can always look forward to next year.

Maple Leaf Symbol For Canada's Centennial

Arrangements have now been completed for the use of the Centennial Symbol, developed by the Centennial Commission, as an aid in the promotion of Canada's Centennial of Confederation.

The Symbol is a stylized version of a maple leaf, consisting of eleven equilateral triangles, representing the ten provinces of Canada and the great Canadian North.

It lends itself to color variations, and can be adapted for multiple uses such as pennants, souvenir wares, stationery and other decor. When used together with the dates "1867-1967", with or without the words "Canada Confederation", it will be a reminder of the 100th Anniversary of Confederation in Canada.

The Centennial Symbol may be used by business organizations, government agencies and individuals throughout Canada under three categories of use.

It may be used without formal license or consent, by governments, voluntary agencies, organizations and individuals who aim to promote the Centennial of Confederation as a public service.

Comsumrial enterprises who propose using the Symbol to promote the Centennial of Confederation separately and distinctly from any wares or services they are selling or distributing may do so, but only with a letter of consent from the nearest Collector of Customs and Excise.

A formal license is required for the reproduction of the Symbol by any commercial enterprise or any individual who manufactures for sale or distribution, wares on which the Symbol is either (a) the principal element, or (b) is associated with the goods or services for sale These formal licenses specifically relate to cases such as manufacturers or wholesale distributors who anticipate an economic profit through the sale of wares or services featuring the Symbol, and are granted at the discretion of the Centennial Commission at a fee of $50.00.

Users of the Symbol must apply for and follow the Centennial Symbol Graphics Manual, one copy of which is available for each user

Copies of the Graphics Manual and other information dealing with the Centennial Symbol may be obtained by writing:

Second in a series on "Money Management"

START PLANNING NOW!

1. How Much Will You Have To Spend?

Since I was raised on a farm, this is quite difficult to know until the crop money is in the bank and the cattle and pigs have been sold. If you are in the dairy business then you will be keeping an accurate production record of each cow and so you probably have a good idea of the income you expect for each month. All farms are businesses, and both you and your husband should be keeping a complete management record of your farm. Your family should have a budget beyond what you keep for income tax records. The District Agricultural gives excellent farm management courses for your farm during the winter months, something each and everyone of you should look into. I also give home management courses for [illegible] ladies and the Home Management Specialist from Edmonton will come and talk with you at these courses. Watch the paper and listen to the farm radio programs for the times of these courses. When you are reading this column I will be at Olds attending a week-long Farm and Home Accounting and Management Course. This is designed to enable me to teach you more efficient management of your farm and your home.

Once you have figured out how much your family has to spend on all expenses involved in farming and living, you must try to plan. Since your [illegible] are irregular, you will probably need to adjust your spending plan many times, but it can serve as a valuable guide to wise buying and savings-to-wise.

Make a list of all your family sources of income:

Income from the farm: Rents; Bonuses, gifts, government or other allowances, e.g. family allowance. Dividends or income from investments; Earnings from odd jobs.

2. Future Fixed Expenses.

What regular bills must be paid on specific dates in the next year?

Insurance — Life Insurance, Hospitalization, Health and Accident, Fire and Theft, Automobile, Personal Property, Others.

Taxes; Loans; Monthly [illegible] Mortgage Payments, Car Payments, School Tuition, Books, Fuel; Safety Deposit Box; Interest on Loans and Purchases, Etc.

Make a chart headed "Our Future Fixed Expenses". Make a series of [illegible], one for each budget period of the year. The number of budget periods may be one every month or more or less, depending on when your income comes in and how long it is going to be before [illegible] comes in.

So across the top of your sheet you have four headings:

Item
Amount Due
Date Due
Budget Period (a number of columns for this one.

Now fill in with the list of your Future Fixed Expenses.

Next Week I will continue with your "Future Flexible Expenses".

★ MACDUFF REPORT

Party Leaders Off And Running Hard

OTTAWA—The leaders of the political parties in Canada are off and running hard in the general election campaign.

Prime Minister Pearson formally launched the Liberal campaign when he delivered the keynote address to a rally of Liberal candidates in Ottawa. It was a poised confident Pearson that set the pattern for the Liberal campaign. When he was finished his audience gave him a standing ovation, cheering him not only for the content of his speech but for his improved manner of delivery. He looked and sounded like a leader.

National Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker flew into Toronto earlier to attend a picnic at Oakville that had been arranged to celebrate his 70th birthday. Despite a heavy rain he laced into the Liberals in a hard hitting speech. He came down hard on the scandals which he said had smeared the Liberal administration and then he flew out to Prime Albert for his nomination convention. Out there he again pounded hard on the scandal theme emphasizing that whatever else his critics might say about the Diefenbaker Government the had to admit that he provided "honest" administration. He won hearty applause.

New Democratic Party leader T. C. Douglas has accused the Prime Minister of trying to "flim flam" the Canadian people in the reason the Liberals are giving for calling the November 8 election. He has described the Prime Minister as "departing from statesmanship and descending to opportunism" by going to the people at this time. Douglas is confident that many voters will say "a plague on both your houses" to the two old line parties and vote for the NDP. This seems to be born out by a recent Gallup Poll.

The poll found that more than twice as many voters think the NDP will gain seats in the election, as expect the Socialists to suffer losses. This conviction is strongest in Ontario.

Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson is hitting hard on the theme of freedom of the individual and opposition to state encroachment. He is emulating Premier E. C. Manning in this approach. The Ralliers Social Credit Premier was hailed for passed to the Federal Government's announcement of Medicare and contends that it should be left up to the individual to decide what sort of medical coverage he wants for himself, that it is not a job for the state to intervene and make the decision for the individual. Similarity in the case of hospitalization and the Canada-wide pension plan.

However, Prime Minister Pearson in his opening speech of the campaign told the Liberal delegates to the mass rally in Ottawa that his Government has not as its objective full Medicare in operation on Canada's 100th birthday, July 1, 1967. He emphasized that his Government requires a good solid majority in Parliament giving it a mandate to close this remaining gap in the Liberal social security program.

Consequently Mr. Thompson and Mr. Pearson are diametrically opposed on this issue.

The Prime Minister made a swing up into Northern Ontario for his nomination convention in Espanola in the constituency of Algoma East, before he opened the campaign officially in Ottawa.

In Espanola Mr. Pearson moved around the town chatting with the people of that pulp and paper community. He was obviously at home, and he should feel at home because this is the eighth time that he has been given the Liberal nomination for Algoma East.

Back in Ottawa at the Liberal rally he acted and sounded like a leader determined to go out and win the election campaign when he delivered his pep talk and harangue, and The Liberals who heard him were delighted. This was a new and different Pearson. No longer was he the diffident, ill-at-ease world statesman trying to act the politician.

The Prime Minister's confidence was infectious. His speech was well prepared. It was a good political document and was calculated to provide the listening Liberal candidates and candidates to be with ample ammunition for use in their own constituencies.

He opened on a humorous note. He poked fun at George Hees and Jean Diefenbaker. The Prime Minister said that the "perils of Pauline" as Liberal Pauline Arscott runs against Hees in Ontario's Northumberland constituency would be sure to be one of the star acts of the election campaign.

"Hel," he added, "Polly can have full confidence and good heart as she faces that green roots, dirt farmer from the Montreal stock exchange." Then the P.M. turned his attention to his chief opponent Mr. Diefenbaker. He observed that he was luckier than the opposition leader because, "I haven't had to persuade much of you as candidates with the plaintive plea "will you love men in November as you would not do in May?" "

There were howls of laughter and appreciative applause from the Liberals. Continuing to examine the phenomenon of the reconciliation of the former Conservative Cabinet rebels with their leader the Prime Minister lifted a quote from Lewis Carroll's Hunting of the Snark". The recent events in the Tory party he suggested brought back to mind the Carroll rhyme:

"But the valley grew narrower and narrower still
"And the evening got darker and colder
"Till (Merely from nervousness, not from goodwill)
"They marched along shoulder to shoulder."

Mr. Pearson having got that playful bit off his chest repeated his view that he was going to talk to Canadians in this campaign about the Liberal program and plans for the future as well as his minority government's record. He was going to talk about his opponents. "Their fears and hopes, their failures and fantasies."

At Espanola earlier he had made that same vow. He pledged to conduct a clean campaign. He would not indulge in smears and smearers, slanders and scurrilous.

Obviously Mr. Pearson is going to try to carry out a dignified campaign as the leader of the nation. He will call for a renewed mandate with a large majority in the Commons so that he can proceed to meet and deal with the many new problems confronting Canada.

But Mr. Diefenbaker is not going to let the Liberals get away with that kind of a campaign if he can help it. He will play up the scandals of the previous administration. He has hit them hard on this score in every speech he has made to date. But whether he can keep talking scandal for six weeks without his audience becoming a bit bored remains to be seen.

The question with most voters now seems to be whether they want to entrust a majority of Pearson's Liberals, and whether the Diefenbaker Tories have re-habilitated themselves since 1963: or whether they will vote for the NDP "plague on both your houses."

Shirley Mae Hoffman Wed At Killam

Decorated with beautiful gladioli, St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Killam, on Saturday, August 28th, at 11:30 a.m. was the scene of a lovely wedding, when Shirley Mae Hoffman of Los Angeles, oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hoffman, Killam, became the bride of Mr. Ronald Glen Shatola of Los Angeles, California. Rev. Fr. M. E. McCarthy officed the nuptial mass.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, looking radiant in a floor length gown with cathedral length train of white peau-de-soie, high Empire style, fitted bodice of lace with square neckline and long lily-pointed sleeves. Her two-tier chapel veil of French illusion misted from a matching headpiece of lace, encrusted with aced pearls. Her only jewelery was a single strand of cultured pearls, gift of the groom. She carried a bracaded satin-bound prayer book, topped with two orchids and streamers of satin caught with lily-of-the-valley.

She was attended by her sisters Miss Jeanne Hoffman as maid of honor and Miss Doris Hoffman as bridesmaid. They wore matching floor length bell-skirted gowns with floor length panels of organza over taffeta, in shades of shrimp and turquoise. Their headpieces were tiaras of sarawa bowtalls. They carried matching colonial bouquets of carnations.

The groom was attended by Mr. Eugene Hoffman, brother of the bride, and Mr. Reginald Fee, a close friend. Ushers were Fred Kimber and Jack Hilker, cousins of the bride.

Mrs. Richard Kimmer was organist, and Mrs. Everette Chevrean sang "O Sanctissimus" and "Ave Maria" during the ceremony.

The mother of the bride wore a blue figured silk dress with white accessories and corsage of deep coral roses. The groom's parents were unable to attend.

A wedding breakfast followed in the parish hall for relatives and close friends. The bride's table was centered with a three-tired daintily decorated wedding cake baked by the bride's mother, with white candles and rose buds flanking on either side. Mr. Richard Kimmer was Master of Ceremonies. Father McCarthy proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom ably responded. Miss Judy Ann Hilker, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the guest book. Congratulatory telegrams were received from Orillia, Ontario; Toronto, Ontario and Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

A reception was held at the bride's parental home. Out of town guests were present from California, Edmonton, Drayton Valley, Camrose, Strome, and Sedgewick.

After an extended honeymoon to B.C. and Western United States the happy couple will reside in Hollywood, Los Angeles, California.

RADIO AND T V SICKNESS!

Sickness of radio and TV Broadcasting in Canada is not curable, perhaps ever. But the remedies proposed in this Finalist report hold promise to make the disease worse. That there are bad programs is an obvious fact and that people in such great numbers listen to and watch such is deplorable. It is evident that Mr. Fowler cannot switch off the U. S. A. stations; even a Ring Canada of broadcasting is helpless in controlling those waves.

SUGAR AND SPICE
by Bill Smiley
DAY OF KISSES AND ROSES
I have the deepest admiration for those men who make a big fuss over their annual wedding anniversary. My wife and I had another anniversary this week, and, as usual, neither of us remembered it until three days after it was past, too late to celebrate.

The reason I admire the anniversary addicts is the sheer boldness of the tactics. Usually, they are about the reticent husband in town, on a day-to-day basis. But with one florid, extravagant gesture, they wipe out all their sins of the last 12 months and lay the groundwork for another year of gazing awry with murder.

Few of these birds are the gentle, meek, timid, humble, hen-pecked husbands this area has spawned, like you and me, but they. Among their ranks you find the door beaters, the fishermen, the hard drinkers, the poker players, the phlegm dorers.

And yet, with a combination of utter effrontery and incredible calculation, they carry it off every year. A big bash of candy, a flourish of flowers, dinner at a night on the town; and the old lady falls for it every time.

This is the part I can't understand. Women, especially women who have been married for a few years, are not notoriously soft-headed. And yet these women who know perfectly well that the old man is a two-timing heel, an incipient bum, or a big-mouthed bore, go all weak at the knees when Joe waltzes in on their anniversary with a potted plant.

I'm not making this up. Let's take my pal Charlie as an example. He's real. I'll change nothing but the names. Charlie wouldn't be caught dead taking his wife to church on the morning closing the year. He takes his holidays in the fall, when the boys are going decrepit, Mabel simply insists. It gives her a good chance to rake the leaves and get the storm windows on.

When Charlie finishes a day's work, he has a couple or six quick ones on each hour-long groan at Mabel a few times during dinner, grabs his curling broom or golf clubs, and heads for the door.

Charlie's idea of a pleasant social evening for Mabel is to send her over to visit her sister while he has the poker gang in. After, of course, she has made a huge lunch for the boys.

Charlie has a lot of trouble with Mabel's dependency on Heck. He gives her thirty dollars a week to run the house and feed and clothe the kids and herself, and she just runs right through it, as though the stuff grew on trees. Sometimes she hasn't even enough left on Saturday to buy his weekend case of beer.

He had me close to tears as he told me about the folly of letting women handle the money. With golf and curling fees up this year, and a new rifle to buy for the hunting trip, he figured he might just balls out down on the house allowance, if they were going to make ends meet.

Now Charlie, while a pleasant enough fellow to the world, and a real swinger with the boys, as a husband and father is not only a rat but also a fink. And Mabel, who is no dope, knows it.

But you should have seen her the other night, when she dropped in to pay my wife back the five bucks she's borrowed recently. Her eyes were shining and her poor, harassed face was all lit up, as she told us about the wonderful thrill of their anniversary celebration.

Charlie had come straight home after work, without drinks and with roses, hustled her into her glad rags and taken her out to the golf club for dinner. She'd had to come home with some friends, because Charlie had wandered into the locker room and got involved in a poker game. But she just couldn't express her appreciation of his thoughtfulness and kindness in remembering their anniversary.

My wife's comment, later: "I'd

Steps Into Space

THE PROJECT CALLED GEMINI. The sequence of Gemini flights are proving highly successful in gathering data vital to future U.S. explorations in space, the moon, and planets beyond. Next flight scheduled is Gemini 6, in which astronauts Walter Schirra and Thomas Stafford will ride the capsule, left, for two days, and try to link up with an Agena rocket, shot separately into orbit. Several other Gemini missions will follow, the next being a two-week voyage at the end of the year. Astronauts will be assigned duties such as rendezvous maneuvers, docking attempts, additional walk in space with safety rope, as shown center, and a walk into space without a tether. Picture at right shows personal propulsion units being tested for possible use by astronauts to propel them outside their spacecraft, floating entirely free of the satellite.

Storm Sash and Storm Door

The GEESE are on the WING Heading South This is generally a good indication that WINTER IS NOT SO VERY FAR AWAY.

Wouldn't it be great if those STORM WINDOWS and STORM DOORS that need Replacement, were taken care of before the Snow Balls Fall?

WE ARE PRESENTLY GETTING About Ten Days Service from the Millwork Factory, and the Service will be worse before it's better, as we Head Into the Fall Rush.

Strome Social Notes

(By Mrs. J. Barker)

Word has been received here of the passing of Jim Isberwood a former business man and resident of Strome. He passed away in a Vancouver hospital Sept. 8 at the age of 69 years. Burial at Prince George, B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Cramton attended a family supper at the August E. Sleet's at Daysland in honor of Miss Wyl Ann Lindholm from Rockholm Sweden. Miss Lindholm is Mrs. Cramton's Cousin and this is her first trip to Canada and the U.S.A.

Mr. Jim Todd has returned home after a visit with relatives in B.C.

Mrs. Ev. Thorburn has sold her stock and closed out her business, and the new wishes to sell her building.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Krautch, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Kroetch were in Edmonton on Monday to say goodbye to Father Jack who was leaving for Ottawa, where he will spend a week, and from there he goes to Peru.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Snow were business visitors in Strome on Thursday.

Sharon Johnson is a patient in Daysland hospital, where she has undergone surgery.

Mr Beatty also spent a few days in Daysland hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Cass of Edmonton and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Cass and family of Calgary were recent visitors at the Dave Cramton home.

Mrs. Jane Rawe, Mrs. Henry Hawkins, and Mrs. Clint Sprague, and Mrs. Margo George of Killam, were at Hardisty on Wednesday evening where Mrs. Rawe sponsored an Ashway party at the home of Mrs. N. Morns.

Sympathy is extended to Dennis and Gordon Loasch, whose father passed away in Daysland hospital, after a lengthy illness.

Mr. Henry Hawkins is a patient in Daysland hospital.

The birthday club met at the home of Mrs. L. Dietrich on Tuesday afternoon. The next party will be held for Hilda Kroetch at her home.

SEED CLEANING PLANT INCREASED PRICES!

The three Seed Cleaning Plants in the M. D. of Flagstaff at Strome, Alliance and Lougheed have adopted a new schedule of cleaning rates as follows

June 16th to Dec 31 — 6c
Jan 1st to April 15 — 8 c
April 16 to June 15 — 7c

The past few years the Alberta Dept of Agriculture, Economics Branch, has been working with the Seed Cleaning Plants of the province to prepare business analysis for the 1963-64 years operations. The indications are rather revealing. Many of the plants are operating at the expense of the depreciation reserves that should be set aside.

Mr Spence Goddard, Supervisor of Seed Cleaning Plants in Alberta, is faced with having to make decisions on whether or not to give the go-ahead to the building of more plants. There are some 16 or more requests for new plants on file now. He has recommended an increased and variable price schedule be adopted by plants.

Along with the poor financial position of many of the plants it is evident that most of the cleaning is being done from January to May. In the past a price schedule of 4c and 5c has not provided any incentive for the farmer to clean earlier. It is hoped that the new schedule will provide incentive to spread the cleaning load of the plants more evenly throughout the year and at the same time increase the revenue for the plants needing more revenue.

The adoption of an increased and variable price schedule as recommended by the department, has been approved by the boards of the Lougheed, Alliance and Strome Seed Plants.

It is hoped that the farmers will accept this price change in the interest of improved Seed Plant operations in the M. D. of Flagstaff. In a plant where increased revenue is not really needed the surplus will be returned to the patrons in the form of a patronage dividend. Such a plant will benefit from the incentive to spread the cleaning load more evenly over the fall and winter months.

There are three months left in which to get your grain cleaned at the low 4c rate. If possible clean your grain soon, help the plant and save yourself some money. In the spring your seed will be ready when seeding time rolls around.

"MODEL" BARN AND GRAIN STORAGE BUILDINGS

The Edmonton Better Business Bureau advises farmers to beware of "Model" barn and grain storage schemes, promoted by "Fast Buck" operators.

Bruce Brown, manager of the Better Business Bureau, says that operators are extremely clever at tailoring their schemes to suit the circumstances. With a bumper crop in the offing, there is every likelihood that their techniques will be adopted to pressurize farmers into putting up barns and grain storage buildings.

In the past, they have been using the "Model" scheme as a door-opener to sell such things as roofing jobs, siding jobs, painting contracts, home remodelling and almost any other type of contract connected with home improvement.

The victim is led to believe that his building will be used as a model for advertising purposes and that he will receive numerous bonuses. Rush tactics are always employed with the threat that your neighbor will benefit if you do not make up your mind quickly.

Anyone who falls for these tactics and gimmicks usually finds, after a little investigation, that he was grossly overcharged for work that is often shoddy or not completed.

A promissory note may be offered for signature if cash is not then available This is then sold to a lending agency, possibly with high finance charges. Naturally, the finance company expects to be payed regardless of whether the materials and work are satisfactory

Mr. Brown says legal advisors recommend that a customer insist upon the words "non-negotiable" being written or typed on the contract and promissory note before he signs either.

With any business deal, take time to investigate before you invest, advises Mr. Brown. If you do not know the reputation of the salesman or his firm, make inquiries. If he solicits business at your door, ask to see his credentials including his direct sales license, issued by the Department of Industry and Development. Discuss your plans and needs with your D. A. who is in a position to help you avoid schemes designed to catch the unwary.

LOOKING AHEAD. The beauty that is spring is sometimes the result of work in autumn. The time is now for planting tulips, daffodil and hyacinth bulbs, and across Canada home gardeners can be seen scraping at the dirt, preparing the soil for flowers that will bloom after the winter snows have gone.

For the 1965-65 fiscal year administration cost of the unemployment insurance fund was $54 million, payment to the fund out of general tax revenues was $62 million, employer-employee payments were $300 million

Fathers Of Confederation Touring Alberta Towns

The Fathers of Confederation will visit a number of Alberta towns and cities during the coming September. A cast of professional actors, representing Sir John A. Macdonald, Georges Etienne Cartier, George Brown, Samuel Tilley, Charles Tupper, D'Arcy McGee, Hector Langevin and Alexander Galt, will be touring the western provinces, presenting a pageant which, although designed for the secondary schools at the Grade 10, 11 and 12 level, will delight adult audiences as well.

Robert Christie, who so ably assumed the role of Sir John A. Macdonald in the Atlantic provinces last year, will again portray Canada's first Prime Minister. The script, written by Tom Twood of Toronto, contains humour and laughter, and provides a vivid picture of the strong interplay between the colonial politicians of the 1860 era as they prepared for the Confederation of Canada in 1867.

In addition to the presentation of the pageant, the school children will be given an opportunity to speak to the "Fathers", and to ask them questions about Confederation. The "Fathers" will appear in costumes of that period in history.

Because of the limited time allotted for presentations of the pageant in Alberta, it was decided that it should visit the major cities of the province, but excluding Calgary and Edmonton. The itinerary is as follows: two performances in Medicine Hat on September 9; two performances in Lethbridge on September 11; Grande Prairie will see two performances on September 25; Red Deer will enjoy two performances on September 27th, and the company will conclude its Alberta visit with a performance in Wetaskiwin on September 28.

The forecast of capital investment in Canada in 1965 is for a total of $17.1 billion, of which the manufacturing industry will spend $3.2 billion, utilities $3.3 billion, housing $3.3 billion, government departments $1.7 billion.

The Canada Pension Plan and its benefits

Here is what the Canada Pension Plan will do for people like Robert Martin, a 55-year-old skilled tradesman who earns $100 a week ($5,200 a year).

If Robert works full time until age 65 he can look forward to a monthly retirement income of $104.17 from the Canada Pension Plan and $75 from Old Age Security—a total of $179.17 a month. When his wife, who is two years younger than Robert, receives her Old Age Security pension, the Martins' monthly income will rise to $254.17.

If Robert becomes disabled at age 60, having contributed for five years, he will get a disability pension of $103.13 a month until he reaches 65 when his retirement and Old Age Security pensions begin.

If Robert dies after contributing for three years, his wife will receive a widow's pension of $64.06 a month until age 65. From then on her widow's pension will become $62.50 and she will also receive the $75 Old Age Security pension—a total of $137.50 a month. At the time of Robert's death, Mrs. Martin will also be paid a lump sum of $500.

All benefits under the Plan will maintain their value. The actual benefits payable will probably be higher than those given here since benefits will be adjusted to meet changes in living costs and in wage levels before they are paid and changes in living costs after they become payable.

What will the Plan cost you?

If you, like Robert, are employed and have earnings of $5,200 spread evenly over the year, you will, commencing in January, pay at the rate of $1.59 a week until your contributions for the year amount to $79.30. Your employer will pay the same amount.

This advertisement is one of a series which relates some of the important benefits of the Canada Pension Plan to individual circumstances.

Baptist Church

Rev. Grygnaloski was in charge of the services at the Killam Baptist Church on Sunday, September 26, 1965. The choir rendered a special musical number during the morning worship service.

"Promotion Sunday" was well attended with over 180 present at Sunday School.

"They pass on so soon, the days of youth:
The children change so fast:
Quickly they harden in the mould,
And the plastic years are past.
Then shape their lives while they are young:
This be our prayer, our aim —
That every child we meet shall bear
The imprint of His name!"

Several children received their certificates of promotion to a higher class. These were presented by their respective teachers during the special promotion day exercises.

Next Sunday the Sunday School will receive a special Thanksgiving missionary offering which is designated for Foreign Missions and Rev. and Mrs. Cairns, Missionaries to the Fiji Islands.

OF WAR AND PEACE. When Pakistanis clashed with Indian troops over Kashmir, both sides used the most modern of weapons, such as tanks and jet fighter planes. Ironically, their bouts of peace are less modern. Above shows a farmer near Mastung, Pakistan, working with a camel and a primitive plow, trying to scratch out a living out of the parched land.

Cattle Population Increasing Yearly

There are about 1,094 million head of cattle and buffalo in the world today.

This is roughly two percent more than last year and 11 percent above the 1956-60 average.

Numbers have increased in all geographical regions with the biggest gains in South America, Oceania and Russia.

High cattle prices and the good outlook for export demand are encouraging expansion of cattle numbers in Australia, New Zealand, Canada, Mexico and in many Central and South American countries. Conditions appear favorable for further marked expansion in cattle numbers and beef production in most of these countries.

Numbers in North America are now 17 percent above the 1956-60 average. Record highs have been reached in United States, Mexico, Canada and several Central American countries.

South America has 175 million head of cattle, about 12 percent more than the 1956-60 average.

Numbers in Western Europe increased 400,000 head in the past year after having dropped 1.6 million head during 1963.

There has been a slight increase in cattle numbers in Eastern Europe and today's total is about 33 million head, nine percent above the 1956-60 average.

In Russia, cattle numbers are about 67 million head, two percent over last year and 31 percent over 1956-60.

In Asia, known numbers show mixed trends. The total is about 296 million head, two percent up on a year ago and six percent above average

A Million Thousandths

By Bert Odland

Once, in a facetious mood, I asked a friend how many one thousandths there were in an inch. "Wow, he answered, "I don't know for sure, but there must be a million of 'em!"

The foregoing bit of hero-feathers was just thrown in to bring small measurements to your attention. Because, you know, little things mean a lot. A fraction of a second separates a top sprinter from an also-ran. A thousandth of an inch can mean the difference between a good watch and a piece of junk.

So it is with my pride and joy . . . Lennox heating and air conditioning equipment. An accumulation of things that are just a little bit better than competition adds up to a distinctly superior product. Just a little more care in original design; a little better quality in cabinet details; a little more attention to quiet operation; a little more concern about economy; a little more care in manufacture; a little more knowledge of installation; a little more desire to see the customer fully satisfied . . . These all mean, plus a few more I could tell you about in person, into one big lump and you come up with a clear cut lead for our bureau: Lennox and me.

Say . . . are you going to sit there and let me spout off like this without making me prove it? Challenge me, man! I'll clean up my billiards and do some real scrutinizing of details to cheer you how to get the best possible deal in heating and/or air conditioning.

N.D.P. NAMES ALF ARMSTRONG

Mr. Alf Armston, Hay Lakes Insurance Agent and Secretary of the Hay Lakes Village, was nominated Tuesday evening to contest the Battle-River Camrose Federal Riding for the NEW DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

Mr. Armston—48 years old, is married and father of two children. He was nominated by acclamation after two other nominees withdrew in his favour.

The convention attended by 75 delegates was held in the Viking Legion Hall. In accepting the nomination, Mr. Armston promised to undertake an all-out campaign to capture the riding.

Guest speaker was Mr. G. Notley, Provincial Secretary, who pointed out that a full slate of candidates will be nominated for the forthcoming election. He said he hopes were high for a massive increase in the NEW DEMOCRATIC PARTY support across the county.

Coffee and doughnuts were served by the ladies of the constituency at the conclusion of the convention.

CAPITAL HILL

Among the casualties of dissolution of Parliament was a bill already in draft form to amend the Bankruptcy Act designed to curb bankruptcy funds. The former Minister of Justice, the Hon. Guy Favreau had promised this special legislation and it was planned to introduce it soon after Parliament reconvened. It will now have to wait its turn next year. Meanwhile the new Superintendent of Bankruptcy, Roger Tasse is tightening up regulations governing trustees of estates in bankruptcy. While he is doing so issuing of new licences has been suspended.

The Hon. H. A. Russ, Minister of Lands and Forests, announces that Game regulations, designed for the control of private pheasant hunting in Alberta, where passed by Order-in-Council dated September 21st, 1965. Patterned after established regulations that provide for the operation of private game bird farms, the new regulations permit the issue of licenses for controlled shooting of pen reared pheasants, released for hunting on private lands.

The regulations set an annual license fee of $100.00 and detail other measures designed for the orderly development of this form of hunting in Alberta.

An applicant it required to be a resident of the Province and must provide not less than 160 acres and not more than 640 acres of land in one parcel for use as a controlled shooting ground. Rules for posting land so used and for controlling the proximity of one game bird farm to another are specified. Dimensions, materials and capacity of bird rearing pens are provided. Rules for bird identification, poultry disease inspection and records of birds shot are laid down.

The regulations prohibit shooting pheasants on private pheasant hunting grounds on Sunday and limit the hours of shooting to the standard bird hunting period, one-half hour before sunrise to one-half hour after sunset. Patrons of controlled shooting grounds are not required to have an Alberta Bird Game license.

Auxiliary Hears Report On Arts and Crafts

KILLAM—The September meeting of the Hospital Auxiliary was held in the hospital with only seven members present. Meeting opened with the recitation of the Auxiliary Prayer.

Sister Angelica gave an interesting report of the Auxiliary patients' sale of Arts and Crafts, and showed a beautiful rug on which a patient was working. Also on display was an interesting scrap book with pictures of the Auxiliary patients at work along with some of their products.

Mrs. Kimber sent reports of the Provincial meet calss for Jons and July, which proved its continuing popularity with the patients. Due to her accident she asked to be relieved of further responsibility, and this was regretfully agreed to.

Some 132 visits to the sick were reported, 40 bed pans provided and 540 sponges folded. Mrs. York and Mrs. Martin will man the cart for September. Mrs. H. Spitler and Mrs. Manning are on hospital visiting and birthdays.

An effort will be made to contact organizations not yet participating so that entertainment can be provided for the months of October and November.

Lunch was served by Sister Angelica.

Construction has started on the laboratory building with completion set for March 1, 1966. The new complex will enable the Research Council to expand their activities in developing new products and processes for Alberta industry, and may also lead to the development of new industry in the province.

Beware

Citizens Are Warned Of Chinchilla Promoters

Promoters from outside of the province have been making a concentrated effort to sell live Chinchilla in southern Alberta.

R. W. Gillies, provincial Supervisor of Fur Farms, stresses that "quality" chinchillas can be purchased right here in Alberta where knowledge and experience under our conditions of weather, feeding and disease prevention is readily available. Chinchilla have been raised in Alberta for many years and they are a speed as these produced anywhere, says Mr. Gillies.

A recognized rule of thumb used as a guide to the value of live animals by the fur trade, is that a live fur bearer is worth two to three times what it will bring as a pelt. According to Mr. Gillies, the average price received for a chinchilla pelt is usually about $18 with the top price being some place around $60.

Mr. Gillies also points out that chinchilla ranching is not yet established as a fur farming enterprise like mink which affords a complete livelihood for those engaged in the business. There are indications that some chinchilla farms are planning to become commercial selling operations but at present, most people are operating their farms as a sideline to some other vocation.

Thanksgiving Is Here Again

Monday, October 11th is the day officially set aside as Thanksgiving Day, a time set aside for a sober contemplation of the blessings of the past year. It is marked as a holiday, and many will be renewing old friendships & visiting relatives in various parts of the land.

One of the things that we may well be thankful for is the fact that we are alive. Let's keep it that way, and in our travels over the week-end, drive with caution. Come back alive and have something else to be thankful for.

Local churches are preparing special services & harvest Thanksgiving decorations to mark the traditional season, when the bounties of the harvest will be displayed.

Wheat Yield And Grades Are Better Than Many Expected

WISE COUNSEL. "Now, about that election campaign, grandpa . . ." Vicky Wair, 3, has some widespread political advice for her grandfather during his visit to her West Hill, Ont. home. Diefenbaker left the campaign trail momentarily to squeeze in an hour's visit with his five grandchildren.

FINE WEATHER PUTS HARVEST "HOP-UP" IN FULL SWING

After several starts and stops because of the bad weather and the "Mop-up" of the 1965 crop is on. Fields are rapidly being cleaned up and some farmers who were fortunate enough to finish early are busy with fall cultivation.

Until the weather broke for the better it was estimated that only about 25 percent of the crop had been gathered in. At the present time the estimate of threshed grains has risen to about 50 percent, with many farmers finished their operations.

Anxiety for the harvest crowd seems to get to work on grain which was testing tough, but as conditions are now all grain is coming dry. Many farmers report that the grain are turning out better than expected and that the grades are running mostly No. 4, with much of the wheat grading No. 2. Immediate delivery of the grain being stored at present is under way, and with elevators having been busy moving out for the last few weeks, room is available for the new crop.

Your reporter in talking with an old-time farmer, learned that this year's weather conditions, while not doing up to new, is tops compared to the fall of 1928. That year in some parts of the Western Wheatland there was eight inches of snow on September 28th, and operations had just gotten under way when there was another six inches on October 4th and 5th. Wheat in those days was in stooks, for they hadn't heard of combining. This man had his nine-man crew for three weeks waiting for the break to get harvesting under way. He re-called that he had completed about 1/3 of his crop and got tent for tough was to step into the grain bee. If you sauk it was dry and if you stayed on top it was tough. He spent the winter moving the stuff around in the bins, going in his stocking feet to better detect the spots where is was heating.

So 1965 crop year is not as bad as it could be. One thing for certain, the present weather has brought the old saulk back to the faces of the farmers. It got there for awhile, but didn't dare mention harvest for fear of getting our heads snapped off. Right now we're back to normal, and it looks like a pretty good season after all.

Work Is Progressing On Water System

DAYSLAND—After delays caused by weather and machinery breakdowns, work on the public water system at Dayland is proceeding at a fast clip. Extra diggers have been brought in along with additional trenching, and if now seems certain that the laying of mains will be completed before freeze-up. According to Mayor Pryce the project is going almost on schedule and he anticipates completion of the job without any major hitches.

Daysland is also going for a new Community Hall and while final plans are not yet completed, it is hoped that work will be under way prior will be under way in the near future. The site most likely to be accepted is in the area near the arena and curling rink, and the addition of this new building will constitute a fine centre for the social and social activities of the community.

Another undertaking which will likely blossom into activity this fall or next spring is the re-location of the sports grounds to an area just West of the Town, which will include facilities for all kinds of outside summer sports, including a track for the popular pastime of chariot and horse racing. Some brush clearing has already taken place on this new project.

Civic Voting Day Wed. October 13

There doesn't seem to be too much interest as yet in the Federal Election slated for the 8th of November, so maybe it's just as well that local civic elections are to be "pulled off" almost a month in advance of the big affair. This way the public can be put into a voting frame of mind and be ready to go come the 8th.

Local Civic Elections will be held on Wednesday the 13th day of October, and that is only six days from today, and this year should see a large turnout of voters. There is no dearth of choice for men and women to run the local governments, as most ballots will be crammed with aspirants for public office The choice is there and as one old-timer remarked, there is no excuse for not casting your ballot, because if there is nobody on it you want to vote for, there surely must be somebody you want to vote against.

Oft times it is difficult to get good men to stand for public office, and a good turn-out of voters and a vigorous election is the best way to show appreciation for their doing so. Turn out and vote on October 13th, and take an active interest in local affairs.

ALL OR NOTHING. Prime Minister Pearson has told newsmen in Ottawa that he would rather see another government in power than form a second minority government. Observers feel he wants the majority in order to take a tougher stand with the provinces. A Federal landslide in Quebec would, for example, show Quebec Premier Lesage that Lesage alone does not speak for the province.

Rams Drop Second Encounter 23 to 13

Central High Rams suffered a 23 to 13 defeat at the hands of the Vikings on Tuesday afternoon of the season, at Camrose Composite last Saturday, in a game which spectators labelled as slow and uninteresting.

Composite went into the lead early in the first quarter with a field goal and an unconverted TD, while holding Central to an unconverted touchdown to close out the first half at 6—6 for Composite.

Larry Burden, Central Quarterback was injured in the second quarter and was replaced by John Muirhead who was the rest of the game. It had been reported that Burden suffered internal injuries and would be confined to hospital, but Monday morning Larry reported for school and is considered to be O.K. He will play the next game.

In the second half Composite scored two touchdowns (one converted) and a single point on a kick. John Muirhead went over for the one T. D. for Central in this half, while Pyre kicked a single, thus ending the scoring at 23 to 13 in favor of Composite

We had a talk with the Central coach and he attributed the loss mostly to inept playing and fumbles on the part of Central. He says too that the game was full of injuries.

Central's next game is at home when the team from Wetaskiwin will be the visitors. Game is set for OOPS! Jackie Parker and Dick Aldridge of the Toronto Argonauts react in mid-air as they both jump for a pass. In the collision both of them dropped the ball . . . although, for a change, the Argos didn't drop the game! In this match against Winnipeg Blue Bombers, the Argos won 36-32, the first victory after eight consecutive defeats!

GOSSIP AS USUAL. As massive Chinese troops gathered ominously along the borders of the Indian protectorate of Sikkim, and as stalemates in the United Nations sought feverishly to put an end to the undeclared war between India and Pakistan, life continued as usual in Calcutta. Though the cobbs world worried, these women gathered at the nearby water pump to chat and gossip pleasantly, as they have always done.

Thanksgiving Season!

This is the time of year, they tell me, designated as a time of giving thanks. It goes without saying to Whom our thanks should be directed, but many people are not clear on just what they should be thankful for. Thanksgiving, coming as it does in the fall of the year, we presume we are thankful for the harvest and abundant garden supplies. With this in mind and taken seriously by the people of this section of Alberta, we should be very appreciative and thankful. A Christian is fully aware of the fact that all things come to him by the Grace of God, but far too many of us are inclined to crown our efforts with self-esteem and praise of our own cleverness. In watching the crop reports very closely and talking with people from other sections of Alberta, we have concluded that our local area has again this year produced a harvest equal to or better than any other section of the Province. In fact the past several years have been good ones hereabouts. So insofar as harvests are concerned we have much to be thankful for. But is that all? We in this land have so many things to be thankful for that the fall of the year covers only a small portion of them. If we think for a moment we must certainly conclude that our manifold blessings stretch over the entire twelve months of the year.

When we think of the untold numbers of churches in the world foreefully closed by the orders of dictators filled with the pride of their own importance, we should be thankful for the open doors of our churches and for the faith of those who sit within. When we realize that great numbers of our fellow humans go to bed at night with the pains of hunger sapping their desire to live, we should be thankful for food in abundance, and the opportunity to help those in need. When we hear of strictly controlled news media, we should be thankful for the uncensored newspapers free to publish the news good and bad. When we learn of the thousands who are forced like gnally slaves to till the soil for the State, we should be thankful for our system of free enterprise where a man or woman may work the land to his own profitable advantage, making of it a profitable enterprise for his own welfare.

For friendship and laughter shared, for pain that passes, for compassion that someday will save mankind as they can no longer support the knowledge that children lie down at night to dream of bread, for family ties and love that exists on the home. For all these things and many more we should be truly thankful.

Confederation Will Remain!

Premier Lesage, pardon us us pleae, Prime Minister Lesage, who recently has been touring Western Canada seems to be a man of uneven temperment and one who is easily annoyed by questions he would rather not answer. But in spite of all this he appears to have left the feeling throughout the nation that Confederation is not about to break up and that Canada will continue to be Canada as we know it today. This is reassuring to all Canadians outside of Quebec, many of whom fear a continuance or extension of violence. It is quite possible that past disturbances were caused by imported agitators. Thoughtful Canadians everywhere would welcome all legitimate progress made in the the province of Quebec by people of French origin who in the past have not always been inclined to prepare themselves for professional and technical work demanded in a modern industrial age. It has been said that there must never be discrimination on either side. There are few if any complaints from people of other racial origins. The non-French and the non-English people of Canada as a whole total about 25 percent, and their progress while perhaps not helped by others certainly has not been impeded as is clearly shown by the registrations in professional schools and the names of managers of business.

Mr. Lesage's complaint that an employee transferred from Quebec to the West Coast does not have an equal opportunity with a Westerner transferred to Quebec, is hardly a creditable statement. While it is true that an English speaking Canadian more easily finds employment in Quebec because of the English atmosphere, there is no just reason why a French-speaking Canadian cannot learn English and be prepared to accept employment anywhere in Canada. The business of language works both ways. We know of a French Canadian who holds a position of trust in California simply because he took the pains to learn the English language. Any Canadian who does not wish to do that must find himself confined to a definite area.

Industry Spread!

It is being argued in labor circles that workers in other than the central provinces are entitled to the same high wages that are being paid in Ontario and in Quebec. This is a fine theory, but the result of standard wages through the country would be a further concentration of industry in the big centres. It is highly desirable, if not practicable, that industry be spread over the whole country not merely established for the benefit of Montreal, Toronto and other populous areas. — Letter-Review.

THIS WEEK AND WEST

POLITICAL CLIMATE WARMER!

As the election campaign gathered pace this week, candidates kept one eye cocked on the weather and the other on the voters as the country headed into its first November national vote in half a century.

But with the task of colorful and exciting campaign meetings, the election still had not developed into a struggle of issues. Opposition parties continued to grope for subjects to hit out with at the government.

Instead of a battle of issues, each party has carefully confined itself to subjects which their strategists see as areas of strength in need of controversy.

Prime Minister Pearson pedestered to convey the impression of a tough, statesman dominating things some. The federal-provincial health ministers' conference in Ottawa at which a national pensions program was set up for a mid-1967 launching, added another item to the Liberal list of accomplished business. With it, Mr. Pearson announced a $500 million fund for increased medical research and better training.

There was no defence from Mr. Pearson for the government's handling of relations with Quebec, or the Dorion probe, or Ottawa's apparent all-out support of the U.S in Vietnam. It is the Liberal intention simply not to talk about sensitive issues.

Conservative chieftain John Diefenbaker, claiming his "policies for the people" were arousing a "new spirit" that the 1957 all over again," also was hitting hard at the subjects he thought his weak spots.

In Newfoundland, where he was met by Union Jack waving "old stock" Liberals, he played his party stand on the flag, and warned that re-election of the Liberals would lead the country to republicanism. In the Maritimes, he talked economic subjects, promising to declare the entire region a "regional" area for special economic aid. Then, almost as an afterthought, he threw in a promise of six per cent government loans to consumers.

Tommy Douglas, just as consistent with brand-and-better topics as the Conservatives, moved in on what he said would be his party's rugged, toughest campaign. But he was shored up by public showings that 40 percent of the voters are still undecided, giving rise to NDP hopes of pulling a historic upset on November 8th.

To do this, the party would have to crack into Quebec, where it has never elected a member, as well as hold its urban strength in B.C. and Ontario and restore its traditional following in East.

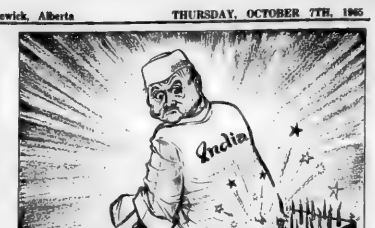
Meanwhile Douglas was hitting the government over the new free trade deal with the U. S. A., which he said was costing Canada enormously in the 18$ million a year which the government was giving up in tariffs.

The deal will see Canadian automakers exporting cars to the U.S. where they will be sold at lower prices than in Canada. The saving to the automakers is supposed to be invested to expand the industry, but the clamor for lower car prices was beginning to be felt right across the country.

Social leader Robert Thompson accused the old-line parties of "even bigger dishonesty" than the corruption charges which have plagued the Liberals. He said they were putting political advantage above principle, trying to buy votes with reckless promises.

The campaign still has a month to go and anything can happen. But at this point, the Opposition parties haven't yet been able to produce the kind of slashing indictment usually needed to turn governments out of office.

"And as an added feature, no payment's need be made until after the harvest."



IT WASN'T SUPPOSED TO HURT.

★ MACDUFF REPORT

Winning Tactics?

OTTAWA — It has almost seemed at times that Lester B. Pearson and John Diefenbaker were running in completely different elections.

There was Mr. Diefenbaker on the hustings, flinging verbal thunderbolts at Liberal scandals, and promising new deals for retired citizens, homeowners and users of consumer credit.

Then was Mr. Pearson, staying virtually silent in Ottawa; saying nothing about the scandals, answering few of the taunts, and unveiling few of his party's promises.

On the one hand Mr. Diefenbaker was outlining a platform to catch the eye of the city dweller. And on the other, Mr. Pearson and his cabinet were unveiling over a program as to win the loyalties of the farmer.

The two major party leaders weren't really competing in different contests but were shoving their different estimates of winning tactics for the respective parties.

The problem for the Liberals in this election is to hold what they have in Quebec and in Canada's cities—and to move into Tory territory by winning seats in rural Ontario and the Prairies.

The Liberals also face the need to keep the campaign centered on the need for majority government and on their contention that only the Liberal party can provide it. They are determined to keep attention on the brighter side of their record—economic prosperity, the Canada Pension Plan, winter forces integration and the war on poverty.

John Diefenbaker is just as determined to keep the attention of the public on the darker side of the Government's record— the Rivard affair, Bud Bandy, questionable immigration cases and the threat of inflation.

One factor for the Conservatives is to convince the public that they are capable of forming a majority Government. This was partly met by the rallying of former rebels around Mr. Diefenbaker and by the fact that Conservative Premiers like John Robarts, Duff Roblin and Robert Stanfield have thrown their political machines into the fray.

The list of Conservative candidates no fewer than 39 former Cabinet Ministers, a fact that may set at rest doubts that Mr. Diefenbaker could put together a cabinet capable of governing Canada.

But the Conservative leadership seems weak in cabinet timber from Quebec. And to win he must have more of the seats in Quebec's cities.

The disillusionment of city folk with the Diefenbaker Government was one of the most striking things in the last Federal election.

Although the typical Canadian is now a city dweller, only 166 of the 265 seats in the House of Commons are dominated by urban voters.

Of these, in 1963, the Liberals won 72 and the Conservatives got only 30.

It was the opposite story in rural ridings—and this is what saved the Diefenbaker forces from utter rout. Of the 119 seats dominated by rural voters, the Conservatives won 64 and the Liberals were only able to win 37.

The mixed urban-rural ridings elected 22 Grits and 10 Tories.

To change this situation is the aim of both Liberal and Conservative parties but they'd like to change it in different ways.

The Liberals now acknowledge their 1963 farm program was a failure and was rejected by the farm electorate. This is why—they say—such planks as 5 Subsid and a school milk program haven't been enacted. The new Liberal farm plan, they hope, will prove more vote-worthy.

But the Tories, determined to be more than a rural party — which promises little future when cities gain at the expense of rural areas in the pending redistribution—are trying hard to fashion an urban appeal.

The man behind the effort is Alvin Hamilton who invented the "Northern Vision" cliche as Northern Affairs Minister and who got a stranglehold on the farm vote when he was Minister of Agriculture.

The Conservatives hold both the North and the farms in the 1957 election. And now Mr. Hamilton is moving in on the cities with a program which includes low interest loans to consumers—to get them out of the clutches of loan sharks—and a federal income tax deduction on account of the payment of municipal taxes.

These — and other ideas — have been used as campaign planks by Mr. Diefenbaker and oly the election day will tell the results.

But anti-Diefenbaker feeling in the cities has subsided, all parties agree. It's no longer poison at the polls. The Conservative candidate in Toronto or Montreal. And in Toronto especially, the Tories have high hopes of winning a handful of seats.

Whether such wins will be more than offset by Conservative losses in the country depends on whether the canny farm folk can picture Mike Pearson as the farmer's friend this time.

THE INCENTIVE TO VOTE

A shrewd politician once remarked that a political campaign is not designed to change votes and ninety per cent of the purpose is to convince the converted and inspire the convinced.

There may be some truth in this assertion but we do not believe that 80 per cent of the people go into an election campaign with their minds made up as to how they will vote.

The main effort in a political election we are convinced is to arouse the voters to a pitch where most of them will take the trouble to vote. Were it not for the excitement aroused by a political campaign we doubt if many people would bother to vote.

So let the verbal battles proceed and the political antagonisms be perpetuated so that even the lame, the halt and the blind will be aroused to cast their votes. —Brooks Bulletin

THERE IS NO REAL UNEMPLOYMENT

There is no real unemployment in Canada. Figures for August show an unemployment rate of 4 percent as adjusted for seasonable variations. Economists argue that 4 percent means the labor forces really means that there is nobody out of work if he is able to take and wants a job. This is a far cry from when there were crop failures and dust storms 30 years ago. — Letter-Review.

Memory Lane

(By Mrs. F. M. Cantlon, Hardisty, Alberta)

COMPARITIVELY SPEAKING . . .

"To be, or not to be"—I mean, "Hiders, "Up-to-date"—Like the Joneses next door and so on—"That is the burning question"—in many homes across the country to—day.

It does seem, though, as the years so quickly slip by there is a noticeable dis-satisfaction among-especially-many of our middle-age men and women-say, around thirty-five or forty years of age who are town and city dwellers.

I am not referring so much to CITY-BRED-AND-BRED folks, but to the hundreds of men and women who have drifted into cities from farms-possibly during-and because of the Depression of those un-forgettable thirties. Many have made good in the city-established good and paying families, and are settled down to a world of their liking. Good luck to them.

How many of these same people have re-call those days of hard-ship during these memorable thirties. No same thinking man or woman of today would want to repeat the experience-nor want their children to. But, right down in their hearts, they can re-call many a happy time that, today, even on our farms, seem lacking.

However, I believe if a poll were taken today among these same men and women fit find what their deep-felt, honest desires are, we would be amazed at the number who would'if at all possible-go back to the "Tall Timbers" or to a prairie farm.

I am sure most of you readers know that statement is true-and that because of this mad, rush-weary rat race in the towns and cities today, our mental limitations are over-flowing-that is the major cause.

I just finished reading a very interesting article-along these same lines-where a couple, parents of three half-grown youngsters had become fed up with city life-they both had been brought up on a farm-so they finally sold their business and home in the city and bought a quarter section-with buildings-out in the country, away from the mad "Hurry-hurry" hectic city life, but when brought to a high-way that the children could catch the school Bus. They built a shack and really started LIVING.

There was no electricity-therefore, no T.V. to "Blat'n blare" for hours-their cook-stove was the coal-and-wood type, and they used coal-oil lamps, also those old fashioned "Sad-irons". And, "Believe it or not", they were amazingly HAPPY. Now they lived-not just existed-they worked and played together, and had time to enjoy the world around them.

Had it been possible in the city? NO-IN CAPITAL LETTERS. The end of each day found the Parents exhausted from coping with the myried problems which confront Mothers and Fathers of today, especially in the city.

When they lived in the city, the children started to school at 7.Y. by the hour-not wanting to go sad-side and enjoy the great out-door life which is every child's right and birth-tave.

I admit-and realize it is TERRIBLE HARD for hundreds of folks today to live in town and city. That is as it should be, so "TO EACH HIS OWN". Never-the-less, I STILL maintain that for PURE, UNADULTERATED peace and rest-for a perfect antidote for frayed nerves-GOD'S OPEN COUNTRY IS THE SURE ANSWER.

The above presumption may be the result of having experienced both Rural AND city life—WITH RURAL LIFE TAKING THE PREEMINENCE-ONE HUNDRED PERCENT.

SUGAR AND SPICE
by Bill Smiley

AND SUDDENLY IT'S FALL

No matter how busy the summer has been, each year the wildly accelerating pace of life in autumn comes as a jolt. One is not ensnared, but buried, back into the rat-race.

First shock: akin to diving off an ice-floe in the vicinity of Greenland, is the re-opening of school. It's exciting for the kids, disorienting for parents, and pure chaos for the teacher.

One day it's Labor Day. Calm, unexplored, relaxed, the teacher pattern about the long, silent, fresh-scrubbed halls of the school, plotting up his mail and planning an afternoon round of golf.

The next day, he is just another ant in an anthill. He is buffeted in the halls by a maelstrom of students. He frantically makes class lists, sells padlocks, fills out forms. He detects weeping grade-schoolers who are lost, or can't remember the combination of their lockers. He comforts near-weeping new teachers who don't know what to do, nor why, nor where, nor when.

Just to add to the general jollity this fall at our school, we went on a double shift. Our town commences classes at 8 a.m. This means hitting the deck at 6:30 or earlier. Pull a teenager out of bed at 6:30 and you have surly teenager. Pull a teacher out of bed ditto and you have ditto teacher. It's bad enough these 6ne autumn mornings, but there'll be murder done by mid-winter.

But school is only part of autumn's rude awakening. There is the despair that strikes when you read a list of the "new" television shows and discover that not a single tree or shrub has been planted in the waste land of last year's TV.

Bills spread like toadstools in autumn. There's the remains of last winter's food bill, with "PLEASE" typed in red. There's the notice of the mortgage payment. There's the note, entitled "Last warning," from the guy who sodded the back spot on your lawn last June. There's the first instalment of exams for sons. There's the note from your friendly local mortgagor.

And the hair on the thirties are longer and sharper than ever around our place, with a kid heading for university. We figured out that he will need approximately as much money this year as my old man used to raise a family of five on. Hugh's idea of helping out with finances was to take off in mid-September with my best jacket, all my ties without holes, and every shirt of mine without frayed cuffs —both of them.

Meetings galore. There's the notices of the curling club meeting, at which "We will discuss the serviceability of raising the fees." They were raised. There's the notice from the Library Board for the first fall meeting, at which the Property Committee (guess who's chairman) will present its report. There's a reminder that the speech I offered to make, last June, will be presented in 10 days. There's the memo about the staff meeting at 7 a.m. There's the advice that my resignation as teacher of the Bible Class has been ignored, and classes commence on Sunday.

In between, the lawn has grown four inches, the hedge looks like a hornbill and the leaves are falling. The squirrels are back in the attic, the garage is still half-painted, and my daughter, in a moment of confusion, has buried out of all her clothes.

On well, "Life is the spice life," as Kim was remarked sagely, age six. There have been a couple of bright spots: I have a new English teacher in my crew who would have given Cleopatra a run for Mark Antony.

And there was the Old Fighter Pilots' reunion in mid-September. They tried to rule it this year by having wives along. But most of the boys ignored this and turned up stag. And those who didn't were wishing they had!

Befus-Graham Vows Pledged At Grandview Flats S.D.A. Church

A wedding of wide interest took place in the evening of August 1, when Judith Ann Graham, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Graham, Armstrong, B.C., exchanged vows with Alexander Elwyn Befus, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Befus, Sedgewick, Alberta.

Pastor Edwin L. Stewart, Penticton, officiated at the candlelight ceremony in the Grandview Flats Seventh-day-Adventist Church at Armstrong, B.C. Mrs. Donna Zbarauchuk, Saskatoon, Sask., played the organ music; Miss Sylvia Long, Vernon, was piano accompanist for the soloist, Mrs. Hilbert Carbol, Hope, B.C., and Mr. Burton Shields, New Westminster.

Streamers of lilac and white gladiolas against peacock blue drapery formed the wedding setting. Candelabra Beckholt, Greenwood, the groom's small cousin, in a full length white satin suit with peacock sash and glad corsage, and Billy Anderson, Sedgewick, Alberta, were ringbearers.

The bride entered the church on her father's arm. Her gown was of peacock satin with a fitted A-style, with an over-skirt falling into a slight train. The fitted bodice featured lilypoint sleeves, and the flower design at the neckline and front of skirt was outlined with pearls. Her veil, fashioned of three layers of nylon tulle, was caught by a floral cluster. She carried a bouquet of red sweetheart roses and ivy centred by three white orchids.

Her sister, Mrs. Beverly O'Neil, Armstrong, was matron of honor. Her floor-length gown was of peacock crystal charm the bodice fashioned with scoop neck and elbow length sleeves, the skirt following that from unpressed pleats. Her shoes were en tone, and the matching headpiece a circlet catching a wisp of net. Her flowers were white gladiolas.

The three attendants were gowns identical to that worn by matron-of honor. They were Miss Lonella Brandt, Kayville, Sask., Miss Fay Graham, College Heights, Alberta, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Donald Wombold, Olds, Alberta. They were escorted by Mr. Bill Graham, the bride's brother, Mr. Ricky Beckholt, the groom's cousin, and Mr. Ronald Wombold.

The tiny flowergirl was Gem Anderson, the groom's niece, cousin of Ivy Trey Graham, the bride's nephew.

Best man was Mr. Jerry O'Neil, Armstrong. The ushers were Mr. Dennis Zbarauchuk and Roger O'Neil. The church hostess was Mrs Winnie Thue.

Over three hundred guests attended the reception following at the Vernon Legion Hall. Mrs. Graham received the guests in an ensemble of white lace over taupe crepe du code. She wore white accessories and a corsage of white roses. The groom's mother chose a two-piece dress of brocaded pink double silk knit with matching hat, her accessories were silver, and her corsage of white roses.

The hall was decorated with pink streamers and white bells, the three-tiered wedding cake was pink and white, flanked by pink candles.

Grace was said by Pastor Clarence Long, Vernon, and he also proposed the toast to the bride, Miss Sheila Long, Belmont, Alberta, and Mr. Brian Gertz, Winfield, served the bride's table.

Master of Ceremonies was the groom's cousin, Mr. Gayland Befus, Vernon. Mrs. Donna Graham, Miss Lynde Smith and Miss Shirley Campbell, supervised the gifts, and Miss Winnie Flindt the guest book. Guests taking part in the program of music and readings were, Mrs. George Rubley, Vernon, Miss Vivian Marsh, Mrs. Dan Murphy, Roger O'Neil, Marvin Johnstone, Ricky Beckholt, all of Grandview, and Mr. Bart Shiels, New Westminster.

Out-of-town guests included the groom's grandmother, Mrs. Alma Befus, Calgary; also Messrs. Alex, Victor and Willie Lott, and Mrs. Lily Lott, Mrs. Esther Schultz, Mrs. Emma Anderson, all of Calgary; Mrs. Phil Meyer and children, also Mrs. Constance Hallam, Sacramento, California. Mrs. Alice A. Wombold, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Delwenka, Edmonton; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson, Sedgewick. Mrs. Tom Matthews and family, Comox, B.C.; Miss Dani Beaudry, Lacombe, Lacombe, Alberta Mr. and Mrs. Dan Basarabe and sons, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Campbell, William's Lake; Pastor and Mrs. E. Stewart, Penticton; Mr. and Mrs. Loren Wombold, Olds, Alberta; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shanahan, Bowden, Alberta; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brandt, Kayville, Sask; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Proctor, Miss Anais Proctor, Mabel Lake; Miss Donalda Gaetzen, Portland, Ore., Miss Ilse Reinecke, Berrien Springs, Michigan; Miss Eileen Perry, Mr. Floyd Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Heidner, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Dalke, Bowness, Mr. and Mrs. Del Beiswig, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Reiswig, Mr. Dick Tuers, Winfield, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jorgensen, Salmon Arm.

After their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Befus will reside at Revelstoke, where Mr. Befus will be employed.

The Bible Today

The Ghana Government has presented The British and Foreign Bible Society with what has been called "a very healthy headache." It has ordered more than 1/2 million Bibles for use as textbooks in schools in Ghana. About half of this number will be in the English King James Version, the remainder will be other English editions and vernacular versions —Twi, Fanta, Ga, Ewe.

It is the organization needed for adding this huge load to an already full mail production program which has provided the "headache" —which is none the less welcomed. Several National Bible Societies will cooperate in filling this order.

In accordance with their usual policy, the Bible Society will sell these Bibles at a loss. It is estimated that the first instalment of 216,000 volumes, to be sent by mid-December, will cost Ghana and the Bible Society $90,000. This large order for students in schools comes in addition to a rapidly growing demand for Scriptures in West Africa.

Jesus said, "For none of us lives oth hi himself." He also said, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it."

Every life bears an influence be it for good or for evil. We believe since is being radiated constantly all around us. We may be unaware of this. We may not like to think about it. Nevertheless we are exerting an influence.

Jesus would say to us, spend your life, give it away, don't keep it for yourselves. This is no different than he, himself, did. "the Son of man came not to ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many." If we are to be Christ's totally, unconditionally, and are fully committed unto Him, then you life have something to give away.

A young man walked into a hospital ward, and was introduced to an old man, chest, and drove away with his machine. He took a half hour of his time and effort. He left part of himself with the old man.

A lady sat down by one overcome with a relative of failure to her endeavor to live a clean life. So overcome was her concern for him discouraged that she returned quietly to her story. By her sympathetic understanding and concern, she gave a new light of courage to try once again calm upon her countenance. She left part of herself with that girl.

Our lives can be lived in seeking to share out of the abundance of good things God has given to us with many others in many ways. In this manner we have our lives to give (for we cannot live for others only to discover that we have really found life to be failure) Sincerely, (Rev.) W. D. Annett

SOIL TESTING PAYS!

Soil samples should be collected between now and frost-up from fields that will be seeded next year. The results of soil tests will give you reliable information to help you order the correct fertiliser for the fields to be seeded.

The Provincial Soil Testing Laboratories will be receiving thousands of soil samples within the few months ahead, and farmers are urged to collect and send in their samples as soon as possible. Sample boxes, information sheets and instructions are available from all D. A. offices.

Soil Testing pays. Fertiliser applied according to the needs of the soil will give the best returns. The farmer cannot afford to pass up this money making investment on his farm. Where else can you invest a dollar and be sure of getting through to five dollars back?

FEED TESTING TOO!

Sample boxes, information sheets and instructions for taking feed samples are available from your D. A. office. Samples of the grain and roughages to be fed your live stock during the winter are needed for a proper feed analysis.

The cost of feed analysis is cheap compared to the loss of an animal, or uneconomical gains in a feed lot. If you get your feeds tested—proper feed rations can be prepared to insure adequate maintenance or efficient gains for your livestock. The coming winter I will be pleased to help any farmer prepare the proper rations if he will give me the analysis of the feeds he will be feeding.

Gail Edworthy Married At St. Paul's United

Bright sunshine greeted the wedding-day of Miss Gail Edworthy, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Edworthy of Hardisty, and Melvin Johnson, son of Mr. Robert Johnson, of Hughenden and Edmonton, on Saturday, September 18th, in St. Paul's United Church, Hardisty. The sanctuary of the Church was decorated with baskets of pink and white snapdragons, and other suitable floral arrangements. Lighted tapers surrounded the floral centerpiece on the Communion table. The guest pews were marked with miniature corsages of pink sweetheart roses.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. G. Zwicker, while Miss Kathy Moffet, a class-mate of the bride, presided at the organ. Mr. Len Andersen added musical significance by his rendition of two solos—"O Perfect Love" prior to the ceremony, and "The Wedding Prayer" during the signing of the register.

The bride escorted to the altar by her father to the tune "Regent Square" was radiant in a floor-length gown of Guipure lace and Tagalh, with fitted back, and elbow length sleeves. She wore a floor-length headdress of tulle flowing from a single flower vine, and carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and chrysanthemums. The two bridesmaids, Miss Cindi Robinson of Calgary, and Miss Leslie Whitehead of Edmonton, a classmate of the bride, were identical floor-length gowns of golden peau de soie, fashioned in Empire lines, with matching headbands trimmed with metallic tulle. They carried bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

The groom was attended by Mr. Donnie Wahlstrom and Mr. Gunner Petersen, both of Hughenden, while Mr. Terry Edworthy, brother of the bride, and Mr. Marvin Lawrason, of Czar, served as ushers.

The mother of the bride chose a two-piece silk-knit suit of Chinese green, with golden toned hat and accessories, with a yellow orchid en corsage. The groom's mother wore a two-piece silk-knit suit in Peacock green shade, with pink accessories and her corsage was an orchid in rose shades.

The reception, held in the auditorium of the Allan Johnston school, was presided over by the M.C., Mr. Bill Garland. Mr. Jimmy Cavenagh proposed the toast to the bride, which was very ably responded to by the groom. The guest register was attended by Miss Marian Johnson, sister of the groom. The brides table was laid with a hand-crocheted lace cloth, with tapers and floral arrangements on either side of the three-tiered wedding cake. The confection had been tastefully decorated for the occasion. Special guests at the wedding were the bride's paternal grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Edworthy, of Fin Flon, Man., and her grandmother, Mrs. N. E. Wilson, of Tisdale, Sask., as well as 7 of her class-mates from Lamont. A solo "At Dawning" by Mr. Len Andersen, was also enjoyed during the reception. Telegrams of congratulations were read from numerous absent relatives and friends.

Following the reception, the groom's parents entertained at an Open House at their home in Hughenden, and a dance in the Hughenden Hall completed this happy event. The newly-weds left on a motor trip to unknown points in the West. The bride wore a two-piece suit of brown wool, with gold accessories, complements with an orchid corsage. They will be making their home in Edmonton, where the groom is a Department Manager with Simpsons Sears, and the bride, a 1959 graduate of the Archer Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, at Lamont, will continue her nursing career. Out of town guests included relatives and friends from Fin Flon, Man., North Battleford and Tisdale, Sask., Lamont, Hughenden, Calgary and Edmonton, and Chilliwack, B.C.

Soil Testing Pays

Soil testing is a major part of a sound fertilizer program. Soil testing is in fact a good point in efficient grain crop production in the Prairie Provinces for it has been clearly established that there is a positive relationship between soil tests and yields.

Fall Soil Tests. Soil samples from land that will be sown next spring to grain crops should be collected this fall. The results of tests made on soil samples taken this fall will give a reliable picture of what nutrients the field will need next spring. As thousands of soil samples will be transmitted to the provincial soil testing laboratories in Manitoba and Alberta, and to the Soil Science Department, University of Saskatchewan during the next few months, farmers are urged to collect and send in their soil samples as soon as possible after October 1.

Representative Samples Essential. The reliability of soil testing depends most of all on careful, accurate sampling of the soil. Soil tests can be no better than the samples on which they are made. If the sample is not truly representative of the soil, the soil test cannot be expected to result in a reliable fertilizer recommendation. On the other hand, soil tests based on representative soil samples are a valuable means of determining the best kind and amount of fertiliser any given crop needs. In other words, soil tests enable a farmer to get the most out of every dollar he spends on fertiliser.

Soil Testing Pays. Dr. W. E. Janke, Director of the Manitoba Provincial Soil Testing Laboratory which last year handled over 8,000 soil samples, reports that, in 1964, the greatest financial return for each dollar spent on fertiliser was obtained where soil test recommendations were followed. For instance, where wheat on fallow was fertilized according to the need shown by the soil test, average returns over and above the cost of fertiliser were $5.50 per acre. On stubble land, the average returns when wheat was fertilized according to the soil test were $6.70 over and above the cost of fertiliser.

Seek Advice. Farmers who are planning to have soil tests made for the first time this fall should seek the advice and assistance of their local Agricultural Representative. He can provide you with soil sample boxes, questionnaire form and detailed instructions on the proper method of collecting soil samples and sending them into your Provincial or University Soil Testing Laboratory.

FUTURE FLEXIBLE EXPENSES

Every family has future expenses which are flexible but still certain to appear. These flexible expenses offer opportunity to adjust the budget to unexpected changes. Allowances for clothing vary with your income but should be planned on a yearly basis. Some large clothing items may have to take their turn as "wishes". Some families also find their budget includes decorating and large items of home furnishings and equipment on the "wishes" list. So by proper budgeting large items of home furnishings and equipment on the "wishes" list. So by proper budgeting these wishes will become your realities. Many of the items listed below vary both in the cost and in budget periods when they are needed. This leads some people to ignore the fact that these costs will eventually occur. As a result, that unexpected wedding present, that contribution to a good cause, that going away gift, that new hat to pep up the spirits, all seem liking and claim cash. And Christmas gifts! It may sound silly in April to say you'll spend this at Christmas. You think you won't have $50.00. Yet December 22nd may find your heart and your purse opening without restraint. Plan so you will have that $50. Be realistic about possible expenses in this department or your well-laid plans will be rudely upset.

Which of these Future Flexible Items belong in your Budget?

1 Clothing. Make an inventory of what each one of your family members has and what each one will need for next year. Help in deciding when each person will next will be given in one of the following columns of this series.

2 Contributions: Church, Charities, Clubs.

3 Annual Subscriptions: Papers, Magazines.

4 Medical and Dental Care (including medicines).

5 Home Furnishings and Household Equipment (including repairs)

6 Gifts and Entertainment such as birthdays, weddings, anniversaries, Christmas, babies, graduation.

7 A cushion for the unexpected and emergencies.

Now make your own list. A chart consisting of your Future Flexible Expense:

Items, Amount Needed; Budget Period (a number of columns for this one.)

PAST UNPAID BILLS

Each of us will be due for a celebration when we have nothing to enter under this — agreed?

There are dozens of reasons why families find themselves with unpaid bills — illness, no-income periods, unforseen expenses, tax high rents, emergencies of all kinds. Borrowed money may have been an important aid in finishing an education, in getting special training for one's job, in acquiring a new home or necessary equipment. It is not possible always to have enough cash on hand for every need. But families with spending plans find that they can meet emergencies and special obligations.

You have listed regular payments on loans and installment obligations under Future Fixed Expenses. Now list all other unpaid bills and loans from family and friends. You may be able to pay some small bills immediately and some within the next few months. Divide others into payments over six, twelve or more budget periods. Note the totals which will occur in each month or working period. You may have to experiment to find the right payment plan.

If the list is long, don't be discouraged. Anyone who puts his money problems on paper can find a way to make a successful spending plan and can clear the slate of debts.

Next Week: Present Day-to-day Living Costs and Personal Allowances.

DO YOU KNOW!

1. THAT Alberta's invested reserves yield over 16 million dollars in interest annually.
2. THAT Municipal Taxpayers of Alberta are paying a smaller percentage of the total cost of education than any other province in Canada.
3. THAT the cost of living has more than doubled since 1939 while income tax exemptions which are "cost of living" exemptions, have remained the same.
4. THAT the savings deposits in the chartered banks are more than three times as much as all the legal tender (bills and coins) in circulation.

The Queen's Privy Council for Canada has about seventy members chiefly present and former Ministers of the Crown, who retain membership for life.

The world's only flock of greater snow goose, which summers in Canada's north and which once was down to 3,000 birds, now numbers about 20,000.

Home-made Grain Driers

Anyone planning to build a grain drier should consider a batch drier, advises C. W. Law, Assistant Engineer with the Alberta Extension Service.

Mr. Law says the home-made batch drier is a practical and economical piece of equipment for farm use. Although its operating costs are often slightly higher and drying time is usually longer than that of the continuous type of drier, the initial investment is considerably lower.

In the batch drier, a layer of grain 6" to 12" deep is held in a stationary layer while heated air is forced through it. When the grain is dry, it must be cooled to 70 degrees F. or less before it is stored. This cooling is accomplished by removing the heat source and blowing cold air through the layer.

Mr. Law points out that 110 degrees F. is the maximum hot air temperature that is safe for most grains. For every square foot of grain surface dried, from 35 to 60 cubic feet of air per minute is needed. High rates are necessary for layers of grain which are deeper than 12".

Mr. Law recommends choosing a fan to suit the conditions under which it will be operating. This should be one with the maximum of a reputable fan manufacturer or dealer to make sure that the fan is able to provide the necessary pressure for blowing air through the grain.

One gallon of fuel oil will dry between 8 and 10 bushels of wheat from a moisture content of 20 percent to one of 14 per cent. The source of heat can be a coal, oil or propane heater or a tractor.

Further information and plans for batch grain drying systems can be obtained from district agricultural and the Extension Service of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton.

Delegates Favor Barbeque!

Delegates to Ottawa for the inter-parliamentary group meetings have gone home talking for more about Canadian barbecues than Canadian politics. The barbecue staged by the former Speaker, the Hon. Alan Macnaughton for about 1,100 delegates and their wives at Kingsmere was voted the undoubted highlight of the visit. In spite of the fact that the invitations gave the guests consumed huge quantities of chicken, sucking pig and beef roasted down with Canadian wines. A visit to the site of Canada Expo '67 at Montreal was a great a flop as the Macnaughton barbecue was a success.

CAROLYN ANN RAW MARRIED TO LEROY HENRY ESHPETER

Our Lady of The Prairies Church at Daysland was the scene of a lovely double ring ceremony on Saturday June 5th when Rev. Fr. Henry Eshpeter celebrated the nuptial Mass uniting in marriage Carolyn Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Raw of Daysland and Leroy Henry Eshpeter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Eshpeter, also of Daysland.

Entering the church on the arm of her father the bride was a picture of elegance in a floor length gown of white satin and organza. Her chapel length veil of illusion net hung gracefully from a cluster of white roses. A diamond pendant, gift of the groom was her only jewelry. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Mary Sonnefeldt, aunt of the groom chose a powder blue street length gown of nylon with lace jacket. The bridesmaids, Miss Linda Eshpeter sister of the groom, and Miss Bernice Plouffe, friend of the bride, were identical yellow gowns. They headpieces were of flowers and net. They carried bouquets of white carnations.

Attending the groom were Raymond Eshpeter, brother of the groom, Ken Hunter and Roy Steinfurth friends of the groom.

Soloist was Mr. Joseph Eshpeter accompanied by Mrs. Frank Eshpeter, at the organ.

For her daughter's wedding the bride's mother chose a two piece pink suit with white accessories and corsage of white roses. The groome mother wore a pink linen sheath with a matching treater length jacket with white accessories and white and pink encorage.

Following the ceremony the reception was held at the Strome Memorial Hall. The brides table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake baked and decorated by Sister Emerita of Killam General Hospital.

A toast to the bride was proposed by Rev. Fr. Eshpeter to which the groom ably responded. Fr. Bohmeitzer and Fr. Elkin also spoke briefly Dance was held in Memorial Hall.

Mrs. Adelle Eshpeter was in charge of the guest book. For going away the bride choose a pink rayon georgette suit with corsage of white roses. The happy couple left on a honeymoon to B. C. and points in the U.S.A. on their return they will reside in Strome.

There is a hazard connected with writing these columns. One gets accused of loafing.

You see, writing involves a certain amount of sitting back in one's chair, staring at the ceiling and thinking. To the casual observer this is loafing.

But to the writer it's hard work.

Now then, let's apply that little explanation to our lesson for today, which is (of all things) the application of heating or air conditioning to farm home or business. On any job we do, we start out by thinking about it. Next we plan the job with an eye to best results, and economy. Only after this has been done thoroughly do we start the actual installation.

We hope you find this reasoning sound in this age of slam-bang work and "get-it-over-with" attitudes. We are even savvy enough to think of ourselves as craftsmen. And believe me, it takes craftsmen to install heating and/or air conditioning to your complete satisfaction.

Fortunately, for you and us, we are helped a bit by our good Lennox products and Lennox people. This makes it easier to be a craftsman.

Please, please, please do not confuse craftsmen with loafers. What you think is a loafer could just be a craftsman thinking about his next move.

You are welcome to use this explanation if anyone ever accuses you of loafing. And if you ever DO loaf just a little bit during a "calling shortage" session, don't admit it. I don't.

Silver Link Lodge

KILLAM—Silver Link, held their regular meeting in the co-op hall.

Sister Shirley Forester, reported that fruit had been sent to Sister York, and Sister Palmer, who were in the Killam hospital, and flowers to Sister E. Robson in the Edmonton hospital.

The business of the meeting! The district meeting to be held in Provost on Oct 19th. Sister Shirley Forester, to act as delegate.

The canvas for the Arthritis and Rheumatism, to be held, when time from harvest available. The Sedgewick sisters to canvas Sedgewick, and the Killam sisters in Killam.

The United Nations Youth Pilgrimage meeting, is to be held in Wainwright on Oct. 24th at 2:30 p.m. Sister McPherson reported that she, Brother and Sister Backen, and Brother and Sister Brodie, motored to Vermilion, to attend Brittania Rebekah Lodge's 60th anniversary.

The high light of the evening. A memorial service, followed by the lodge history, then the Rebekah degree, as in use in 1884 in the dens of those times.

The enjoyable evening closed with a delicious lunch and a general washing of a very lovely 90th anniversary cake.

Local Nimrods Find Hunting Not So Good

While many hunters of ducks and the illusive geese are coming in with bag limits, many more are complaining about the scarcity of water fowl in the local areas, and the poor quality of the birds taken. This latter is being attributed to the season and the late hatches whereby the birds are not yet developed. Practically all the geese being taken is of the local variety. One hunter reports that the poor quality of the birds can be attributed to the fact that they have worn themselves thin trying to work their way down through the snow and ice to get at the grain, but now that the weather has given them a break, look for fat plump birds

The wet year has provided ample water for ducks and geese and many of them are resuting in local areas instead of heading down on the bigger water areas.

No birds from the North are down yet, although a few geese have been spotted, and in fact a few brought down. Reports indicate an unusual number of Sandhill Cranes in the areas.

Fine Weather Permits Harvest Completion

The harvest outlook for Alberta took a decided turn for the better two weeks ago when fine fall weather settled in following a number of snow and days of wet conditions which brought harvesting operations to a standstill. Owing to the sodden conditions of the fields, much of a week was required to dry the grain sufficiently to allow combining to resume. Swathing was under way earlier. The provincial picture now shows cutting of wheat at 87 percent, with slightly higher percentages of coarse grains being cut.

The local picture is much brighter than the over-all provincial situation, with some 98 percent of the crop now in the bins.

Many of the local farmers have completed operations and stored the combines for the winter. Some are completing operations this week and others have only about 90 percent completion.

Although some farmers started threshing while grain was still tough, there are many reports of damp grain being binned Quality has been damaged from one to two grades by frost and weathering, and the top wheat grade appears to be No. 3 northern with the bulk going 4 and 5. Very little barley will qualify for malting grades because of frost and discoloration.

It is estimated that two more weeks will be required to clear up the harvest over all of Alberta.

Robert Thompson To "Whistle Stop" At Sedgewick On Friday

Fire Destroys Ten Acre Wheat Crop

A field fire last Friday afternoon destroyed approximately ten acres of standing wheat on the farm of Mr. Lloyd Olsen. The field contained about fifty acres of which about thirty-five were still in standing crop.

Besides destroying the ten acres of crop the fire also burned about one quarter acre of summer fallow and just been combined.

The fire is believed to have started from straw which had been caught underneath the grain truck near the exhaust pipe from which it caught fire. The fire spread from there to the field.

Mr. Cameron's farm is located on the north side of Lougheed Lake about ten miles north-east of Lougheed and some forty neighbors from the Lougheed district turned out to help fight the fire. Without this fast assistance from his neighbors Mr. Cameron said the fire would undoubtedly have destroyed the complete field.

The fire occurred just at noon as the men were about to go in for lunch.

KINETTE CLUB RESUMES MEETINGS FOR NEW YEAR

SEDGEWICK — The Sedgewick Kinette Club held their first meeting of the fall season on Wednesday with almost a perfect attendance.

The new slate of officers was installed and presented with corsages, as follows: Pres., Joyce Richardson; Vice, Sonja Beairsto; Sec., Betty Lawes; Treas., Jean Djan. Bulletin Editor, Donna Metz, Director, Sylvia Shaw.

The 7 percent pins were also presented, and a hard-time party planned.

A short discussion was held on donation to the Flagstaff Lodge Tea, and the request was agreed to.

LOUGHEED—Mr. Ken McNalley, the new manager of the Searle Grain Elevator at Lougheed has just returned from a development course of study in grain marketing conducted by the head office of his company in Winnipeg, Manitoba. Ken took over operation of the Lougheed elevator two months ago after he was transferred from Camrose.

Central Rams

Central High Rams now have two wins and one loss as they defeated the Wetaskiwin team 13 to 12 on Saturday at the Sedgewick Recreation Centre.

At half time the Rams were down 6 to 0 but came back in the second half with Burden scoring two major and Hornbogh converting one of them for 13 points. Wetaskiwin was held to one unconverted touchdown in the second half which gave the Central team the win.

While the Rams didn't suffer any major injuries during this game the Wetaskiwin club had more than twenty of their players hurting from a variety of injuries.

The one interception of the game was made by David Muirhead of the Rams.

Next Saturday the Central High team travels to Wetaskiwin for a return engagement.

MERNA 4H CLOTHING CLUB

The Merna 4-H Clothing Club held their organizational meeting Oct 8th. The following officers were elected for the coming year: Pres Elaine Simpson; Vice, Joyce Anderson; Sec., Marian Simpson Treas., Gwen Simpson. Reporter, Patsy Anderson. Mrs. Beulah Simpson was re-elected as Leader. The Assistant Leaders are Mrs. Alvina Fredrich and Mrs. Margaret Simpson.

Meetings will be held the first and third Monday of the month at the hour of eight p.m.

Hospital Auxiliary Assists Patients

KILLAM — The Hospital Auxiliary meetiary met in the Presbyterian Church Hall on October 13th with 8 members present. Mrs. Coyne reported the canteen cart had visited the wards each week, and met with a good response. Mrs. H. Bricker and Miss Catherine George will man the cart this month. Mrs. E. Chevraux and Mrs. J. Schnettler will visit the sick. Mrs. Beach will assist with October birthdays.

As the Auxiliary has been asked to cater to two dinners in November, the membership was divided into two groups. Group 1 under the convenorship of Mrs. M. Gibb, will cater to the dinner planned to celebrate the installation of natural gas in Killam and Sedgewick. It is to be held in the parish hall on the 8th of November.

Group 2, Mrs. Coyne convening is to cater to the annual dinner meeting of the Killam Board of Trade.

The auxiliary will sponsor the Cooking School to be held in the Co-op Hall on Nov. 1st.

Some 420 visits to the sick were reported; 372 sponges were folded; 30 bed pads were donated. Bouquets were Mrs. Bill Larsen and Mrs. S. Coyne.

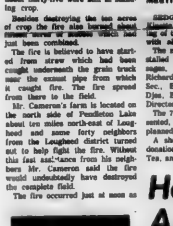
OFFICIAL GAS OPENING

Plans are underway, and in fact all but completed, for the official opening of the Natural Gas systems at Killam and Sedgewick. A banquet at Killam and a social and dance at Sedgewick will be combined, along with speeches by various dignitaries. Watch for further notice.



THE FINAL PRODUCT—One of the students who visited the Press plant has just picked up a finished copy fresh off the folding machine and prepares to give it a critical examination.

HOW IT WORKS—Linotype operator, Roger Reilly explains the operation of his machine as a group of students look on. This is the second year the pre-employment class has visited the Community Press and this machine seems to hold the most fascination for the students. The Linotype sets all the type for each weeks issue of the paper.

Chinese Man Arrives After Fifteen Year Wait

SEDGEWICK—Fifteen years of anguish, frustration and heartbreak ended for a young Chinese war refugee this month, and October 10th, 1965 will never be forgotten by Kwong Ping Wong as he was happily re-united with his adopted family in Sedgewick.

During the war years in China, a dirty, ragged and hungry young war refugee from Red China timidly knocked on the door of a home in Hong Kong begging for a bite to eat. It was the most fortunate event of his eight-year-old life, for not only did he receive food for his body, but also nourishment for his soul. Mrs. Fardie Wong who lived in the house started processings to adopt the young refugee with the result that he was taken into her home and cared for.

Mrs. Wong, wife of Fardie Wong of Sedgewick, at last was able to join her husband in Canada, and when leaving left Ping in the care of her mother in Hong Kong. Proceedings were immediately commenced to bring the young lad to Canada, and finally after fifteen years of rejections, refusals and negative responses, the way was cleared and on October 10th Ping boarded a plane for his new home in Canada.

He left Hong Kong at 2:00 p.m., via Tokyo, Vancouver and Edmonton, and of all things arrived at the International Airport, Edmonton, at 6:40 p.m. the same day so to speak. Some 10,000 miles in 14 hours flying time. He was met by his over-joyed parents and their family. Ping had never seen his adopted father.

Self educated in Chinese schools, Ping decided later to learn the English language, and spent three years in English schools, preparing for the day when he could get to Canada. He walked 2 miles to school, and attended classes from 8 in the morning until 4:30 in the afternoon. Since leaving school he has been employed in Hong Kong in an international department store where he earned $400 Chinese money, equivalent to $80 in Canadian money, per month.

In talking with Ping we learned some interesting things about life in China, where the people, he says, get just enough food to live fairly decently, and where there is absolutely no surplus of any basic foods. Of the grain purchased from Canada and other nations, half goes to the army and half feeds the civilian population. With the shortage of foods, children are forced into the fields from school dismissal time until dark, gathering the kernels that are spilled on the ground. There is absolutely no waste.

Ping declares there will be no war with the U.S. and China for the officials in China realize quite well that food supplies and armaments would distrot them quickly. However, he says, the Chinese regime are masters of bluff.

In Hong Kong, food prices are fairly stable; Turkey 80c lb.; Beef 35c Shoes $30. in terms of Canadian funds. No TV sets are sold, but are rented out at $10 a month; meals average $2.50 and up in Chinese funds which means 50c Canadian; a one-room apartment rents for $40 Canadian per month, with communal kitchen and bathroom.

Cars are plentiful for those with money, and are mostly of British and European make.

The juvenile problem is the same as in Canada, and in the lower class sections of the city, gangs live in the street and create the same problems as in other countries.

Ping declares that Canada is now his home, and after 15 years of anxious waiting, his only desire is to live freely with his family and become a good Canadian citizen. We welcome him to our country and wish him good fortune.

Editorial Criticism!

Sometimes when I read the daily papers and the exchanges that come to our desk, I find it not easy to understand how free Canadians can sharply criticize editorial comment (or free speech in print) in newspapers, but it is done regularly and often with heated feelings, steaming enthusiasm, and exploding tempers. These extreme reactions are not really necessary, points out the National Newspaper Public Information Committee, since the major reason for editorial comment is merely to make readers think and act as reasonably as human nature will allow. Editorials, columnist's comments, the local signed columns, editorial cartoons and letters to the editor are all designed to provide a bit of "thinking material" for the readers, both adult and student. Use of newspapers in the classroom is growing fast, and one of the most challenging parts of any newspaper is the editorial comment which encourages the students to study, evaluate and challenge the thinking of experts on varied matters. Teachers, too, benefit.

Editorial opinion in newspapers also gives personality to the publications, since readers become identified with their favorite columnist or take favorable or opposite sides with the opinions and views expressed by daily and weekly newspapers. The value of editorial or personal opinion in newspapers is to encourage logical and sound thinking as the basis for reasonable and considered action, or reaction to the views in a newspaper. In a democracy the public is endowed with free speech and free assembly. A free press guarantees that varied views and opinions on important local, state, national and international issues will be provided for readers. Only the well informed, thinking public can do what is needed to preserve a free society and freedom for the individual, especially when issues and controversies are put to vote of the people.

Editorials in newspapers provide a broad platform on which all readers can stand and take part by reading and either agree or disagree calmly and thoughtfully. Newspapers provide the opportunity for readers to "talk back" to the newspaper and to other readers by writing letters or seeking comments on a specific topic or issue. This is democracy in action. This is also wise newspaper leadership for community and citizen good. This is why editorials and other opinion-stating views are in newspapers to stimulate reader thinking and action

Four Billion Loss!

Think of it for a moment. Almost four billion dollars was lost to the Canadian economy in 1964 because of road accidents, so says John Melanson, president of an insurance company. This net loss included five hundred million dollars paid out in cash by insurance companies, plus the hidden factor of eight dollars for every dollar known cost. Loss in human life last year was 4,656, and the expectation for 1965 is 5000.

In reviewing his term as the president, Mr. Atkinson saw as major continuing projects for highway safety organizations, stronger legislation to control the drinking driver, mandatory vehicle inspection, a uniform traffic code, more attention to the maimed victims of road accidents, driver improvement programs, high school driver education and greater involvement of men and women at top levels of government and industry in accident prevention.

It might not be a bad idea for the leaders of our political parties to include a program of road safety in their election campaigning.

Perhaps one conclusion from the desk of Mr. Atkinson, will not be popular with older people, is that he absolved youth from major blame for the traffic problem. He then went on to emphasize the need for adequately preparing the young person for a lifetime of driving by supervised education. Ways must be found, so that every teenager in Canada will by driver education in schools, be given the opportunity to qualify for 60 years of resoureful performance as a driver or pedestrian. Important too, we think, is proper training for school bus drivers, not only for safety of pupils, but because of student observation of his ability. Students will emulate the driving examples of bus drivers, parent or any other person they drive with regularly.

Why The Reds Buy Canadian Wheat

Political candidates are claiming credit for the large sales of Canadian wheat to Soviet Russia, Red China and other countries behind the Iron Curtain. The truth is that those countries knew that Canada had large supplies of wheat readily available, that Canadian spring wheat is of the highest quality in the international wheat trade and that the grades of Canadian export wheat are government guaranteed. Other favorable factors include the grain storage system of terminal and country elevators which provide ample supplies for quick transportation; and the railways are experienced in moving grain to lake and ocean ports in large quantities and in short spaces of time. In addition there is the advantage of dealing direct with the Canadian Wheat Board, which can take care of the largest orders, simplify proceedings, and handle the financing. The intrusion of politicians only causes trouble. — Brooks Bulletin.

★ MACDUFF REPORT

Not Like The Others

OTTAWA — If Quebec is not a province like the others, neither is the Quebec election campaign like the others.

Not that the parties will say one thing in Quebec and the contrary in other provinces. The day has long since passed when any major party could get away with speaking out of both sides of its mouth, even if it wanted to.

The differences in the Quebec campaign are complex, difficult, and important.

For one thing the scandals issue, which is being used by the opposition parties, has special meaning for Quebec.

All the principal figures in the scandals and the alleged scandals — Lucien Cardin, Pierre Sevigny, Guy Gauthier, Yvon Dupuis, Gordon Cameron, Maurice Bourget — are Quebecers. The people of Quebec were so disturbed an expense over the revelations of the Dorion report. But they were also angered by a tendency in English Canada towards the thesis that Quebec is, was, and always will be, corrupt.

They have reacted indignantly as a people on the question of scandals, and as a result it's doubtful that opposition parties can get much political value out of them.

Furthermore, in the minds of many Quebecers, this whole issue is linked to a much wider issue — the issue of Quebec's relations with English-speaking Canada and its place in Confederation.

This in itself — the question of the basic issue in the campaign, and not just in Quebec.

It may be of lesser electoral importance in many provinces. In French Canada it is of prime importance, and therein lies many of the differences in the Quebec campaign.

It would be foolish to say that Quebec voters are not interested in the agricultural and economic platforms being presented by the Federal parties. With a truly depressed rural economy, Quebec has a clear interest in governmental efforts to remove inequities and improve standards.

But in general, the people of Quebec seem primarily interested in electing a Federal Government which understands it, which will redefine its role in Confederation which will permit individuals to develop as French Canadians, and at the same time give them a proud and equal role as Canadians.

In the past few years, Quebecers have felt the strain on Confederation as much as any other Canadians. Yet most of them seem to want new to what many other Canadians want — a Federal Government that can keep the French-English dialogue smooth, that can keep Quebec happy in Confederation.

If this is so, where does it leave the major parties in their quest for votes on November 8?

At the moment, it is easy to predict a big win for the Liberals — 60 to 80 of the province's 75 seats. The party has made a determined effort to clean house in Quebec, dumping many of the overlords and acolytes who lived in the shadow between the government and the underworld.

The housecleaning job seems to have been accepted in Quebec. It hasn't been accepted elsewhere, perhaps because of Prime Minister Pearson's refusal to talk about the scandals, or even about what action he has taken.

Furthermore, Quebec is aware that, despite Conservative pride of disunity, the Liberal Government has finally managed to establish a kind of equilibrium in Federal-Provincial matters. The re-shaping of Quebec's role in Canada is being undertaken with more sympathy and understanding than it has been for many years.

As for the Conservatives, the prospects are not as bleak in Quebec as some Liberals proclaim. Mr. Diefenbaker has apparently campaigned in many areas of the province, with some success. There's a fairly good possibility that many votes that went to the Creditiste last time will find their way to Conservative candidates this time.

Tory support is likely to be spotty however, and the organization is in a very bad way. They lack a strong Quebec leader. The failure so far to attract a man like Marcel Faribault to the top is increasingly Conservative-minded city vote is evidence that John Diefenbaker has little more to offer the thinking Quebecer

The Conservatives had eight seats at dissolution. They might hold their own, even gain a few, but Quebec is definitely not fertile Tory territory.

Nor is it nearly as fertile as it once was for Real Caouette's Creditistes. In many parts of the province he is now less in demand than in 1962 and 30 in 1963, the word is that the Creditistes are dead.

Some of that vote will go Conservative, some Liberal, and some to the New Democrats. The NDP under its vigorous Quebec leader Robert Cliche, is enjoying a surge of support. It may or may not result in the NDP winning its first seat ever in Quebec.

The Liberal Party then, is the favourite. It is also the party with the most to gain and the most to lose. The Pearson quest for majority government must be based on solid Quebec support. The key battleground then will be Ontario and the Prairies. But if the Government somehow loses its Quebec base, it might as well not even bother fighting the other battles.

THIS WEEK AND NEXT!

The Campaign and the Candidates

PROBING THE PLATFORMS

A slightly clearer picture of the political party platforms — what each party says it will do if elected November 8th — began to emerge from this week's campaigning.

As the campaign rounded the bend and into the final half, Prime Minister Pearson hit the hustings in earnest for the first time. It was Liberal party strategy to avoid "peaking" before election day, and the campaign was geared to put the Liberals in best fight just before the voting.

It was the PM's intention to stress the party's record — as governments always do — with special emphasis on prosperity (record employment, a national gross product increase of nine percent, income tax reductions of 10 percent) and on social welfare (a federal labor code with a $1.25 minimum wage, senior farm credit, extension of family allowances to 18 for students, interest free loans to university students, old age pensions raised to $75 ,establishment of the Canada Pension Plan) — coupled with an assault on poverty and a firm commitment to launch a national medicare plan).

In addition, Liberal candidates mentioned the Maple Leaf flag, the new federal department of industry, the bi-and-bi commission and the auto trade pact with the U. S., which is supposed to create 20,000 new jobs in the next few years even if car prices remain the same.

The Prime Minister called again for a majority government, having stressed earlier that he would not head another minority administration.

The opposition parties have attacked the Liberals' record, on any of the above issues, although PC leader Diefenbaker has made a swipe at the government's medicare plans. He said the Conservative party has no example of medicare but he has refused to commit himself on whether he would initiate a private or a government sponsored scheme.

While attacking the government on the corruption issue, Mr. Diefenbaker has appealed for national unity as the country's greatest need. Using his new unity of the Conservative party as an example he has let out of what he calls "Pearson Liberal" ranks has asked Liberal voters to join him "in this hour of ours, with God's help, may be worthy of the land in which in this long past some gave so much."

Mr. Diefenbaker also blamed government inaction for the Quebec bankruptcy scandal in which 15 people may have been murdered.

In contrast with past campaigns when the Diefenbaker image took precedence over the Tory party label, the current campaign is clearly aimed at putting the Conservative party back into contention as an alternative to the Liberals, whether or not Diefenbaker will be there November 8th.

The PC platform has stressed additional economic and to slow-growth regions, along with the promise of $160 per month old age pensions and such gimmicks as 6 percent consumer loans.

An offer of free college education to all able to absorb it has topped the New Democratic party platform, with Tommy Douglas also calling for immediate medical government action to cope with the problems of automation.

Mr. Stanfield has attacked the Liberals student loan plan as a disgraceful substitute for free education, but the Liberals answered with a $40 million scholarship fund for the next four years.

Despite the increased campaigning there still appeared to be a lot of apathy among voters. In many contests, local issues took precedence over party loyalty and at this stage, the campaign almost took on the appearance of 265 individual elections. Strength of individual candidates might yet be the deciding factor.

Mrs. Wallace Clarke Passes At Sedgewick

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Hughena Althea Clarke of West Sage, 81, who died suddenly Tuesday with Rev. Don Lewis officiating. The pall bearers were, Joe Harding, Geo Jackson, John Armitage, Wm. MacLaren, Walter Hallam and Jn Davison, all of Sedgewick Fee and Sons were funeral directors and organist was Mrs. Laura Edwards.

Althea Clarke passed away in the Killam General Hospital on Sunday, Sept. 26th after a lengthy illness. Hughena Althea Stairs was born in York County, New Brunswick on December 1st, 1884. After completing normal school in Prince Albert, N. W. T. in the fall of 1911, she came west where she taught school for several years in Saskatchewan, B. C. and Alberta. On April 8, 1918 she was married to Wallace Howard Clarke. They farmed for several years out at Jarrow and in 1936 moved to the town south of Sedgewick where they farmed until 1951 when they retired and moved to their present home in Sedgewick.

Althea Clarke leaves to mourn her passing, her loving husband, Wallace H. Clarke; one son Jos. F. Clarke, one daughter Verna (Mrs.) Ernest Cleland, and six grandchildren, all of Sedgewick, two nephews and their families, Henry and Owen Stairs of Fredricton, N. B., Fraser Stairs of Halifax, N. S. One sister, Alma Scott pre-deceased her in July of 1926.

The many expressions of sympathy and donations testified to the high esteem and respect in which the deceased was held by many friends and acquaintances. There were no flowers by request, except a family spray.

THE Homemaker

By Miss Irene Eby, Your District Home Economist

Fourth of a Series on Money Management

Present day-to-day living costs include all current expenses that you pay as you go. Unless you have kept records you may not know what figures to use here. Make a rough estimate, then take several months to get your plan into smooth running order. I insist on my four years of budgeting and home economics. Living costs changed nearly every year as my way of life and locale in which I lived changed. I began a small book and note the actual costs every day or if on a shopping spree, several times a day. Just as I don't lose track. An easy way is to check what you started out with in the morning against what you have at night and balance according to what you spent. It is surprising how much can slip by and you may not realize you have spent it. Keeping records have spent it. Keeping records involves work, just as anything else in this world, but it should be made as interesting as possible, involving the whole family. Jot down what you and your actual daily costs you will find they fall into a fairly regular pattern. What are your day-to-day living expenses? You may wish to divide the items differently than I have listed below. Do your record-keeping and monthly and yearly budgetting the way you find easiest. What I have given in the series is only as a guide, you may use it word for word or adjust as you like.

Be sure to work out your pay-as-you-go expenses on the basis of your living conditions.

1. Utilities—telephone, electricity, and gas.

2. Food—groceries, meats, dairy products, fruits, and vegetables.

3. Laundry and Dry Cleaning—Shoe repairs.

4. Bathroom supplies—toothpaste, first aid, cosmetics, and shaving supplies.

5. Stationery, postage, newspapers.

6. Household supplies and repairs— soaps, cleansers, small things for the home from the hardware, grocery store or 5 and 10 store.

7. Help—for cleaning, care of yard, babysitting.

8. Car upkeep or transportation—gas, oil, greasing, washing and painting

9. Entertaining— meals out for family, entertaining at home, include candies, flowers, favours (Christmas and New Year's).

Personal Allowances

A personal allowance for every family member is one of the most important parts of your spending plan.

An allowance gives each person a feeling of independence and, at the same time, increased pride and interest in co-operating with the family group.

Try to estimate carefully the amount you may allow only coarsely or ice cream money for the very young child. School supplies may be added to allowance of father, and even small items of clothing for the teen-ager. Mother and Dad should also have their personal allowances. After you have listed the necessities, be sure to add something for recreation and personal desires. The total may net seem large enough but will be accepted more willingly if each person has helped in the planning. Be sure that everyone understands exactly what the allowance is to cover, then do not expect an accounting of how each penny is spent. An allowance is a personal "shock absorber", giving each person the right to grow over his own expenses, the privilege of figuring out how to meet these costs and the chance to save face if he makes a mistake or spends foolishly.

Experience in handling money, in co-operating and taking part in "family business", is extremely valuable. It can pay real dividends in family loyalty, understanding and harmony, and it can help balance the budget.

NOW! FOR '66 FROM CHEVROLET

NEW CAPRICE

A whole new series of elegant new models — the most lavish Chevrolet has ever built. There's the Caprice Custom Coupe, Caprice Custom Sedan and the luxurious new Caprice Custom Sport Coupe. Elegant to every detail, they invite (and deserve!) your closest inspection.

Custom Coupe — with a smart and elegant roofline you won't find on any other Chevrolet.

JET-SMOOTHER IMPALA

Impala Sport Coupe.

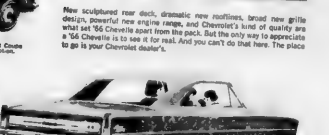
No Chevrolet has ever had a ride like this one. It's smooth, solid, quiet. You can specify a 2-barrel or 4-barrel engine of 325-hp. Smooth, quiet, plenty of reserve power (last one of six engines available up to a 425-hp Turbo-Jet "427" V8). But really, there's only one way to find out all that's great about the '66 Chevrolet with its brand-hot new Body by Fisher. Ride in one.

New Malibu Sport Coupe with the Sports option.

SLEEK STUNNER CHEVELLE

New sculptured rear deck, dramatic new rooflines, broad new grille design, powerful new engine range, and Chevrolet's kind of quality are what set '66 Chevelle apart from the pack. But the only way to appreciate a '66 Chevelle is to see it for real. And you can't do that here. The place to go is your Chevrolet dealer's.

ALL-NEW CHEVY II



Nova Super Sport Coupe.

Chevy II is something else again for 1966. We've lowered the roof, raised the horsepower available and given it a whole new look. It's so different, we should really call it the Chevy III. What's the economical dependable, salt-of-the-earth Chevy II coming to? A lot of very smart car buyers, the way we figure it.

UNIQUE CORVAIR

Corsa Sport Coupe.

Corvair, like all the '66 Chevrolets, has a padded instrument panel, padded sun visors, Seat belts front and rear. Backup lights, windshield washer and 2-Speed wipers, outside rear-view mirror. Fully synchronized 3-Speed transmission. All of it standard equipment. Corsas. Monzas. 500's. Come get one. Stay young.

According to Dr. Glen Pursell, Director of Alberta's Farm Economics Branch, this type of "ad" may easily become commonplace in the near future. He points out that finding good reliable and qualified help is one of the most difficult problems facing today's farmers. Whether one is looking for a good man for seasonable work, for year round employment or for a foreman-manager, the story is the same—such people just do not seem to exist any more.

Why is it that so many men refuse to work in the farm, or are unqualified for this type of work when unemployment rates are often high in Canada? It is not unusual for buying wages of up to $13 a day plus board to be refused by unemployed men.

Dr. Pursell thinks the conditions which many farm workers have to endure probably has a lot to do with the situation. Those include drudgery, long working hours, poor living conditions and lack of fringe benefits. It is possible, he says, that if farmers refuse to pay more attention to the welfare of their workers they could find themselves in the same situation as their counterparts in California. The labor unions in the United States are trying to unionize farm labour.

Anyone who is faced with a shortage of good help should ask himself, "Would I like working for me?" advised Dr. Pursell. There is much more to good working relations than the dollars paid out in salaries, although wages should of course be in line with those paid in the community.

Here are a few suggestions from Dr. Pursell on how to make a more congenial and happy environment for hired help and thereby obtain their loyalty and co-operation:

Plan your work program and give your employees an opportunity to make suggestions for improvement. Let them do some of the more pleasant jobs while you share the unpleasant ones. This type of management generates enthusiasm and goodwill which cannot usually be bought with money.

Provide reasonable housing. The best employee will soon become dissatisfied if his wife and children are unhappy.

Arrange reasonable working hours. Time for extra hours put in during busy seasons should be allowed in slack periods. Even paid vacations can be worked out quite economically during slack periods.

When possible, provide a wage incentive program such as a bonus or profit sharing arrangement to encourage initiative and productivity. Usually this approach is used for year-round help but it is also beneficial for seasonal employees. Year end dollar bonuses, an annual basic salary plus a percentage commission, extra pay for overtime & sharing of farm profits are all methods which can be used to encourage diligence and long-term service on the part of employees.

When hiring a new employee, it may be a good idea to put a dollar value on such things as free housing, holiday pay, meat, milk, eggs and vegetables supplied by the farmer. This will give him a more realistic picture of the situation.

Remember, says Dr. Pursell, when you are interviewing a candidate you are competing with many alternative employment opportunities, both on and off the farm.

Weed Control Important

If you want clean grain fields next year do not neglect your summer-fallow land this fall. Owing to wet summer and fall conditions the growth of Canada Thistle, sow thistle and other weeds is unusually vigorous this year. Success in your 1966 weed control program will depend in no small measure on the effectiveness of spraying or cultivation operations this fall, both on summer-fallow and crop land.

Thistle Control. The best way to control thistles is by cultivation or a combination of cultivation and spraying. Wet weather this fall has prevented efficient cultivation of summer-fallow fields. Consequently, it is recommended that summer-fallow land and crop fields infested with thistles be sprayed, as early as possible this fall, 2-4-D amine or MCPA amine at the rate of 16 ounces per litre. After spraying, tillage operations should be delayed at least two weeks to allow the chemical to penetrate into the roots while the thistle plants are still in an active stage of growth. Any dead plants of thistles and other broad-leaved weeds that are killed by spraying and left on the surface of the ground this fall will help to prevent soil erosion next spring. Control of thistles this fall is essential. Otherwise, the thistle plants will build up food reserves in their roots which will enable them to go through the winter in a vigorous condition.

Keep Stubble Upright. In the southern areas of the prairies particularly, fall tillage of summerfallow and stubble land can be dangerous unless every effort is made to maintain a good trash cover. A good trash cover protects light soils from wind and water erosion and improves the tilth at heavy soils. Where tillage is necessary for the control of thistles and other weeds it should be done with a wide blade cultivator that will leave the stubble standing to catch snow and conserve moisture.

Don't waste the time and effort you spent on your summerfallow this summer by failing to control weed growth this fall. Fall spraying of fallow and stubble fields is considered by weed specialists to be an effective, practical and economic means of controlling troublesome perennial and annual weeds.

The Federal Government wants to give you $500.00 CASH just for buying a WINTER-BUILT HOME

Once again, the Government of Canada is offering this special incentive to increase winter employment by encouraging the construction of Winter-Built homes. Any home certified "Winter Built" by Federal government inspectors will earn you a cash rebate.

HERE'S HOW YOU QUALIFY

- You can build your own home
- You can have it built for you
- You can buy one ready-built
- It can be a single dwelling or multiple structure of not more than four units (each unit qualifies for the $500 incentive).
- Work must not proceed beyond the first floor joist stage before November 15, and the home must be completed before April 15, 1966, except for outside painting and site improvement.

HERE'S WHAT YOU DO

You can pick up a pamphlet containing full details, and registration forms at your National Employment Office, any Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation office, or at post offices where there are no N.E.S. or C.M.H.C. offices. Or, your builder can do this for you. You'll be in your new home by Spring . . . then rent . . . make yourself $600.00.

DO IT NOW! Have your home Winter-Built!

WINTER BUILT

Issued by authority of Hon. Allen J. MacEachen, Minister of Labour, Canada.

SEDGEWICK W. I.

The regular meeting on Oct. 6 had 11 members in attendance. The usual committee reports were hard and business arising from them was discussed.

Our group entertained Flagstaff Lodge residents one evening with Bingo games. We were reminded of the Bazaar and tea being held by them this month.

A committee was formed to look after the lunch being served at the Dial Telephone Show on Oct. 14. Plans were finalized for those members planning to attend the Constituency Conference in Lougheed on Oct. 19.

Our annual house to house canvas for the C.N.I.B. will be held on the evening of Oct. 22 and the Leg Day as Oct. 23.

The roll was answered by naming a famous statesman.

The travelling basket added $8.00 to our funds.

A recent film on the aims of the United Nations Organization was the feature of the program. Following this lunch was served.

Weekly Devotion

NEARER FOR PRAYER

As I picked up a home-town paper last week I was intrigued by a picture of a very large and modern house being moved from its foundation in town, to a country site on a farm five miles out. I recognized the house. It was about five years old and belonged to a couple in their late fifties that I knew quite well.

This is a large house, 62 x 36 feet, deluxe almost in its entirety, with the latest in fixtures, appliances and thickly carpeted throughout even to the bathroom. Just a few years before building. This house, the couple had remodelled and modernized their farm home in a beautiful rural setting. They were not satisfied, so they built this small mansion. They apparently are [illegible] not satisfied so they are moving it to a farm location — not where they used to live.

I have long felt pity and sorrow for this couple. They have been richly blest with the world's goods but they have no peace. They are always searching for it — in new homes, bigger homes, different places. They refuse, even after repeated failures, to admit peace cannot be found in things. They will not accept peace from the loving Savior who declared, 'My peace I leave with you. NOT AS THE WORLD GIVES DO I GIVE YOU. Let not your hearts be troubled, neither let them be afraid." Troubled hearts make for a restless, wandering existence. St. Augustine, after years of riotous living, finally discovered this truth and later confessed, "My spirit knows no rest until it rests in Thee, for Thou hast made me for Thyself."

On another page of this paper I read where the owner of this home had just been admitted to the local hospital. We can only hope and pray that this poor fellow and his wife will listen to the voice of their Shepherd and find in Him peace that it itself is a man if he gets the peace that passes all [illegible] can give him for ever and!"

Prayer — Lord God, help all of us to accept your material blessings in a look of service and keep them from becoming our God. Help us to find that peace which passes all understanding and which can come only from obedience to your good will. In this way lead us by your spirit into happy, victorious living. In Jesus' name. Amen. — Rev. J. J. Christopherson. Sedgewick. Alberta.

LOUGHEED HOMEMAKERS RE-ORGANIZE

LOUGHEED—On September 16, the ten girls and four leaders met at the Lougheed School for a re-organization meeting. The following Officers were elected; President — Lorna Storbakken, third year member; Secretary — Margaret Burden, second year member; Treasurer — Roseane Burden, second year member; Vice President — Sharon Probst, first year member; and Club Reporter — Margaret Ann Probst, fourth year member. Mrs. R. Storbakken was voted in as general leader and others will help. Other members are Shirley Smith, Betty Volkart, Faye Schmaltzel, Sharon Anne Cotton, and Lorna Southon. Later in September, the leaders met to get up the years program.

On October 6, the first regular meeting was held with everyone present. The roll call was answered with each one telling something of Thanksgiving. The upcoming banquet was discussed and the date was set for November 20. Demonstrations were given by Margaret Ann Probst and Lorna Storbakken. Mrs Storbakken talked to them about your members about their projects and gave them some idea of what they will be doing this year. Lunch and entertainment committees were chosen. The meeting was adjourned.

A. P. Crop Report

GENERAL— Following several weeks of intermittent rain and snow, warm dry weather spread over Alberta early last week. Several days were needed to dry out the grain and in the meantime swathing continuede to the point where it is now almost completed in most districts. Combining got under way about October 1st or 2nd, but much of the first grain was tough or damp. Coarse grains dried quicker than wheat and operations have been mainly concentrated on these crops. Progress throughout the Province is fairly uniform and the average amount of combining done is : Wheat 25%, Oats and Barley 50%. On October 1st very strong winds swept the Province causing considerable damage to standing crops and mostly ripened grain. In the Peace River District, showers have interfered with operations, but average progress is about the same as the rest of the Province.

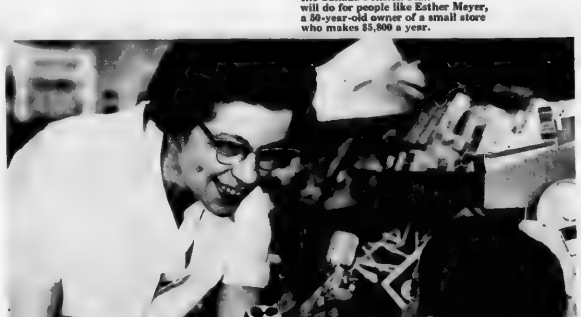
The Canada Pension Plan and its benefits



Here is what the Canada Pension Plan will do for people like Esther Meyer, a 50-year-old owner of a small store who makes $5,800 a year.

If Esther continues to earn this amount from her business until age 65, she and her husband, who is disabled and cannot work, can look forward to a retirement income of $104.17 from the Plan and $75 from Old Age Security—a total of $179.17 a month. When her husband receives Old Age Security, their income will be $254.17 a month.

Should Esther die anytime after 1967, having contributed until her death, her husband will also receive a disabled widower's pension of $64.06 a month until he reaches age 65. At that time, or if he is already 65 when Esther dies, his pension under the Plan will be $62.50 a month plus $75 a month Old Age Security. On the death of his wife, Mr. Meyer will also be entitled to a lump sum payment of $500.

All benefits under the Plan will maintain their value. The actual benefits payable will probably be higher than those given here since benefits will be adjusted to meet changes in living costs and in wage levels before they are paid and changes in living costs after they become payable.

What will the Plan cost you?

If, like Esther, you have self-employed earnings of $5,800 a year, you will pay $158.40 a year which is 3.6%, of $4,400, the maximum amount upon which contributions are payable. Payment will be in instalments in the same way you pay your [illegible]

This advertisement is one of a series which relates some of the important benefits of the Canada Pension Plan to individual circumstances.

Issued by authority of the Minister of National Health and Welfare, Canada, The Honourable Judy LaMarsh.

SUGAR AND SPICE

by Bill Smiley

WE'RE ROMANS, ALL

I've been reading a fascinating book about the ancient Romans. Meditating on their economy and social customs, I couldn't avoid comparing them with ours today.

Like us, the Romans of the Golden Age were nuts about highways. The Roman Empire had over 60,000 miles of throughways. Italy alone had about 600 major paved roads. These enabled Caesar to travel 200 miles night days. A messenger used to announce the death of Nero made 200 miles in 36 hours. Today, it takes almost that long to get home from the cottage, on a holiday weekend.

Like us, the Romans were interested in things that were bigger, like the Egyptians and the Greeks, who built massive, or beautiful, but useless structures, like the pyramids or the Parthenon, the Romans were great boys for waterworks and sewers and steamers.

Like us, they were in the toils of the bankers, with all their diabolical inventions: savings banks, travellers' cheques, money orders, interest and mortgages.

Like us, they had a hybrid government, half-socialist, half-capitalist. It from the price of wheat and plunged into public works to solve unemployment, but did nothing about slum landlords, constituent interest rates and shady used-horse dealers. Sound familiar?

Like us, they practised birth control, and abortion was common. Unless she were hard up, a Roman woman who had had a child got rid of it immediately by turning it over to a wet-nurse, then to a Greek slave governess, then to a Greek slave tutor. We don't have wet-nurses but we have the bottle. And we don't have slaves, dang it, but we have the baby-sitter and the public schools system.

Like us, they divorced each other indiscriminately. Caesar had four wives and was unfaithful to all of them.

Their entertainment was much like ours: horse races, the theatre, variety shows, gladiatorial contests. And just as today, the chariot drivers, actors and gladiators were idolized and paid 1,000 times what they were worth.

Of course, the Romans were cruel. After the city was almost destroyed by fire, emperor Nero blamed the Christians, and had the whole lot, or so he thought, thrown to the lions, all 1,000 of them. We'd never think of doing that today. It's too vicious, too flamboyant. Today we quietly stuff six million Jews into gas chambers, or incinerate 100,000 Japanese with a blow torch.

The ladies will be glad to know that Roman women were just as silly as they are, about their looks. It was three hours every morning over the hairdo assisted by half a dozen slaves. Underwear was of silk and the brassiere was just coming in. The milk-bath was common and wealthy gals who were travelling brought along their own herd of cows to be sure of a decent bath.

Bathrooms as today, were littered with razors, scissors, soap, perfumes, oils, powders, hairbrushes and all that mush. No wet nylons, though to hit you in the face. Hairstyles were fantastic.

And they had some great parties in those days. They began at four in the afternoon and lasted far into the night. Not like our stodgy affairs, which commence with cocktails at five, and last far into the morning.

At their parties, or orgies, the air was perfumed, flowers were everywhere, there were two servants for each guest, and the host would offer precious gifts to his guests. They bit the grape pretty hard, and got ill on stuff like variety shows, gladiatorial contests. And just as today, the chariot drivers, actors and gladiators were idolized and paid 1,000 times what they were worth.

I sure would like to get in on a good old orgy. Why does a fellow have to be born 2,000 years too late?

Place A Book In Your Child's Hands

Five-year-old Colleen Smith is a lucky child. She has a book and she knows it. So?

Too many children live in homes where books are not considered important; some with no books at all. The result can be utterly tragic in terms of unfulfilled minds, school dropouts, human failures.

This month Canada's vast Home and School movement launches a $60,000 public information campaign to combat the problem. The objective: to reach every parents over the next two years with urgent messages of the profound importance of books in the growth of their children.

It's just one part of a Centennial project made possible with donations pledged by the greater number of Canada's 3000 local Home & School associations. Overall cost is a from outside groups and individuals have been received and are most welcome.

The appealing photo of Colleen is one visual symbol of the campaign. You'll see it often together with the slogan: Place a book in the hands of your child. If you watch TV that is. Or read the papers, or look at billboards, or listen to the radio. All media, including bus cards and store window posters, will be employed to give new life to an old truth: children need books in order to grow.

To top it all, a parent's guide to children's reading has been printed in the form of a bright, illustrated pamphlet which offers expert and practical advice on such subjects as: Helpful Hints for a Home Bookshelf, The Importance of Reading Aloud, The Fun of Poetry; Your Child and the Library; Let's Look it Up Experienced librarians collaborated on one section: Fifty Books No Child Should Miss.

Some parents are bound to ask: will this promotion recommend the actual teaching of reading in the home?

"Not at all," says A J. Sands, national president of the Home and School Federation. "Leave that to the school. But you can't just sit back and expect your child to arrive at a love for reading if school books are the only books he knows. By the time the school gets around to showing him the great classics, chances are it is too late; his imagination has died."

"You are the boy," concludes Mr. Sands. "Right from playpen days you can encourage your child's natural interest in books and guide & share and stimulate his growth in reading. It's one o f the very best ways you can help him grow and develop into a mature and thinking person".

"And teachers can always tell when a child comes to school enjoying books. He expects to get continued pleasure from the printed page and is eager to hear new stories, new words, and to get on with the business of learning to read for himself."

Joan Anderson Married At Merna

In a candlelight ceremony amidst a setting of fern and baskets of summer flowers, in the Merna Seventh-day-Adventist Church, August 16th, friends and relatives gathered to witness the marriage ceremony of Miss Joan Clarissa Anderson, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson, and Mr John Fortney, performed by Pastor Malcolm Fisher of Lacombe.

The bridal carpet was rolled down the aisle by Clinton Anderson and Ron Bowen.

The candle bearers were the brides' young brother Clarence and wee sister Jackie, who was dressed in a floor length gown of gold French velvet with matching rosette headpiece

Entering the church on the arm of her father, the bride looked radiant in her gown of French taffeta, featuring scoop neckline with Guipur lace applique, lily point sleeves, princess waist line, buttoned back with rosette at waist ending in a train. Her elbow length headtast veil was held in place with a rosetta crown. She carried a cascade bouquet of yellow roses

She was attended by her sister Janey as Maid of Honor, dressed in a floor length gown of royal blue French velvet with matching rosette for headpiece, and white gloves Mrs William Halbom, Jr., Sedgewick Mrs. Ray Matthews of Allance their gowns were identical to the Maid of Honor but in gold They carried 3 long stemmed red roses

Attending the groom were his brother Mike, Messrs. Andy Lasteta and Fred Marshall. Guests were ushered by the brides uncle and cousin, Mr. Dave Taylor and Kenneth Taylor

Miss Nellie Anderson, brides' cousin played the wedding music, and also accompanied the soloists, Miss Anne Hentshand, and Mr. Harry Anderson.

The register was carried to the bridal party for their signatures by the bride's cousins, Roy and Warren Biek.

The bride's mother chose a turquoise crepe dress with beige accessories, and the groom's mother a blue two-piece dress with matching hat. Their corsages were yellow orchids.

The reception was held in the Merna School Auditorium with Mr. Ray Matthews, of Alliance as Master of Ceremonies, Program was arranged by Mrs. John Anderson of Grand Prairie and Dr. John McKibbin of Lacombe, proposed the toast to the bride. The bridal table was centred with a three tiered cake baked by her mother and decorated by Mrs. Marie Myrehaugg of Sedgewick

Open house was held at the brides home in the evening. Following a honeymoon in Banff and in the Okanagan Mr. Mrs. Fortney will make their home in Three Oaks, Michigan, where Mr. Fortney is teaching.

Out of town guests were from Calgary, Edmonton, Entwistle, Grand Prairie, Lacombe, McBride, B.C., Saskatoon, Winnipegosis, Oshawa and Toronto.

Ag. Service Boards Doing Good Work

Alberta's 55 agricultural service boards are doing a very commendable job in this province, according to W. Lobay, Supervisor of Soils and Weed Control.

Mr. Lobay was very impressed with what he saw on a number of service board tours earlier in the season. The projects included trials of new and promising herbicides, fertilizer demonstrations, community pasture developments, shelterbelt plantings, bush spraying operations and the management of land taken under supervision or reclaimed because of weed and soil problems.

Although some of the projects are carried out on a small scale because of limited funds and personnel, Mr. Lobay feels that they play an important part in pointing out to farmers "how, when, where and why" certain activities must be undertaken by landowners as a part of the privilege of owning land.

As a result of weed control promotion by service boards, about 85 percent of last year's cereal crops were treated with 2,4-D and related compounds This year's figure is expected to be about the same. In the same period last year about 450,000 pounds of soil sterilant was applied in weed patches and approximately 2000 miles of roadsides were back-sloped and seeded to recommended grass mixtures, to prevent erosion & weed growth.

During this past summer about 2000 notices to destroy weeds were served to landowners and seeding was prohibited on about 20000 acres because of heavy perennial weed infestations.

The ARDA Land Reclamation Project is another program which has been undertaken by service boards. Most municipalities are doing some work on a limited scale in co-operation with the farmers concerned to reclaim land damaged by wind and water or seriously infested by perennial weeds.

In addition to the above Alberta's agricultural service boards are involved in pest control and brucellosis programs They are also responsible for a great many regulatory duties and for making recommendations to the council on agricultural matters.

Service boards are made up of two councillors two farmers and the district agriculturist in the area This committee facilitates understanding and team work between the provincial Department of Agriculture the municipality and the farmers.

HAY FOR BEEF

Processing long hay to make it more acceptable to cattle is especially worthwhile if you can get plenty of hay cheaply, claims a federal animal nutritionist

Long hay can be ground, rolled, cut or pelleted.

Dr. R. Hironaka of the Research Station at Lethbridge tried this out with some 800-pound steers. They were fed a ration containing 30 per cent alfalfa hay hammered through a one-inch screen, 15 per cent dry-rolled barley and 5 per cent molasses. Individually fed, they gained two pounds a day—an acceptable rate. Cattle on a similar ration of hay in long form usually gain considerably less.

During the 168-day feeding test each steer consumed 19 pounds of feed daily. This type of ration is very useful early in the fattening period or for wintering cattle, says Dr. Hironaka. During these periods it may pay to add 30 per cent more ground alfalfa hay rather than the more costly high concentrate ration.

The nutritionist said there is more to hammered hay than increased consumption. It promotes extra production of propionic acid during digestion in the animal's rumen and lower production of acetic acid. Propionic acid is utilized more efficiently by the animal than is acetic acid. Molasses tends to hasten rates of digestion and, because it reduces the amount of dust in the feed, it increases feed intake.

Baptist Church

The monthly meeting of the W.-M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Grynalouki recently with eleven members present. Roll call was a donation of white cross. The missionary biography was read by Mrs. Vanderwoude with Mrs. Freed rich presenting a most challenging devotion entitled "My Cup Runneth Over". Plans were made for the next meeting on October 21 in order that Mrs. Mattson of Wetaskiwin may be the guest speaker. It was decided to hold the Thanksgiving program on Dec. 3 and the "Christ for the World" program on Nov. 21. A community shower was planned for bride-elect Marlene Bergmann, to be held on October 23rd. Lunch was served by the hostess.

We were happy to welcome several visiting families to the service on Thanksgiving Sunday. Rev. Grynalouski was in charge of both services.

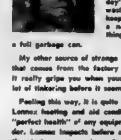
Strange Satisfaction!

By Bert Odland



There are a couple of things that give me a strange sense of satisfaction.

One of them is an empty wastebasket.

My life has been plagued a month by overflowing wastebaskets that an empty one is a distinct pleasure. There it sits, inviting, and ready to swallow up the day's errors and discards. But a full wastebasket offends me. The less-than keeps reminding one of them like a nagging conscience. Almost the only thing worse than a full wastebasket is a full garbage can.

My other source of strange satisfaction is a mechanical product that comes from the factory in good working condition. Doesn't it really gripe you when your new car, or whatever, requires a lot of tinkering before it seems anywhere near right? It does me.

Feeling this way, it is quite natural that I have chosen to handle Lennox heating and air conditioning. It reaches me in the most "perfect health" of any equipment I have ever known. Small wonder. Lennox inspects before assembly, after assembly then they test run every piece of equipment. And their tests are more rigorous than any I have ever seen. These boys really mean to hang on to their good reputation. Come on down and I'll tell you all about it.

But right now I've got to empty the wastebasket.

Around Sedgewick

Your Editor had a very pleasant surprise call last week from Mr. & Mrs. J. Lines and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Searle of Vancouver and Edmonton respectively. Mrs. Lines is the former Lois whyte and Mrs. Searle her sister Dorothy Whyte. Old timers here will recall the Jim Whyte family when Mr. Whyte was in his hardware business and agent for Chevrolet cars. We talked about the old days at school together, when Lois used to bang out a very good solo in our mixed quartet made up of Orpha Smith , Lois Whyte, Hank Peterson and myself, with Harry Dreany on the piano. This was the first time the girls had been back since 1927 and we enjoyed their very short visit a great deal.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gellan motored to Fort St. John to attend the wedding of Robert Schallhorn, a nephew of Mrs. Gellan. The scenery was very beautiful North of Edmonton. The Gellans stayed at the Eden Rock Motel and say they received very courteous service and hospitality from Floyd and Marguerite Johnson, who send their very best wishes to all at Sedgewick.

Mrs. Dave Wallace entertained at a farewell tea on Wednesday, honoring Mrs. Dwayne Billow.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Matthews of Alliance were recent visitors at the A. C. Eastly home.

Mrs. Ken Schaapveyer and daughter and Mrs. Wayne Schaapveyer and children of Edmonton visited here for a couple of days.

Miss Carole Taylor, Pat Calleby both of Camrose, and Dianne Cahoh of Edmonton were long weekend visitors at their homes here.

Pastor and Mrs. C. Magne from Calgary visited their daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Barry Gascoyne for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Taylor and Mrs. Hilda Cahoch visited Marylin at Vegreville last Thursday.

Miss Darlene Munro of Edmonton was at home for a few days.

Home for the weekend: Shirley Heartberg, Margaret Topps, Mary and Jean Ferrier, Joan Armitage, Lorraine Ferrier, Isobal Lavidahl.

Mrs. and Mrs. Sonny Loosens, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Baker.

Congrats to Mr. and Mrs. Mel Kropinski on the birth of a son on Tuesday.

Misses Lucy and Flossie Wilbraham of Calgary visited relatives & friends in Sedgewick and Lougheed and were over-night guests with their aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Howard Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Ken Galletly from Stettler were long weekend guests with Mrs. Olive Galletly.

Mr. Bobby Hayes of Provost was a weekend visitor at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Clarke and family of Edmonton were weekend visitors here.

Mr. and Mrs. Sven Madson and son of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. Ian Hoyland and children and Mr. Carl Bosiacco of Edmonton were home for the Thanksgiving weekend.

Recent guests with Mrs. J. Reid and Mary were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jamieson of Drayton Valley, and Clifford and Lloyd Kendrick from Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Byrch & Mrs Byrch Sr. of Calgary visited for the long weekend at the Matt Kohler farm home.

We extend our sympathy to the family of Mrs. Fred Gillies Sr. who passed away in Edmonton on Oct. 7th at the age of 67. Funeral was on October 12th in Edmonton.

Mrs. Maude Sather of Edmonton visited her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. Leyman Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Harding and children of Calgary were week-end guests at their parental home.

Mr. Jack Swancoat is a patient in General Hospital in Killam.

Beth Walsh and Linda Leirdahl Mr and Mrs Jim Walsh and son, were all home for Thanksgiving.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Harris and family were weekend visitors at the home of his parents at Cold Lake.

Miss Sharon Hughes of Edmonton was a weekend guest with her aunt and uncle Mr and Mrs Elmer Johnson.

Civic Elections Bring Personnel Changes

WHISTLE STOPPING—Robert Thompson, national leader of the Social Credit Party made a whistle stop tour along highway 13 last Friday giving a brief talk in each town. Mr. Thompson is shown standing on the back of the trailer which accompanied him, providing a stage and PA System for his remarks which were mainly of his four point policy. He advocated a two price system for the marketing of wheat and other farm produce in order to compete on the world market.

Many new faces will be seen on the municipal councils of the Towns and Villages along highway 13, as a result of the recent civic elections held on October 13th. In two of the areas concerned, council members have been increased, and in all the others new councillors will take up their new duties

At Daysland where two seats were vacant with three men seeking positions, the results show that Leslie Dolinz and Johnny Josephison were elected.

Strome had two men seeking offices for the seat left vacant by the retirement of Alvin Gordon. In this election Peter Stanaho was declared the winner over J. Bezver.

Killam this year went for a six man council in view of the change from Village to Town status. Mayor Killmer was re-elected as Mayor by acclamation. Killam had a large slate of ten seeking the six vacant seats. Elected were, Mrs. Amy Robinson, Bernard Chandler, Arnold Saunders, Craig Lawson Roy Manning, and Fred Martin. For the first time Killam has elected a lady to the Council, and the residents seemed to like the idea, as Mrs. Robinson topped the poll.

Sedgewick elected a five man council for the first time. While remaining a Village the last annual meeting passed the increase from the old three man board. Elected in Sedgewick were, Hedley Bailey, Norman Culbert, Erlin Lindquist, Art (Ace) Easely and Lyle Metz.

The town of Viking went out at the polls to elect Jim Cavenagh, Robert (Bud) Young and Lan Anderson to fill the three vacant seats.

Lougheed put a new councillor in office when Jim Aldridge captured a seat to fill the one vacancy.

The first meetings of the new councils were held on Monday, at which time the Mayors, where necessary, appointed, and the various committees set up to carry on the following year's business.

Harvesting Over For Another Year

Excellent progress in harvesting is reported from all areas of the Province this week. Warm weather and drying winds enabled farmers to put in long hours to bring wheat threshing up to 69 percent of completion compared to 15 percent one week ago. If the good weather continues, most harvest worries should be over for another season in about one week's time.

Most progress has been made in east central Alberta where 87 percent of the wheat has been combined and 89 percent of the barley. The Edmonton district also reports good headway with wheat harvesting ranging from 80 percent of completion in the immediate district to 76 percent in the north east corner of the province. Barley threshing in these areas is from 75 percent to 84 percent complete.

South eastern Alberta is also well along with most of the harvest out of the way. Over three quarters of the wheat has been threshed and practically all coarse grains are in the bin. In the Peace River area 68 percent of the wheat is threshed and 43 percent of the barley is combined.

Most central Alberta has been a little behind the rest of the Province. Fields have been slower to dry out and wheat threshing averages from 25 percent to 35 percent complete. In addition, week-end showers caused further delays. However, another ten days of good weather should see most of the harvesting done.

The Alberta Horticultural Guide, available from district agriculturists and the Extension Service of the provincial Department of Agriculture, provides home and farm gardeners with cultural and varietal information that is not more than two years old. This information is applicable to all climatic zones in the province.

FAREWELL GIFT—Mrs. Ivy Parsons, retiring agent for Alberta Government Telephones is presented with a gift from the Board of Trade and the people of Sedgewick at the Dial Telephone Citeic held last Thursday evening. Mrs. Parsons will be staying in Sedgewick where she will operate a telephone answering service.

U.S. Fighter Plane Crashes Near Bawlf

At about 11:00 a.m. last Sunday morning a United States Air National Guard, F-86 jet crashed in a wheat field west of the Village of Bawlf.

One of two jets on route from Alaska to Lincoln, Nebraska, the plane crashed shortly after its pilot, Maj Ralph Jones had ejected himself. The pilot landed safely about one mile from the crash site.

The plane had refueled at RCAF base Namao near Edmonton and was only some 20 minutes from there when the accident occurred.

Site of the crash was about two miles east of Bawlf and one mile south of highway 13.

When the aircraft hit the ground it created a hole about 12 or 15 feet deep and scattered parts of the plane over a fairly large area.

Dial Phone System Expands Coverage

A capacity crowd filled the large Community Hall at Sedgewick on Thursday evening for the Alberta Government Telephones Dial Conversion Clinic "Telephone".

AGT is converting all the towns along highway 13 to dial telephones and work has been completed or is going on in most of the communities. Strome was the first to be changed over when they started using their dials several months ago. Conversion day at Sedgewick was Saturday, October 16th. Killam will change late in November, while the other communities are scheduled for later in the winter.

The telephone company is investing over one-hundred thousand dollars in each of these towns, in order to carry out the installation of the dial telephone system.

For the conversion clinic AGT had on display working models of their various telephone equipment, also a few older models such as the first dial phone used in Canada.

The evening started with an address of welcome by Mayor Smith, following which Mr. Colvin Benjamin presented Mrs. Ivy Parsons, the local telephone agent, with a gift from the Board of Trade and the community at large. Mr. John Walker of the Telephone Co presented Mrs. Parsons with a certificate & a gift for the thirteen years she had served with AGT.

A telephone skit by the AGT employees got the clinic under way, after which it was explained how to properly dial a number. telephone manners. a thirty minute color movie, an explanation of the long distance system and the new rural phones. A quiz was held to help each person at the clinic rate hits or her effectiveness on the telephone.

Four lucky people were winners at a draw which entitled each one to make a free 3 minute phone call to any place in North America. Mr. Arthur Falls, Mr. John Kvill, Mrs. George Glassman and Mr. Ted Hiles were the winners.

GUEST ORGANIST AT UNITED CHURCH

SEDGEWICK—Mr. W. H. Millmaster of Edmonton, a Fellow of the Royal College of Organists, London, England, will be guest organist at Sedgewick United Church this Sunday, October 24th. Mr. Millman will play prior to the service, as well as for the hymns and the anthem.

St. Andrew's United Church, Lougheed, and Marvel United Church will cancel their services in order to attend the service at Sedgewick.

Members of other congregations, and of the community are cordially invited to attend this special service.

Rams Beat Wetaskiwin; Tied For First Place

Last Saturday afternoon the Central High Rams defeated the Wetaskiwin Sabres for the second time this year with a score of 34 to 8. The game, played in Wetaskiwin, held a large crowd of underlaying fans as they witnessed a spectacular display of football. The Central squad, despite the lack of practice due to harvesting, showed itself as a well-conditioned machine —as one coaching player put it, "They're really in shape". In the first quarter, the Rams monopolized the play as they started out the game passing. A fine catch by Davey Rombough established Ram supremacy early in the game by moving them deep into Sabre territory. The Central squad kept the ball under control and backed the opposition to their own ten yard line. A fine defensive manoeuver by John Pyra (a Ram who last summer made the Hawkins, Canada's Junior Football Champs, as defensive tackle) resulted in a blocked punt which he recovered for the Rams. This set the team for a touchdown and within a few plays, Larry Burden, went over for the major. The conversion attempt failed. In the same quarter, another blocked Sabre punt by the same, John Pyra, set the Rams up for another major. Halfback, Davey Davies, carried the ball for three successive times to get the first down and finally a touchdown. Once again, the line let place-kicker D. Rombough down and the conversion attempt failed.

In the second quarter, the Rams legged back defensively and offensively and yielded to a desperate Wetaskiwin squad. Davies, on an attempted off-tackle play was trapped in the end zone and the Sabres came up with 2 points. The Rams buckled down and held the score to 13-2 at half time. In the third quarter, the Rams continued their march. A fine interception by David Teston made possible a play that sent Ron Cookson up the middle for Central's third T.D. The conversion attempt was blocked.

Late in the third quarter, the Sabres got a pass away that moved them deep into Ram territory. The Wetaskiwin team continued to back the Rams up and within a very few plays, had run across a touchdown. No conversion was made.

By the fourth quarter, the Sabres were beginning to realize that they were a beaten team, and consequently offered little resistance to the Rams offence. Davies went over for the Rams fourth major and brought the final score to Rams 26, Sabres 8.

Although the Rams missed up their regular game and a great many passes which kept the opposition guessing the whole game, as the Rams are known for their short drives up the middle which is the pass they have been the basis of the offence.

The Rams very effective defence, which is held several a heavy line (averaging over 200 lb.) and an extremely fast and experienced backfield, held Wetaskiwin to a few brief drives. One example of this experience and outstanding ability can be shown by a compliment paid Ron Cookson by the Wetaskiwin coach who named him as the "best corner-linebacker in the league."

The victory was a real team effort and credit must go to the whole team, but a few players played an exceptional—part in the game. One of these was Davey Rombough, outstanding in all of the several positions he played throughout the game. John Pyra also played an excellent game both defensively and offensively. The Miller brothers, Jeff and Dallas, put on a great game as did Gary Swainson, breaking up a great many Wetaskiwin plays. Larry Burden played a great game at Q.B. and with the help of Danny Davies (speed is his middle name), moved the ball with authority. Gunnar John Pyra, John Muirhead, Bill Roggensack, Ron Cookson & Dave Rombough were the boys the whole game and a real team spirit.

It just goes to show that when this team is clicking, you can expect to see fine football. With three wins and still the first place in the league with Camrose Lutheran College, the Rams travel to Camrose this Saturday to play the College Vikings at 7:30 p.m.

"Independent, But Not Necessarily Neutral, In The Public Service"

Established on July 16th, Nineteen Hundred and Eight

What Is An Editorial!

An editorial is the expression of an opinion. That opinion may be expressed by the newspaper itself, by a syndicated columnist, a public figure or an average reader. Letters to the editor from readers are editorials.

The purpose of an editorial is to create discussion among readers and thus cause the reader to think through a situation or a subject and form his own opinion. In brief, then, the purpose of an editorial is to provoke thought.

Basically a news story is an account of something, while an editorial is an opinion on something. The news story tells factually only what happened. The editorial interprets and evaluates what happened.

We have been asked on occasion if editorials are necessary. Well, they are necessary if a newspaper is to play the key role of protecting the rights of people. Editorials can serve as the source of jelling public reaction to injstice and lead in the bringing about of changes. Editorials are the voice of freedom and a check against abridgment of individual freedom. Often it is an editorial which causes extra government delay and care. It causes public officials to use caution, to deliberate, hold public hearings and to change their courses. Editorials serve as a check on government and by so doings increase freedom of individuals by decreasing or delaying the power of government.

In earlier times, newspapers expressed, in editorials, opposition to government measures which were felt to be unjust. When the crown attempted to outlaw editorials, the people demanded the press remain free because they saw a free press as the guardian of liberty. When the Bill of Rights was written, a free press was guaranteed, as a means of protecting the people's freedom.

Editorials, by provoking people to think, influence politics. Editorials, in themselves tend to have little or no effect on the outcome of political campaigns, however. The fact that a newspaper endorses editorially a candidate or party, does not mean the readers so vote. The influence of editorials comes in causing people to form their own opinions and vote their choice. Editorials often cause a greater number of people to vote, and whenever the electorate is broadened, liberty is served.

The Question They All Avoid!

(Guest Editorial from the Ponoka Herald)

We wish that at least one of the national parties in the current federal election campaign would get down to the question of what, if anything, they propose to do about the rising cost of living. So far, all parties seem to be silent on this matter which has become a major problem for every person in Canada. It was not so many years ago that a small and thrifty family could get by with a ten dollar bill at the grocery store each week. Then the same family had to have a twenty dollar bill each week. Now that family can barely live on thirty dollars per week at the store. Furthermore there is no end in sight for these rising costs.

Hardly a week goes by that does not bring news of some union winning another pay increase with more fringe benefits. Industry after industry announces that it must increase the price of its products. Transportation costs keep creeping up. Taxes keep climbing, insurance rates advance and clothing prices are soaring — seemingly as high as the girls' skirts this fall. There is every indication that we are in a cost of living spiral whose speed is steadily increasing. Organized labour, government employees, professional people and one or two other fortunate categories are able to meet the rising cost of living by getting more pay for their services. But what about those who have no compulsory means to force higher wages?

Such people are pensioners, living on investments too meagre to yield the extra money needed and those employed by small firms that are also being compressed by the increasing prices squeeze. Such categories a large part of the Canadian population. You can add farmers to this group too, although many will contend that the farmer has some chance as a result of higher prices for some of his products. If farmers do get any increase in the price of what they sell, such an increase comes long after the prices of what he has to buy have taken off into orbit.

Since the last world war, political economists seem to have resigned themselves to these rising prices. None has advanced any promising suggestion of what might be done to keep the cost of living and income on an equitable basis. This, we suggest, is perhaps the basic problem in Canada today. It is certainly the one problem that millions of Canadians are most concerned with. We do not presume to have any solution to this headache, but we think that it is a question that can not be ignored by all political parties in a national election campaign.

The editor of this paper has one solution for part of the problem as stated above by the Ponoka Herald. It is this. Let's have some political leader in the federal field say: Whoa, we've gone far enough for the time being in spending on welfare and associated areas; to stop telling us that we're demanding these things; to stop competing to see who can promise and give the most.. Stop using our dollar to promote votes.

The Campaign and the Candidates

CRIME and POLITICS

When final nominations for the Nov. 8 election close next Monday, the 1065 candidates will save in on what may be the only popular issue of the campaign — honesty in government.

Whistle stopping through the province last week, Mr. Diefenbaker gave voters a "solemn pledge" that if elected, he will stamp out the rotten era of big Mac, and the corruption of officials in Canadian public life.

The issue was made even more sensitive by the fact that during the past years, all the revelations and charge of corruption have had their here in Quebec and have involved the French-Canadian names.

This has been acutely embarrassing to Prime Minister Pearson because the Liberals have already been under fire for "giving in" to Quebec on such matters as the flag, billingualism and special treatment for the province in federal-provincial relations.

The grisly disclosure that up to 12 people may have been murdered in Quebec came in the wake of a long list of embarrassments for the Liberal Government.

The issue of honesty in government broke a year ago when Tory Erik Nielsen of the Yukon arose in the House of Commons to charge that Liberal Party workers were involved in attempts to gain freedom for international narcotics suspect Lucien Rivard.

At first heatedly denied, Nielsen's charges were borne out by an inquiry conducted by the Quebec justice Noel Dorion. The Dorion probe found that Raymond Denuis, executive assistant to former immigration minister Rene Tremblay, had offered a $20,000 bribe to a prosecution lawyer in a bid to get bail for Rivard.

Quebec Liberal Jean Marchand, for Montreal Dollard and former parliamentary assistant to Mr. Pearson had comitted a "reasonable act" in trying to use his influence on Rivard's behalf.

The upshot was the transfer of Justice Minister Favreau to the post of president of the privy council, and his replacement by Mr. Tremblay.

But there were other embarrassments for the government. Yvon Dupuis, minister without portfolio, was kicked out of the cabinet when he was charged with accepting a bribe to promote a race track franchise near St. John's, Quebec.

Finally, both Sixte Secretary Maurice Lamontagne and Mr Tremblay admitted taking delivery of furniture from a company that later went into bankruptcy. And they had not paid for the furniture until asked to do so by the Bank of Montreal after the bankruptcy.

A key figure in one of the bankruptcy scandals—in which firms would buy goods on credit sell them and then go bankrupt without paying their bills — is Moise Darabaner, charged with fraud, arson and conspiracy.

It was Darabaner who acted as notary to the signed statements of six Quebec Social Credit men that they would support him Pearson following the 1962 election. As a result, the Liberals were enabled to re form the government.

Mr. Diefenbaker demanded that federal authorities open up all files on the bankruptcies with freedom to talk about them on the hustings.

As embarrassing as the scandal be is the government Quebec observers know the bankruptcy racket has been going on for years and, in fact, the first of the killings unsolved recently occurred in 1956. And many of the aliens involved in other crimes when Mr. Diefenbaker accused his government of laying out "the welcome mat" for, were admitted to Canada during the Diefenbaker years.

Neutral observers see the current attack on crime as the consequence of a determined effort by the Quebec provincial government to wipe out a crime syndicate which fastened its tentacles on the province during the years of the corrupt Duplessis government. How the voters across Canada will judge the matter remains to be seen.

"LOVE ME, LOVE MY DOG"

* MACDUFF REPORT

On Target . . .

OTTAWA— Last January the Economic Council of Canada published its first annual report or survey entitled "Economic Goals for Canada to 1970". Today, in preparation for its second report, expected before the end of the year, the ECC staff if busily engaged checking on what has happened up to the end of 1965. Figures will be preliminary but indicative and it is almost every field the news is good. Canadians have been hitting right on target.

One exception that is giving the Economic Council some concern is productivity. With employment increasing and unemployment dropping quite satisfactorily Canada's output per man and output per man-hour is lagging behind the necessary yearly targets if the 1970 objectives are to be reached. Between 1956 and 1963 the Council study shows a yearly average rate of increase of one per cent in output per man and two per cent in output per man-hour. The council said this had to be accelerated to 2.4 per cent and three per cent respectively.

A superficial glance at the performance for 1964 based on Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures has led to reports that at this apex of all economic activity Canadians had achieved the target. In fact they were slightly under and on the results available for six months of this year it seems likely that they will be lagging still further in 1965. If this is so, the fact that Canada is reaching or in some cases outpacing the pattern set by the Economic Council could be disastrously misleading. We could, in other words, be heeding into an inflation which before 1970 would wipe out all thegains that seem wipe out all the gains that seem This gives new urgency to the Economic Council's recommendation for a shake up in the Federal Labour Department and a new labour market policy which would determine real demand and supply of labour, coordinate training programmes and relate them more realistically to needs. Diverce of the National Employment Service from the Unemployment Insurance Commission was a wise move; its absorption in a department which, in the opinion of the Council, has failed to provide effective leadership may be unwise. A manpower consultative service has been in existence for nearly a year but seems to be going nowhere fast.

What obviously is needed today in Ottawa is a National Employment Service as the ECC visualized it answerable only to the Minister of Labour and co-ordinating all those programmes under a high priced dynamic executive capable of getting the programe off the ground.

"The national economic loss from restrictive use of manpower resources", the ECC report stated in January, "can be just as great as the economic loss arising from unemployment. Equally important, when there is a mismatching of the supply of and demand for labour in an economy operating at a high level of demand, inflationary pressures inevitably arise."

And Canada's economy at the moment is operating at a high level of demand and is likely to continue to do so for another 12 months at least. Its most major fields it is running ahead of the pace set by ECC projections to 1970. The Economic Council called for an average annual increase in gross national product of 5.5. per cent in real terms. The increase between 1961 and 1964 after allowing for price increases was nearly 6.5 per cent. In the second quarter of this year it was running at an annual rate of $39.9 billion or 9.1 per cent above 1964. Allowing for a somewhat greater price rise would mean an increase above 1964 of 6.4 per cent in volume and the third quarter, when figures are released is likely to make an even better showing. Consumer spending, the Economic Council said, should increase at an average annual rate of 5.1 per cent. For the first half of 1965 the rate was 6.9 per cent. An increase in employment of 2.1 per cent per yr is called for it Canada is to achieve the goal of an unemployment rate 3 per cent of the labour force by 1970. The Council admitted here that it was setting its sights high but in August the seasonally adjusted rate was down to 4 per cent and there was a year-to-year increase in employment of 4.1 per cent. In each of the last eight months employment has increased by 3.5 per cent or better.

Exports for the first half of the year were admittedly well below the 5.3 per cent target increase set but the reason was obvious. The first Russian wheat bonanza ran out in July 1964 with the result that a comparison between the first half of 1964 and the first half of 1965 showed only a fractional increase in overall exports. If wheat exports are deleted from both years the increase is seven per cent. With the new Russian wheat deliveries this Fall pushing up the export figure for the balance of the year the target might still be achieved without eliminating the wheat movement.

But the Economic Council was more ambitious in setting a target for the increase in exports of fully manufactured goods. It called for a 10 per cent yearly increase. Between 1961 and 1964 exports of manufactured goods, however, only increased in dollar value by 34 per cent and the increase between the firs third of 1964 and 1965 is 38 per cent.

CAR AGREEMENT CREATES JOBS

Canadians have been keeping discreetly quiet on post weeks while the bill to implement the Canada-U.S .automobile agreement made its tortuous way through Congress. Anything which suggested that the agreement was proving beneficial to Canada was ammunition for American opponents Now that it is ready for the Presidential signature it can be disclosed that more than 40 Canadian manufacturers of auto parts are planning expansion programmes, most of them subsidiaries of American companies. There will be 20 new branch plants in Ontario alone.

Also we see two men hopping around Killam on crutches. They are Sid James and Len Dutton. Glad to hear they were not seriously hurt.

With good weather this week should wind up the harvesting. The weather has been good, yield good, grade good, but prospects for disposal, not so good.

October meeting of the Killam CWL was held and sixteen new members were added to the roll.

Memory Lane

(By Mrs. F. M. Caslion, Hardisty, Alberta)

VIM, VIGOR AND VITALITY

I was secretly amused recently at the trend the general conversation took at a gathering of some women in our little town. These ages varied, from around twenty-five to possibly sixty.

You you have guessed rightly—DIETS. I am all for a person going on a diet on Doctor's orders—to over-come an illness. Also, when a woman (Or man) is an uncomfortably stout that it imperils his or her health THEN— have your doctor give you a diet-sheet—and stick to it rigidly. If you don't follow it—don't blame your Doctor. It needs a tremendous amount of will-power sometimes, to refuse a thick steak, or a luscious piece of chocolate cake, or pie—but with a little "Patience and perseverance wins the race"—and it will pay off with a longer, healthier old age.

When I was young, a girl who was quite thin, (Especially one who was extremely so)—she was considered SICKLY, warranting the sympathy of the whole community. At that time, too, when a young man started to think of a girl friend—he didn't waste time on one who resembled a "Bean-pole" or a "Broom handle"—absolutely NOT—he sought out the girl with a "Pleasingly plump" figure—NOT excessively FAT, but well-rounded out. Frankly, I think he figured that type of a girl was the healthy sort—and, usually, he was right.

The words—"Calories" or "Vitamins" —"Calories" were not on our vocabulary in those days. We ate what we LIKED and TOO sparingly—of the good seasonable foods of that age. Possibly, because of the seasonal labour of which we all had a part—helped to burn up our energy, with no labour-saving devices and "instant" everything—it was NECESSARY for the women and young girls to "Tie in" and WORK.

Some folks held to the idea that cigarette-smoking helps to keep that much-longed for "Girlish figure" an theory that it reduces the appetite. Of course that is a matter of personal opinion, but frankly, I believe the good old-fashioned work like pumping down the old-fashioned pump—churning with one of those old-time "Dash-churns"—scrubbing bare boards—rubbing, somehow, two or three rollers each day to fetch up the cows from the pasture, then doing the milking, separating and feeding the calves—just to mention a few jobs. THAT, my friends, was the best—and, I might add, the only known weight reducing remedy known at that time.

I am aware that the above methods of accomplishing one's work now-a-days is definitely outmoded—and progress has advanced to the place where a woman can truly "be a Lady" in her own home.

I would be the last person to condemn any woman for doing her work the EASY way—good luck to her. By so doing—she has more time for her family, Church etc. But how many of us utilize that time to, say—read Bible—be "instant" everything—it was NECESSARY for the women and young girls to "Tie in" and WORK.

ENJOY LIFE DAY BY DAY!

Time is fast fleeting—yesterday cannot be re-called—tomorrow may never come—so let us—we may not treasure each day as it is given to us. Fresh and un-sullied? I remember having to memorize the following verses years ago—and I've never forgotten it—"Lost—somewhere between sun-rise and sunset—two golden hours, each set with sixty diamond minutes. No reward is offered, for they are gone forever" This is slightly off the subject,—however, it IS a good thought.

So back to the original subject. Instead of spending time, thought and money on diets, (And almost invariably failing to stick to them) let everyone of us, (Yes, me, unless, of course otherwise advised by your Doctor—and ten that space is for your name) adopt these fantastic folks happy.

Whether you are thin, fat, or just "pleasingly plump"—remember—THE HEALTHIER YOU ARE, THE HAPPIER YOU ARE, and, after all Happiness is contagious.

TIPS FOR HAPPY HUNTING

It's no use. I just can't hold out any longer. Its that time of year again. And what would you do if from all across the land, thousands of letters were pouring in from ancient wives, imploring you to repeat your amazing Holiday Tips?

Hundreds of women today owe a happy widowhood and a merry gaunt happy remarriage to Smiley's Hunting Safety Tips.

But it's not just the women who used the tips I reprinted. Many a veteran hunter has written to tell me that he owes his life to a couple of them. Here's one such testimonial.

"Dear Smiley; I owe my life to a careful perusal of your Hunting Tips. Last Fall, I was back in the bush. For the first two days and nights, I didn't worry, because I'd done everything in the standard manual. I didn't panic. I changed my socks, as the biggest. I looked at my compass and my watch regularly, which told me I was lost and what time it was.

"But as night drew down for the third time, I became discouraged. I thought of my wife and kiddies. Yes, that's how discouraged I was. Suddenly I remembered your suggestion about the matches. You had told us, if lost, to paste the ball, run wildly through the woods in circles, shout at the tops of the lungs, pray like an archbishop, fire the rifle madly, and if all else failed, set fire to the bush. I tried it and it worked. I was rescued within 15 minutes. I finish my term for arson this month, and am looking forward to meeting you in the woods. Yours, Veteran Hunter."

That gave you an idea of how impractical the ordinary hunting rules are, and how down-to-earth and useful mine are. Right here in there yet, changing his socks and gawking at his compass.

Well, let's get on with the Tips. Instead of waiting for you to ask On one-thing, I am in full agreement with the old-fashioned safety rules. It's the one safe way. Whoever mix gunpowder with alcohol." Ever taste it? Ugh! The reason for that rule is that some hunters will drink anything.

Never shoot at a partridge that resembles your mother-in-law. Remember, even if it's sitting in a tree. He may have a perfectly good reason for doing what he does.

It is considered unsporting to shoot tractors while the farmer is riding on them. And, of course, it is considered dangerous to shoot at farmers They have a nasty habit of shooting back, and are crack shots.

It is bad form to decoy your own ducks, especially using decoys from a boat. Let the dog go after that duck. If you have no dog, forget about the duck. It is extremely unnerving to see other sports men to see you frogging it through the marsh, baby duck, with a duck in your mouth.

Always carry a few hand-grenades along from your belt. They come in handy at times. Let the dog go after a barbed-wire fence you can't get over, under, or through Never take a chance when you spot a fellow game hunter you have mistaken That rabbit may be playing possum. You can avoid a nasty fight right on the hunting spot if you pump about five more shots into him.

If you hear something that sounds like the snarling cough of a lion, don't shoot. It's probably your hunting partner enjoying his first cigaret of the day.

Never hand a gun muzzle first or into a boat with the muzzle pointing toward yourself. Always make sure it's pointing at the other fellow.

Do learn to operate your telephone. It's dangerous. Keep in the field, to have a deer walk over and lick your face while you're struggling with it. And it's annoying, at the inquest, when you have to admit you don't know when it's on, and when it's off.

Just a few simple rules to take the tedium out of plodding about in a swamp with a dirty great musket. Good hunting, chaps.

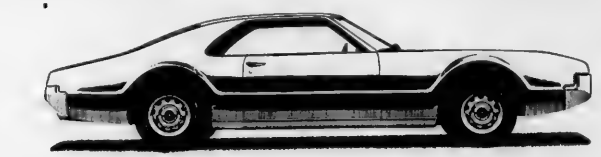
A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE



This is the Oldsmobile Toronado and you've never, ever, seen anything, anywhere, nearly as new-honestly!

Cutlass Holiday Coupe

These are some of the other new Oldsmobiles for 1966 ...they're luxurious, elegant, exciting, powerful, appealing. And all those things.

Dynamic 88 Holiday Coupe

They're new. You don't know them yet. But they bring you the best possible reference. They're all Oldsmobiles. Which is to say that they're extra-special. Extra-powerful, extra-luxurious, extra-smooth. Improved Rocket engines, teamed with smooth Turbo Hydra-Matic transmissions, are available on all full-sized Oldsmobiles. They offer you new interiors, new style seats and carpeting. And you can get familiar Olds luxuries like air conditioning or totally new features like Automatic Level Control that lets you load 550 pounds of load into the trunk and still ride the way you did empty.

Including, and this is a real revolution, if we do say so ourselves, including today's only full-size, front-wheel-drive car, The Toronado. There's never, ever, been one like the Toronado. A 425-cubic-inch Toronado engine pours the power through a re-designed Turbo Hydra-Matic Drive, right to the front wheels. Toronado performs and steers and holds the road like nothing you ever tried before. It's an Oldsmobile. You'll pick out the lonely likeness right away. We hope you'll take the time to come in and see the new Oldsmobiles, soon.

They're very nice cars and very, very new.

Linda Meakins Married At Bethania Church

The Bethania Lutheran Church was decorated with bouquets of mixed flowers and pastel colored gladiolas for the marriage of Linda Doreen daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Meakins of Kinsella and Edward Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Djos of Sedgewick on Friday Sept. 10 at 2:00 p.m.

The Rev R. J. Christopherson performed the double ring ceremony.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of "The Wedding March" from Lohengrin, played by Mrs. Rolf Jacobson. She was radiantly lovely in her floor length gown of nylon sheer over taffeta. Styled with long lily point sleeves. The fern-fitted bodice was embroidered with seed pearls. The brides finger tip of illusion net was held in place by a Swedish Crown. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and her jewelry was a pearl necklace a gift of the groom.

The matron of honour was Margaret Lancaster friend of the bride and bride and bridesmaid was Mrs. W. Lewis sister of the groom. They were identical street length gowns of powder blue nylon chiffon, high round neckline, short sleeves and ball shaped skirts and matching set and velvet bandpieces. They carried cascade bouquets of yellow and white mums.

The Bells flower girl Patsy Kortzman cousin of the bride wore a white organza dress over net. Her head piece of dainty red roses matched her basket.

The ring bearer was the brides brother Robbie Meakins.

The groom was attended by John Lee, Elmer Jacobson and Wilfred Jacobson. The guests were ushered to the pews by Ted and Dale Djos brothers of the groom Mrs. A. J. Severson was soloist singing "O Perfect Love" and "O' Father ALL CREATING". Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlour. The brides mother wore a pink 2 piece bouclé suit with pink and white accessories.

Her corsages was white tea roses. The groom's mother wore a beige figured jersey dress with beige and brown accessories. Her corsages was yellow tea roses. A beautiful three tiered wedding cake baked and decorated by Kobbero's Bakery graced the brides table. Master of ceremonies was Lester Severson. The inbed prayer was said by Rev. A. J. Severson.

Musical numbers were a duet by Mr. and Mrs. Rolf Jacobson and two accordian solos by Judy Blaskie.

Mr. Jack Simmons very ably proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom responded.

Miss Judy Meakins was in charge of the guest book. Mrs. Clifford Hammer was in charge of gift display.

For their wedding trip to Banff Jasper and various points in Southern Alberta, the bride wore a true blue suit with white accessories and a corsage of yellow tea roses. Upon their return they will reside in Killam where both are employed.

Guests were present from, Edmonton, Lindbrook, Trofield, Bruce Viking, Kinsella, Irma, Alder Flats, Killam, Sedgewick, and Kindersley, Sask.

GAS EXPORT TO HELP EXPLORATION

CALGARY — Additional natural gas export to California will stimulate further exploration for gas in Canada, it was predicted here today by S. Robert Blair, vice president and manager of Alberta and Southern Gas Co. Ltd.

The government announced in Ottawa that it will license export by Alberta and Southern of an additional 207 million cubic feet of gas a day averages for delivery in Pacific Gas and Electric Company, the distributor in northern California.

"With its approval of this new export license, the Canadian government has concluded that adequate supplies of natural gas exist for the future foreseeable requirements of Canadian consumers, and that a further surplus is available for export," Mr Blair said.

"We are hopeful that the evidence of growing markets will stimulate additional exploratory activity in Canadian gas areas so that the producers will accelerate the drilling programs for new gas fields."

"The approval of this additional export also will reinforce Alberta's and Canada's position as a major supplier of energy to California," the Alberta and Southern manager said.

Gas deliveries under the new license to be issued Alberta and Southern Gas Co. Ltd. by the National Energy Board are scheduled to begin late in 1968. Exports of half of the 207 million cubic feet per day will start then and half will start in 1967. Licenses still must be granted by the U.S. Federal Power Commission to Pacific Gas Transmission Company for importation of the gas and installation of new compressor units in the U.S. northwest.

Pacific Gas Transmission owns and operates the Idaho—Washington—Oregon section of the 1,400—mile Alberta—California pipeline system. The Federal Power Commission has set September 15 for public hearings in Washington, D.C. on the PGT applications.

SEDGEWICK UNITED LADIES

SEDGEWICK—The ladies of the United Church U.C.W. met at the Manse on Tuesday, October 5th. Following the opening by the president, minute of silence was observed in memory of Mrs. Wallace Clarke. Mrs. H. W. Smith was in charge of the worship, the theme of which was Thanksgiving.

Correspondence dealt with included letters from Rob. Jn. Alberta Mental Institute and Flagstaff Lodge Auxiliary. During the business meeting reports were given by the committees Mrs. Gellen reported on the Grad banquet, and also that a gift from the UCW had been presented to Miss April Easterby who is still a patient in the University Hospital.

At the November meeting the roll call will be responded to by and non-laiver Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chapman at Amisk. Ten dollars will be sent as a Christmas gift to the UCW Korean Foster Child Bok Ja. The ladies agreed to support the Flagstaff Lodge Tea and Bazaar by contributing articles.

After the Benediction lunch was served and a social hall hour enjoyed.

POLITICAL PERSUASION. There are times when a politician must fall on his knees to plead! External Affairs Minister Paul Martin wanted to give this young miss a kiss at a Liberal nominating convention in Ontario's Peel riding, but the little lady repulsed his advances. Finally permission was put to bear, until the reluctant Anna Lisa Weir consented to a kiss.

Daysland Council Regular Meeting

The regular monthly Council Meeting of the town of Daysland was held on Oct. 4th in the Town Office.

Six Councillors were present with Mayor Pryor presiding.

Mr. E Skagestad was present to report on the progress of the water construction and the sewer lagoon.

Building Permits: Mr. John Roscoe applied for a building permit to Build a bus garage 34 X 28 on lot 16, Block 11, Plan 55. It was moved that his application be accepted. It was further decied that this being a residential district Mr. Roscoe should not be permitted to install gasoline pumps at his garage because of fire hazard.

Correspondence received was from Mr. Vreeds of the East Central Health Unit, Workmens Compensation re-Mr Ross Brown and a letter from Flagstaff Lodge in Sedgewick. Northern Alberta Dairy Pool enquired if they would be liable for payment of water service charges should they lead the water home into their plant yet not use water for the time being. Council instructed the secretary to answer N.A.D.P. that water would be metered on commercial hook ups whenever they decided to use it.

It was moved that Svobods Brothers be persuaded to connect sewer tile from their steering rack to the sewer main to drain water. This tile to be placed in the same trench as the water line. Svobods Brothers to pay for the tile. Sewer service charge for Svobods Garage to remain the same.

It was moved that Mr. Skagestad of Municipal Engineering Services be informed where there is no existing sewer service line from the Main to the property line on Main Street. Council would like sewer tile layed in the same trench with the water pipe, to the property line. Mr. Skagestad to enquire from the contractor if this can be done and what the extra charge would be.

Mayor Pryor and Cr. Wirth volunteered to attend the E.M.O. Meeting in Sedgewick on October 7th in the place of Mr. D. Weld.

Weekly Devotional

In these fast moving days old standards and beliefs are being replaced by new ones. In many fields of thought old philosophies are giving way to modern ones. This may be good in many of the sciences, but in the Christian religion, I believe it is bad. God, the Bible, and the Church have come in for some radical handling at the hands of free-thinkers.

In navigation the bearings are taken daily from fixed points. With chart and compass and the fixed points the vast expanse of ocean is not bewildering to the captain; but without these he is really at sea.

In the voyage of life we need fixed points by which we may be guided, and I believe they have been given us by God. The first of these is God Himself, eternal, omnipotent and in complete control of the universe. He doesn't fear any coup from rebellious men who refuse His gracious reign by law, nor a morality and standard not in keeping with His Person and holiness. In the second Psalm God's answer to this rebellion is a laugh. The fundamental attribute of the God of the Bible is LOVE.

The second of these fixed points is the Bible. Psalm 119:89 says, "Forever O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven"; and I believe it word be wisdom on our part to settle on it here. The prophets of old had a, "Thus saith the Lord", for their message, but the best we can come up with is, "I think so", or "It seems to me". The Apostles and early church fathers didn't question the Bible; they preached it. Many are blessing the Bible for brotherhood when they should be taking a look inwardly for the troubles.

The third of these fixed points is the Church. Jesus said that the gates of hell would not prevail against the Church. Her continuance here will last as long as her Founder desires. The Church bears intimacy to God and His Word, and as long as she does she continues to be a fixed point to guide travellers from the city of destruction. — Rev. A. Grymalesky of Killam Baptist Church.

Bible Society Films Shown At Amisk

AMISK— On Monday evening, October 4, the Rev. A. S. Wood, General Secretary of the Canadian Bible Society from Calgary, showed two films in the United Church at Amisk to a very interested audience. The film THIS IS THE VISION presented in a very clear way that the Bible has a message for this very modern age in which we live. Man is more and more disillusioned in spite of his many achievements, and in the Word of God can find that which brings rest, peace, comfort and salvation to his soul The second film, FREEDOM IN THEIR SOULS was filmed in Africa and showed the audience the Bible Society at work translating, producing and distributing the Scriptures to the people. Also very noticeable was the joy with which the copies of Scriptures were received.

The Canadian Bible Society is one of the world's Bible Societies engaged in the world-wide distribution of the Holy Scriptures. Opportunities for their further distribution are increasing what with the rapid increase in the numbers of people learning to read. Mr. Wood stated in a brief address that some 2000 adults an hour are learning to read and that the Christian Church is concerned about what they are reading. The circulation of Scriptures and other Christian literature lags greatly. The Bible Societies have no desire to see the distribution of 10 million copies annually by the end of 1966. This can only be achieved with the assistance of every interested person. The production of the Holy Bible must be financed by the churches of the affluent nations, as the people in the newly independent countries are not able to do this themselves. This work has to be subsidized. The Bible Society's work is wholly dependent on the voluntary contributions of all interested persons.

DO YOU KNOW!

1. THAT as of December 31, 1961 the aggregate net funded indebtedness of all levels of government in Canada stood at $8.7 billion dollars. The per capita share of this debt is $1,700.00?
2. THAT our present "debt-creating" governments never pay their accounts when due and are thus mortgaging the lives of the unborn generation yet to come?
3. THAT the fiscal policy of Social Credit would be the progressive transfer from Private Finance to the Bank of Canada the national debt and its monthly and ultimate liquidation?
4. THAT under a Social Credit government the production of goods and services remain private enterprise and the people would control the monetary system rather than money controlling production as it does today?

A. P. Crop Report

GENERAL— Some showers occurred during the week, mainly in the vicinity of Calgary and in the Peace River District, shorting operations in those areas for a day or two. Otherwise the weather in Alberta has remained favorable and very good progress have been made with harvesting. The amount of grain that has been combined now stands at: Wheat 75%, Oats and Barley 85%, Flax 55%. The pattern of harvesting is fairly uniform throughout the Province, with few widely separated stations reporting harvesting is completed and many others expecting operations to be completed with another week of dry weather.

FIFTH OF A SERIES ON MONEY MANAGEMENT

If you have been reading this column the past few weeks, possibly you might be like some people, ready to throw the whole batch of figures out the window. Or you'll be hiding away and pretending there is no way out. But if you are like thousands of others, you'll sharpen your pencil and put those figures to work, to make your money management plan a success.

Now you may have to step and rethink to make your spending plan balance. It may take a lot of juggling before you work out the best money management plan for your family. But remember, you can have a good time while you are learning to manage your money. There is great satisfaction in working toward a definite goal.

Here are some ways to keep your plan running smoothly: (condensed from Household Finance Corporation booklet "Your Budget")

1. Elect a family treasurer who will pay the bills, set aside funds for future expenses, keep income from running off in all directions. The wife may be the logical family treasurer. She is in constant touch with the needs and desires of the family. She also knows what money is available, she can weigh values and tell how much and where to economize. She can devote time and thought to keeping the records and paying the bills.

2. Develop a definite system for keeping money until it is needed.

You may decide to keep money for day-to-day living cash in a special place until you are ready to use it. Envelopes, boxes or purses may be used for the economy set aside for "food", "laundry", "utilities" and other necessities.

A savings account is a safe place for money which is set aside for future bills and for wishes. The balance becomes a record of progress toward buying that winter coat, that new car, that insurance premium.

A checking account is convenient not only as an easy way of paying bills but because cancelled checks are legal receipts of payment. There is sometimes a service charge based on the number of checks written each month and the size of the balance maintained. You must decide whether convenience offsets the cost.

3. It saves time and searching when all of your money management information is in one place. A desk or table in your kitchen, or other convenient spot in the house, can be a place to plan and keep things together.

Very simple files can keep things in order You may like to use a series of folders or long envelopes arranged alphabetically or according to your own system.

Some things you may need in your "home office" are:

YOUR BUDGET booklet, A file for receipted bills and cancelled cheques. A file for current unpaid bills; Bank statements; Cheque book, pass book; Savings account book.

If you want to keep more complete records than you will have in your file of cancelled cheques and receipted bills, supplement your budget booklet with an inexpensive ledger or notebook from the dime store. However, detailed bookkeeping is not a necessary part of budgeting.

4. A safety deposit box is the safest place for insurance policies and valuable papers If kept in the home store them in a fireproof container.

Family members who take part in planning for spending will soon make good suggestions for controlling funds. Once started, you will discover that the most exciting business in the world is your own business—the business of making your dollars buy what you want them to buy and making your wishes come true

NEXT WEEK "Your Home Furnishings Dollar"

Introducing the tuned car. 1966 Buick.

What makes a car a car is styling, performance, braking and ride and handling. Only when they're all tuned together is the car a Buick.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

Buick Wildcat 4-Door Hardtop

We tuned the 1966 Buick. Not just the engine, but the whole car. We tuned all the elements. Like you would the instruments in an orchestra. And just as the tuned orchestra gives the effect of one-ness, the tuned car says blended perfection from bumper to bumper and road-line to roof-line.

Tuned Performance. We tuned Buick performance. Not just by increasing the efficiency of the six Buick engines, but by tuning everything that translates this power into activity. The transmission, the full coil suspension, the balanced drive-shaft, the brakes. All working together. All tuned.

Tuned Ride. We tuned the traditional Buick ride. And came up with something truly unique. Boulevard comfort with enough road-feel to let you know you're in charge. Then we added extra jolt-cushioning rubber to places that get a lot of pounding. The result is a very special kind of ride. A tuned ride.

Tuned Styling. We even tuned the way Buick looks. Possible? Look at any one of the Buicks. Every sweeping line and gentle curve suggests motion. Inside and out, the car has been designed to move. And to say so. Quietly. But emphatically. That's tuned styling.

Drive the 1966 Buick. Riviera, Electra 225, Wildcat, LeSabre, Skylark or Special Deluxe. They're all Buicks. All tuned cars. All tuned to you. Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

Be sure to watch "Telescope", "The Fugitive" and "The Red Skelton Hour" now showing on television. Check local listings for time and channel.

GREEN ACRES

A COMMENDABLE JOB!

Alberta's 55 agricultural service boards are doing a very commendable job in this province, according to W. Lobey, Supervisor of Soils and Weed Control. Mr. Lobey was very impressed with what he saw on a number of service board tours earlier in the season. The projects included trials of new and promising herbicides, fertilizer demonstrations, community pasture development, shelterbelt plantings, brush spraying operations & the management of land taken under supervision or reclaimed because of weed and soil problems.

Although some of the projects are being carried out on a small scale because of limited funds and personnel, Mr. Lobey feels that they play an important part in pointing out to farmers "how, when, why and where" certain activities must be undertaken by landowners as part of the privilege of owning land.

As a result of weed control promotion of service boards, about 85 percent of last year's cereal crops were treated with 2,4-D and related compounds. This year's figure is expected to be about the same. In the same period last year about 40,000 pounds of soil sterilants were applied to weed patches and approximately 3000 miles of roadsides were back-sloped and seeded to recommended grass mixtures to prevent erosion and weed growth.

During this past summer, about 3000 notices to destroy weeds were served to landowners and smoking was prohibited on about 25,000 acres because of heavy perennial weed infestations.

The ARDA Land Reclamation Project is another program which has been undertaken by service boards. Most municipalities are doing some work on a limited scale in co-operation with farmers concerned in problem land damaged by wind and water so seriously infested by perennial weeds.

In addition to the above, Alberta service boards are involved in pest control and brucellosis programs. They are also responsible for a great many regulatory duties and for making recommendations to the council on agricultural matters.

Service boards are made up of two councillors, two farmers and the D. A. in the area. This committee facilitates understanding and team work between the provincial Dept. of Ag., the Municipality and the farmers.

STUDY CAREER ASPIRATION OF STUDENTS

Commencing this month, an intensive study will be made of the career aspirations and plans of some 150,000 students attending 600 representative secondary schools throughout the 10 provinces. Conducted by the Department of Labour in co-operation with the provincial departments of education, this is the first such study to be made on a Canada-wide basis. Its aim is to provide a much fuller understanding of the profound transition in young people's lives as they move from school into the working world. The study primarily will examine the important influence of the school system on the choice of lifetime careers by young people. A follow-up study later will examine how these original career plans compare with actual experience in the working world.

How Vnvsval

By Bert Odland

Ever read the inscriptions carved in marble on the facade of pulic buildings?

Some of the older ones are very interesting. Especially the ones that use V in place of a U . . . as in MVSEVM or PVBLIC LIBRARY.

Can't tell you why they do it. (Not that it's a secret, but because I just don't know.) Regardless, it's fun to speculate what a conversation would be like if we used kind of spelling in our everyday language. This would be a typical conversation at my place of business as a customer comes in:

"May I help you, sir?"

"Yes, my furnace has been acting up. Thought I'd see what's now in heating."

"How old is your furnace?"

"Just as old as the horse. Sixteen years."

"Well," I say, "furnaces and heating systems have improved a lot in that length of time. Chances are you'd be wise to consider a new one rather than tinkering up the old one.

"And another thing," I add, "while the cost of most things has gone up, the cost of heating has actually gone down. In fact, you can now get a control heating and air conditioning system by Lennox for what a heating system alone cost you a few years ago!"

"How wonderful!" he says reaching for his wallet.

"Yes, it is unusual," I tell him. "But not when you stop to consider the Lennox reputation for leadership in product development. I'll be out to measure yerre havve for a custom-built comfort system Tvesday." (Which happened to be that very afternoon.)

Presbyterian Ladies To Hold Church Supper

KILLAM—The October meeting of the Presbyterian Ladies Association met at the home to Mrs. Joseph Grant with 10 members and two visitors present.

The Devotional period, under the direction of Mrs. A. P. Grant and Mrs. Geo. McCabe, opened with singing hymn 491 followed by prayer led by Rev. James Perrie. The Scripture reading was taken from Psalms 136 and was read in alternate verses. Mrs. McCabe gave an interesting mission study on the work done at the Mary Slessor Hospital in Nigeria Devotion closed by singing hymn 141 followed by the Lord's Prayer.

The business meeting opened with the reading of the minutes followed by their adoption. The treasurer read her report as well as reports from the Visiting, Home Helpers, Welcome and Wallace and Card Committees.

After some discussion it was decided to hold a bake sale in the Co-op Store on Saturday October 23rd with each member submitting her bake goods by 3 p.m.

It was decided to have a congregational supper in the church on the evening of November 22nd.

The meeting closed by repeating in unison the Stpah Benedictian followed by a lovely lunch served by Mrs. Lars Erickson and Mrs. Joe Grant.

Hon. Russell Patrick To Open New Gas System

Alberta Minister of Industry and Development, the Honorable Russell Patrick, will be the guest speaker at the official opening of the new Natural Gas System next Monday evening.

Just installed this past summer, the new gas system is now in full operation with a large percentage of the potential users already connected to the gas.

This system is believed to be the first to be jointly owned and administered by two municipalities. In this case the towns of Killam and Sedgewick.

A full evening of activities has been planned starting with a banquet for the invited guests at 6.00 p.m. in St. Joseph's Parish Hall.

At 7:45 p.m. a Natural Gas Torch will be lit at the Killam Fair Grounds following which a similar Torch will be lit at the Sedgewick Recreation Centre at 8:30 p.m. All interested persons are invited to be on hand for the lighting of these flares.

Starting at 9:30 p.m. the public is invited to attend a free dance in the Sedgewick Community Hall as guests of the Natural Gas Company.

GOV. GEN. AWARD WINNER ANNOUNCED

Inga Jeanveit, a student at the Forestburg Consolidated School, is the winner of the Governor-General's Medal for the Killam Inspectorate for the 1964-65 school year. This medal is awarded annually to a student attending a school within the Killam Inspectorate, who obtains the highest standing on the six grade nine examination subjects written in June.

Inga is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Albert Jeanveit of Forestburg.

Arrangements are being made to present the medal at a suitable occasion in the near future.

Alberta W.I. Head At Lougheed Meet

LOUGHEED—The Womens Institutes of the Sedgewick Constituency held their 47 conference in the Lougheed Hall on Thurs. Oct. 7. Alliance, Constituency Convener in the chair and Mrs. J. Spade, of Alliance serving as secretary. The societies of Sedgewick, Alliance and Lougheed were well represented, also several guests were present.

Secretary and standing committie reports from the three branches were read, and showed much interest and work had been put into their community as well as provincial and A.C.W.W. projects.

A buffet dinner was served by the Lougheed Rebekah Lodge in the noon hour.

To start the afternoon session, Mrs. J. Merriave of Red Deer District Director, complimented the three branches on their work, also told of work being done in establishing W.I. branches in the North West Territories and spoke on the highlights of her trip to the A.C.W.W. Conference in Ireland.

We were pleased to have in attendance two members of the Alberta Womens Institute council, Mrs. J. Hamilton, the past president of the Alberta W. I. and Mrs. C. Alexander of Cayley, Vice-president. Both had also attended the A.C.W.W. in Ireland and gave interesting and impressive accounts of the work done by this organization of which the Womens Institute branches are a part.

Mrs. A. Gaese of Camrose, Provincial Convenor of Health and Home Economics was the guest speaker and gave an interesting and informative talk on "The Care of the Aged" which we vitally concern us all.

The handicraft was judged by Miss Berychuck, Home economist of Wetaskiwin, with Lougheed obtaining highest points followed by Alliance and Sedgewick. A door prize, donated by Simpsons-Sears was won by Mrs Kushal, a guest, who is a new resident of Lougheed, recently from Br. Guiana. She also favored us during the afternoon with a song in her native tongue, and her beautiful native dress which she wore created much interest and admiration.

Election of officers for the coming year and an invitation from Sedgewick branch for next years conference to be held there were brought the afternoon session to a close. After singing "The Queen" tea was served by the Lougheed branch.

REV. BILL HINKS AT UNITED CHURCHES

Sedgewick—Rev. Bill Hincks, returned missionary from Zambia (formerly Rhodesia) will be guest preacher at Sedgewick, Lougheed, and Morris United Churches this Sunday, October 31st. All services will be at the usual times.

Rev. and Mrs. Hincks and their four children left Zambia in June, travelling through much of Africa and also Europe before arriving in Toronto. While in Sedgewick, the Hincks family will visit with Mrs. Hincks' mother and sister, Mrs. Eva Atchesen, and Mrs. Tommy Sparrow.

Football League Decider Saturday

This year's North-East Central High School Football League championship race is the closest and most exciting in many years, and is in fact still undecided. The Central Rams of Sedgewick and the Camrose Composite Trojans are currently tied for top spot with almost identical records. Composite has a slight edge in points for and against.

These two teams will square off and battle it out for the top birth on Saturday next at 2:00 p.m. at the Sedgewick Rec Centre field. This has the promise of an exciting game and it is hoped that large crowd will be on hand to support the Rams.

Thousands of people turn out to see the Edmonton Eskimoes blow a 17 point lead, while right here you can watch Central Rams do a far better job. Let's all go to the game.

Statistics

Camrose Composite has played 3 games, won 2 and lost 1, for 58 points; Hanna have played five, won 4 and lost 1, for 18 points; Lutheran College has played five, won 2 and lost 3, for 4 points; Wetaskiwin Sabres have played five, and lost them all.

Larry Burden of the Rams leads the individual scoring race, closely followed by Thirst of Camrose Composite HELPING HAND—In last weeks press there was a story about the arrival in Canada of Mr. Ping Wong after some fifteen years of effort by his family. An appeal was made to Mr. Thompson when he was in Sedgewick last winter and he assisted in obtaining Mr. Wongs admission to Canada. Shown with Mr. Thompson are Mr. Fordy Wong on the left and his son Ping on the right.

BAND MEETING

It is planned to organize a Flagstaff Municipal Band in the district. Mr. R. L. Jones of Camrose is the band master. Interested people from Hardisty to Daysland are invited to join. Both a Sr. and Jr. band will be organized.

An organizational meeting will be held on Monday evening, Nov. 8 at the Community Press Office, Sedgewick at 8 p.m. all intereted are urged to attend.

Hardisty Students Receive Awards

Students who excelled in their studies were presented with awards in the gymnasium of the Allan Johnston School in Hardisty on Monday, October 18. The president of the Home and School, Robert S. Wood, who sponsored the event was chairman.

In order to qualify, a student had to make over 80% of his or her assessment with the highest academic standing and who had for first place are Joan Laciuki and Larry Stuart. These awards were donated by L. Gocha of Hardisty Motors and Paul Dragar of International Harvester Company. Calvin McClements came second, winning on award by Fred Cross of the Cross Lumber Company.

The grade eight student, Bonnie Downie received an award donated by Wesley Pedlar Coming second was Linda Downie qualifying for the Crystal Cake Award.

Sandra Stuart led the grade nine pupils and the award donated by the Royal Purple Assige. The Royal Purple also awarded second standing honors to Patricia Moody.

Mrs. Fred Drager awarded a girls chorus in the singing of "The Happy Wanderer."

Veteran representative of the Killam Division Beard T. Clouque, of Lougheed offered congratulations of the evening to all students and their teachers.

The inspector with the Killam School District, Keith Robson gave an illustrated address on the new method of teaching geography. Hardisty and area is considered an ideal location for this experiment, because it embraces a town, railway, lake, river, elevated land, a gully and the pump station.

The new principal, Arthur Carnahan introduced the guest speaker and reported on school activities and plans.

Coffee and a social followed the singing of the singing of "The Queen".

Rams Beat Vikings In Second Match

Saturday night at Camrose the Central High Rams proved again that they are the best team that Sedgewick High has ever produced. They won their 4th game out of five starts by trampling the Camrous Lutheren College Vikings by a score of 18 to 4.

The result of this game left the Rams tied with Camrose Composite Trojans for first place.

Rams let the score sheet in the first quarter with Pyra booting a single on a punt after only a few plays. Rombough followed with a field goal to give the Rams a 4 to 0 lead The Vikings came back by scoring a T.D. in the second quarter to take a 6—4 lead at half time

In the second half the Rams switched to the I formation with good results. Cookson scored first with a 45 yard gallop through the line, and Rombough converted. A few plays later Cookson scored 30 yards around the end for the second T.D. Again Rombough converted, and the Rams led 14 to 4 at the end of the third quarter.

Neither team scored in the final quarter and the Rams walked off the field with their third straight win.

During the first half the Rams had good field position most of the time, due to Pyra's kicking and Cookson's end runs. However the Central offence failed to capitalize. The second half was a different story, with the offence getting into high gear with a strong ground game Cookson gained over 100 yards alone for the game. The Rams failed to complete a pass over the

Not Enough To Go Around!

It has been often contended by the taxpayer that what this country needs is more and better legislation by fewer legislators, the theory being that we are not so much over-legislated as over stuffed with legislators. In most respects it seems obvious that while the federal government requires 265 members to administer the affairs of ten provinces, Alberta seems to require almost 25 percent of this total to conduct the affairs of one province. It appears that redistribution of seats is required in more than one field.

But what interested us the most during the past few days of the current federal campaign is the fact that there may not be enough seats in Ottawa to accomodate the numbers that are going to be elected come November 8th. The Liberals maintain they are going to get a majority, the Conservatives claim the same result, while the N.D.P. Party predicts a substantial increase in seats gained. Mr. Cowette claims he is going to capture 50 seats. The net result of this is that there is not going to be enough seats to go around. Somebody, or perhaps two or three somebodies is over-optimistic and only November 8th will reveal who. The only bright aspect of the thing is that the somebodies will be the splinter parties, so that Canada can get back to the two-party system and legislative sanity.

Pertinent Statistics!

The federal government has produced what they call the "Green Book", and from it any young person should learn one convincing fact. It is the material rewards for completing his education. It's a book on income statistics and reveals some very pertinent items.

For instance it shows that the professions are away out in front in Canada in terms of average incomes; doctors and lawyers over $19,000; lawyers and notaries over $16,000; engineers and architects over $14,000; dentists over $13,000; accountants over $10,000. But more important is the fact that today there is plenty of room in these fields for the youngster who is willing to undertake the training to qualify in any of these undertakings, for out of the 4.9 million persons who paid personal income taxes in the year, only 35,000 were members of the professions listed above. Ten years ago this number was 23,000, indicating that the professions are not increasing rapidly.

Some other interesting facts of the ten year comparison are: In 1955 some 3,880,580 persons paid income tax and the average income was $3,380; in 1963, 4,927,373 persons paid income tax and the average income was $4,550. In 1955 only one-fifth of all taxpayers were in the $4,000 and over class compared to one-half in 1963. In 1963 there were 1,307,000 taxpayers in the $5000 to $10,000 income class compared to only 292,000 in 1955, nearly a five-fold increase.

Taxpayers in the $10 to $15 thousand income group increased from 36,350 to 131,200 in the ten year period, showing that this level was one more difficult to break into. In the $15 thousand and over bracket the increase was from 28,160 to 73,500.

There has been a definite trend to a relative decrease in the low-income group and a sharp rise in the number in the middle income range. In terms of taxation it is the middle-income earners, since there are so many of them, that pay the largest share.

Ottawa's income tax revenue in 1963 was $2,243,000,000, of which less than 2 percent was paid by persons with less than $2000 income, and less than 8 percent by persons with incomes under $3000; but those in the $3000 - $10,000 class paid 60 percent of the total; 70 percent was paid by those in the $3000 — $15,000 group. It is often assumed that the wealthy carry most of the load. But the wealthy are few in number. It is the middle-class group that provides most of the income tax revenue, as well as most of the revenue from other forms of taxation.

A Newspaper's Responsibility!

A person asked this newspaper, "Why stick your neck out?" in taking editorial stands on controversial issues. There is no easy answer to such a question, except that we believe it a newspaper's obligation to the public to speak out on certain issues. Certainly, such a course or news policy does not always win friends and influence people. We are not in a personality contest! We have found ourselves on the opposite side of the fence from almost everyone at one time or the other . . . friends and business associates included.

But still we consider it a duty, a responsibility and obligation to at least provide a market place for the exchange of and molding of ideas. We don't expect everyone to agree with us . . . on the contrary, we hope that they never comes. When everyone thinks alike, no one thinks very much. We shall continue to express ourselves on the issues of the time, for occasionally we will be right, and those few contributions to the public welfare justify the need for editorial expression.

Ontario Key To Election

by Ray Argyle

With an unprecendented number of voters still undecided how they'll cast their ballots Nov. 8 the federal campaign turned into the homestretch this week with Ontario apparently the key to the election.

The best of political scientists rate Ontario's 85 seats — the largest provincial block in the House of Commons — as the most likely for a possible major swing for or against the government.

This is based on the assumption that Mr. Diefenbaker's entrenched prairie support will come through for him and that Quebec will go at least as heavily for the Liberals as it did in 1963.

A spate of incredible charges dominated last week's campaign ing, with the "affair of the six" Social Creditors grabbing major attention.

Charges by the Conservatives that the affair was just another example of Liberal dishonesty followed allegations by former Secred MP Dr. Guy Marcoux that Jack Pickersgill and Jean Smallwood, with no assistance from financier John Doyle, engineered the deal which enabled Prime Minister Pearson to form his minority administration.

According to Dr. Marcoux, who is running in this election as an independent, the Liberals prevailed on the six Socreds to sign a statement of support which convinced the Governor-General that Mr. Pearson would be able to govern if Mr. Diefenbaker stepped down.

There was clearly nothing wrong with one party getting support from another party. But Dr. Marcoux injected a sinister element — for which there is as far no proof — with his claim that $25,000 was available in bribe money.

Despite this, the party leaders continued cross-country electioneering with apparent enthusiasm. And this is the way the picture shaped up in the key regions of the nation.

Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland send a total of 32 members to the 265-seat House of Commons. In 1963, the Liberals picked off 20 seats with 13 going to the Conservatives.

No change is expected in the 7-5 Liberal sweep of Newfoundland. Prince Edward Island will likely again break 3-3 for each party and there's not much likelihood of any major change in New Brunswick, which now stands 6-4 for the Liberals.

In Nova Scotia, however, Liberals hope to pick up at least two seats. Liberals and Tories split 6-6 here in 1963.

Quebec with 75 seats split wildly in 1963, with Liberals picking up seats held by both Tories and Real Caouette's Socred followers. Liberals took 46 seats and the Tories eight, and the Socred breakup, Caouette ended up with 13 seats and the Thompson Socreds with five.

But it's Ontario, which has been traditionally Conservative since Confederation, where the returns are most in doubt. The province swung heavily Liberal in 1963, with 83 of the 85 seats going to the Pearson forces. There were 27 PCs and half a dozen NDP candidates also elected.

It is here that the Conservatives hope to pick up enough seats to regain power.

The West, according to most observers, will continue to be here ground for the Liberals. Tories held 10 of Manitoba's 12 seats, all 17 of Saskatchewan's seats, and 14 of the 17 in Alberta. In B.C., the NDP came out on top in 1963 with 6000 seats, while seven went Liberal, four PC and two Socred. The Yukon and Northwest Territories are both considered safe Tory seats.

If the Liberals are to get a majority, it will have to be in Ontario. Quebec alone could do the trick, but result would be a government with more than half its seats from French Canada, and it's doubtful if such government could long survive in view of the present animosities felt by much of English Canada over Quebec.

★ MACDUFF REPORT

Apathetic Election

OTTAWA — An apathetic electorate could mean a considerably reduced total vote in the general election November 8.

Preliminary tabulations show 10,181,238 Canadians eligible to vote in the election. This compares with 9,940,727 in the 1963 election when 7,665,000 voters, or 79 per cent actually cast ballots.

But in this election because of the apparent apathy of the electorate the experts are forecasting that the total vote will be down about 18 per cent. Party organizers believe they will be fortunate if they can persuade 70 per cent of the eligible voters to go to the polls.

"It's a campaign for the professionals," said one Conservative party worker. He said the professionals were enthusiastic and they reported they were encountering interest among the voters. But when you get away from the professional politicians and talk to the average man in the street he is "apathetic" said the Tory.

Grits are encountering the same apathy out on the hustings. However they hope that in the last two weeks of the campaign with Prime Minister L. B. Pearson stepping up the tempo of his electioneering and with Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker stumping the hustings at top speed, there may be a new interest generated in the issues, an interest that will arouse the voters and get them to go to the polls.

One official, who has had much experience in suiting up the machinery for elections, commented, "this is the most apathetic election I've seen in years." This time there were reports of enumerators returning from their door-to-door job with information that several people had slammed the doors shut in their faces. Such people did not even want to have their names recorded on the voters' list. "They couldn't care less," one enumerator summed it up.

Meantime the Liberals are not too concerned about the reports of "apathy". They refer to the results of the Gallup Poll which showed that they had 49 per cent support and that the Conservatives had slumped to 30 per cent. This, the Liberals feel, is a good solid lead to hold and they entered the election campaign.

The Grits hope that those who describe themselves as "undecided" will either finally decide to vote for the party now in power, that is the Liberals, or will just decide to stay at home and not vote. In either case the Liberals, think they should have no trouble winning a good majority in the House of Commons.

However there are those among the politicians and at the political headquarters of the parties in Ottawa, who wonder if the "undecided" group might be sufficiently annoyed over an election being called at this time, to adopt the attitude of a "plague on both your houses" towards the Liar and the parties. If that reaction takes place it would benefit the New Democratic Party, and might lead to another parliament of minorities.

Mid-way through the campaign the party headquarters said they had detected no significant swing that would benefit any one party. The major issues in the campaign as it developed appeared i be: Pearson as a leader versus Diefenbaker; unity; prosperity scandals and the old age pension.

John Diefenbaker's promise to raise the universal old age pension from the present $75 up to $100 has proved attractive to many voters. A Progressive Conservative advertisement showing a Dominion of Canada government cheque for $75 and another cheque for $100 with the message that the re-election of a Diefenbaker Government means the pensioners will get the $100 cheque immediately, has been effective. Countering this Prime Minister Pearson has pounded home that the Liberal social welfare scheme provided additional assistance over and above the $75 for those who are in need is more responsible. But pensioners are not too impressed by that argument. The premise of an immediate $25 has a very strong appeal.

The Liberals have stuck to their original plan for conducting the campaign. They started off in low gear with the Prime Minister making infrequent entries to the hustings in the early weeks. He campaigned in low key.

With three weeks left in the campaign Mr. Pearson stepped up his tempo. He winged his way back and forth across the country on board a specially chartered CP'A plane.

He has lost the old diffidence that used to handicap him so much in mingling with the big crowds. Now he moves easily through the throngs, shaking people face to face, shaking their head, patting them on the back, exchanging jokes and generally mixing with it. In short he has improved his technique as a politician on the hustings one important percent.

At first in the campaign he made speeches from prepared texts. Now as the campaign proceeded more and more he was inclined to toss the text aside and talk to the crowds in his own style, earnestly and sincerely. The real Pearson registered with the audiences, they liked it and his aides decided that their man is a better performer on the platform when not handicapped by a text. He was more confident, direct and displayed more vigor.

His principal opponent, Mr. Diefenbaker, presents a sharp contrast in his platform style. He thunders against the Liberals blasting them for allegedly debasing politics with wrongdoings.

As in previous elections he appears to gain greater vigor and strength as each hectic and frantic day passes by. He flays the Liberal administration and makes promises, some of them very costly. He is once again the consumate campaigner and Canadians turn out to listen and watch him in action.

Whether they are turning out because they are impressed by what Mr. Diefenbaker is saying, or because they want to see the colorful and master campaigner in action once again, and are not being persuaded to vote for his party, only the outcome on Nov. 8th will tell. Certainly he is making a tremendous effort and is not sparing himself in this last great bid to win re-election. He knows, and all his party knows, that if he fails this time, it is the end of the political road for Mr. Diefenbaker.

Providing & maintaining Alberta's public buildings

Operating a growing province like Alberta is a big business, a business that entails administration, education, hospitalization and recreation. Providing and maintaining the hundreds of public buildings with the required specialized facilities for these activities is the task of the Department of Public Works.

In the past decade this Department has carried out or supervised the construction of a building program of more than $210 million. By far the greater proportion of this program has been of direct benefit to Alberta's citizens. In the field of education, twenty large new buildings have been erected for the University of Alberta campuses at Edmonton and Calgary. The Northern Alberta Institute of Technology and the current expansion of the Southern Alberta Institute of Technology are two further examples of public buildings for the improvement of Alberta's education facilities. Extensive building has been carried out at the Alberta Hospitals in Red Deer, Claresholm and Ponoka. $16.5 million has been spent on the improvement of correctional homes throughout the province. Alberta's two Jubilee Auditoriums are excellent examples of the growing appreciation Albertans have for cultural activities.

Design and construction of public buildings are carried out by private concerns except in those cases where it is in the public interest for the Department's own architects and engineers to carry out the commission.

C.N.I.B. Canvas Under Way During October

One of the most serious losses which blindness imposes is the loss of ability to move about ones home and community independently. A newly blinded person is generally quite unable to get around by himself even in the once familiar surrounding of his own home. The C.N.I.B. has long recognized the problems resulting from loss of mobility and has done considerable research and study into methods by which blind person can develop independence of movement.

During the past several years C.N.I.B. staff members in Alberta have been training newly blinded persons to get around by themselves. This spring Mr. Donald Murray joined the staff of the C.N.I.B., Alberta Division as Mobility Instructor. He has been engaged on a full-time basis in teaching blind people how to get around through the effective use of the long white cane and through learning to depend on their remaining senses to compensate for their loss of vision. This training will make it possible for many more blind person to again become self-supporting citizens since it will make it possible for them to accept employment opportunities knowing that they can get back & forth to work and move around safely and competively in their place of employment. Many others will be able to resume participation in social and community activities.

The C.N.I.B. Alberta Division is currently conducting its annual campaign for funds. Your donation to this campaign will help C.N.I.B. to continue to develop its service program, enabling sightless Albertans to develop increased independence and to live full and rewarding lives. The Princess Royal Chapter, I.O.D.E. in Killam has agreed to undertake a canvass of behalf of the C.N.I.B. this fall. The Tag Day will be held on Saturday October 30th, and the canvass within the next two weeks. AMISK U.C.W. OCT. MEETING

AMISK—The UCW held their October meeting at the home of Mrs. E .Chapman with 11 members present. Rev. Zwicker and five little guests. Mrs. C. Chapman led the devotions, a Thanksgiving theme entitled "Goodness of God". The treasurer's report mentioned renovations done at the church in July and August, paid for by the UCW.

The members brought gifts for the Christmas Shopper's sponsored by the Mental Health Assn. Two large boxes of used clothing were sent to Bissel Mission in Edmonton. The November roll call will be a donation of baby clothes for a Mission in Saskatchewan.

The group realized $48 from serving refreshments at an auction sale in August.

Mrs. C. Chapman replaced Mrs. H. Straitz, who has moved away, on the card committee. Rev. Zwicker closed the meeting with prayer.

Next meeting is on Nov. 11th at 2:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. L. S. Shawley. Lunch was served, the co-hostesses being Mrs. Don Manning and Mrs. Bob Manning.

Hardisty H. S. Assoc. September Meeting

A good number of parents attended the September "meet-the-teacher" meeting of the Hardisty Home and School Association with President Robert S. Wood in the chair.

Teachers present and introduced were as follows: Mrs. A. Carnahan, grade one; Mrs. Wm. Dragon, grade two; Mrs. Everett Goodrich, grade three; Mrs. Gertie Gibson, grade four; Mr. Douglas Fee, grade six; Mr. James Martin, grade seven and Mr. Arnold Jacobson, grade eight.

Mrs. Kay Stuart, who was unable to attend this meeting, is the grade five teacher. Mrs. P. Gillespie will be returning to the teaching staff to teach grade two in November.

Mr. Arnold Jacobson gave a report of school activities on behalf of Mr. Arthur Carnahan, the principal. The grade nine teacher who was absent due to temporary illness.

It was of interest to citizens to learn that Mr. Carnahan was born in Hudson Bay, Saskatchewan. He and his wife have lived in Evansburg and Killam; Mr. Carnahan had the principalship in Evansburg for several years and last year he was the vice-principal at Killam. Mr. Carnahan has a B. Ed. degree from the University of Alberta.

Mr. James J. Martin was born in New York an cruised in California. He has travelled extensively throug Europe, Canada and the United States. Mr. Martin has M. Sc. and B.A. degrees from Los Angeles State University.

Mr. Douglas Fee was born and raised in Killam, Alberta. He attended the University of Alberta, Edmonton and interned in the Hardisty School last year.

RAMS DEFEAT COLLEGE TEAM SECOND TIME

line of scrimmage.

The Central defence had its best game of the season. Jeff Miller came up with two Canrose fumble recoveries. John Pyra and Dalton Miller blocked punts and convert attempts. David Tasker again demonstrated his ability as a safety by intercepting a Canrose pass that was deflected by David Muirhead.

About fifty Sedgewick fans travelled to Canrose to watch the game and cheer Central on to the win. Ram coach, Bob Rosiechuk, feels that this is the kind of support that gives a team the extra drive to win in a strange ball park. Fan support is also greatly appreciated for another reason. Some of the other teams in the league are subsidized by local boards by as much as $1200, while the Rams's only source of income is from fellow fans. So let's see you all at the next home game.

Young Social Crediters Hold Regular Meeting

SEDGEWICK — On Friday, October 15th the Sedgwick-Coronation Young Social Crediters were hosts at a delicious chicken dinner in the banquet room of the Sedgwick Cafe, for the National Leader of the Social Credit Party, Mr. Robert Thompson, who stopped in Sedgewick on a whistle-stop tour of Central Alberta. Also present were Mr. Fred Barber, S. C. candidate for the constituency, and the campaign managers for the two men. After dinner Mr. Fordie Wong spoke, expressing his gratitude to Mr. Robt. Thompson for his help in bringing 194 men Kwong Ping Wong to Canada from China. Ping then presented Mr. Thompson with a token gift of his appreciation. Later the group dismissed to hear Mr. Robt. Thompson speak from his trailer parked on the main street.

The regular monthly meeting of the Young Crediters was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Palega on October 25th with a good attendance of members.

The meeting opened with a quiz presented by the president on last month's study lesson. Study group for the next meeting will be on the present banking system in Canada.

The coming Alberta Young Social Credit convention on Nov. 26th was discussed but definite plans were tabled until the next meeting.

A motion was made to put on a play this winter, and Ray Pottage was assigned to get information and materials. It was decided to hold the book sale on Oct. 30th at 1:30 p.m. in the Killam Co-op Hall. Members were asked to collect all the books they can and to help at the sale if possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Pottage invited any members who were interested in viewing election results in their at their place the night of the election on November 8th.

Neil Lusty offered to have the next meeting on Nov. 17th.

INDIAN AID. Quebec-born Mohawk model Kahn-Tineta Horn, speaking to the Council of Indians, has called for a $500,000 fund to help Canada's Indians. She told Canadians must be made to understand that Indians are entitled to full mental for Canada in perpetuity from the time the last white man landed.

A. P. Crop Report

Harvesting is now virtually completed in Alberta except for a comparatively small area in the vicinity of Calgary where rain caused some delay. Good progress has been made in this area in the past week and operations should be completed in a few days.

The overall volume of Alberta's crop is considerably above average but the quality has been greatly reduced by the many inclement weather which persisted throughout the month of September.

In the local crop area (No 3) the average yield per acre is given at; Wheat, 31.8; Oats, 48.4; Barley, 31.8; Flax, 14.7 and Rye 34.3.

Alberta's total crop yield for the 1965 season as predicted in September is as follows: Spring Wheat (Incl. Durum) 185 million bushels. Oats for Grain, 194 million; Barley, 120 million; Rye, 4 million 600 thousand; Flaxseed, 6 million.

Double Wedding Dance At Amisk

AMISK— An enjoyable evening was spent in the Amisk hall recently when relatives and friends gathered for a double wedding dance honoring Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Mellenstrand and Mr. and Mrs. Doug Friess. Both couples came from Edmonton for the event.

Leighton is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ingvald Mellenstrand, and his bride the former Miss Lora Bacon of Edmonton. Leighton is Nutritional for United Grain Growers Feed Formulas in Edmonton, and Mrs. Mellenstrand is an instructor in Home Economics of the Pre-employment School.

Doug Friess has been a longtime University pal of Leighton. Each was the other's best man at their recent weddings. Doug is attending University to get his Master Degree in Psychology Mrs. Friess is a nurse at Charles Camsell Hospital.

The last double wedding held in Amisk was in December 1919 in the old Matusch Hall. The honored couples were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Nordlu. Uncles and aunts of Leighton, Bob Johnson, nephew of Mrs. Ingvald Mellenstrand, was the only descendant of those unions at this dance in 1965.

The Amisk Rythm Makers supplied the music for dancing. The curling club served in the lunch after the dance. Guests coming from a distance were from Calgary, Red Deer, Edmonton, Provost, Czar and Unity, Sask.

Report Of Cornation Presbyterial

Fresh and friendly, was the atmosphere when Anglican and United Church clergymen and people met for a full evening on October 12 at the Sedgewick United Church to study and exchange views on the historic document "THE PRINCIPALS OF UNION BETWEEN THE ANGLICAN AND UNITED CHURCH OF CANADA."

Rev. A. G. McCurdy of Stettler, who is Chairman of Cornation Presbytery and of the Committee for Church Union, presided over this group, who came form points from Provost to Stettler and Cornation.

Rev. Peter McCalman of Stettler said a Bishop gave to the Anglican Rectors the advice "Don't be united to your fellow United Church Minister, he may become your next Bishop."

The mixed gathering agreed for the most part on basic theological doctrine, Biblical interpretation and on the desirability of continuing Episcopacy in the Church. Also the office of Bishop should be incorporated. However, many would object to Bishops exercising a veto power over the recorded decision of the majority in a Church court. Some United Church men felt that the recitation of the Apostles Creed should not be made obligatory. The majority felt that union between Churches is both desirable and feasible within the next ten years.

RESOLUTION ON SAFETY

With the unusually high loss of life and destruction of property on the highway during Thanksgiving week-end spurring them on, the Presbytery voted for a resolution introduced by Rev. G. A. Pyrch of Provost, asking legislating bodies in Canada, to make it compulsory for car manufacturers to install more and better safety devices in cars of the future. "And call upon the people to exercise caution and sobriety when driving."

SUMMER CAMPS

Rev. D. G. Lewis of Sedgewick noted an increase in the number of boys and girls attending Elizabeth Lake Camp and also the perfect record of safety since its opening some ten years ago.

Allan Jones, NATIONAL PRESIDENT of United Church Men Clubs and Director of Development for Alberta College, presented claims of the College.

"This institution of learning is performing a vital and a almost unique service to the thousand students, most of whom are working for their matriculation. Although 50% of last year's students were considered as non-matriculation material, we were able to get 56% of them through."

Mr. Jones is soliciting voluntary contributions from Church people and other public spirited citizens.

Mrs. L. A. Stranberg, President of the United Church Women for Cornation Presbyterial, reported support of may splendid causes. Stating that attendances at training sessions has been declining, she affirmed "it is our intention now, to send our Officers out to the local groups."

Rev. J. T. WOOD, promoter of Publications said "There has been an encouraging and notable increase in the circulation of Sunday School papers and especially of New Curriculum study books."

Mrs. W. J. Gilbert of Stettler was appointed Audio Visual Counsellor for the Presbytery.

The relationship of the Church Pension Fund to the new Pension Fund of the Federal Government was explained by O. F. McCurdy of Stettler.

Ref. F. A. McPhee of Camrose urged greater support of the many ministries performed through the Missionary and Maintenance Fund.

Solitation of funds for historic Rundle Mission was given approval. Dr. E. S. Brundage of New Norway gave the Home Mission report.

J. Robson, Pastor told of the opening of a new Church at Camsort in the near future. Rev. A. R. Seal gave a number of committee reports.

Delegates at the two day meet were Miss Leslie Grower, Custer; Mrs. H. C. Fawcett, Mrs. Daniel Fawcett, Consort; Mrs. C. M. Shillingloe, Mrs. Adeline Dousse, Forestburg; Absent because of sickness was Rev. C. A. Warren of Castor.

Rev. G. W. Whitewall of Coronation served as secretary.

The United Church Women of Sedgewick acted as friendly hostesses and served delicious meals.

Day delegates for this area, Mrs. Dora Courtney, Dayaland, Strome, Killam Steve Gregovich; Sedgewick, Mrs. A. W Paterson Ministerial, Rev. W. G. Zwicker, Rev. Foley Peterson.

Angican, Rev. Anthony Steel.
